Immediately after the collision a line was thrown from the deck of the Scott to the forward deck of the Cowle, and three members of the crew escaped to the deck of the upbound boat by this means. The rest of the crew who were saved jumped from the sinking steamer into the lake, some without life preservers, and were picked up by the Scott and the steamer Goodyear, which was a short distance astern of the Scott when the collision occurred.

COMMISSION OF ALIENISTS

May Pass Upon Question of Harry K. Thaw's Sanity.

White Plains, N. Y., July 13.—If counsel can agree, a commission of three alienists, mutually selected, will pass upon the question of Harry K. Thaw's sanity. This was practically decided before adjournment at a continuation of the hearing before Justice Mills in which counsel for Stanford White's slayer is trying to establish his right to release from the asylum for the criminal insane at Matteawan.

With all the day's testimony in favor of Thaw and with the indication that his wife, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, will take the stand in his behalf; with District Attorney William Travers Jerome eliminated, Thaw's chances for release appear brighter than at any time since his commitment.

CLOUDBURST CAUSES FLOOD

One Dead and Many Narrow Escapes at Sioux City, Ia.

Sioux City, Ia., July 10.—One man was drowned, 1,000 people were driven from their homes and many thousands of dollars' worth of damage was done by a flood in Perry creek, a small stream which separates the East and West Sides of Sioux City. The flood was the worst in the city's history.

There were many narrow escapes, but only one life was reported lost. A cloudburst north of Sioux City is believed to have been the cause.

Leon Bethschider, aged twenty-one, an employe of the Bevins Van company, was precipitated into Perry creek by the bank giving way. He lost his life, being unable to swim in the raging current.

STING OF BEE IS FATAL

Garrison (Ia.) Woman Expires in Twenty Minutes.

Mason City, Ia., July 12.—Killed by the sting of a bee was the fate of Mrs. Mary J. Buck, a resident of Garrison.

A hive of bees belonging to a neighbor had swarmed and lit on a tree on the Buck premises. Mrs. Buck was sitting on the porch of her residence when one of the bees stung her on her right temple. She called for help and was carried into the house. Physicians were summoned, but before they could reach her she was dead. She only lived about twenty minutes after being stung.

HOSTILITIES ARE IMMINENT

Peru and Bolivia Said to Be on Verge of War.

Valparaiso, Chile, July 12.—It is believed here that war between Peru and Bolivia is imminent because of the disorders at La Paz following the decision handed down by Argentina to the boundary dispute between the two countries.

The Chilean admiralty says that Chile will remain neutral, but she is preparing to send warships for the protection of Chilean interests

Feats That Never Happened.

A grotesque and foolish view of the west leads many who are not acquainted with that part of the country to perpetrate amusing blunders regarding the possibilities of the typical western weapons, the rifle and the six shooter. To shoot an animal's eye out at a hundred paces is a common feat in wild west literature. Sometimes it is done with a six shooter—in type, not anywhere else. Of course, no man can see the eye of an animal that far. I have had a good rifleman tell me he could cut off a robin's head at a hundred steps. The truth is that he could not see the head clearly that far. You read that the desperado Slade could with a six shooter at fifty or sixty steps hit a man in any button of his coat that he chose, but you may be sure that neither Slade nor any one else could do anything of the kind. Even trick and fancy shooting at its best could ever cover feats ascribed as matters of course to the average frontiersman by those devotees of frenzied fiction who never saw the frontier.—Outing Magazine.

Eluding the Officers.

Here is an amusing description of one of Balzac's periods of impecuniosity. Mery, the poet, a great friend of Balzac, was an inveterate gambler and rarely left the card table before daybreak. His way lay past the Cafe de Paris, and for four consecutive mornings he had met Balzac strolling leisurely up and down dressed in a pantalon a pieds (trousers not terminating below the ankle, but with feet in them like stockings) and frock coat with velvet facings. The second morning Mery felt surprised at the coincidence; the third he was puzzled; the fourth he could hold out no longer and asked Balzac the reason of these nocturnal perambulations roundabout the same spot.

Balzac put his hand in his pocket and produced an almanac showing that the sun did not rise before 3:50. "I am being tracked by the officers of the tribunal de commerce and obliged to hide myself during the day, but at this hour I am free and can take a walk, for as long as the sun is not up they cannot arrest me."

He Was Slow.

He uttered a joyous cry.

"And I am really and truly the first man you ever kissed?"

"Yes, Clarence," the beautiful girl rejoined, her red lip curling slightly. "The others all took the initiative."—Kansas City Independent.

The Illusion of Night.

I sometimes fancy that every great city must have been built by night. At least it is only at night that every part of a great city is great. All architecture is great architecture after sunset. Perhaps architecture is really a nocturnal art, like the art of fireworks. At least I think many people of those nobler trades that work by night (journalists, policemen, burglars, coffee stall keepers and such mistaken enthusiasts as refuse to go home till morning) must often have stood admiring some black bulk of building with a crown of battlements or a crest of spires and then burst into tears at daybreak to discover that it was only a haberdasher's shop with huge gold letters across the face of it.—G. A. Chesterton in London News.

Sunshine and Long Life.

Some towns on the Italian side of the Swiss Alps are noted for the great number of sunny days. Carabietta and Pentilino, near Lugano, head the list with 327 and 331 sunny days respectively in one year. Possibly because of this liberal amount of sunshine the percentage of old people is exceptionally high in the canton of Tessin, forty-four per thousand being over seventy years old and ten per thousand over eighty.—New York Post.

STORMS CAUSE MUCH DAMAGE

Hail, Cloudbursts and Lightning Do Many Hundred Thousand Dollars Damage, But Red Lake County Escapes Uninjured.

The most disastrous rain, hail and electric storms recorded in the northern part of the state, occurred on Monday and Tuesday of this week, following several days of extreme hot weather. Railroads were crippled by washouts and wrecks, crops were razed by the wind and hail and many buildings were destroyed and much stock was killed by the lightning. Never before have storms been so general and done so much damage as those of this week.

The first rain occurred early Monday morning and lasted about five hours. For only a short portion of this time was the rainfall very heavy but the accompanying lightning was responsible for much damage. At Red Lake Falls, a large barn was destroyed. Carl Moen of Garnes, lost a valuable cow, and several others report more or less damage. Following the storm, came several hours of very hot, sultry weather. The thermometer hovered around between 90 and 100, and comfort was a thing of the past for the time being. Monday night the second storm of the series occurred and, though there was very little rain here, the country to the south was treated to one of the worst storms in years. At Winger, eight miles south of Erskine, the Soo track was washed out, tying up the traffic completely. One washout, south of Winger, measured 160 feet long and 20 feet deep. The water rushed thru the hole in a raging torrent, carrying with it pieces of the bridges and culverts for miles around. Train 110 of Monday, was caught on this side of the washout, and later, when started for Erskine, it was discovered that a portion of the track behind the train had been carried away. The track from Erskine to Mahnomen, about 25 miles, was softened in several places and making it a hazardous undertaking to run trains over the track. All trains were tied up and for several days the service was disjointed and uncertain. The Winnipeg trains were run around by way of the Great Northern from Erskine to Crookston and thence to Glyndon and from there to Detroit over the Northern Pacific. The latter's tracks from Crookston to Winnipeg Junction were blockaded by a wreck and had it not been for this, the Soo trains would have run over the N. P. tracks from Crookston to Detroit.

No mail was received at Plummer until Tuesday night and then but a very little arrived. Tuesday's train for the south arrived at 2:35 Wednesday morning. Wednesday morning's north-bound Flyer arrived at 8:35 in the evening, and the south-bound train passed through Plummer one hour late. No freight trains ran on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday with the exception of a fruit special going north Wednesday night. Trains 111 and 112, the local passenger, were cancelled on Tuesday and Wednesday but 112 went south about 11 o'clock Thursday morning, about an hour after 109 went north. The washout at Winger was practically repaired by Thursday night and trains are again running on schedule time.

The Soo railroad was not the only road affected by Monday's storm. The Duluth line of the Great Northern was blockaded for two days on account of a bad wreck at Fosston. Passenger train No. 36, due at Erskine at 11:30, ran into the ditch east of Fosston and the baggage and mail cars were destroyed by fire starting from a gas tank in one of the cars. Several persons were injured more or less but none seriously. Spreading rails due to the soft roadbed were responsible. Monday night, the Northern Pacific suffered one of the most disastrous wrecks ever experienced in this section, when the fast St. Paul-Winnipeg freight train crashed into the rear end of a work train at Melvin, south of Crookston. The work train had just started to get into the clear for the freight and a brakeman had been sent back to flag the fast train. The heavy wind blew out his lantern and the rain obscured him from view so that the engineer was unable to see his signals. Brakeman Hokenson of the work train and Fireman Hogan of the freight were killed and Engineer Wilson was injured. The work train caboose was full of section men but, thanks to the watchfulness of Foreman Bergstrom, all jumped and escaped injury. All N. P. trains were forced to run over the Great Northern.

The storm south of Erskine was in the form of cloudbursts, three occurring within a short time. Hail was general in that section and the water fall is estimated at from six to ten inches. Crops were laid flat and the damage will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars. During Monday night's storm, the city hall at Erskine was struck and set on fire but the blaze was extinguished before any serious damage was done. The Methodist church at Bemidji was struck and burned to the ground, and a barn was struck and burned, and a valuable pacing mare owned by Jas. Fullerton was killed.

The storm was general throughout the United States. At Galveston, Texas, the water rushed over the sea wall and stands six feet deep in the streets. It is feared that there have been several lives lost, but this fact cannot be verified until the water subsides. In Wisconsin, a cloudburst caused a heavy loss of property and tied up traffic on all railroads. At Duluth and on the iron range, the effects of the storm were felt with disastrous results. Basements were flooded, and at Duluth many families were driven from their homes. Mining operations in the range country are tied up, the pits and shallow mines being filled to over-flowing.

Owing to the fact that telephone and telegraph wires were down in all directions, it has been almost impossible to estimate the damage or to locate the sections affected. Red Lake county was exceedingly fortunate and the reports of damage are so small as to be almost insignificant. Although some fields were flattened out, the grain raised after a few hours of sunshine and gives promise of withstanding the rains in excellent shape. More rain, however, will prove a serious matter and farmers are all fervently praying for continued fine weather.

An Excellent Report.

The following statement of the business done by the Plummer creamery for the month of June, shows that this concern is, without a doubt, one of the leaders in northern Minnesota, at the present time. A comparison of the statement with that of either the St. Hilaire or Thief River Falls creameries shows up the local institution in fine shape. Thirty-six patrons received checks for over $50, and two, Henry Lemieux and John Larson passed the $100 mark. These facts lead to the question: If thirty-six patrons can draw checks for $50 or more for cream from ordinary cows, how many would be in the same class if a concerted movement were started for the purpose of increasing the quality of the herds? The statement follows:

| | |
| Cream received | 73580 lbs. |
| Average test | 24.8 |
| Butterfat | 18279. 8 lbs. |
| Butter manufactured | 22855 lbs. |
| Total Receipts | $5524.13 |
| Paid patrons | 5007.62 |
| Running expenses | 326.33 |
| Sinking fund | 182.76 |
| Surplus fund | 7.42 |
| Price paid for cream | 27.4c |

Those drawing $50 and over were:

Drainage on The Farm.

The College of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, has an expert in farm drainage now on its faculty. For the past year, Prof. J. T. Stewart has been teaching this subject in the College and has been giving aid to the farmers of the state in planning dranage systems and in explaining the benefits of tile drainage.

Prof. Stewart is also an expert road engineer. In all of his work he is practical. He does not advise the impossible, but rather seeks better drainage systems and better road building by pointing a way that comes within the means of the farmer and the farm community. He gives information freely and without expense to the farmers.

He has issued a very interesting illustrated bulletin entitled, "Installation of an Experimental Drainage System," which may be obtained free of cost by applying directly to him at the College of Agriculture.

Mrs. Steenerson Hurt.

Mrs. Halvor Steenerson, wife of Cong. Steenerson of Crookston, was seriously hurt at Washington Tuesday while out walking with her husband. Mrs. Steenerson ran from the middle of the street to the curb to escape a coming automobile and was struck by a bicyclist coming from the opposite direction. There were some contusions of the right shoulder, knee and thigh, but no bones were broken. It is expected that she will be able to be about in a few days, unless internal complications set in.

For Sheep Raisers.

An educational exhibit which gives promise of shedding much light upon the prominence, profits and possibilities of the sheep raising industry in Minnesota will be made during the coming Minnesota State Fair, Sep. 6 to 11, under the direction of the Minnesota Sheep and Wool-Growers' Association.

Through the board of managers of the State Fair, the Association has offered premiums amounting to $200.00 covering both the breed fleeces and the commercial grades irrespective of breeds. A large prize is also offered for the best three county association exhibits of wool fleeces.

In addition to these prizes, the State Association is going to make an exhibit of fleeces in the grease; the same fleeces scoured, and, again, the same fleeces manufactured into a blanket, with the percentage of waste definitly ascertained at each step. The association will also have the noils from the manufacturer on exhibition.

The Association also plans to have an expert grader go over the entire exhibit and grade every fleece, so the exhibitors can tell exactly what the commercial designation of their fleece is. There will also be a representation of the Association present at the exhibit during the fair to disseminate all information obtainable relative to the grading requirements of the different principal wool markets of the United States. The Association has been busily engaged in gathering this information and proposes to make the exhibit at the coming Minnesota State Fair as educational and interesting as possible.

All honor to the country editor! He can usually be depended upon to stand for home institutions through thick and thin, and often without very much credit. We wonder whether the boys really appreciate what the country editors have done for the cause of the local creameries, or are they like the majority of other people who begrudge the editor of the local paper even the necessaries of life for himself and family? We have seen instances where the local editor has yelled for support of home institutions until he was red in the face and at the same time some of the business men were sending out of town for their job work. And we have also known of the local creamery doing the very same thing, at the same time asking the editor to whoop 'er up for the home creamery. And then, too, we have known of the local buttermaker refusing to subscribe for the paper, at the same time expecting the editor to pull his chestnuts out of the fire for him. Oh, it "sure is" a funny world and there are lots of funny people in it. But the country editor doesn't expect anything different. He has been schooled along that line and if he were to receive the kindnesses that other business men expect, he would probably have heart failure.—Dairy Record.

The man with the biggest pull, doesn't always haul the biggest load.

When you stop and think of it, there are only two distinct classes of men in this world-men and wo-men.

Is it possible that the people who always save their money as tho they expected to take it along to the next world think that they will have money to burn when they get there.

If the House of Representatives consents to follow the footsteps of our national Senate too closely we may find President Taft assuming the Johnson policy of veto. This would certainly be the only way in which the republican party could possibly be saved from the ruin that awaits it in case the Aldrich Bill becomes a law.

James A. Patten, the Chicago Millionar who caused such a flurry in the Chicago wheat pits two months ago, has again broken into the limelight by more operations in wheat dealings.

During the past week he has forced the price of wheat to $1.35 and now manages to hold the price around the $1.30 mark.

Very few farmers are benefitted by these moves and when they have the goods to deliver, the price will be very high if it crosses the $1 mark.

A concerted movement has been started by the newspapers and newspaper unions of the country against the printed envelops to the cheeper class of business men. Strong protestations, in the form of petitions resolutions and personal letters, have been forwarded to nearly every member of the present congress, and it will be a funny thing if the practice is not abolished within a short time. The government envelope are furnished to consumers at from $1 to $2.50 per thousand and in most instances, that same amount if invested in envelopes furnished by the local printer, would give better satisfaction, even though the quantity would be smaller.

Quack Grass Investigations.

Prof. Andrew Boss, in charge of the Agricultural Division at the College of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, is making some important investigations of the quack grass problem that is interesting to many of the farmers throughout the Northwest. That quack grass has spread very rapidly during the last two or three years cannot be denied. The spread has been particularly rapid on account of the abundant rainfall of the past few summers and the fact that there has been carelessness in cleaning farm seeds.

Steps have been taken to secure for a period of five years the use of one of the worst quack grass farms in the state. This farm is valuable for experimental purposes for it grows, in fact, nothing but quack grass. For experimentation it will be divided into small fields, and a number of different experiments will be tried to discover if possible the best means of exterminating the quack grass. Studies will be made of the comparative cost of different methods of eradication and those advised which involve the least labor and the least loss of use of land combined with greatest efficiency in eradication.

Thousands of farmers will watch the results of this experiment with great interest. To aid in gathering data from parts of the country having different soils and different conditions, all farmers having had experience with this grass are invited to write of their experience to Prof. Boss.

OPPORTUNITIES IN AGRICULTURE.

Any young man who has been graduated from a High School and is looking about for some school in which to continue his education, would better send to the College of Agriculture, University Farm, St. Paul, for a bulletin of the work of that institution. This is one of the regular colleges of the University of Minnesota, and those who finish the four years' course prescribed receive a degree.

This is a school for technicians in agriculture, Young Men having had farm experience are especially fitted to take up the study of agriculture in a scientific way and to make for themselves very useful careers. Graduates of the school are in great demand as government experts, as teachers in other schools and colleges of agriculture, and as managers of farms. The demand for men from the courses here offiered has been far beyond the supply this year, and the salaries officered higher than ever before given for similar work. That there will be in the future a still stronger demand for men trained in agriculture and its allied subjects there seems no room to doubt.

PRIZE WINNING HERD WILL BE HERE

Carlson Bros. of Erskine Agree to Bring Herd of Dairy Cows Here for Fair.

Management of the Red Lake County agricultural Fair Association wishes to, announce to the farmers of this vicinity that they have secured the promise of Carlson Brothers of Erskine, that they will bring their herd of Dairy Cows here for this Fair.

Carlson Brothers are young and progressive farmers and are farming in an up-to-date style. They are improving their herd yearly not by buying new and expensive stock but by the process of culling out all the poor milkers that they may find in their herd. This has proved a very effective method and has won for them several of the prizes that have been given for stock on farms.

A couple of years ago when J. J. Hill offered a prize for the best dairy herd on a farm this one had on trouble winning the $300 prize offered as first premium.

Each year the herd has been improved by this process of culling out the poorer cows until now, while the herd may not be the best looking herd, yet it is no doubt the best dairy herd in the State of Minnesota owned by real, practical farmers.

Every farmer living within a radius of 20 miles of Thief River Falls should make it a point to come in to the fair and see this herd of cows. It will be a practical lesson in farming that the progressive farmer and his growing sons cannot afford to miss.—Thief River Press.

A lady of our city has found a sure cure for broken dishes. If the dish to be mended can be tied together with a stout string then place it in boiling milk and left one hour, you can never tell the dish has been broken and it can afterward be put in boiling water without the hieces coming apart. This experiment has been tried and proven and many are the broken dishes which were thought to be useless which are now as good as new.—Clarissa Indepenhent.

The girl who can make good bread, cake, and roast meat to a lovely brown and knows more about household duties than she does of foreign missions or cheap skates of young men, is the girl that all sensible men are looking for as a better half. You take it from us that we know whereof we allegate.—Stillwater Gazette.

| $10.00 Per Acre | $8.75 Per Acre |
|---|---|
| The W½ NW¼, Section 33, Kratka township, 80 acres known as the Knut Henderson Farm. An elegant piece of land lays high and dry. Has 60 acres fenced, two wires and oak posts. A 4 room house, stable and a granary, also a good well for only $10 per acre or $800.00 on most any kind of terms. You must admit that this is cheap and worth the money. | The SE¼ Section 6, town of Deer Park, 160 acres known as the Christiansen Farm located in good neighborhood. A real good quarter. Any of the neighbors will tell you that you can get 100 acres in solid field. Has small house but no stable as it burned last fall. Will sell this quarter for only $8.75 or $1400.00 with a very small cash payment. If this is not a bargain, then show me one that is. |

IF you want to sell your farm come to my headquarters and talk the matter over with me.

A man that advertises extensively and makes a specialty of the land business has certainly better facilities for selling than one that don't.

NO DOUBT REMAINS

President Taft Defines His Attitude on the Tariff.

FAVORS DOWNWARD REVISION

Statement Creates Sensation in Congressional Circles.

Washington, July 17.—All doubt as to where President Taft stands with regard to the downward revision of the tariff was swept away when a statement was given out at the White House setting forth in detail what the president had to say to twenty-three Republicans, members of congress, who called to protest against putting raw materials on the free list.

The president in this statement declared that the Republican party is committed to a downward revision; that he has never had any other idea of the Chicago platform, and that he personally has promised a downward revision to the people.

This statement is interpreted in some quarters here as a direct notification to the conferees on the tariff bill that if the measure they finally agree upon does not constitute a material reduction in specific duties the president will exercise his power of veto.

The president's statement created a decided sensation among senators and representatives who became acquainted with its contents. The statement was shown to Senator Aldrich. He made no direct comment upon it, but said that the conferees had decided to let Mr. Taft deal with schedules upon which they could not agree, it being up to the president to secure the votes necessary to pass the measure in the form in which it would be reported out of conference as a result of his mediation between the house and senate conferees.

IS APPROVED BY CONFEREES

New Draft of Corporation Tax Amendment.

Washington, July 19.—The conference committee of the two houses of congress on the tariff bill has agreed to accept the senate's corporation tax amendment, but the agreement was not reached until after the provision had been redrafted by the attorney general and many changes had been made.

The most important of the changes was the reduction of the tax from 2 per cent on the net earnings of corporations to 1 per cent. Attorney General Wickersham appeared before the committee and explained all the new provisions at length, apparently to the satisfaction of all the conferees, who lost little time in signifying their acceptance of the provision after hearing his statement concerning it.

It appeared that much difficulty had been found in the matter of the exemption of the earnings of such corporations as all felt should be exempted, but there was a general feeling that the new draft had accomplished as much as language could accomplish in that direction.

The corporation tax amendment will take the place of the house provision for an inheritance tax, which, according to the agreement, will go out of the bill.

GREAT STRIKE THREATENED

Million English Miners Voting on Proposal to Quit Work.

London, July 16.—The Miners' Confederation of Great Britain, after a prolonged meeting, has decided in favor of ballotting its million members as to whether or not a national strike shall be declared in support of the Scottish miners, who are resisting a wage reduction of 6 pence a day. The ballot will not be completed before July 27 and the executive committee of the confederation will meet July 28 to take action on the result.

The present feeling seems to be in favor of the stoppage of all mines, a condition which would entail practically the complete paralysis of British industries. In view of the consequent expected shortage in the coal supply many factories already have served notice to their employes of the termination of contracts.

AERONAUT DROPS INTO SEA

Attempt to Cross the English Channel Ends in Failure.

Calais, France, July 19.—Herbert Latham made the attempt to cross the English channel from here with an aeroplane, but dropped into the sea after disappearing from view from land. He was brought back here aboard the torpedo boat destroyer Harpon apparently unhurt. A tug towed the aeroplane in.

The accident occurred after Latham had covered about sixteen miles. While at a great height the motor failed and the machine fell into the water. The French torpedo boat destroyer Harpon, however, was close at hand and rescued both Latham and his monoplane.

Further Shocks in Greece.

Athens, July 19.—Further earth shocks were felt at Analaiva and the neighboring region, but no casualties were reported.

ELLA GINGLES IS ACQUITTED

Cleared From the Charge of Stealing Lace.

Chicago, July 20.—Ella Gingles was cleared from the charge of stealing lace, but the story she told on the witness stand of being a "white slave" victim was denounced as untrue by the jury that freed her.

The verdict in the case was a fitting climax to the peculiar series of sensations that have followed the little lacemaker. This was the form as read by the clerk:

"We, the jury, find the defendant not guilty and we, the jury, further find that the charges made against Miss Agnes Barrette were unfounded and are untrue."

The basis of the defense made by the Gingles girl, who was on trial for stealing lace from Miss Barrette, was that Miss Barrette and others had mistreated her in the Wellington hotel last winter, and that the object of these attacks and the animus back of the theft charge, was the attempt to sell her to an unnamed man in French Lick Springs, Ind.

DREW PAY BUT DID NO WORK

Heney Got $23,000 From Government Last Year.

Washington, July 20.—That Francis J. Heney, special counsel of the department of justice and also assistant prosecutor in the so-called graft cases in San Francisco, received from this government last year $23,000 for which he performed no service, was the frank admission of Chairman Tawney of the appropriations committee in the house. Mr. Tawney said:

"As a matter of fact, Mr. Heney has not performed any active service for the past three years. He was appointed Nov. 7, 1903, and his active service continued for about three years and for which he received in all $69,000."

CROWN PRINCE IS SHAH

Ahmed Mirza Proclaimed Ruler by National Assembly.

Teheran, Persia, July 17.—Mohammed Ali, shah of Persia, was dethroned and the crown prince, Sultan Ahmed Mirza, was proclaimed shah by the national assembly, composed of the chief Mujtehids and the leaders of the Nationalist forces, in the presence of an immense crowd in Parliament square.

SHAH OF PERSIA.

Mohammed Ali has taken refuge in the Russian summer legation at Zerzende, where he is under the protection of detachments of Cossacks and Sepoys, dispatched to Zerzende by the Russian and British diplomatic representatives. The new shah is yet in his minority, and Azad Ul Mulk, head of the Kajar family, has been appointed regent. Sipahdar, one of the most active leaders of the movement, has taken office as minister of war and governor of Teheran.

NOT AS LARGE AS REPORTED

Loss of Life as Result of Earthquake in Greece.

Athens, July 17.—From reports sent in by the prefects from the province of Elis the casualty list in the earthquake of Thursday does not appear so large as was at first feared. Up to the present time it is known that twenty-six persons lost their lives. Twenty-three bodies have been recovered from the ruins of Navari, where more than 250 houses were demolished. Eighty persons were injured at this village, three at Ponhioti and ten at Analaiva. The quakes caused property damage at other points, but did no serious injury to persons.

MINERS INTEND TO FIGHT

Will Resist Proposed Reduction of Wages in Pennsylvania.

Pittsburg, Kan., July 17.—Thomas L. Lewis, national president of the United Mine Workers of America, has left here for the Central Pennsylvania coal mining district.

"The operators there have given notice of a reduction of 11 cents a ton in the mining rate," said Mr. Lewis. "We will resist it to the bitter end. Before they can establish such a reduction they must wipe out of existence every local miners' union in Central Pennsylvania."

INVITED TO THE WHITE HOUSE

Republican Tariff Conferees to Dine With President.

DUTIES ON RAW MATERIALS

Expected That the Chief Executive Will Report Progress in Getting Votes for the Abolition or Reduction of Them—Senate Leaders Confronted With No Easy Task—Many Progressives Oppose Free Raw Materials.

Washington, July 20.—All of the Republican members of the tariff conference have been invited by President Taft to take dinner with him on Wednesday night at the White House. The invitations did not say whether there was any purpose in the gathering other than sociability, but it is assumed that he expects to be ready to report progress in getting votes for the abolition or reduction of duties on raw materials.

Senator Crane spent an hour with the president and later talked with Senator Aldrich. He endorsed the attitude of the president on the question of reducing duties on raw materials. Speaker Cannon visited the tariff conference chamber immediately after the adjournment of the house session and he had a long talk with Senators Aldrich and Crane. The speaker had been at the White House earlier in the day in company with Representative Dwight (N. Y.), the Republican whip.

When Senator Cannon left Senator Aldrich's room he said that the conferees must frame the programmes for passing the conference report through the house and the senate and that the representatives of the two branches would have to assume the responsibility for their actions. This remark was understood to signify that a binding rule could not be looked for to carry an unpopular report through the house. When pressed for an explanation, however, the speaker merely smiled. He left his listeners free to put whatever construction they pleased upon his remarks.

Senator Aldrich left the office building with Senator Crane for the purpose of considering the possibility of putting through the senate a conference report providing for free iron ore and free oil and reducing duties on coal, lumber and hides.

If the mutterings of dissatisfaction heard about the senate offices may be taken as a criterion the senate leaders are confronted with no easy task.

Strangely enough many of the protests against the free raw material programme are coming from the progressive Republican faction, which fought hardest for downward revision.

Many of the progressives come from states interested in cattle raising and they are opposed to free hides, or even to a reduction of the duty. Other insurgents, notably Senators Bristow and Cummins, who are not particularly interested in the question of free hides, iron, oil or coal, expressed the opinion that the president should bring his influence to bear in a movement looking to reductions in the duties on wool and woolen goods, cotton goods, and other articles which enter into wearing apparel.

SESSION IS INTERESTING

Several Lively Tilts Occur in the House.

Washington, July 20.—Having recovered from its baseball "spree" of last Friday, the house transacted a general assortment of business. It began by passing an omnibus bridge bill, then listening to an apology by Hr. Hobson of Alabama for having last February made some uncomplimentary statements about Ambassador O'Brien at Tokio, and further considered the urgent deficiency bill.

By way of making the session especially interesting, there were several lively tilts, one of which culminated in an announcement by Mr. Mason of Arkansas that he would resign his seat if it could be proved that he was a legislative obstructor.

The air was surcharged with crimination and recrimination, but the most serious discussion centered about Francis J. Heney, special assistant to the attorney general. Chairman Tawney of the appropriations committee made the statement that Mr. Heney had received during the past year $23,000 for services he did not render.

Mr. Clark of Missouri went after the "scalps" of some United States attorneys, and, without being specific, alleged that a good many of them were incompetent, necessitating the employment of special counsel to render their work effective.

The members were in none too happy a frame of mind when the house with the urgent deficiency bill still pending, adjourned.

Rush for Land Decreases.

Spokane, Wash., July 20.—The rush for reservation lands has materially decreased. Applications here during the day were not more than 4,000, and it is estimated about the same number applied at Coeur d'Alene, Kalispell and Missoula.

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION

Attorney General to Determine if It Is Legal in Minnesota.

St. Paul, July 20.—The right of the state highway commission to exist will be questioned in a letter which State Treasurer S. G. Iverson will submit to Attorney General G. T. Simpson. The letter will ask his opinion on the legality of a number of appropriations made by the last legislature which may and may not be classed as "internal improvements" under the construction and the meaning of those words as interpreted in the recent opinion of the court in the "pork barrel" case.

Messrs. Dinehart and Iverson reason that the highway commission is spending its time on public improvements in the state. The constitution says that the state shall not be a party to any public internal improvements. And while the money which the highway commission spends on good roads is taken out of the internal improvement land fund, which the state has a legal right to spend on roads and bridges, the $8,700 which the state spends annually for salaries and office expenses of the highway commission comes out of the general revenue fund.

But according to the court no money can be spent out of that fund for internal improvements, and they reason that when the state appropriates money for the expenses of a highway commission it becomes a party to an internal improvement or spends money for internal improvements, and the court holds that this is illegal.

A new opinion will also be asked as to the validity of the laws creating the state live stock sanitary board.

YOUTH CONFESSES COMMITTING CRIME

Also Lays Bare Inner Workings of the Black Hand.

Chicago, July 20.—Tony Baffa, an eighteen-year-old Italian boy, who has been in this country three years, confessed here to the killing of Guiseppe Filipello, a grocer, at the same time laying bare the inner workings of those Italian societies known collectively as the "Black Hand," whose business is murder and extortion.

The organization to which Young Baffa belongs was called the "Leguisto," a translation of which is "The Society of Justice." Its other members were named. They are all Italian laborers. The murder was committed April 12. Baffa, in a letter to Detective Longabardi, declared that his accomplices were traitors. The detective secured a signed confession, which read in part as follows:

"The gang was formed for the purpose of extorting money from people who were supposed to be well-off by sending letters and telling the persons to bring the money to a certain place.

"We were laying for Fillipello for three months, but we had no chance to get him because he always had a wife with him or a baby in his arms. On the night he was killed we waited until he came out of the store carrying his baby. Pasquale and I walked toward a vacant lot and when Fillipello came along Pasquale hit at him with a club, but missed him. Fillipello turned around and grabbed me and I pulled a revolver and shot two times. The others cut him.

"These men did other jobs besides this. They told me of cutting two men."

The police later arrested Antonio Nudo, Eresto Pressesse and Guispepi Cara in a house in the suburbs where the gang had its headquarters. They expect to get the other members of the gang soon. It is the theory of the police that these men were connected with the majority of the mysterious Italian murders in this city during the past few years.

CALHOUN AGAIN ON TRIAL

Charged With Offering a Bribe to a Public Official.

San Francisco, July 20.—Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads, is again on trial here on a charge of offering a bribe to a public official to gain a privilege for his corporation. Half a day had been devoted to interrogation of prospective jurors when the first panel of twenty-five citizens was exhausted without any being chosen, and an adjournment was taken until Wednesday.

Assistant District Attorney Heney, it is expected, will assume charge of the case when he returns from his trip to Alaska.

Shoots Into a Crowd.

Omaha, July 20.—A man giving the name of Jesse Smith of Trinidad, Colo., fired five revolver shots into a crowd in a saloon at Tenth and Douglas streets, killing James Rollins, a colored piano player; seriously injuring James F. McGinnity, a bystander, and slightly wounding an unknown man. Smith was captured and placed in jail.

Attempt to Dynamite a Car.

Evansville, Ind., July 20.—An attempt to dynamite a street car was made here late at night when a cartridge was placed upon the tracks. No one was injured, but a passing buggy was demolished by the explosion. A strike of street car men has been on here for several weeks.

SPANISH PRETENDER DEAD

Don Carlos of Bourbon Expires After Long Illness.

Rome, July 19.—Don Carlos of Bourbon, the pretender to the Spanish throne, is dead at Varese, in Lombardy. He had been ill for a long time and the latest reports indicated that he was suffering from apoplexy with the accompanying paralysis.

Don Carlos, duke of Madrid, who claimed under the special law of succession established by Philip V. to be the legitimate king of Spain by the title of Charles VII., was born at Laybach, Austria, March 30, 1948. His father, Don Juan, was the brother of Don Carlos, Charles VII., known as the Count de Montemolin, in support of whose claims the Carlist risings of 1848, 1855 and 1860 were organized.

DON CARLOS.

SIXTEEN ARE DROWNED

Series of Accidents in New York and Vicinity.

New York, July 19.—An accident to an excursion boat and drownings at bathing beaches claimed sixteen people in New York.

Ten of these lost their lives when the sloop Roxana overturned in a squall off Staten Island and sunk and the rest were victims of cramps and exhaustion.

The Roxana was chartered by a party at Brooklyn in the morning for a sail across the bay to Staten Island and return. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when the return trip was being made, a sudden squall was encountered and before the captain had a chance to adjust his sails the copper plates of the boat were glistening in the sun.

The passengers made a mad scramble for the upper rail and this, together with the wind, caused the boat to completely overturn, throwing the people into the mad waters of the bay.

The officers of the tug Lamont witnessed the trouble and went to the rescue, but before they were on the scene ten people had gone down together with the boat. The survivors, thoroughly exhausted, were taken to a hospital on Staten Island.

The other six deaths were the result of drownings while people were in bathing.

FORCED TO REPLY

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw Testifies Against Husband.

TELLS OF THREAT TO KILL HER

Strongest Evidence for State at Insanity Hearing.

White Plains, N. Y., July 16.—Harry K. Thaw's pretty little wife, formerly the chorus girl, Evelyn Nesbit, went on the stand here and gave damaging testimony against him. It was the strongest point scored so far by the state in its fight to keep Thaw in the asylum for the criminal insane at Matteawan. He demands his release through habeas corpus procedure on the ground that he is a sane man. When the day's session was concluded, adjournment was taken until July 26. For three days the state has been trying to bring out that Thaw threatened his wife's life on one of her visits to Matteawan, as tending to show his irrationality. Blocked at first by objections which were sustained by the court, Thaw's attorney at last failed to show that the alleged conversation at Matteawan was confidential, as between man and wife, and when Evelyn Thaw took the witness chair her lips were unsealed. And she related, as if in fear, what Thaw's lawyer has sought most to keep back, his alleged threat to take her life if he were released from the asylum.

"What were his exact words?" demanded Mr. Clarke.

"He said: 'When I get out of here I suppose I will have to kill you.'"

"Why did he say that?"

"We were discussing his mental condition. I had asked him what he meant and he said: 'You know I was not crazy on the night that I shot White.' I asked him again and he said: 'You know that I missed White by two minutes on the day before.'"

Thaw, when asked about his wife's testimony after court, said he was not surprised at her attitude, but he emphatically denied that he ever threatened her life.

"It is very plain to everyone that her story is not true," he said. "I never threatened to kill her. First, she says one thing, and then another."

"Is it true that you made an attempt on White's life on the day before the homicide was committed?" he was asked.

"If I had you would have learned of it before this," replied Thaw.

SEVEN PERSONS ARE KILLED

Building at Philadelphia Partially Collapses.

Philadelphia, July 16.—In one of the busiest sections of the city and at a time when many pedestrians were passing, the five-story brick building at the northeast corner of Eleventh and Market streets, which was being reconstructed for the United Gas Improvement company, collapsed with a terrific roar, burying or pinning beneath the ruins thirty-two persons, seven of whom are dead, one missing, one fatally injured and twenty-four more or less seriously injured.

Those killed were workmen employed by Sax & Abbott, contractors.

The two lower floors of the building had been torn up and the three floors were shored up by heavy timbers. Steel girders were bracing the shoring. It is supposed that by moving one of the girders, the entire structure was loosened.

The crash came without warning and narrow escapes were many. Before professional aid could be mustered, automobiles, teamsters' wagons and all sorts of nearby vehicles were filled with the dead or injured and hurried to hospitals.

CHASED INTO TOWN BY LIONS

Member of Roosevelt Party Reaches Naivasha in Haste.

Naivasha, B. E. A., July 19.—Leslie E. Tarlton, who accompanied the Roosevelt expedition to the Sotik country, has arrived here. He was chased into the town by five lions, the district having been invaded by many of these animals.

It is probable that the Roosevelt party will arrive here from its shooting tour on July 27.

AFFECTS ONLY ONE COMPANY

Fourteen Thousand Miners Quit Work in Pittsburg District.

Pittsburg, July 15.—Over 14,000 miners employed in the mines of the Pittsburg Coal company, located in the Pittsburg district, have gone on strike. The strike order was issued several days ago by the local union officials and does not have the sanction of the national officials of the United Mine Workers of America.

Fire at New Richmond, Wis.

New Richmond, Wis., July 20.—Fire in the yards of the Willow River Lumber company destroyed property valued at $50,000. For a time the entire town was in danger of destruction by the fire and aid was asked from St. Paul. Before the fire apparatus was started from St. Paul, however, the fire was put under control.

Finrow, whose term had expired. The other members of the board are E. B. Lanager, Treasurer; and P. S. Medchill, Clerk.

A large barn belonging to Sam Miller, two miles north of Red Lake Falls was struck by lighting during the storm Monday morning and burned to the ground. The bolt split the barn in two, leaving a crack through the center about four feet wide. Mr. Miller succeeded in saving the contents of the barn and his loss is about $500.

Albert Wonstad and Thom Norby left Tuesday night for Vergas where they will spend several days fishing, swimming and eating, at a camp they will establish there. Vergas is surrounded by several small lakes, anyone of which makes an ideal comping place, and that the boys will have a good time goes without saying.

Fred Dennis has resigned his position as private secretary to Congressmen Steenerson and will engage in the practice of law at Detroit. Fred undoubtedly realized that his name would indeed be "Dennis" if he stayed with the big chief who is due to be retired by the voters of the ninth district at the next election.—Ada Herald.

Miss Mary Bagan closed a very successful term of school in Dist. No. 10, near Lillo last Saturday and has returned to her home at Red Lrke Falls. The closing exercises consisted of a picnic, largely attended and reported to be one of the best ever held in that district. Miss Bagan has been very successful in her work in Dist. No. 10, and on this account, is the recipient of many compliments.

A Valuable Work.

The last Minnesota legislature appropriated $5,000 for a period of two years for extension work to be carried on by the Dairy Division of the State Experimental Station.

The first work undertaken is the organization of cow-testing associations in different creamery localities in the state. An expert dairymen is now in the field organizing these associations and giving instructions for carrying on the work.

The general plan is as follows: Each patron supplies himself with a small spring scale and bottles for taking composite samples of the milk from each cow. The Experiment Station furnishes all necessary blanks and compiles results.

The milk from each cow is weighed once a week, samples are taken for the composite test and each cow's feed is estimated. At the end of the month, the composite samples are tested, either at the local creamery or at the Station laboratory, and the records are sent to the Dairy Division at University Farm.

In this way results will be obtained which are sufficiently accurate for all practical purposes, and the patron, who is supplied with a copy of the record, will have learned which cows in his herd are returning him a profit. The only expense to the patron is the cost of the scale and bottles.

For Sale.

One 20 horse Minneapolis traction engine at $600.00; One 12 horse Ames traction engine at $300,00; One 36 x 60 Advance separator with Fosston blower and Wood Bros. feeder at $200.00.

All ready for business and dirt cheap at above prices. I am not in the machine business, do not run a threshing outfit and must dispose of the above at once. Come and see me at Crookston or telephone at my expense for further information. Office 48, dwelling 171J.—Geo. F. Stone.

Notice - Binder Twine.

The Emardville Creamery Association has recently received a large shipment of Prison binder twine. This twine is on sale at the creamery at 8 cents per pound. It is standard twine, 500 feet to the pound, and is of fine quality.

W. A. Swanson of Deer Park, was a caller in Plummer Monday on business.

"If you need anything in the drug line, mail your orders to the City Drug and Jewelry store at Thief River Falls and we will insure prompt delivery by return mail.—F. J. Stebbins, Prop.

Ole Reiersgaard and Pete Johnson have taken the contract to put up the new telephone line from Plummer to Garnes. They began work the first of the week and have already completed the work to a point about four miles from Plummer.

E. B. Lanager our Pioneer Hard ware man just got in a big carload of Farm implements. He has the farmers Clover Leaf Manure Spreder and down to a light wagon. Also carries Gasoline Engines on hand. Farmers wishing to buy any kind of machinery call on him for prices and terms.

A band of gypsies were camped south of Finrow's store on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week and attracted considerable attention. This same band visited Plummer about a year ago, and were acquanted with several of the local people. Beyond telling a few fortunes, the gypsies did not attempt any of their usual grafts.

Flooded East Of Brooks.

Word received late yesterday from Brooks conveys the information that Red Lake county is not yet safely through with the storms of Monday and Tuesday. During Thursday night and yesterday, water has flooded the country southeast of Brooks to a depth of six inches and is still raising rapidly. The water evidently comes from the swamps in eastern Polk county through the Hill river and this stream is now a raging torrent. Crews of men are busy at work fastening down culverts, fences and everything else that could possibly float away, and farmers are fearful of the outcome.

Lake's Water Poisonous.

Lake Emily, a body of water about twenty-five miles east of Pine River in Cass county, is becoming poisonous. The fish are dying in large numbers and stock and poultry that drink the water, have been affected. It is believed by some that a deadly parasite with more than the usual destroying power, has invaded the lake. Others express the opinion that a vein of copper has been unearthed by the recent rains and that it has infected the water. Copper, mixed with water, forms a deadly poison, and it would not be surprising if the latter belief was the correct one.

Make Preparation Now.

The fair season will soon be upon us and we are led to wonder how many are making preparations for an exhibit at the local fair, It is time that stock were being put in show shape and plans made for other kinds of exhibits. The small grains will soon be ready to harvest and if you have anything which you consider excellent, samples of it should be saved and placed upon exhibition. The managers of local fair associations need your help and encouagement and it is also a good place to show friends and neighbors what your are doing in the way of improved farming. The more exhibits, the more interest will be aroused.

In passing, do our county fairs accomplish all the good they might in a community by making exhibits the sole feature? In their origin fairs were both exhibits and sales places. The first half of the session was for exhibition purposes and the closing days were devoted to exchanging and sales. This is largely the custom yet in Oriental countries. How would it work in this country?

Sageng Threshing Machine A Combination of Separator and Engine.

Sageng threshing machine manufactured and sold by this company is an entirely new departure and it is thought will revolutionize the present day threshing. The outfit combines in one frame both engine and separator. The weight of the whole outfit is six tons, whereas the old traction engine alone weighs from 14 to 20 tons. The machine is built of steel throughout. It is a labor saving device inasmuch as only one operator is needed, doing away with the fireman, water hauler and one or two teams.

The engine is a four cylinder gasoline motor, and occupies the front portion of the machine. It is capable of of running the threshing and traction mechanism at one and the same time or either one separately. The cylinder is at the back of the machine, thus pringing dusty work to rear of machine and away from the Engine. The blower which is also at rear of machine is operated from cylinder belt, thus making less mechanism. The machine will be put on the market at $2000, this price being two thirds of the cost of old style outfit.

The maceine has been given thorough test and is said to give entirely satisfactory results.—Karlstad Advocate.

Dance at Kratka.

There will be an Indian Dance at Kratka during the afternoon of Sunday August 1st., a party of Chippewas being down from the reservation. In the evening there will be dancing at the hall to which everybody is invited. This will be a fine chance for those who wish to spend the Sunday picnicing, as the Kratka people have the reputation of being royal entertainers.

The manufacturing district of St. Paul, Minneapolis and vicinity, grouped into one district, is ranked as the eleventh manufacturing district in the United States in the special bulletin on industries and industrial districts just issued by the United States bureau of census.

Harvesting Now On

The harvesting of the early grain is nowgeneral thruout the country to the south and west and according to reports will be one of the most bountiful in years. From the statistics compiled by the Goverment and Elevator Co.s there is a greater acreage planted this year than ever before so the price of small grains will soon be very likely to take a slump.

The early harvest has caused the farmers to be over crowded with work as the past two weeks of wet weather has made haying late and he now has both on his hands at once. Now is the time when the advantages of mixed farming are apparent as the farmer does not need to be worrying over those fall accounts and notes which would be falling due if he had not had that creamery check each month thru the spring and summer to pay cash as he purchased what he needed.

Farmer Hines to Build New Rail Road In Canada.

Farmer Hines, who is well known in this section of the country from an unsuccessful attempt to promote a farmers co-operative railroad several years ago and who later suceeded in building a short road in North Dakota, has now practically completed arrangements for, the construction of a railroad in Canada, between Regina and Melfort thence thru Watrous to Prince Albert. Later he intends to run from Regina southward to Duluth and from Prince Albert north to Hudson Bay. The road as planned will run thru the choicest section of Canada and will run alongside the wonderful mineral lake at Watrous. The bonds of the company have been guaranteed by the Saskatchewan goverment so he has all the capital required to start construction. He intends this line to be for the benefit of the farmers and owned entirely by them, and to provide against any controlling interest stipulates that each farmer can own only one, one-hundred-dollar share of stock for each quarter section of land he farms. This may be paid for in cash or work. When the line is completed the company intends to operate its own line of elevators.

This is something similar to the plan of D. R. Williams who has been working in this part of the country for the past two months promoting a road to run rom Chicago to Winnipeg.

Red Lake County Fair.

The Red Lake Country Fair which will be held next Wednsday, Thursday, and Friday will undoubtedly be one of the biggest and best of all the county fair's held in the state. The management has worked very hard to get the best to be had in the line of attractions, and their being members of the association will assure some very good races. The premium list is more liberal than any even put out before and any farmer who is really farming, certainly has raised something which he will be proud to exhibit and will want to enter in competition with that of his neighbors. So take the wife and children and go. A little enjoyment will be a good tonic for the hard falls work yet ahead. Don' consider it a waste of time as you will very likely get some ideas from the exhibits and from talking them over with the other fellow that will pay you many times over for the time and money expended. Among the different attractions there will be an airship and a baloon acension and parachute jump by a lion. It is everybodys Fair so everybody ought to be there and make it a good advertisement for the county.

Little Girl Drowned.

Monday morning the three year old doughter of Philip Roy of Red Lake Falls fell in an open cistern in the house and was drown before assistance reached her. The family was all out in the rear of the house where some hogs were being butchered and the little girl becoming frightened by the noise returned to the house. Altho they saw her when she fell in they were unable to get her out before life was extinct.

Finrow and Lien Return From western Trip

Olaf Lien and H. Finrow returned last Sunday, after having spent the past two weeks visiting the principle points of interest in the West. They say that every thing they saw greatly exceeded their expectations with the exception of the Exposition and they were sorry they could not put in more time sightseeing. The size and number of the cities and towns especially surprised them and also the very high prices of farm lands and city property. Several farmers stated that they would not consider an offer of less then $150 per acre for their place.

While away they visited with Mr Finrow's brother at Reardan Wash. who is interested in a large mercantile business there. There is a great amount of wheat raised in some of the valleys, they average twenty to thirty bushels, but they do not get as good a price as the Minnesota farmer. The wheat is cut and threshed at the same time by harvesters, only the head of the grain being cut off. They liked the country very much but do not think the chances are as good as they are here especially for a man without much capital. While there they registered at the Flathead and Gouer d' Alene reservations.

The Cigarttee Law.

The following is the cigarette law that goes into effect in this state tomorrow; "It shall be unlawful for any person, by himself, servant, employee, or agent, directly, or indirectly to sell, barter, make, exchange, or give away any cigarettes cigarette wrappers or papers, or any paper made or prepared for the purpose of filling with tobacco for smoking. Any person violating provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; provided that provisions here of shallnot apply to the sales of jobbers doing an interstate business with customers out side the state."

Mrs. Julia Gjerberg at Red Lake Falls, Sunday morning July 25th. The services, conducted by Field Missionary Laurie, were held at home of deceased Monday morning. Interment in Red Lake Falls Cemetery. Mrs Gjerberg came to this country from Norway in 1883 and is survived by three children John Gjerberg and Mrs. M. Kress of Red Lake Falls, and Mrs. J. Johnson residing in Norway.

Market Day at St. Hilaire

St. Hilaire held their first market day yesterday with such satisfactory results that they plan on holding them at regular intervals in the future. An auctioneer was there to give his services to those who had brought articles they wished to dispose of and the usual prizes were given to the farmer with the biggest team, largest family etc. A market day is certainly a good advertisement for any town and it would be a wise policy for more of the towns to hold them.

Threshermen Will Meet.

There will be a very important gathering in Crookston on Saturday, August 14th, when the threshermen of the Red River Valley will meet in the city hall here to discuss prices to be charged this fall and other matters of interest.

This is the first attempt that has ever been made on the part of the threshermen of this section to get together. It is expected that practically every thresherman in this section of the country will be present. The meeting will be held at two o'clock and all threshermen are invited to be present.—Crookston Times.

Johnnie Medchill, who has been visiting at Barnsville and points in North Dakota, returned home Monday night.

Flood Subsiding.

The loss of property in the Sandhill and Rice river valleys from the flood caused by the cloud burst last week is not as great as first reported. A few cattle were drowned and near Winger one farmer lost his whole herd of sheep, they being fenced down in the valley, gave them no chance to escape.

The greater part of the loss to grain occurred in the flats near Beltrami, where many thousand acres were under water, and in the village the only way the people could get around was in boats. Most of the bridges were washed away, and the farmers will not be able to get around with their teams until the water has gone down enough so that they can be put in again. The Great Northern was the only road that had its line open to the Twin Cities part of the time last week, the Soo and N. P. having to run their trains in on that line.

Latta Sells to Johnson.

On Monday a deal was closed whereby Chas. W. Latta, formerly publisher of the Pioneer, sold his real estate in this village to Ole J. Johnson. Having disposed of his property Mr. Latta has handed in his resignation as postmaster and it is probable that Mr. Johnson will get the appointment, he being, so far as we can learn, the only candidate for the office. Mr. Latta will continue to occupy the premises until his successor has been appointed and takes charge of the postoffice but has not definitely decided as to his future course. Mr. Johnson is one of the oldtime residents of this vicinity and has held many responsible positions of public trust and among others has served this district as county commissioner for eight years. If he lands the postmastership his appointment will undoubtedly prove to be very satisfactory to the general public. Mr. Latta has held the office for nearly three years and made an excellent record as postmaster.

The weather man must have fallen in the Lake.

The closer we get to some of our great men the smaller they look.

The young man who is idle these days certainly has no ambition to be otherwise.

Some people are happy by habit and others are equally unhappy for no better reason.

Spain has evidently decided to retire to the light weight class, having signed for a bout with Morocco.

A workingman in his ragged clothes may be more of a gentleman than the dude with the derby-hat and starched cravat.

Some women evidently believe they can make others believe they have lots of brains by puffing their hair out with a wire gause.

The English Suffragists expect to win out by working the starvation game. Let us hope the good wife at home does not get next to the plan.

The "Bill of Fare"at the Taft Harmony Dinner does not seem to have been very satisfactory to the Senate and we do not believe that even the House ate enough to cause any dispepsia, indigestion or even a sleepless hour.

If the machine plant at the state prison will save the farmer as much in proportion as the twine plant does let us have it by all means. This year the farmer who has contracted with the State for his twine will get it for the bare cost of the raw fibre from which it is manufactured.

It is certainly shameful that a few representives of the mere common people such as Beveridge and La follette will persist in creating a chaos in the refined plutocracy of that "Representive?" body the United State's Senate. If they would only behave them selves the Senate might be able to soon make their job a life long, inheritable one and wear a coronet as an insignia of office in which case such troublesome questions as the tariff would not be allowed to bother the common people.

The very best way to advertise your farming ability is to keep the road along your farm well dragged and the weeds and grass all mowed down close to the ground. This will not only advertise your individual farm but if you will do this your neighbor will soon fall into line and do likewise and pretty soon you will have roads in such shape that they will not only be an advertisment to your individual farm but to the entire community as well. One of the slouchiest things that one can see anywhere is a row of tall ugly weeds on both sides of the public highway and just back of them a nice smooth field of grain for a back ground.

It is a fact that Gov. Hughes of New York is making his trip to Seattle in company with his military Secretary and is paying all the expense out of his own purse and that in spite of the fact that the legislature of his state passed a bill appropriating $15'000 with which the Governor and the members of the Legislature might take in the Big Fair as representatives of the Empire State. Governor Hughes vetoed the bill and as a consequence is paying for his own trip. This is certainly a good lesson for some of the New York grafters and it might serve as a goodly example for some others.

Congress has passed a resolution submitting to the several states for their ratification the proposition of amending the federal constitution so as to make it possible for congress to enact an income tax law. This sudden move on the part of our national legislators was unexpected, but nevertheless wise. There is a general demand for such a law, except in the New England states, where wealth is centered. A tax upon income is the fairest tax ever devised because it places a heavy burden when and where there is strength to bear it, and lightens the load in case of temporary or permanent weakness. It spares the business man in season of distress, but asks a return for this consideration shown in days of increasing prosperity. It is a just tax because in its very nature it is compelled to adhere strictly to the requirements of that universal principle of taxation which prescribes taxation equalty. Our property tax is merciless; it exacts as much in a year when a business man is struggling to keep his head above water as in a year of rare prosperity, under it the farmer contributes as much when he has a total failure of crop as when the harvest is abundent; and as a system it grows more intolerable and unjust the longer it exists, while the longer an income tax continues, as evidenced in European countries, where it has been thoroly tried, the better it works, and the greater the favor with which it is regarded. The sources of income are three: wages, profits, rents; and a tax on either or all of these has the grand advantage over all other forms of taxation in that it has no tendency to disturb prices. Tariffs and property taxes play fantastic tricks with prices, which inevitably result in great injustice and hardship, while an income tax does not cause a single wave of unrest to pass over the sea of commerce.—Roseau Region. The above editorial is written by a man who has made taxes a study for years and is worth while giving considerable attention.

The poor hard working laundry girl may deserve something better than a nobleman.

The SE¼ Section 6, town of Deer Park, 160 acres known as the Christiansen Farm located in good neighborhood. A real good quarter. Any of the neighbors will tell you that you can get 100 acres in solid field. Has small house but no stable as it burned last fall. Will sell this quarter for only $8.75 or $1400.00 with a very small cash payment. If this is not a bargain, then show me one that is.

IF you want to sell your farm come to my headquarters and talk the matter over with me.
A man that advertises extensively and makes a specialty of the land business has certainly better facilities for selling than one that don't.

IRRITATES THE UNITED STATES

Panama's Attitude on Maltreatment of Americans.

PROTESTS ARE OF NO AVAIL

American Government May at Once Insist on Prompt Settlement of Cases—Proper Apology, Punishment of Offenders, Compensation for Injuries and Police Reform Have Been Demanded.

Washington, July 27.—Panama's attitude in failing to take proper notice of the maltreatment of American citizens within her borders during the last two years and a half has irritated the United States government to the point of insisting upon the prompt settlement of these cases to the satisfaction of the state department.

Apparently reliable testimony showing unprovoked assaults and rough treatment of American citizens, including naval officers, during the last two years and a half has been presented to the Panama government.

Proper apology, punishment of the offenders, compensation for injuries or death and police reform have been demanded, but all to no purpose. Only the most unsatisfactory replies have been received from Panama. The attitude of the government of the isthmian republic is inexplicable to the state department officials. They have only asked that simple justice shall be meted out to those guilty and that proper reparation shall be made to the families of those who have suffered. Minister Herbert G. Squiers has been instructed to urge a settlement of these cases.

While the United States government has no idea, as far as can be learned, of intervening in Panama affairs with a view to maintaining order, yet it clearly has the right to do should Panama fail to maintain order in the cities of Panama and Colon and in the territory and harbors adjacent thereto. This right is given by article 7 of the treaty of 1903. The disposition of this government is to give Panama every opportunity to prove itself equal to the task of protecting life and property within its borders and intervention would be resorted to only as a last resort.

On four different occasions Americans have suffered at the hands of Panama citizens and in none of these cases has this government been able to obtain any satisfaction from the isthmian authorities.

OVER TWO HUNDRED ARE UNDER ARREST

Two Dead and Many Injured in Mexican Riot.

Mexico City, July 27.—Over 200 arrests have been made, two persons are reported dead and a score or more injured, including two Americans, as a result of political riots in the city of Guadalajara.

A mob broke up a meeting which was being addressed by orators who spoke in behalf of the re-election of President Diaz and Vice President Corral. During the night they stormed the Hotel Garcia, where the Diaz orators had stopped. Every window in the building was smashed and the bar, office and barber shop looted.

The police charged the crowd again and again, but were repulsed. State troops were called out and a number of volleys were fired in the air, but without effect. Some members of the mob erected a barricade on one of the side streets and shots were exchanged between them and the soldiers. Six mounted gendarmes and two foot policemen were wounded. A four-year-old boy is said to have been killed. Considerable American property was destroyed and two Americans were wounded. The Americans have asked the American consul for protection. The names of the Americans wounded are thought to be W. Herton and H. Murphy, though dispatches were so garbled as to make their identity uncertain.

Fighting in Italian Somoliland.

Rome, July 27.—Advices received from the governor of Benadir, Italian Somaliland, state that the Mohallin tribe, seeking vengeance for the capture of their chief, on July 17 attacked an Italian detachment of native Ascaris. The enemy were repulsed, forty-five being killed and twenty wounded. The Italian loss was five killed.

Midsummer Snow Storm.

St. Louis, July 27.—A midsummer snow storm two miles above the earth caused John Berry, Paul J. McCullough and John S. Thurman, who ascended here in the balloon University City in an attempt to capture the Lahm cup, to land near Savanna, Ill. They traveled 242 miles, mostly through rain.

NEW CABINET IS COMPLETED

M. Briand Succeeds Clemenceau as Premier of France.

Paris, July 24.—M. Briand has definitely succeeded in forming a new cabinet to succeed the recently resigned Clemenceau ministry.

The Paris press seems skeptical regarding the duration of the new cabinet, but the general impression is favorable. The moneyed interests are especially gratified at the disappearance of M. Caillaux from the finance ministry. The Socialists manifest consternation at the fact that the portfolios of war and marine go to professionals, but the courage of M. Briand in placing the national defense in the hands of a general and an admiral is considered the best guarantee that the abuse of politics, which has caused so many abuses in the army and navy, will be eliminated.

BANK'S VAULTS EMPTY

Cashier Disappears With Over Fifty Thousand Dollars.

Tipton, Ind., July 27.—The First National bank of this city, one of the oldest financial institutions of Northern Indiana, is closed. Its cashier, Noah R. Marker, has disappeared, taking with him between $50,000 and $60,000, which was all the cash that was in the bank's vaults. Marker left the city on a train for Indianapolis Saturday evening, telling his wife that he should spend Sunday with his father and mother in Indianapolis.

Marker left a note on the desk of his brother, William Marker, cashier of the bank, saying that he had gone forever and that he had taken "enough money to pay his expenses."

Whether or not Marker had previously taken money from the bank's funds and had covered up the defalcations by making false entries in the books cannot be known until the arrival of a national bank examiner. The directors of the bank decided to suspend the bank's operation until the examiner should have taken charge of the books.

Big Strike in Sweden.

Stockholm, July 27.—Forty thousand workers in the paper, woolen, cotton and allied industries are on strike. The strike, it is stated, will be extended to the ironworkers on Aug. 2. A circular has been issued to the trades unions throughout the country calling for a general strike on Aug. 4.

HIDES ON FREE LIST

President Wins One Point in Tariff Contest.

LOWER DUTIES ON PRODUCTS

Manufactured Leather Goods to Be Reduced.

Washington, July 24.—Hides will be put upon the free list and existing rates on all leather goods will be substantially reduced, some of them below the duties fixed by either the house or senate tariff bills.

By making this reduction on the finished products of leather a part of the agreement for free hides it is said that the conferees will be acting within their powers and that it will not be necessary to recommit the bill either in the house or senate to secure a reduction in the leather schedule.

Senators Crane and Lodge were among the earliest of the president's callers and told him that New England was willing to make concessions in the matter of reduced rates on shoes, etc., as a part of the bargain for free hides. This opened the way, they said, for an agreement in the conference committee, for the Western senators who have been fighting the proposition to place hides on the free list have announced time and again that their objection would cease whenever the rates on shoes, etc., were accordingly reduced.

The rates on shoes will be lowered from 15 to 10 per cent, according to the president's advices.

Borah Consents to Scheme.

Senator Borah of Idaho, after a conference with the president following the call of Messrs. Crane and Lodge, said there was no longer any doubt that hides would go on the free list, along with a substantial reduction in the rates on finished leather products. The generally accepted programme is as follows:

Hides, free; sole leather, 5 per cent ad valorem, the same as the house rate and 10 per cent lower than the senate rate; leather for uppers, 7½ per cent, which is one-half the rate of the senate and the house bills; boots and shoes, 10 per cent, as against 15 per cent in the house bill and 20 per cent in the senate bill.

From a careful analysis of statements made by the senate and house leaders, taken in connection with the attitude of President Taft, the indications are that the conference rates upon the important questions still in dispute will be as follows:

Hides, free; oil, free; lumber, rough, $1.25 per thousand feet, with proportionate differentials; coal, 45 cents a ton, with the house reciprocal clause; iron ore, 15 cents a ton; print paper, $$3.15 a ton.

Practically one full week has been occupied by the conferees in an effort to settle these questions.

TWELVE-YEAR-OLD ENDS LIFE

Boy Hangs Himself After Being Reprimanded by Mother.

Des Moines, July 26.—Laurel Laidley, twelve years old, committed suicide, hanging himself to a rafter in his father's barn on the farm near Guthrie Center.

The boy had been reprimanded by his mother, and fled from the house, declaring he would kill himself. Search revealed him hanging dead.

He had used his suspenders and tied them around his neck and to a beam overhead.

HELD UP BY GIRL BANDITS

One Party of Glidden Tourists Relieved of Valuables.

Denver, July 26.—Two pretty girl bandits, in all the approved regalia of the ancient bad man of the wild and woolly West, held up and robbed Charles M. Babbitt of Buffalo, N. Y., who was in the Glidden tour party.

The holdup occurred in a secluded part of a mountain road near Sterling, Colo., and at the point of pistols the occupants of the car were compelled to give up their money and valuables.

TANNERY MEN RESUME WORK

While Not Settled, Strike Is Believed to Be Over.

Kenosha, Wis., July 24.—Work was resumed in all departments of the Allen tannery and it is thought that the strike, while not settled, is practically over. Nine hundred men are at work and one of the officers of the tannery says the strike is over. No trouble of any kind developed.

AUTO IS STRUCK BY TRAIN

Escanaba (Mich.) Banker, Wife and Brother-in-Law Killed.

Menominee, Mich., July 24.—An automobile containing Ole Erickson, president of the State bank of Escanaba, his wife and brother-in-law, Dell Erickson, was struck by a Northwestern passenger train at Birch Creek and all three were instantly killed.

IN STORM ON GULF

Eighteen Persons Killed and a Number Seriously Injured.

PROPERTY LOSS IS ENORMOUS

Estimated It Will Exceed One Million Dollars.

New Orleans, July 24.—Further reports from isolated points along the Gulf coast of Texas continue to swell the death list resulting from last Wednesday's hurricane. Angelton, Tex., reports eleven dead instead of one, bringing the total death list of the hurricane up to thirty-eight. Many more are still missing.

New Orleans, July 23.—Eighteen persons dead and sixteen seriously hurt and property damage exceeding $1,000,000 as far as can be ascertained is the grim record resulting from the destructive sweep of the hurricane along the Louisiana and Texas coasts.

The number of dead as reported from various towns and cities is as follows:

Texas—Bay City, 8; Galveston, 4; Eagle Lake, 1; Wharton, 1; Kendleton, 1; Ramsey, 1; El Campo, 1; Palacios, 4.

Louisiana—Mudd Pass, 2.

The number seriously injured is reported as follows:

From Texas points—Eagle Lake, 1; Bay City, 15.

That the hurricane which swept the gulf coast of Texas and Louisiana levied a far heavier toll in loss of life and property damage than at first supposed was indicated when points which had been cut off from communication again got in touch with the outside world. Many isolated places yet remain to be heard from and anything like a full list of dead and injured may not be completed for several days.

That the property loss will run into the millions was made a certainty when whole towns which were not at first believed to have suffered were definitely reported to have been wrecked.

Fatalities are reported from many sources.

RESULT OF A CLOUDBURST

Serious Property Losses Occur in Northern Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, July 23.—Reports from Northern Wisconsin, particularly in the neighborhood of Ashland, tell of serious losses as a result of a cloudburst, the estimates of the loss varying from $400,000 to $750,000.

Innumerable bridges and dams are reported as being carried out, and the situation on the Odanah Indian reservation is now the most serious, as the high stage of water is just beginning to affect the red men's section. No trains are running to Ashland on any road, only one Northwestern train having been able to get through. The river power plant is wrecked at a heavy loss, the entire dam at the White river rapids being carried out. This property alone cost $100,000 and is practically a complete ruin.

FOUR PERISH IN CLOUDBURST

Wall of Water Descends Upon Picnic Party.

Denver, July 24.—A picnic party of twelve was overwhelmed with a cloudburst in a narrow defile in Two Mile canyon, three miles from Boulder, while they were eating lunch, and two were drowned and two fatally injured.

The cloudburst broke on a mountain a mile from where the picnickers were at lunch and the first warning that they had was when a wall of water two feet deep descended upon them with great speed. In a few minutes the water was twelve feet deep in the canyon.

WHITE SLAVES ON CANAL ZONE

Army Officer Says Their Life Makes Heart Bleed.

New York, July 23.—A plea for suppression of the "white slave" traffic between the United States and the canal zone is made in a letter from Second Lieutenant C. W. Barber, Second United States infantry, the second assistant chief of police of the canal zone. Lieutenant Barber declares that many American girls, especially actresses, have been lured to Panama and "the life they lead there would make your heart bleed."

RUSSIAN PRINCESS SLAIN

Murdered by Housekeeper in Revenge for Being Discharged.

St. Petersburg, July 24.—News has been received here that the Princess Alexandra Mestchersky, fourteen years old, has been murdered at her father's estate in Smolensk province by the housekeeper. In revenge for being discharged the housekeeper, with an axe, decapitated the young princess. The Mestchersky family is one of the oldest in Russia. Many representatives have played prominent roles in Russian history.

SEVEN ARE KILLED IN WRECK

Part of Wabash Train Plunges Into Missouri River.

Kansas City, July 26.—Seven persons were killed and three perhaps fatally injured in the wreck of Wabash passenger train No. 4 when it plunged into the Missouri river thirty miles east of here.

Of the eight cars which made up the train five and the engine are in the river, with the water covering all of them except one end of the Des Moines sleeper. A dead-head Pullman, mail, baggage, day coach and sleeper followed the engine into the stream. The chair car and two Pullmans alone remained uninjured.

Eight mail clerks were saved because the roof of their car was torn off, permitting them to get out on top of the car and swim to the shore.

BIG DEMONSTRATION HELD

English Labor Party Protests against Czar's Visit.

London, July 26.—A huge demonstration by the organized labor party was held here to protest against the visit of the emperor of Russia to England. Various women's political leagues and socialistic and other organizations were represented.

Numerous banners, which headed the different processions, were inscribed with uncomplimentary mottoes, such as "Let the hanging czar remember," "Shall we grasp his bloody hand?" "A message from hell—welcome, little father."

James Keir Hardie, the socialistic member of parliament, and others made speeches voicing angry protests against the proposed visit.

JEROME IS IN CHARGE

Conducting State's Case in the Thaw Insanity Hearing.

White Plains, N. Y., July 27.—Alienists have begun their slow march across the stage in the Thaw case. The efforts of Stanford White's slayer to obtain his release from the Matteawan asylum for the criminal insane are culminating in the testimony of the experts called to prove him sane and when they are through the prisoner will take the stand himself.

In two respects the hearing was a reminder of the two homicide trials which Thaw underwent. District Attorney Jerome of New York, at the request of the attorney general's office, appeared in court and took entire charge of the state's case. Mr. Jerome and Thaw sat so close together that their chairs touched, but if the prisoner had any fear of the man who prosecuted him his face did not show it.

WILLIAM T. JEROME.

All but one of the witnesses were Thaw's and his equanimity was undisturbed. At times he and the New York district attorney chatted and smiled like old friends reunited.

INDIAN STUDENT MUST DIE

Slayer of British Official Convicted at London.

London, July 23.—Madarlal Dhinagri, the Indian student who shot and killed Lieutenant Colonel Sir William Hutt Curzon Wyllie and Dr. Cawas Lalcaca, was found guilty and sentenced to death at the conclusion of a trial of less than an hour's duration at the Old Bailey police court.

During the recital of the occurrences at the Imperial institute on the night of the tragedy the prisoner sat in the dock listening unconcernedly and only once broke his silence by saying:

"Whatever I did was an act of patriotism."

AT THE COMPANY'S TERMS

Butler (Pa.) Steel Plant Strikers Return to Work.

Pittsburg, July 26.—The strike at the Standard Steel Car company's plant in Butler, Pa., has ended. More than 2,000 former employes returned to work at the company's terms. Seven leaders of the strike movement were discharged.

Officials of the company say that hereafter American workmen will be given preference in all departments, particularly in the construction of cars.

TAFT'S MESSAGE MAY BE USELESS

Appealed to Chinese Regent on Behalf of Bankers.

GERMAN INFLUENCE GREAT

British, French and German Bankers Applying Pressure to Induce China to Stick to the Original Loan Agreement—American Charge at Peking Warns British Minister There That Present Methods Must Cease.

Peking, July 27.—The success of President Taft's telegram sent about a week ago to Prince Chun, the Chinese regent, with the purpose, it is understood here, of tying the hands of Grand Councillor Chang Chi Tung in the matter of American claim for equal participation in the Hankow-Szechuen railroad loan of $27,500,000, appears doubtful. The Chinese foreign board is unable to vouch for Chang Chi Tung's actions and fears that he will memorialize the throne in favor of the original loan agreement, thereby forcing the prince regent to decide between himself and the risk of losing American friendship.

Following their unacceptable offer to America during the meetings of the international bankers in London, when the European bankers offered to the American representatives a quarter of the Hupeh section of the loan, the British, German and French bankers here are for the purpose of putting the responsibility for the failure of a four sided agreement on America, and with this object in view are adroitly pressing China through the German banks.

The tripartite banks are taking full benefit of the influence that the Germans acquired over Chang Chi Tung by undermining the British and French bankers last March, when China accepted a German loan of $15,000,000 for the Yangtse section of the Canton-Hankow railway, and are using it for the purpose of applying pressure to China's structural weakness. In view of this the result will be either the rejection of America's claim or the dismissal of Chang Chi Tung. Henry P. Fletcher, American charge d'affaires at Peking, has warned Sir John N. Jordan, the British minister at Peking, and also the British bank that the American government will understand a continuation of pressure on Chang Chi Tung to mean that it is sanctioned by Great Britain.

PLUNGES INTO THE FLAMES

Farmer Fires Barn and Then Ends His Life.

Jackson, Minn., July 27.—August Huebner, sixty years old, who lived twelve miles west of Jackson, committed suicide by setting his barn afire and then plunging into the flames.

Huebner and his wife had quarreled and Mrs. Huebner locked herself in the house with her children. When Huebner attempted to gain admittance to the house and discovered that the door was locked he seized an ax and smashed the door. Then he disappeared. Mrs. Huebner and the children then fled to a neighbor's house and on their way noticed that the barn was ablaze. When Huebner's body was found the head and limbs were charred.

NO ONE SERIOUSLY INJURED

Canadian Village of Macklin Wiped Out by Cyclone.

Winnipeg, July 27.—The village of Macklin, located on the Saskatoon and Wetaskiwin branch of the Canadian Pacific railway in Saskatchewan was wiped out by a cyclone. Only two stores remain standing. No one was seriously hurt. Several settlers' houses in the path of the storm also were destroyed.

What Ten Dollors Did.

Mr. Brown keeps a boarding house. Around the table sit his wife, Mrs. Brown, the village milliner, Mrs. Andrews; Mr. Black, the boarder; Mr. Jordan, the carpenter; Mr. Hanley, the seed and lumber merchant.

Mr. Brown took $10 out of his pocketbook and handed it to Mrs. Brown with the remark that there was $10 toward the $20 he had promised her. Mrs. Brown handed the bill to Mrs. Andrews, the milliner, saying: "That pays for my new bonnet." Mrs. Andrews in turn gave it to Mr. Jordan, remarking that it would pay for the carpenter work he had done for her. Mr. Jordan handed it to Mr. Hanley, requesting his receipted bill for lumber. Mr. Hanley gave it back to Mr. Brown, saying: "that pays $10 on my board." Mr. Brown passed it to Mrs. Brown, saying he had now paid her the $20 he had promised her. She in in turn paid Mr. Black to settle her pastry and bread account. Mr. Black handed it to Mr. Hanley, asking the amount of his flour bill. Mr. Hanley again remarked that it settled for that month's board, whereupon Mr. Brown put it in his pocket, remarking that he hadn't supposed a greenback would go so far.

But suppose Mrs. Brown had sent to a mail order house for a new bonnet, then that $10 would have gone out and never come back. There is a moral to this: Spend your money with home merchants

Reduced Fair Rates

At a recent meeting the Western Passenger Association decided to grant a one and one-half fare rate for round trip to the Minn. State Fair from all points in Minnesota and all points in Wisconsin within a radius of a hundred and fifty miles. The Soo Line does not belong to the association but will likely make the same rate.

Here's Bob Burdette's definition of the automobile: "The automobile is a large iron and rubber contrivance for transforming gasoline into speed, luxury, excitement and obituaries. It consists of a handsome, leather-upholstered carriage body mounted on fat rubber-tired wheels and containing a gizzard full of machinery suffering from various ailments. It is the speediest and most stylish form of transportation known. It has run over 1000 miles an hour and costs $1000 a minute. It can transport seven people from the front porch to the police station, the bankruptcy court or the golden gates in less time than any other known method."

How About a Good Back View?

"Auntie Liz had a hard time having her picture taken today," said her nephew, who had just opened a photographic studio and had very courteously asked his aunt to come and pose for a new picture.

"Why, what was the trouble?" asked his brother.

"Well, you see, when I told her to look pleasant she didn't look natural, and when I told her to look natural she didn't look pleasant!"—Ladies' Home Journal.

Not a Romance.

"Dear heart," she murmured.

"Only 20 cents a pound," explained the butcher.

"I think I'll take some liver."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Let no man presume to give advice to others who has not first given good counsel to himself.—Seneca.

GOVERNOR ON WESTERN TOUR

Johnson Chief Speaker on Minnesota Day at Youkon Exposition

Governor Johnson accompanied by a number of other prominent Minnesotians left the first of the week for a short tour of the Northwest. His main object in taking the trip was to be at the Exposition for Minnesota Day, when he was to deliver the address and assist in unveiling a bust of J. J. Hill. He was enthusiastically received at every town along the route and was easily the most popular man at the exposition even out shineing Gov. Hughes who was present. It was expected that the occasion would be used to launch his boom for the Presidency but nothing came of it. The party started home Wednesday by way of Canada. Following are sections of the Governors speech-

The call of the west is the call for brave men, who shall know no sectional and no political lines. We as an integral part of the American people should cast our influence and our votes not only to advance the material interests of our own particular section, but we should be broad enough to labor for the common good of our own common country.

We have in the states west of the Mississippi, the undoubted balance of power, no matter under what name the national administration at Washington exists. In the years that have passed, our population and our material wealth have not enjoyed that representation to which they are entitled, and furthermore, our leaders have been content to follow in no small measure the leadership of men who represent relatively smaller constituencies and smaller commonwealths. It is time that the west threw off the shackles of the east.

I would preach no sectional strifes [illegible] the states between, and south of us should rise in their might, and claim for themselves that fair share of influence in the house of congress and in the administration of national affairs to which they are entitled by every law of common sense, as well as political economy. It is time, indeed, that the great Northwest should come into its own, and by the force of its energy, the ability of its sons and the co-operation of its various constituent parts, exert an influence for good, not only as to its own particular prosperity, but to which every element invites it." — Governor Johnson in Minnesota Day address at Seattle Exposition.

COUNTY FAIR A GAEAT SUCCESS

The Exhibits an Honor to County Horse Races especially good.

The Red Lake County Fair Association pulled off one of the most successful fairs this week that it has held since it was organized. The attendance was surprizing considering that the farmers are just now over crowded with work. While the weather looked threating most of the time it did not get bad enough to interfere with the program. The exhibits, along all lines were surprizing and would compare favorably with any that the older counties could gather. The exhibit of dairy cattle was very interesting and with out doubt some of our county residents who are newer at the business got some very valuable points. Beside the Carlson Brothers prize herd there several local men who had fine herds on exhibit. The Chicago Carnival Company, who furnished the amusements were fairly good tho they did not produce any thing in the sensational line that was very new, the most interesting being the baloon ascension and slide from the water-tower. The race track was in fine shape and some very fast time was made, there being a better class of horses entered than they had ever had there before. There was quite a large attendance from Plummer and vinicinity several hundred people going down Thursday.

As a whole the fair was very cleanly conducted the crowds while they enjoyed themselfs not stepping over the limit, and getting rough or unduly boisterous. The skin games were all closed as soon as the police had any notifaction that they were running. Thief River can pride herself on having conducted a very successful Fair.

To Dredge River

The contract for the dredging of the Thief River which starts from Thief Lake and runs thru Marshall County in to Red Lake River at Thief River Falls was let by the State Drainage Board in St. Paul last week to Forestal & Fegan of St. Paul for 6.81 cents per yard. The work will cost in the neighbor-hood of $6 000,00 but will easily be worth that much if it does the good it is expected to.

Running a newspaper this dull season of the year is not the most pleasant job, especially when you try to satisfy a number of readers at all seasons of the year. Now if some of these chaps would run away with another mans wife, or take a shotgun and chase a grocery peddler off their place and then come in and tell us about how the fellow tried to skin him, or if two of them would get into a fight and punch each other's head off and then have a law suit, we would have a chance to get out a breezy paper. But as long as all of you people attend strictly to your work and don't even go off for a visit on Sundays, it's mighty hard picking for the news paper man and you haven't much cause to kick if for a few weeks the paper is not as full of news as it usually is at other times of the year.—Ex.

Rust And Smut Samples.

There are at least two important kinds of rust and the same number of kinds of smut that attack the small grains. By experience, farmers are, in some measure at least, familiar with the losses caused by these diseases, therefore they and all others interested in the cereal crops should be able to distinguish these diseases and to know [illegible] of the methods [illegible] combating them.

To furnish this needed information and to give it as great a publicity as possible, Prof. Freeman, at the head of the division of Plant Pathology of the College of Agriculture, University of the College of Minnesota, is arranging a number of samples of rusts and smuts of different grains for distribution to public schools. These samples, properly mounted and labeled, will sent to all who apply for them. The methods of remedial treatment for smut will be given with each sample.

Teachers in rural schools and teachers of botany in the high schools are in a position to make good use of these samples.

Ditch Contract Let

The contract for Ditch no 35 in the towns of Silverton and Smiley was let to A M. Arpin of Thief River Falls, the consideration being 12.24 cents per yard. altho the contract does not call for the completion of the work untill next year Mr. Arpin expects to complete the work this fall. Mr. Arpin also has the contract for the big ditch in Marshall Co. which is expected th drain one of the largest swamp areas in northern Minnesota. Mr. Arpin has the reputation o being one of the best ditch contractors in the country and when the ditch is finished it will no doubt give complete satisfaction.

Williams the co-operative railroad promoter is still on the hustling list and altho he is not securing the incouragement he expected he still thinks he will be able to build his new road successfully. He will soon have the route settled and expects to have some three hundred miles of road in operation before this years bumper crop is moved. His plan is to have an engineer in each county thru which his road will pass, to over see the grading which he thinks he can get the farmers to do, for stock in the company. He now figures on taking in Red Lake Falls either by a branch line or by running the main line thru there, as he thinks the water power they have there will in the future make it a manufacturing center.

Pays to Raise Good Cattle.

Last Saturday, Tonnes Nelson shipped out one of the nicest steers ever seen in Newfolden. The steer was a five year old and weighed 1975 pounds and 5½ cents per pound, which was paid for same, brought the handsome sum of $108.62. C. W. Anderson is the man who raised the steer and will say that he has done what a good many farmers thot impossible here. This should be good proof that it pays to raise steers when done the right way.

The thruth may embarrass the fellow you tell it to but the lie is most likely to embarrass you.

Is it not pretty near time Pres. Taft started to use a little of his legal diplomacy, for which he was acclaimed as the equal of Roosevelt, to settle the tariff question and save the country this unnecessary expence?

The North Dakota news papers are busy roasting their own sisters and commending Clapp and Nelson. The tariff revision scrap will undoubtly solve the future politica careers of more than one aspiring statesman.

Gov. Johnson has been enthusiastically received by the people on all his travels this year and is getting to be one of the best known men in the country. Can it be that the noted Minnesota soil has at last raised a President and will spoil the boast of the East, that every President comes from their side of the Father or Waters?

Crop Rotation

Crop rotation is coming to be recognized as an important factor in [illegible] simple systems of rotation conducted at the Minnesota Experiment Station, St. Anthony Park, a difference of $13.43 an acre in net profit is shown between poorly arranged cropping systems and those that provide for a proper system of rotation. Pasture and hay crops judiciously distributed throughout the rotation with the reasonable use of cultivated crops invariably result in greatly increased yields of grain and all other crops.

Rotations in five and six-year periods appear to offer the best opportunities for increasing crop production, but the three and four-year rotations also give splendid results when the crops are properly arranged. Many combinations of crops are included in the 128 plots now devoted to experiments in crop rotation at University Farm, giving a splendid basis from which to draw conclusions on good arrangements of crops for various types of farming.

The Station authorities believe that the farm revenues of Minnesota can be raised at least 25 per cent by a rational system of crop rotation, but as this rotation must be arranged to suit each individual farm, it is not possible to give a system of rotation that will be suited to all. Prof. Andrew Boss, the agriculturist of the Station at St. Anthony Park, who has this work in charge, will revise plans of rotation or suggest new rotations free of charge upon receipt of inquiries.

Does Farming Pay?

The Minnesota Experiment Station, in co-operation with the Bureau of Statistics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture has carried on an investigation as to the cost of producing farm products in Minnesota since 1902. The preliminary results of this investigation have been published by the Government Bureau of Statistics as Bulletins 48 and 73, and by the Minnesota Experiment Station as Bulletin 97.

The actual cost of products has been determined upon a large num- [illegible] those interested are enabled to appreciate the true economic position of the farmer, and the farmer himself is better able to understand his relation to society.

Data now published indicates that when all items of cost, including wages to the farmer, are taken into consideration, the profits from the average crop are practically nothing. The general impression that the farmer's cost of growing a product is very little is being dispelled, for it is slowly being reconized that when all items of cost are taken into account, labor of men and horses, the various cash expenses, interest and depreciation upon machinery and interest upon capital invested, that the expense is surprisingly high. Even the present high prices of farm products allow only a fair margin between cost of production and selling price. The average crop sold at the average price the past ten years has often resulted in a loss to the farmer.

Taking wheat as an example, the cost of production an acre in southeastern Minnesota was $9.86. An average crop of 15 bushels an acre was raised on these farms; thus the cost of a bushel on the farm was 66 cents. The cost of marketing the product and an averaging of the general expence would make an average 5 cents a bushel, giving a total cost of 71 cents a bushel. The average Dec. 1 farm price of wheat was 74.2 cents a bushel. A similar computation for the oat crop gives a margin of less than 3 cents a bushel. This margin in either case does not equal the 10 per cent profit that is so generally added to the cost by men engaged in other lines of business.

The need of this investigation has long been felt. Minnesota is the pioneer state to undertake the thorough work required, and in the not distant future should be in a position to reap the benefits.

SIX PEOPLE DEAD

Terrific Explosion of Acetylene Gas at St. Paul.

TWO BUILDINGS DESTROYED

Victims Caught in Wreckage and Bodies Cremated.

St. Paul, July 31.—The explosion of an acetylene gas tank in the building occupied by the Kuhlo Manufacturing company and other tenants will, it is believed, cost nine lives. Six persons are dead and a number injured, three probably fatally. The dead are:

ARNOLD KUHLO, president of the Kuhlo Acetylene Tank company.

G. BORGEN, draftsman, interested in the company.

ROMMIE BUSKEY, three years old.

CLIFFORD GAMBLE, three years old.

MRS. AGNES GAGNON.

HERBERT P. HODGMAN, twenty-three years old, a student.

Numbers 79 and 81 West Third street, two-story buildings, were completely wrecked, a huge mass of flame shooting up. Glass was broken in all directions roundabout.

The fire following the explosion raged for an hour and the bodies of the victims were badly burned.

The acetylene tank which exploded was being used as part of an apparatus invented by Arnold Kuhlo for filling automobile lamps with fuel gas.

COURT RUFFLES THAW

Puts Series of Pertinent Questions to Defendant.

White Plains, N. Y., July 31.—It was the judge, not the prosecution, who ruffled the assurance of Harry K. Thaw on the witness stand. "Exaggerated ego," the insane delusion that the individual is a person of supreme ability and importance, may prove the bar that will keep the doors of the Matteawan insane asylum closed upon him.

When District Attorney Jerome finished his cross-examination Justice Mills assumed the role of inquisitor and put a series of questions that in the judgment of many were more pertinent than any of those asked during the twelve hours Thaw has been questioned.

"They are going to argue with me," said the justice, "that all the way through you have shown an 'exaggerated ego.' You have had the assistance of the ablest counsel, but I have observed you constantly interrupt him and make suggestions. In your former litigations you have constantly changed your counsel. Why don't you trust Mr. Morschauser?"

HARRY K. THAW.

Thaw was clearly nonplussed. This was a feature of his conduct upon which Mr. Jerome had not touched.

"But I do trust Mr. Morschauser," he hastened to assure the justice.

"Why didn't you trust your other lawyers—you a man unlearned in the law?" continued the court. "Haven't you felt all the way through that you were better able to conduct this case?"

"No," answered Thaw, "except perhaps in the case of Mr. Hartridge."

Thaw admitted that he might have interrupted Mr. Morschauser, but he pleaded that it was only because he wanted to make suggestions regarding the evidence and not because he felt qualified to take the case out of his attorney's hands.

AWFUL FLOOD IN MANCHURIA

One Thousand Persons Perish in One City Alone.

Tokio, July 31.—News has reached here of a terrible flood in the province of Changchun, Manchuria. In the city of Kirin, situated at the head of steam navigation on the River Sungari, 225 miles from Mukden, 1,000 people have been drowned and 7,000 houses submerged. The water is still rising.

DEFEAT FOR SPAIN

Lose Three Thousand Killed or Wounded Near Melilla.

REBEL OUTBREAK AT HOME

Insurrection Occurs at Barcelona and Other Points.

Madrid, July 30.—Spain is rent by two fears—the fate of the army in Morocco and the situation in the Mediterranean provinces in Catalonia. At the outskirts of Melilla the Spanish arms have suffered a serious check. Three thousand soldiers have either been slain or wounded and the Moorish hordes are fighting at the very walls of the city itself.

News from Barcelona, the center of the revolutionary outbreaks, is exceedingly meager and unsatisfactory. From Lisbon comes the report that the revolutionists are using bombs and that 100 persons were killed and 200 wounded during the earlier stages of the conflicts.

Premier Maura's announcement that the situation in Barcelona showed a little improvement and word from Melilla that the Moors were retreating from Mount Guruga only slightly appeased the general uneasiness. The Moorish forces, however, have been strengthened by the arrival of 5,000 additional tribesmen and the official judgment that 75,000 Spanish troops are needed to overcome the Moors would indicate that the Melilla army of Spain is in sore straits.

A Moorish army is marching on Alhucemas and a warship has been hurriedly dispatched from Melilla to aid the garrison there.

Insurrectionary outbreaks are reported from many points in Spain. At Granollers two convents have been burned, while at Cassadlaselva the civil guard was disarmed and imprisoned in the barracks. The revolutionists are active at Llansa and Figueras, where the railroads have been dynamited. Financial institutions are sending their funds across the frontier.

LOSE THREE THOUSAND MEN

Spaniards Defeated in Fierce Battle in Morocco.

Madrid, July 29.—Official dispatches received here admit that the battle between the Moorish tribesmen and the Spanish forces outside of Melilla July 27 was a disastrous defeat. The Moors cut off the communications with the Spanish outposts and the main force of the Spaniards was driven back under the walls of the city, where fighting continued desperately. The Spanish killed and wounded numbered almost 3,000, which takes no account of the men at the advance posts who evidently were cut off and abandoned to their fate. Melilla is full of wounded men.

The extent of the disaster is plainly apparent from General Mariana's dispatch as given out at the war office. He says:

"On July 27 the Moors cut the railroad, severing communications with our outposts. Our batteries shelled the Moors, but the advance posts were endangered and they had to be abandoned. The situation at Melilla is grave, despite the desperate bravery of the troops, who are now fighting under the walls of the city.

"Our losses in the engagement were General Pintos, a colonel, two lieutenant colonels, five captains, many officers and subalterns and about 1,000 men. The wounded number at least 1,500, including many officers. The hippodrome is full of wounded soldiers. Two generals were mortally wounded."

SLAUGHTER AT BARCELONA

Artillery Used to Quell the Insurrection There.

Madrid, July 31.—The government's reports from Catalonia indicate that the situation continues to improve. Both King Alfonso and Premier Maura seem satisfied that the worst is over, that the rebellion in Barcelona has been quelled and that order soon will be restored in the remainder of the captaincy general. Nevertheless, to be on the safe side, large bodies of troops of all arms continue to be hurried to the scene.

No figures, not even estimates, of the loss of property and life in Catalonia are vouchsafed by the authorities, but private dispatches leaking out through the frontier indicate that there has been great slaughter at Barcelona.

It is understood that the king greatly regretted the necessity of using artillery, but yielded to the arguments of his cabinet ministers that half way measures or temporization might prove fatal. Reports continue to filter in of the wildest destruction of property, especially churches, monasteries and convents, against which the fury of the mob was centered.

July Wheat Went to $1.50

New York, July 31.—The July wheat deal wound up here in a spectacular manner. Shorts paid $1.50 for one lot in the open market and then defaulted on 20,000 bushels, which were bought in under the rule at $1.49. These are the highest prices of the season.

THAW'S ACTIONS IN THE ASYLUM

Described by a Physician of the Institution.

CONDUCT ON MANY OCCASIONS

Characterized by the Witness as Being "Silly" and "Pompous"—Evidence Given by the Prisoner's Mother During the Murder Trial Now Being Used Against Him by District Attorney Jerome.

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 3.—How Harry K. Thaw conducted himself at Matteawan asylum for the criminal insane, a phase of his life not gone into in the past, was described by Dr. Amos B. Baker, first assistant physician of the institution, the only witness called by District Attorney Jerome at the continuation of the hearing by which Thaw hopes to obtain his release. The examination of Dr. Baker had not been finished when adjournment was taken. Aside from his testimony a two-foot stack of canvas-bound books, labelled "The People vs, Harry K. Thaw"—records of the murder trial—furnished all the evidence introduced by Mr. Jerome.

Mr. Jerome expects to be through with the state's alienists soon, and Charles Morschauser, Thaw's lawyer, will then put his client on the stand.

Mrs. Mary Copeley Thaw, as she sat in court, heard Mr. Jerome introduce against her son testimony she had willingly given heretofore to save his life. She was seized upon by the state to prove him insane. It included her accounts of his nervous temperament as a child, materially valuable to Thaw when he was in danger of the electric chair, but now menacing to his hope of proving himself a sane man. One thing quoted by the district attorney was her statement concerning Harry Thaw that "his body was too puny for his head and before and after the measles he had St. Vitus dance."

MRS. MARY COPLEY THAW.

Describes Thaw's Conduct.

Dr. Baker's testimony was read by himself from his "case book" and described Thaw's conduct, both normal and queer, on many occasions from Feb. 1, 1908, the date of his commitment, until June 25 of the present year.

While some of these notes described the patient's acts as "silly" and while the witness said that in his belief Thaw was irrational now, Thaw's attorney made him admit that during the first three months of the patient's stay at Matteawan he observed no signs of paranoia.

After that Thaw, by his counsel's advice, refused to let himself be examined or to answer questions asked by the hospital physicians. When Thaw reached Matteawan on the day the jury acquitted him of the murder of Stanford White on the ground of insanity, almost his first statements, according to Dr. Baker, were "expressions of amusement over the clever work of his lawyers and alienists." He said frankly, according to Dr. Baker, that his acquittal was obtained by exaggerating certain incidents, and putting in testimony Jerome was unable to refute because he had not the facts.

The witness described Thaw's manner at most times as "silly" and "pompous." He said he quarrelled with the other patients who played cards with him, calling them "stupid donkeys." From his note book he told of various incidents, including Thaw's refusal to accept mail addressed to him; his refusal to see his wife until told that Mr. Morschauser had sent her, and his "insolent and domineering actions towards the physicians and attendants."

May Be More Bodies in Ruins.

St. Paul, Aug. 3.—Unclaimed, neglected by its parents, the little two-year-old child killed in the fire next to the police headquarters Saturday lies at the county morgue. It has been identified as Clifton Johnson, but there seems to be doubt as to whom the child belongs. The absence of claimants has given rise to the fear that the bodies of the child's parents are in the ruins of the ill-fated building, but the police declare that they have accounted for all the missing.

RUSSIAN RULER VISITS ENGLAND

Emperor Nicholas a Guest of King Edward.

REVIEW THE BRITISH FLEET

Monarchs Inspect the Flower of Albion's Fighting Craft—Czar's Visit One of the Most Impressive and Spectacular Events Ever Witnessed at Cowes—Measures Taken to Protect Visitor Make Him Appear Like a Prisoner.

Cowes, Aug. 3.—The first official visit of the Russian Emperor Nicholas to England was one of the most impressive and spectacular events that Cowes, accustomed to naval pageantry, ever witnessed. King Edward, with most of the members of the royal family, put out on the royal yacht Victoria and Albert and met the Russian imperial yacht Standart and the squadron of warships accompanying it off Spithead.

Emperor Nicholas immediately went on board the British royal yacht, where he was greeted by King Edward, and after the monarchs had partaken of luncheon, their majesties reviewed the British fleet. One hundred and fifty ships were aligned in three files between Cowes and Spithead. There were twenty-six battleships, of which seven were Dreadnoughts, sixteen armored cruisers and eight other cruisers, forty-eight torpedo boat destroyers and shoals of submarines. Besides the warships there were hundreds of yachts of all types. All were dressed in flags and when the Russian squadron started its cruise of inspection the warships fired a salute of twenty-one guns.

The Russian squadron was made up of the imperial yacht Standart and its consort, the Polar Star, and the big lead-colored cruisers Admiral Makharoff and Rurik, and two torpedo boat destroyers. The British sailors and marines manned ship as the inspection squadron passed through the lines. All the British bands played the Russian national anthem and the crews of both nationalities gave three cheers for each other.

Salutes Brought Rain.

King Edward, Emperor Nicholas, the Prince of Wales, Admiral Sir John Fisher, chief naval aide to King Edward, Reginald McKenna, first lord of the admiralty, and a number of lesser officials were on the bridge of the Standart. The salutes from the warships seemed to have had their effect upon the lowering clouds, for rain was falling when the royal and imperial yachts anchored off Cowes.

The scene along the shore was as interesting as that afloat. Crowds lined the waterfront for miles and all the houses were draped with bunting and flags. The yacht races, which had been going on for some time, lost their usual interest, for everyone was absorbed by the visit of the Russian imperial family.

The measures taken to safeguard Emperor Nicholas make him seem like a prisoner of state when compared with other royal personages who have visited Cowes during regatta week. The Standart dropped anchor between two battleships of the Dreadnought type which are surrounded by other naval vessels, while small boats patrol about the visitors constantly. Scotland Yard has 100 detectives at Cowes and the Russian police department has an equal representation. The emperor will remain aboard ship during his visit except for a brief trip ashore to the Cowes naval school Wednesday.

INDIAN KILLS COMPANION

Liquor Blamed for Tragedy to South Dakota.

Aberdeen, S. D., Aug. 3.—Robert Giland, a young Indian on the Standing Rock reservation, killed his companion, Thomas Powers, near Thunder Hawk. The boys with others were driving home their quota of cattle issued by the government when they met friends who had contraband whiskey. All drank and Powers became so abusive that Giland shot him and then gave himself up. He was given a hearing in this city before United States Commissioner Wallace and bound over for trial at Deadwood, Sept. 1. As the jail here is full he was taken to Mitchell.

Newspaper Plant Damaged.

St. Paul, Aug. 3.—The Forepaugh block, occupied by the Daily News, was threatened with destruction by fire. The fire started in the boiler room in the basement and made its way to the stereotyping room, which was damaged considerably. The loss on building and contents is estimated at $5,000. How the fire started is not known.

Death List Grows.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 3.—The dead in last Saturday's electric car wreck at Coldwater, Ida., now numbers thirteen. Miss Frances Golden of Spokane died at Coeur d'Alene. The list of injured has reached 118. A coroner's investigation of the wreck has been begun.

Conference Report on Tariff Bill Adopted in House.

TWELVE MAJORITY FINAL VOTE

Twenty Republicans Join Democrats in Opposition.

Washington, July 31.—The house tonight adopted the conference report on the tariff bill, 195 to 183. Twenty Republicans voted against the report and two Democrats for it.

The vote was the climax of an eleven-hour session, conducted through most oppressive heat, but notwithstanding it was enlivened by a dozen or more speeches of more or less fiery nature.

The twenty Republicans who voted against the adoption of the report were as follows:

Representatives Carey (Wis.), Davis (Minn.), Gronna (N. D.), Haugen (Ia.), Hubbard (Ia.), Keifer (O.), Kendall (Ia.), Lenroot (Wis.), Lindbergh (Minn.), Mann (Ill.), Miller (Minn.), Murdock (Kan.), Nelson (Wis.), Nye (Minn.), Poindexter (Wash.), Southwick (N. Y.), Steenerson (Minn.), Stevens (Minn.), Volstead (Minn.) and Woods (Ia.).

A change of three votes would have killed the tariff bill in the house on one of the roll calls. The motion to recommit the bill, which meant its death, was defeated by only five votes. Two Louisiana Democrats, interested in maintaining high sugar duties, and other Democrats absent and not paired saved the measure. The incident shows its unpopularity.

ULTIMATUM BY PRESIDENT

Forces Conferees to Lower Rates on Lumber and Gloves.

Washington, July 30.—The Payne-Aldrich tariff bill stands completed, an agreement on all disputed points being reached and the conferees' report signed by the Republican conferees.

Halted by the mandate of President Taft the tariff conferees were compelled to turn back and revise their rates on lumber and gloves. In a communication to Senator Aldrich and Representative Payne the president demanded that the high rates on gloves as fixed by the house and the high rates on lumber as fixed by the senate should not be made a part of the conference report.

After struggling over these questions the conferees surrendered to the president's view and signed the report.

The president had ideas of what the lumber and glove rates should be and he expressed them very forcibly in a letter. He said that lumber should not be more than $1.25 per thousand feet for rough, with the differentials fixed by the senate on finished lumber. He declared also that the senate rates on gloves, which are the same as the Dingley rates and much less than the house rates, would have to be adopted in order to obtain his endorsement.

Hides Must Go On Free List.

Not content with issuing an injunction against high rates on these articles the president specifies that hides must go on the free list and the house rates on boots and shoes and other manufactures of leather be reduced. Hosiery, too, he thought should be reduced below the house rates, which were advanced over the Dingley duties.

There was no opportunity to compromise on gloves. The president said the rates must not be advanced beyond the figures named by the senate, which are the same as the existing duties except for the fact that Schmaschen gloves were reduced by the senate from $1.75 a dozen to $1.25.

On lumber some concessions were made, in spite of the fact that the president's instructions were complied with to the letter. Rough lumber was made dutiable at $1.25 per thousand feet, finished on one side, $1.75; finished on two sides or one side planed and tongued and grooved, $2.15; finished on three sides, $2.52½, and finished on four sides, $2.90.

In view of the action of the conferees in putting hides on the free list a concession was also made to the cattle industry by taking tallow off the free list, where it had been placed by the house, and restored it to the dutiable list.

JOKER FOUND IN TARIFF BILL

Conference Committee Hurriedly Reassembled.

Washington, Aug. 3.—Tariff legislation has been delayed again by the hide and leather question and as a result the conferees were called together once more. The session was for the purpose of enticing out into the open a certain "ebony-hued person" who was reported by Western senators to have been seen lurking in the "wood pile."

The Westerners complained that the leather schedule, as arranged by the conferees with the approval of the president, is unfair to the states interested in protected hides. It was agreed that some action must be taken to conciliate them if the conference report is to be adopted.

Graf von Blumen-Schloss.

[Copyright, 1908, by American Press Association.]

Did I ever tell you how I was honored by an invitation from the emperor and empress and was thereby made a part of Berlin society? No? Well, I'll tell you now.

While in Vienna I was invited to a state ball at the palace. My partner for the cotillon was a young German, Graf von Blumen-Schloss. He was handsome, refined and of a noble bearing. His social position was of the very best not only from his personality, but because he represented one of the oldest families of Prussia. I was an untitled American whose father had been a pork packer and whose husband was a manufacturer of shoes. Nevertheless Graf von Blumen-Schloss treated me with as much attention as if I had been a duchess. When with me no attraction elsewhere could induce him to desist from listening to what I had to say to him or to suspend for a moment his attentive gaze upon my face. True, I was then young and had some good looks, but I knew it was not I who held his attention, but a courtesy inherited from a long line of nobles. Besides, when he was with other women he was apparently quite as much wrapped in them.

He wore an army uniform and on his breast several decorations. I did not know what they represented, but I understood that one of them had been bestowed upon him for bravery in battle. I think I should have fallen in love with him if I had been single and given an opportunity. But I did not see him again while in Vienna, and shortly afterward we left for America.

Two or three years after this, while in Philadelphia, stopping at one of the finest hotels in that city, on entering an elevator one evening to go up to my rooms I was ushered in by a man wearing the hotel uniform. There was something about him that was familiar to me. The uniform of a servant seemed to resolve itself into that of an army officer. I heard the strains of dance music and was whirling in the german cotillon. I raised my glance to the servant's face. Could I believe it? He was the Graf von Blumen-Schloss.

His flaming face told me that it was indeed he and that he knew me, but he made no other sign of recognition. Nor did I. The elevator door toward which he waved his hand stood open. I entered and was lifted to the fifth story. I could not bear to run the risk of continually meeting my previous cotillon partner reduced to a servant, and the next morning I left the hotel.

Three years after that my husband gave up business, and we again went abroad. Being wealthy and abundantly able to keep up a position in any foreign city, we desired especially to spend a winter in Berlin, but on arriving there my husband, who is an impatient, independent, thorough American, gave offense to our minister, and there was a deadlock upon our entering society. We were about to give the matter up and go elsewhere when something occurred to change our resolution. An invitation came one morning to attend a ball to be given by Graf and Graffin von Blumen-Schloss.

It was evident, first, that the graf had resumed his original position in the world and, second, that he knew I was in Berlin. I assumed that he must have seen me, though I had not seen him. We made inquiries and learned that he had married a wealthy and refined American lady and had recently been appointed an aid-de-camp to the emperor.

We went to the ball and were very graciously received by the graffin, who gave as a reason for inviting us that we were her fellow countrymen. My meeting with her husband in his own home was naturally constrained. He made no mention of having met me in America, but asked me if he had not met me in Europe. I told him that he had been my partner at a state ball in Vienna. Then he appeared to remember. He may have been sincere in not giving evidence of recollecting just where he had first seen me.

Later an invitation came to dine with the emperor and empress, which, of course, was inspired by his aid-de-camp, the Von Blumen-Schlosses being of the dinner party. After this we were welcome everywhere.

Never did either Von Blumen-Schloss or his wife make the slightest allusion to his having been in America. I as well ignored having met him in hotel livery. What inspired his kindness to me I do not know. It may have been intended to keep me silent on his past or it might have been a token of gratitude for my failure to recognize him while in a menial position. Indeed, he might have been influenced by both of these causes.

In time I came upon his story. Soon after I had danced with him in Vienna financial reverses deprived him of his fortune. Like many an Europian aristocrat in the same circumstances, he went to America and became a servant. From the hotel he went to serve a gentleman as chauffeur and while acting in that capacity won the heart of his daughter. Learning who he was, she had married him with her father's consent and set him up again as a Von Blumen-Schloss. After the marriage the husband came into another fortune. All that was known in Europe about his having been in America was that he had married there.

Query—Did he go there to get a rich wife in a clandestine manner? Owing to lack of means he could not have gone for matrimonial purposes in any other way.

Are You A Booster?

The Illusion of Night.

I sometimes fancy that every great city must have been built by night. At least it is only at night that every part of a great city is great. All architecture is great architecture after sunset. Perhaps architecture is really a nocturnal art, like the art of fireworks. At least I think many people of those nobler trades that work by night (journalists, policemen, burglars, coffee stall keepers and such mistaken enthusiasts as refuse to go home till morning) must often have stood admiring some black bulk of building with a crown of battlements or a crest of spires and then burst into tears at daybreak to discover that it was only a haberdasher's shop with huge gold letters across the face of it.—G. A. Chesterton in London News.

The Oleomargarine Law

We would like at this time to remind our readers that the situation in regard to oleomargarine legislation in the next Congress is a most serious one for the diary industry and that the National Dairy Union, of of which the Minnesota Dairy Union will be a sort of state agent, will need the support and co-operation of not only the creamry men, but of every farmer who milks cows, if the Union is to successfully fight off the onslaught of the olemargarine interests.

The dairy industry has no quarrel with the manufactures of and dealers in oleomargarine as to their right to make and sell the stuff; all they demand, in the name of justice and decency, is that they do not sell it as butter.

The Dairy Record.

New Line Connected

The new telephone line which start at Grit post-office, was connected with the gemainder of the Clearwater telephone system Monday. Not very many of the farmers along the new line have their phones in as yet being too busy at this time of the year, but the majority of them will put them in later in the fall.

Those who have their phones in at the present time are—

E. Leeback

A St. Paul centralizer in a newspaper interview wants the dairy end of the State Dairy and Food Department placed under the supervision of the School of Agriculture.

More New Ditches.

The county board made another addition to the drainage system of Red Lake County when they ordered the establishment of Ditch No. 36 in the town of Smiley, generally known as the Knox Ditch.

The ditch will be several miles long and the contract will be let some time in the near future.

There is also being projected another ditch in Marshal, Beltrami and Red Lake Counties, which, when completed, will be one of the longest ditches in the state.

Mr. N. R. Hoag, who has the contract to do the engineering work, states that altho the work of surveying the ditch with all its tribuearies is a great task, the chief engineering droblem is to improve Thief River so that it will be able to carry off all the water these additional ditches will empty into it.

The country this ditch will tap is absolutely worthless without drainage but when drained will make one of the best farming sections in the state and will help make this section what it is bound to be in the near future: the best section in this best of states, Minnesota.

Hail Storm Vists Waukon.

The warm weather Saturday brought rain and hail to the country east of here. The farmers of Waukon who suffered a total loss are as follows: Joe Ulseth, Theo. Kiser, M. P. Dahl, Peter Bakken, H. O. Klefsaas, Nils Moen, R. Syvertson, E. Williams and Torger Hovelson The following farmers suffered a loss of a third to a half: Strom, Ole O. Wermager, B. L. Bjerkness, A. J. Sanden, Carl Flaa and H. J. Lystne. This instance of hard luck may seem a hardship to a good many but when you stop to consider that they have most of them lived there for 25 years of more and never been struck by hail to speak of, the loss should not be so seriously considered.—Mahnomen Free Press.

Breeding New Potatoes

Work along the line of breeding new varieties of potatoes has been much extended since it has been taken up as a special work at the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station, University of Minnesota. In 1908, about 8,500 seedling potatoes were set out from seed boils produced the year before. last year the best of these seedlings were saved, a number of them being promising. Last spring a large number were again set out.

Just at present extensive work is going on in the crossing of varieties which are most likely to produce improved varieties, and since the potato is difficult to cross, at the same time the flower and factors that influence the vigor of the flowers, or their parts are being studied so that some means may be found by which varieties which cannot now be produced to set seed may be crossed.

Importations from Mexico, South America, England, Scotland, Germany and other parts of Europe are being used in this breeding work.

Lack of space forbids the pointing out of special features of the many other lines of experimental work with the potato now going on at the station. Only a visit to the grounds and a study of the new potato bulletin can give one an adequate idea of the present extent of the work and of its value to the Minnesota potato grower.

THE BUILDING OF "GETTYSBURG"

Enormous Outlay of Time, Talent and Money on Fair Spectacle.

During the coming week the monster piece of scenery—the longest and highest ever painted for any outdoor production—will be hung in front of the new grandstand and exposition building of the Minnesota State Fair preliminary during the first rehearsals of the thrilling military spectacle, "Minnesota at Gettysburg."

Scores of artists and artisans have been at work on this reproduction of the Gettysburg battlefield since early spring, and over 8,500 yards of canvas, 15,000 feet of lumber, five tons of iron and sheet steel, and 500 gallons of paint have already been used in producing this mammoth picture, twice as long as the new grandstand and over 30 feet in height The work is far from finished, however.

As soon as the scenery is in place on the infield the artists will proceed to put on the thousands of finishing touches necessary to get the proper effects, the stage manager and stage carpenters will, with stones, fence rails, wheat sheaves, trees and other "practical properties," carry across the ground toward the grandstand the effects produced by the picture proper and dozens of costumers, electricians and other experts will set to work on the thousands of details required in perfecting this greatest outdoor production ever attempted.

When it is finished, "Minnesota at Gettysburg" will be to "Fort Ridgley in '62" what that great spectacle was to its predecessors, the travelling shows.

Install Latest Machinery

The Hanson and Barzen Milling Co. are busy installing a new sort of cleaning machinery. These machines are one of the very latest inventions and are to be found in no mill in this state outside of Minneapolis. They thoroughly cleanse the wheat before it goes into the grinder and this will insure us a cleaner and purer flour than could be purchased any where here-to for. Every particle of dust and dirt and foreign matter of whatso-ever nature will be removed and to those who know how filthy some of our wheat sometimes is this will mean more than any other item. In the future you may well point to our home production of flour with pride and say that you will use no other for the simple reason that the very best that is made in the state is produced in our own city.

Thief River Press

The Hansen and Barzen Milling Co. have one of their elevators located here and have also made this one of the distributing points for their flour The Co. has always enjoyed the reputation of turning out the best to be had in their line and are not likely to pass up any chance to improve their products.

It is now up to the American Society of Equity to see whether the speculators or farmers get the profit on this year's bumper crop.

The losses by fire in Minnesota during the month of June amounted to $70,000 as compared to $955,000 for the same month in 1908.

Spain, Persia, and Turkey have started down the road all absolute monarchies must in time go the Revolutionary Road, to make the people the rulers.

While to have an old time red hot Roosevelt message shot at Congress might not have done very much good still it would have made us all feel better.

King Gustav of Sweden has almost as much trouble with those learned Swedish strikers as has King Alphonso with his bunch of revolutionists and traitors.

Another round has started in the county seat fight and it would take a wise man to say who is ahead. But it looks as if before they get through they will have spent enough money to put a court house in each township.

The Republicans have aga in started the scare that Gov. Johnson will again be a candidate for governor. While there is nothing too good for the great comman wealth of Minnesota the governor has now grown so that the whole people think they have a claim on him and it looks as if we would have to give him up to them. Mr. Dunn is right when he says "much adieu about nothing," the chances are too slim.

Well the tariff question has been settled for the present, but as to what has been done, it is an example of the fool being able to ask a question that the wisest man can not answer, and it is altogether to brainy a subject for this hot weather. Presedent Taft says that they have done the best that could be expected for the time being in the line of down ward revision but that he will admit that it is not what the people had a right to expect from the promises made them during the campaign. While President Taft may have kept his promise to the people in this line he has the misfortune to be affiliated with a party, the ruling powers of which do not think enough of their promises to the people, who they are supposed to be the servants of, to try to keep them. What the people think can better be seen after the next election. It looks to us as if they might think things needed a general house cleaning, "a new broom sweeps clean."

The Minneapolis Musicians hold a picnic to day at which they bar all music. They make their living by making music so they have decided that there will be no music at their celebration. Everyone except the editor can have a change and a rest. The editor, however, must take his pencil and tablet with him to church to the opera, to the picnic, or to the ball room as well as on his business trips. He is always on duty unless he is asleep and often he is so tired that he falls asleep while on duty.

R. C. Dunn is said to favor an extra Session of the legislature. What for?—St. Cloud Times.

To prepare and submit an amendment to the state constitution providing for a general tax levy of one mill for road and bridge purposes; to act upon the proposition for a federal income tax; to reapportion the legislative districts of the state fairly, then adjourn. That's all. —The Princeton Union.

The "Pioneer" heartily voices its second to this move if it never before seconded a motion of Mr. Dunn.

Preserving Peaches.

California will be thru shipping in a few days; in fact the cars now in and in transit will close their shipments. The Washington crop o peaches this year is a failure, which means that it is now or never for preserving peaches. Prices cannot be lower and the market will advance within a few days.

Killed By Lightning

A sixteen year old son of John McKibbin, a ditch contractor working near Stephen, was killed by lightning yesterday. The boy and an older brother were at work with two teams and two mowers cutting hay when a thunder storm arose. A bolt of lightning struck the boy driving the front team, and also killed the horses of the rear team following close behind. The older boy who drove the rear team was also hurt, but how seriously has not yet been ascertained. The home of the unfortunate family is in Roseau. —Warren Sheaf.

Rust and Smut Samples.

There are at least two important kinds of rust and the same number of kinds of smut that attack the small grains. By experience, farmers are, in some measure at least, familiar with the losses caused by these diseases, therefore they and all others interested in the cereal crops should be able to distinguish these diseases and to know some of the methods used in combating them.

To furnish this needed information and to give it as great publicity as possible, Prof. Freeman, at the head of the division of Plant Pathology of the College of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, is arranging a number of samples of rusts and smuts of different grains for distribution to the public schools. These samples, properly mounted and labeled, will be sent to all who apply for them. The methods of remedial treatment for smut will be given with each sample.

Teachers in rural schools and teachers of botany in the high shools are in a position to make good use of these samples.

When Season is Open

Deputy game warden, Mr. Munch was in the city last week looking after the interests of the new crop.

There were several changes made by the last legislature in the dates of open season for various kinds of birds which it would be wise for ye local nimrods to con.

The following is the list of birds in this locality and the dates they may be hunted.

Turtle dove, snipe, prairie chicken, and pluver from the 7th. of Sept. to the 7th. of November.

Partridges and ruffled grouse from the 1st. of Oct. to the 1st of Dec.

Geese, ducks and brant from the 7th. of Sept. to the 1st. of Dec.

In addition to this you will please take notice that 15 birds is the limit for a days hunt and for a trip of several days it is 45 chickens or 50 ducks.

TELEPHONES IN THE WEST STATES

Farmers Have Become Distinct and Progressive Class in Our Locality.

The farmer as seen in the eyes of the city-bred man is a well-known type. But here is a new one. This middle-western wheat-raiser isn't the hayseed of the conventional comic-weekly sort. A paragraph that appeared in a recent issue of the New York Post, tucked away among the financial notes, had this to say:

"Putting down his Haviland breakfast coffee cup and folding his linen napkin the farmer takes up the telephone extension and calls his neighbor. 'Is that you John?...... Well, John, in the pit gossip of your Chicago paper you will see that the croppers have started this way again. Yes, Patten's man and two others. One of them ought to be in this morning. I'll run over to the station in my car to see if I can pick him up. I'll bring him back through the meadow road so that he can see that poor wheat over there on Henry's place. Then I'll turn him over to you. Show him the worst wheat you've got, understand?...... Yes, that's it. Pass him on to Jackson. He hasn't any wheat worth looking at. Telephone on down the line. Goodby-Oh, say, John! That one cylinder car I told you about is a marvel......Oh. forty miles. Be as pessimistic as you can. There's a cropper out from New York who represents a beer house. He is coming to find the wheat. I'll look out for him at this end. Goodby.'"

This conception of the countryman, so vastly different from the generally accepted bewhiskered Rube, comes as somewhat of a shock to the country's readers, east and west. For here is a farmer with his fast motor-car, bent on fooling the wise men of the wheatpit, with a telephone at his elbow and on his breakfast table luxuries only a few of his city neighbors can enjoy.

And if this concept is at all true to life perhaps there is something in the generally accepted distrust of the government's so-called short crop report which was back of the Patten wheat corner. Who knows but it might have been the worst wheat on each farm that the federal forecaster was shown? This financial editor's views differ materially from the old-time "gold-brick" stories, for here the operation is reversed, and the farmer is selling the brick that was foisted upon him on the momentous occasion of his first visit to New York.

But whatever the merits of the financier's picture of the wheat grower, it has attracted a deal of attention. And it is true to life in that particular in which it draws attention to the organized state of middle-west farmers. "Telephone on down the line," was the speaker's instruction to John. It is presumed that John communicated with all of his neighbors by the same method, and all were apprised of the coming of the "croppers" in a very few minutes.

This is the part of the paragraph that is most true to life and that tells the interesting story. For the telephone, extending throughout all the rich farming sections of the country, has organized the rural residents as no other agency could have done. Time was when farmers had no mode of exchanging visits and conversation save by journeys over miles of muddy roads. In those times loneliness and backwardness were the bugbear of every tiller of the soil. Then along came the rural free delivery-now developed into a sort of agency for general distribution of gossip and news as well as mail. The good roads movement grew apace, and as the demands of the farmers began more and more to be met, life in the country came to be better worth living.

And then the rural telephone. Because that little instrument increased with such tremendous leaps and bounds, especially in the middle west, its development is ever interesting.

Some figures from the latest telephone census tell the whole story. In the United States at the close of the year 1902 there were 266,966 rural telephone stations, 4.8 per cent of all the farms being equipped with Bell's invention. Five years later, December 31st, 1907, to be exact, there were 1,464,773 of these rural telephones in the country—the percentage had jumped to 26.5, and the percentage of increace was 449. There has been no official enumeration of the farm telephones in the past year and a half, but it is estimated that the percentage of increase since last census date has been even greater than before. The statement is made by the Western Electric Company, the largest manufacturer of telephones and equipment in the world, that 80,000 of its newest type of rural telphones have been sold in the past six months.

Just how strongly organized are the farmers in the middle west is shown by a comparison of the 1907 figures with the total for the nation. The entire group of the north central states, which includes the wheat and corn region, had 49.8 per cent of its farms equipped with telephones when the census was taken. Ohio had 48.6, Indiana 53.7, Minnesota 34.1, Iowa 78.9, Missouri 41.2, South Dakota 43.4 Nebraska 58.5 and Kansas 58.7. The rest of the wheat belt states are in proportion.

It would seem, taking the telephone as a basis for comparison, that the real "hayseed" is to be found in the east or south, and not in the west, the nation's granary. For in Connecticut but 1.6 per cent of the farms have 'phones, and in Louisiana 1.1. There is no need to dwell on the good a telephone does the owner of a farm. Rather let the results tell the story. And the result is the up-to-date, educated farmer who chats over the 'phone with his neighbors, tells them of his new high speed motor car and lays plans to fool the representative of the corner in wheat.

Strike Situation in Sweden Continues Serious.

Stockholm, Aug. 7.—Swedish troops in the northern part of the country have mutinied and the government is much concerned. Two regiments, one at Falun and the other at Solleftes, are affected. They are stationed in the northern country, where the labor disturbances first broke out in the timber trade and where the government has been haunted by the fear that the soldiers' sympathies were with the strikers. The mutinous troops have been confined to their barracks.

The executive committee of the Swedish union has decided to call out all the printers throughout the kingdom. Many of the grave diggers have defied the orders of their labor union to return to work and have rejoined the strikers.

The food situation in Stockholm shows no improvement and the strike continues.

HEAT CLAIMS MANY VICTIMS

Five Persons Succumb to Hot Weather in New York.

HOTTEST DAY OF THE YEAR

Official Thermomter Registers Ninety-three Degrees in Gotham—Hotter at Coney Island Than in the City Itself—Six Deaths Due to the Excessive Heat in Philadelphia.

New York, Aug. 10.—The thermometer of the local weather bureau registered 93 degrees at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the hottest day of the summer, and within three degrees of the hottest August day ever recorded here by the department.

Parks, recreation piers, city docks and other open spots were crowded at night with sleepers, watched over by the police, and the temperature was still above 80.

Hundreds of thousands sought Coney Island and the beaches for relief, but by an irony of nature it was 95 degrees at Coney Island when it was 93 in New York. Prostrations were continually being reported by the city hospitals and five persons—four infants and one old man—died from the heat at the seashore.

Philadelphia, Aug. 10.—The mercury in the official thermometer reached 98 degrees here, while many instruments in the streets showed a temperature above the 100 mark. Six deaths were due to the excessive heat.

Throughout the state the suffering from the heat and the lack of rain has been great. Fierce forest fires are raging in Lycoming county.

SIX OVERCOME BY THE HEAT

But None of the Printers Are in a Serious Condition.

St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 10.—The fifty-fifth annual convention of the International Typographical union has been organized here. The delegates and visitors were taken on a special train to Waterworks hill for an outing. On account of the extreme heat there were half a dozen prostrations among the visitors, but none of the cases were serious. Minneapolis seems to be in the lead at this time over Atlanta and Salt Lake City as the place of next meeting.

YOUNG MAN ELECTROCUTED

Plunges From Bridge Into the Mississippi River.

Winona, Minn., Aug. 10.—A human torch, flaming for an instant along the highest skyline of Winona's mammoth high steel bridge, swayed to the edge of the very apex of that structure, plunged headlong, trailed by blue sheets of fire, through 140 feet of space, and sank with a hiss into the Mississippi.

Hundreds of people, swarming the levee parks, watched in temporary silence this rocketlike termination of the frightful tragedy far up beyond them on the netted steel, and men gasped in horror, women fainted and little children ran shrieking through the bushes into the streets of the town.

It was Ernest Lampe, nineteen-year-old Winona painter, lone support of his mother and her many children, who dared to feel along the dizzy tops of steel with pail and brush, collided with uninsulated highpower wires, carrying 6,000 volts into this city from the dynamos of La Crosse, and ignited with a flash into a veritable pillar of fire.

WOMAN AND MAN DROWNED

Lose Their Lives While Bathing in a Lake.

Detroit, Aug. 10.—A Free Press special from South Haven, Mich., says: Miss Alydia Johnson of Chicago and George Engelbracht of South Chicago were drowned here while bathing in the lake. Miss Johnson was caught in the undertow and when Engelbracht went to her relief both were swept off their feet in the breakers.

Shot by His Brother.

St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 10.—James Lindsay, a stock yards employe, was fatally shot by his brother, Clarence Lindsay, in a quarrel at their home. The load from a shotgun entered his left eye. On trying to prevent the shooting the aged mother of the brothers received a number of shot from the gun. Clarence Lindsay surrendered to the police.

Earthquake in Mexico.

Mexico City, Aug. 10.—Aculpaco felt another severe earthquake Sunday morning, according to reports reaching this city. The people were greatly frightened, but there was no loss of life or great property damage.

Esperanto Congress Opened.

Chautauqua, N. Y., Aug. 10.—The second American Esperanto congress was formally opened here. The address of welcome was made by Frank Chapin Bray, managing editor of the Chautauquan.

IN SESSION AT SPOKANE

National Irrigation Congress Meets in the Washington City.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 10.—"The government of the United States is sitting idly while millions of dollars' worth of natural resources are going to waste.

"The Appalachian forestry bill which passed the house and senate twice was killed by Uncle Joe.

"Notwithstanding the dispensary system of South Carolina there is too much water."

F. J. Watson, commissioner of the South Carolina department of agriculture, commerce and industry, before the National Irrigation congress uttered the foregoing with telling effect. He urged that the government take control of rivers east and west, as might be navigable, for the purpose of making them waterways for smaller battleships.

President George Barstow made his annual address.

The question of the next meeting place has narrowed down to a fight between San Francisco and Pueblo, Colo.

HITS TREASURY DEPARTMENT

Wave of Efficiency Tests Started Under Secretary Nagel.

Washington, Aug. 10.—The wave of efficiency tests which started under Secretary Nagel in the department of commerce and labor, has struck the treasury department, where it is to be even more sweeping than in other departments.

Before leaving the city for his summer home in Dublin, N. H., Secretary MacVeagh appointed the three assistant secretaries as a committee to work out the reforms. Assistant Secretary Norton was made chairman. Cards have been sent to every employe and to every chief of a division. Each chief will make a report concerning his employes and each employe will make a report concerning himself or herself. The cards cover a host of subjects, including the quantity and quality of work performed by each employe and the character of appointment under which one labors.

MURDER MYSTERY BAFFLES POLICE

Unable to Locate the Slayer of a Young Girl.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 10.—That Anna Schumacher, the seventeen-year-old girl whose body was found Monday morning crudely buried in Holy Sepulcher cemetery, was choked and beaten to death after being criminally assaulted is the conclusion based on the autopsy held by Coroner Henry Kleindienst. Any of the circumstances of the crime, even to the place where it was committed, can still only be guessed at. A broken spade found near the spot where the body was found is being held by the police as a clue.

The strange actions of a man discovered at the scene of the murder by an employe of the cemetery late Monday directed suspicion toward him and for a time gave promise that an arrest would be made, but the man made his escape and it is not known who he was. A description of the man was given to the police and a search is being made for him.

For a time suspicion was directed toward an employe of St. Bernard's seminary, which is near the cemetery, but the seminary authorities disposed of this in a statement. It was learned that this suspect had been ill, so that he was compelled to relinquish his duties for some time, and had not been absent for three days. Some of the police assert that they have clues to indicate that the guilty person is a tramp, that he is probably now in this city and that an arrest is probable in a day or two.

TRY TO KILL EACH OTHER

Chicago Couple Fight a Desperate Duel.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—After locking their two children in a bedroom and fastening all the doors of their flat so that the neighbors could not enter in a hurry, Antonio Spizzirri and his wife, Anna, went into the darkened parlor and tried to kill each other. The woman was shot twice and stabbed twice with a stiletto and died before the police got there. The husband was shot twice also and probably will die.

A revolver was found near the sofa where the woman lay dead and another revolver was found beside the husband's body. The scene gave mute testimony of a terrible duel. Spizzirri turned on his side when the police finally broke into the room with a sledge hammer and tore a letter which was on the floor by his side into bits before he could be stopped. This letter was in Italian and will be translated to solve the mystery. It is thought that Spizzirri was jealous of his wife.

Negro Probably Lynched.

Cadiz, Ky., Aug. 10.—An unknown negro was taken to the woods some miles east of this town and presumably lynched for attempting a criminal assault on the ten-year-old daughter of Thomas Waddington, a prosperous farmer.

PAYNE BILL A LAW

Congress Passes Measure and Promptly Adjourns.

FINAL VOTE IN THE SENATE

Seven Republicans Repudiate Conference Report.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The tariff has been revised and the extraordinary session of congress has been brought to a close. Both houses adjourned sine die officially.

The conference report on the bill was agreed to by the senate by a vote of 47 to 31, when the vote was taken, and soon afterwards the concurrent resolution making certain changes in the leather schedule was adopted by both houses. On the final vote on the conference report in the senate seven senators lined up with the Democrats against approval. They were Bristow (Kan.), Clapp and Nelson (Minn.), Cummins and Dolliver (Ia.), La Follette (Wis.) and Beveridge (Ind.).

Following closely upon this action the senate adopted Mr. Aldrich's concurrent resolution providing for a reduction of the duties on various manufactures of leather to meet the views of Western senators who had been defeated in their efforts to obtain protection for hides.

Senator McCumber's resolution providing additional rebate regulations for the bill, amended at the instance of Senator McLaurin to include a provision for free cotton bagging, was adopted without division.

After this action there remained nothing for the senate to do except to await the signing of the measure. Senators Aldrich and Daniel were appointed the committee to wait on the president in conformity with the custom of informing the chief executive that the congress had concluded its business and was ready to adjourn if he had no further communication to make.

Waiting for the End.

Six o'clock was agreed upon by the two houses as the hour for final adjournment. Senators loitered about until the arrival of that hour. Democrats and Republicans, regular and irregular, formed little social groups with no indication of hostility.

A resolution offered by Mr. Culberson, expressing the appreciation of the senate for the able and impartial manner in which the vice president had presided over the sessions of that body, was adopted.

In especially happy language Mr. Sherman thanked the senate for the courteous treatment which had been extended toward him at all times. Concluding his remarks by wishing the senators a happy return to their homes, he declared the extraordinary session of the Sixty-first congress adjourned "without day." A burst of applause was accorded the vice president as he laid down the gavel of his authority.

With its members nearly exhausted from the heat and the arduous labors of the past four months, the house of representatives devoted the last day of the special session to perfecting the tariff bill and transacting a mass of routine business. Speaker Cannon announced his committee appointments, and they were received with varying degrees of satisfaction.

Leather Schedule Amended.

The concurrent resolution amending the leather schedule of the tariff bill was adopted without a dissenting vote after it had been discussed for little over half an hour. No such good luck, however, befell the McCumber-McLaurin resolution revising the drawback provision and replacing cotton bagging on the free list, which had previously been adopted by the senate. On the claim of Chairman Payne that it was not in order it was consigned to the committee on ways and means.

It was but a few minutes before 5 o'clock when Mr. Payne's resolution fixing 6 p. m. as the hour for adjournment sine die was adopted.

While the committee appointed to notify the president that the house was ready to adjourn was performing that duty there was such an exodus of members from the chamber that the attendance dwindled away to a mere corporal's guard.

A half hour remained before the appointed hour of adjournment and the time was dragging so heavily that by direction of the speaker the hands of the clocks were set ahead twenty-five minutes.

Before adjourning the house, Speaker Cannon, with the members standing with their hats in their hands, made a neat speech in which he thanked them for their service during the special session. Upon its conclusion, he got a round of applause from both sides.

FIVE PERSONS ARE DROWNED

Boat Capsizes After Striking Submerged Pile.

Baltimore, Aug. 6.—With the discovery of the bodies of three persons who were missing after the accident to a pleasure party on the Patapsco, when a power boat carrying twenty persons capsized after striking a submerged pile, the number of deaths stands at five. It is believed this completes the list of fatalities.

TAFT ISSUES A STATEMENT

Gives His Views of the New Tariff Act.

Washington, Aug. 6.—President Taft gave out a statement embodying his views of the new tariff act, which he designates officially as the "Payne bill," in accordance with past custom of giving first recognition to the framer of the measure in the house of representatives.

The president declares that while the bill is not perfect by any means, nor a "complete compliance with promises made, strictly interpreted," it is nevertheless a sincere effort on the part of the party to make a downward revision and to comply with the promises of the platform.

AS DIRECTOR OF THE MINT

A. Pratt Andrew of Massachusetts Named by President.

Washington, Aug. 5.—President Taft has sent to the senate the nomination of A. Platt Andrew of Massachusetts to be director of the mint. The nomination is to succeed Frank A. Leach, who resigned some time ago to become president of the People's Water company of Oakland, Cal. Mr. Andrew is an expert on all financial matters. He is an assistant to the national monetary commission and professor of economics in Harvard university. His home is near Gloucester, Mass.

MAKE SERIOUS CHARGES

Letters of Mrs. Sutton Read at Naval Inquiry.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 9.—At the reconvening of the court of inquiry into the death of Lieutenant James N. Sutton of the United States marine corps, who was declared a suicide by an earlier board of inquiry, the judge advocate, Major Henry Leonard, moved that the letters, read at the closed session of the court on Saturday, when Mrs. Sutton, the mother of the dead lieutenant, was on the stand, be made public. This motion was criticised by Henry E. Davis, counsel for Mrs. Sutton, and supported by A. E. Birney, counsel for Lieutenant Adams.

MRS. JAMES N. SUTTON.

Eventually the court decided that they be read. In the letters Mrs. Sutton in a dramatic manner declared that her son's companions conspired at Carvel Hall to beat the young lieutenant; that Lieutenant Utley was the prime mover; that he, Adams and Osterman set upon Sutton and beat him until he was almost dead and that her son was shot to cover the alleged vicious attack upon him.

EXCEEDS WRIGHT'S RECORD

French Aviator Remains in Air Two and One-half Hours.

Mourmelon-le-Grand, France, Aug. 7.—Roger Sommer, the French aviator, beat the world's record for prolonged flight in an aeroplane. His machine remained in the air for 2 hours, 27 minutes and 15 seconds.

Sommer in the beginning of his flight traveled slowly near the ground at elevations running from six to thirty yards. After the machine had become limbered up the aviator increased his speed. When it became evident that he had beaten the duration record held by Wilbur Wright the assembled crowd cheered wildly and as Sommer came to the ground he was given an ovation.

SETTLEMENT NEAR AT HAND

Believed Strike Will Be Averted in Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—Diplomatic negotiations marked the progress of the street railway situation here. While no definite proposal of peace was accepted on either side the several conferences which were held during the day justified the conclusion that a settlement of the controversy without a strike is only a few days off.

IN FRENCH RAIL DISASTER

Eleven Persons Killed and Thirty Injured.

Long Jumeau, France, Aug. 9.—Eleven persons were killed and thirty injured here by the collision of a passenger train with a freight train.

IGNORES PROTEST

Japan Begins Construction of Railroad in Manchuria.

RELATIONS BADLY STRAINED

China Angered by Defiant Attitude of Neighbor.

Peking, Aug. 7.—In defiance of the protestations of China Japan has begun the construction of the Antung-Mukden railroad. Simultaneously at each end of the line the work was started by Japanese engineers and constructors, who for several months have been awaiting the outcome of the negotiations. The action was the result of instructions from Tokio.

The feeling of Japan in this matter, which is due to China's objection to changing the existing narrow gauge of the line to the standard gauge of the connecting lines in both Korea and Manchuria, was reflected here by a Japanese official of high standing, who said that China-Japanese relations at the present moment bore a dangerous resemblance to those of 1904.

That a vital difference exists between China and Japan is shown by the respective statements made to England by the Japanese government and Sir Julian Jordan, the English minister at Peking. The Japanese contend Japan is entitled to reconstruct the railway under the treaty of 1905 and attribute China's attitude to the reactionary tendency of Prince Ching, the regent. Minister Jordan sends word that the Chinese government has informed him that the Antung-Mukden road will be commercially useless to Japan and is being built purely for military purposes and to be used as a club to extort concessions from China.

ANOTHER VERY BAD STORM

Destroys Buildings, Crops and Kills Stock near Beltrami.

A terrific wind storm visited the country south of Crookston last Monday night and did considerable damage, especially in the vincinity of Beltrami where several buildings were demolished in some cases being moved several rods by the wind and every store front in the town was broken The grain that was shocked was badley scattered and what late grain remained uncut was a total loss; the trees were stripped clean, a great many farm buildings destroyed and some stock was lost. It was the worst storm they had ever known there and most of the population took to their cellars. Passenger train no.6 on the G. N. was tied up at Beltrami for several hours three box cars being blown from a side track into the train. The storm here was not very bad altho a great deal of rain fell.

Some Good Corn.

J. O. Thorstad, one of the enterprising farmers living in the town of Sanders, brought to town last Friday a sample of fodder corn raised upon his farm this year, and we doubt if there is any section of Minnesota, or Iowa for that matter, that could raise a better stand of corn than Mr. Thorstad has in the same length of time.

The sample Mr. Thorstad brought to town was planted on the 15th of June and cut the 20th day of August, just sixty-six days after it was planted. It stands eleven feet high and therefore must have grown on an average of two inches each day.

The sample Mr. Korstad brought to town was not cut after careful selection, as he says the field of corn is all of an even height, and he estimates that it will yield about fifteen tons to the acre.—Thief River News.

Shows More Improvement Than Any Other Creamery in the District

"The Plummer Creamery shows more improvement in every line than any other creamery in the district."

This is the statement made by the State Dairy Inspector of the Ninth Congressional District, Mr. A. O Storvick who was in town last Saturday. Mr. Storvick's statement can be easily belived when we take into consideration the last three monthly statements and also the place buttermaker Haselrud has held in the six months scoring contest being conducted by the state diary and food department, he has always led for this district and the first month was tied for the first place in the state. Of couree the record depends to a large extent on the carefulness of the patrons and they should do their best to help Mr. Haselrud make their creamery a leader. Mr. Haselrud is greatly handicapped at present as the business of the creamery has increased so fast that it has far out grown its facilities but extensive improvments are being contemplated which may culminate in a new building on the river bank.

Mr. Storvick had just finished his inspection of the Red Lake County Creamerys and reports them all in exceptionaly fine shape. During the past six weeks Mr. Storvick has had to stop several shipments of putrid cream billed to the Twin Cities and Duluth. The farmer should be carful about shipping cream which might by any possibility be spoilt as he will not only lose the cream but is liable to prosecution as well. This of course will not apply to local farmers as there none so foolish as to ship their cream on account of a very little higher offer for the time being only, the [illegible] up later, and also run the risk of it spoiling on the road.

Red River Valley Dairymen To Meet at Crookston

At a meeting of the executive board of the Red River Valley Dairy-mens Association last Saturday the decision was made to hold this years convention at Crookston on November 3rd and 4th. Several other towns made offers for the convention but Crookston in the opinion of the committee put forth the best inducements.

A two days program is being planned and several prominent speakers will be present. It is thought that this years convention will be the largest ever held by the association and the directors intend to make it one of great interest and value to those finding time to attend.

Opportunities For Young Men in Agriculture

Young men having had farm experience are especially fitted to take up the study of agriculture in a scientific way and to make for themselves very useful careers. Graduates of the school are in great demand as goverment experts, as teachers in other schools and colleges of agriculture, and as managers of farms. The demand for men graduating from such courses has been far beyond the supply this, and the salaries offered have been much higher than ever before for similiar work. That there will be in the future a still stronger demand for men trained in agriculture and its allied subjects there seems no room to doubt. Any young man who has graduated from a high school and is looking for some school in which to continue his education had better send to the College of Agriculture, University Farm, St. Paul for a bulletin of the work of that institution.

Destroys Buildings, Crops and Kills Stock near Beltrami.

A terrific wind storm visited the country south of Crookston last Monday night and did considerable damage, especially in the vincinity of Beltrami where several buildings were demolished in some cases being moved several rods by the wind and every store front in the town was broken The grain that was shocked was badley scattered and what late grain remained uncut was a total loss; the trees were stripped clean, a great many farm buildings destroyed and some stock was lost. It was the worst storm they had ever known there and most of the population took to their cellars. Passenger train no.6 on the G. N. was tied up at Beltrami for several hours three box cars being blown from a side track into the train. The storm here was not very bad altho a great deal of rain fell.

Some Good Corn.

J. O. Thorstad, one of the enterprising farmers living iu the town of Sanders, brought to town last Friday a sample of fodder corn raised upon his farm this year, and we doubt if there is any section of Minnesota, or Iowa for that matter, that could raise a better stand of corn than Mr. Thorstad has in the same length of time.

The sample Mr. Thorstad brought to town was planted on the 15th of June and cut the 20th day of August, just sixty-six days after it was planted. It stands eleven feet high and therefore must have grown on an average of two inches each day.

The sample Mr. Korstad brought to town was not cut after careful selection, as he says the field of corn is all of an even height, and he estimates that it will yield about fifteen tons to the acre.—Thief River News.

Locates at Thief River Falls

Dr. Swedenburg formerly of Ellendale Steel County has decided to locate at Thief River Falls where he will be associated with Dr. Gambell of that place. The two will fix up offices in the First National Bank building which will be the most modern to be found in this part of the country.

Dr Swedenburg comes to this part of the country because he thinks it has the brightest future of any part of the state.

Ditch Work to Sublet

We have the contract of the big Kratka Mayfield Ditch and will sub let the whole or part of branches no's 1 2 and 3. Also Station Work on the Main Ditch. Call, or write Lillo Bros. Lillo Minn.

Word was recently received that William Dion a former resident of the town of Terrebonne now living in the North Yakima had his house burned to the ground, one of his sons cremated and his mother not expected to survive her injuries. This will be sad news for their many friends in this vincinity.

Those who expect to do any hunting outside of their home county, or to hunt big game later in the fall should comply with the law and procure hunting licenses. They can be obtained from the county auditor or any town clerk for one dollar.

Mrs. Straus who last week murdered her two childern, was returned to the asylum at Fergus Falls. She had been out on parole.

Alfred Hill lost his life while hunting ducks near Ada last Saturday. He was using his gun with the business end towards him trying to draw in a duck that had fallen in the river when the charge exploded blowing off his right arm.

The towns of Roseberry and Hatton in British Columbia were destroyed during the forest fires that have been raging the past week in the North west.

The Chicago Great Western road was sold at public auction last week bringing $12,000,000.00. Morgan interests are said to have brought the road. There was only the one bidder.

Two Finlanders in Becker County got into a quarrel over some trivial matter last week, and one John Heit killed the other Jacob Jampso with a huge knife. Several childern witnessed the killing.

Uncle Sam will send another peace fleet across the Pacific. It will consist of eight cruisers and will visit Japan and China.

That the western banks will need no assistance from the East in the financiering of the moving of this years crop is the opinion of acting Secretary of the Treasury Norton.

Frank Montague the chief clerk of the Crookston Land Office has been transferred to the office at Cass Lake.

John R. Howard, Indian superintendent, is in receipt of instructions from the department to the effect that steps will be taken at once to notify all saloons doing business within the White Earth reservation to close their doors within thirty days.

Yesterday the agency police served notice to all persons engaged in the liquor traffic, at Callaway, Ogema, Waubon and Manomen, that they must cease doing business within the time prescribed or legal proceedings will be instituted.

A traveling man finding the station at Arlington locked a few nights ago broke it open. Having learned telegraphy when young he wired another station asking when he coufd get a train for Winthrop. He obtained the information by false pretenses, road officials say and now the road wants him prosecuted for burglary. The law provides that all railroads must keep night operators on duty in all towns of more than 500 population. Arlington, the Attorney General says, has the required population as far as he knows. The traveling man has asked him to see that the road is penalized.

Would not a new brick or stone creamery down on the river bank look pretty nice.

We may think the weather man is treating us pretty rough but he hasn't handed us any tornadoes or cyclones as yet.

Harry Thaw is kicking because after having murdered one man, and the future of more than one girl, he is not allowed all the comforts, not of the average man, but of the rich one.

When you hear a man sneering at the local papers you can safely bet that he does not spend any time trying to assist in making them better. He isn't of as much value to a town as a stray town cat.

When you want any article of merchandise buy it of a reputable home dealer that the profit may remain to enrich the community in which you live.

Wellman managed to make thirty miles of a few thousand odd on his trip to the Pole; if he started each time where he left off he would still be some time in getting there at that rate.

The people are making a great ado about Louis Hill being forced to sleep out in the open in a hay stack. We have known lots of people who did not have even the haystack.

Any sportsman worthy of the name rightfully thinks that no punishment is too severe for the man who will abuse the natural privileges of hunting by imposing on the farmers who are good enough to give free hunters right on their land. But it happens every year that there are some who will presist in driving through standing grain, knocking down shocks, destroying fences and otherwise abusing the privileges naturally accorded hunters thereby making it unpleasant for all other parties concerned and farmers can not be blamed for charging in some cases for the privilege of hunting on his land for he can hardly be expected to distinguish between the sheep and the goats.

If you are not satisfied with the religion your forefathers have discovered for you and used themselves for a thousand and some odd number of years, why take a few college courses and then a few post graduate courses and you will be in shape to begin the study of the Philosophy of agnosticism which the college Professors have prepared not for the masses but for the classes.

President Taft will speak at Winona and the Twin Cities in September. We would bet something if we had anything to bet that President Taft will be some lighter in weight at least by the time he has the people of Minnesota satisfied with the Republican tariff bill, and defends to them both the Republican insurgents and those who did not insurge, and then puts up a spiel that will leave the democrats lost in the woods in the next campaign hunting for tariff platform material.

It is more handsome to be nice than it is nice to be handsome.

Minnesota Potatoes.

The importance of the potato crop in Minnesota is well known. This has been recognized in the Horticultural Division of the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station by the appointment nearly two years ago of a man, A. R. Kohler, whose special study is the potato and the greater share of whose time is devoted to this work.

Experimental work and study of the potato are being carried on along the following lines:

1. Improved methods of culture.
2. The quantity of potatoes to plant to the acre.
3. How to cut potatoes for planting.
4. How to control the potato beetle and other insects.
5. Whether it pays to spray potatoes for diseases with Bordeaux mixture or other fungicides.
6. Fertilizers for potatoes.
7. Potato breeding, includes:

The production of new varieties with greater power of resistance to disease, greater yielding power and higher percentages of starch.

A study of factors that affect the crossing of potatoes:

Last winter Mr. Kohler published a bulletin on potato growing, No. 114, Parts I and II. Part I gives the results of as much of the experimental work as space would permit, and Part II contains the most advanced ideas regarding potato growing for Minnesota. This bulletin, which may be had by applying to Mr. Kohler at the Experiment Station, should be of great value to the potato grower if he will study it carefully and follow the principles set forth there.

Improved Variety of Rye

A new variety of rye is being distributed by the Minnesota Experiment Station that promises to give new impetus to the rye growing industry of the State. This variety, known as Minnesota no. 2, was developed by careful nursery selection of individual plants from a stock of Swedish rye obtained from Mr. John Brogan of Henning, Minn. in 1895.

After several selections were made, this variety was increased and tested at University Farm during the years of 1900 to 1908. The average yeild for that time was 40.4 bushels per acre while the varieties commonly grow in the State averaged for the same years 19.3 bushels. This variety when well grown has large kernels that are quite uniformly light colored, though some dark kernels may be found. The plants stool luxuriantly and the straw stands up well allowing the grain to ripen evenly and in good season, usually about July 10th to 20th. The plants grow four to four and a half feet high with heads 3½ to 4 inches long. No 2 rye was grown by a few farmers in various parts of the State in 1907-1908, and was considered an improvement wherever grown. From these comparative yields it is calculated that the no.2 rye will yield 9.5 bu. per acre more than the common varieties. It was quite widely distributed in 1908 and reports so far received indicate that it is doing well this year.

The Experiment Station has only a small stock of the seed for sale at $1.25 per bushel, but can furnish the addresses of seed growers in many localities who purchased seed from the Experiment Station last fall and from whom it can be purchased direct. These addresses may be obtained by writing the Agriculturist of the Minnesota Experiment Station, St. Anthony Park, Minn.

Possibly the reason women do not propose is that they want to have the last word.

The habit of looking on the bright side of things is a large capital to every one who possesses it.

BID IN BY MORGAN

New York Financier Secures Great Western Road.

NO OTHER OFFER IS MADE

Purchase Price the Minimum Figure Set by Court.

St. Paul, Aug. 21.—Under orders of court the Chicago Great Western was sold by Special Master Albert R. Moore to Fred W. Stevens and George H. Gardiner of New York, representing J. P. Morgan & Co., for $12,000,000.

A check for $6,615 was deposited with the secretary of state as filing fee, to comply with the foreign corporations law, and within a week the sale will be reported to Judge Sanborn, confirmed here and in Chicago and formally closed by the payment of $11,500,000, $500,000 having been deposited previously.

Then the purchasers will turn the property over to the new company, which will be headed by Samuel M. Felton, president.

The Morgan purchasers were the only bidders.

Following the sale the master must advertise the fact for two months and call in all claims against the road not previously filed, for settlement, as one of the conditions is that the purchasers must clear off all existing indebtedness.

REJECT OFFER OF COMPANY

Street Car Strike at Chicago Again a Possibility.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Rejection by the North and West Side Street Car Men's union of the proposed wage schedule offered by President Roach of the Chicago Railways company again brings within the range of possibility a strike of all street car men of this city. An amicable settlement of the dispute, however, is still hoped for and these hopes are based to a great extent on the efforts which will probably be made by President William Mahon of the International Street Car Men's union, who is expected here to take charge of the situation.

Possibility of a strike prompted Acting Chief of Police Schuettler to issue an order instructing commanding officers to cancel all applications of policemen for furloughs and also to learn the whereabouts of all policemen now on furloughs so that they may be summoned for duty in the event of a walkout of the street car employes.

FIVE DIE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Machine Crashes Through Railing of Trestle at Seattle.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 20.—Four women and one man, the driver of the car, met death and two young women narrowly escaped a similar fate here when a large touring car, going at a high speed, crashed through the railing of the long trestle over the Tide flats at the point known to automobile drivers as "Dead Man's curve." All the members of the party were from Vancouver, B. C., except the driver of the car, who was a Seattle man. The dead are: Miss Agnes Colvin, Miss Maggie Paul, Mrs. J. Colvin, Mrs. M. M. Grothe and Ira Perry, the chauffeur.

The tide was at flood when the automobile crashed through the rail and the victims were hurled into several feet of water.

All the young women belonged to prominent families of Vancouver.

CUT IN EXPENSES OF ARMY

Taft Orders Ten Per Cent Reduction of Enlisted Force.

Washington, Aug. 23.—President Taft's order for a 10 per cent reduction in the enlisted strength of the army is said to be part of the general plan of the administration to economize.

The army cut is expected to save Uncle Sam about $6,000,000. The reduction of the force to 80,000 is not expected to impair its efficiency in the least. There will be no recruiting for the next eight months. The natural decrease of the enlisted force between now and July, 1910, will be about 10,000.

WITHDRAWS ALL OBJECTIONS

China Agrees to Reconstruction of Antung-Mukden Railroad.

Tokio, Aug. 20.—The memorandum signed at Mukden, Manchuria, Aug. 19 by representatives of the Japanese and Chinese governments practically closed the Antung-Mukden controversy. According to the terms of this understanding China agrees to afford Japan every assistance in the reconstruction of the Antung-Mukden railroad and withdraws all her objections.

END OF STRIKE IN SIGHT

Swedish Workmen Open Negotiations With Employers.

Stockholm, Aug. 19.—The end of the labor troubles, which became acute in Stockholm the early part of this month, is in sight. The leaders of the various unions have opened negotiations with the employers with the object of having the men resume work.

NEITHER SIDE WILL YIELD

So Controversy in Chicago May Be Referred to Arbitration.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Nothing was accomplished in the joint conference between the presidents of the two street car companies and the union representatives here, and the meeting will continue. Heated tilts between John M. Roach, president of the Chicago Railways company, and W. D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway employes, lent interest and vehemence to the debate on increased wages for street car employes of this city.

The clashes occurred over the proposed system of grading employes advanced by the company and to which the union leader is opposed. In spite of the argument neither the traction officials nor the union leaders believe that the negotiations will be terminated until an amicable agreement is reached.

The possibility of the controversy being referred to arbitration grew stronger as neither side appeared willing to yield a point.

MAYOR FATALLY WOUNDED

Shot in Quarrel Over Decision Made by Him in Court.

Davisboro, Ga., Aug. 24.—J. O. Godfrey, mayor of Davisboro, lies at his home here dangerously wounded as the result of a quarrel which followed a decision made by Godfrey in mayor's court in a case against Gordon Collins, a white man.

M. M. Collins, brother of the defendant in the case, approached the mayor after court adjourned and began talking about the case. Hot words followed and Collins shot the mayor with a pistol, the ball entering the right side. The wound probably will prove fatal. Collins escaped and has not been captured.

TWO OCCUPANTS OF AUTOMOBILE KILLED

Five Others Seriously Hurt in Accident in Chicago.

Kankakee, Ill., Aug. 24.—Mrs. George Granger, wife of a retired Kankakee merchant, and Miss Genevieve Rabig of Chicago were instantly killed and five other occupants of a touring car were seriously injured when the machine was run down on the Hobbie avenue crossing of the Big Four in this city. They were on their way to Mound Grove cemetery at the time of the accident. An engine and a caboose, backing down cars on the side track, obstructed the view of the auto driver. The crew and driver saw the danger when fifteen feet apart, too late to stop the engine.

Miss Rabig was a teacher of elocution at St. Xavier academy, Chicago.

The injured are George Granger, husband of the dead woman; Miss Amelia Fortin, sister of Mrs. Granger; Miss Jeanette Granger, daughter of the dead woman; Paul Granger, young son of the dead woman; Ira Dole, chauffeur, badly bruised.

Jeanette Granger was between the bodies of her mother and Miss Rabig. She was rescued thirty minutes after the accident by jacking up the caboose.

UNIFORM PURE FOOD LAW

Desired by Delegates to Convention in Denver.

Denver, Aug. 24.—"Give us a uniform pure food law which may be accepted or rejected by the individual states, each according to its needs. A national law should attempt no more than the regulation of interstate commerce."

This was the slogan set for the opening today of the thirteenth annual convention of the Association of State and National Food and Dairy departments. That the convention will take definite action for submitting to state legislatures a "model food bill" was expressed after a preliminary meeting of a special committee, headed by Dr. E. F. Ladd, state food commissioner of North Dakota and author of the Ladd model food law.

It is the plan to forward the drafted bill, after its approval by the convention, to the various states.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, who is here as he says as a "spectator," is expected to use his influence for the more stringent enforcement of the federal law as opposed to model "state laws." Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief chemist of the department of agriculture, will confine his remarks to "The Chemistry of Bleached Flour."

Colored Boy Drowned.

St. Paul, Aug. 24.—Clarence Wiley, colored, eleven years old, living with his parents at 182 East Fairfield avenue, was drowned off Raspberry island while swimming, and his eight-year-old brother, Jesse Wiley, nearly met death while attempting to save his older brother. The body was recovered.

Thousand Families Homeless.

Krementchug, Russia, Aug. 24.—A thousand families in this district have been rendered homeless by a fire that started in a local lumber mill. A large section of the dwellings of Krementchug were destroyed.

TROOPS ARE NOT SEEKING REYES

Will Not Try to Arrest Governor of Nuevo Leon.

WOULD RESULT IN BLOODSHED

Attempt to Place the Popular Official Under Arrest Would Incite His Zealous Partisans to Such an Extent That Riot Would Follow—General Reyes Taking No Active Part in Politics.

Laredo, Tex., Aug. 24.—From a reliable source in Monterey, it is denied that there has been any concentrated movement of federal troops, looking to the arrest of General Bernardo Reyes, governor of Nuevo Leon. It is also stated that General Reyes is still visiting in the neighborhood of Galeana and that no endeavor on the part of the federal authorities has been made in any way concerning Reyes.

It can be stated with certainty that recently there has been no movement from Saltillo, Monterey or Montemorelas or in the vicinity of Galeana. The two former mentioned cities are on the line of the National railways of Mexico. Montemorelas is on the old Monterey and Mexican Gulf railroad; a line running from Monterey to Tampico. No troops traversed either of these lines Monday.

The source from which this information is gleaned ridicules the story to the effect that federal troops are endeavoring to bring about the arrest of General Reyes and points out that such action would only result in a state of affairs that has thus far been avoided.

General Reyes is quietly visiting in the vicinity of Galeana and is taking no active part in the political efforts of the Reyistas to bring about his candidacy for the office of vice president.

So popular is the general with his party that it is feared that any effort on the part of the federal government to place him under arrest would incite his zealous partisans to such an extent that a riot and bloodshed inevitably would result.

FIVE KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Twelve Others Dangerously Injured at Geneva.

Geneva, Switzerland, Aug. 24.—Five persons were killed and twelve dangerously injured by an explosion at the city gas works. The explosion occurred in the purifying chamber between the two principal gasometers. A large number of doctors answered the call to attend the wounded, who were later conveyed to the city hospital in ambulances. Thousands of spectators attracted by the explosion and the report that many persons had been killed, crowded around the works, necessitating the closing of the places of business near the scene of the disaster.

Two additional bodies have been taken out of the ruins and several additional injured. Some of the latter are in a desperate condition.

The force of the explosion was terrific. The walls of houses near by were cracked as if shaken by an earthquake. Many of them had to be evacuated.

STOPS BURIAL OF CORPSE

Undertaker Claims Contract With Him Was Broken.

Goshen, Ind., Aug. 24.—When the funeral cortege of Charles Crary reached the cemetery it was met by C. B. Stiver, an undertaker, and his attorney and several policemen, who prevented the coffin being lowered into the grave, on the contention that Crary, six years ago, entered into a contract with Stiver to have his body cremated in Chicago.

At Crary's death at Dallas, Tex., his uncle and heir, Wesley Crary, had the body brought to this city and gave it in charge of the Smith-Clark undertaking company, who attempted to go forward with the funeral.

The body will be held in a vault until the court gives a decision in the controversy. Crary's uncle alleges that he was mentally irresponsible when the contract with Stiver was made.

McHarg to Quit Office.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Announcement was made here that Ormsby McHarg of North Dakota, assistant secretary of commerce and labor, will retire from that position on Oct. 1. Mr. McHarg will not return to North Dakota. He has made arrangements to practice in New York.

Five Killed in Feud Fight.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 24.—In a feud fight between the laborers employed on the farms at Jariquilla, and those of Santa Rose, a nearby village, five men were killed and one fatally and ten seriously injured.

Milwaukee Boys Drowned.

Milwaukee, Aug. 24.—While bathing in the Menominee river, Milwaukee, Joseph Bitz and Harry Weldner, aged fifteen and thirteen years, respectively, were drowned. The bodies were recovered.

SERIOUS FLOOD IN COLORADO

Railroads Washed Out and Residents Driven From Home.

Denver, Aug. 19.—Trains blocked in lonely mountain passes, tracks washed away or in some instances pitched into canyons hundreds of feet below, people driven from their homes to seek safety with their belongings in higher places—these were the scenes revealed at daybreak along the overflowed Arkansas river.

Alarmed by another cloudburst at Four Mile creek, near Canon City, scores of people in the lower sections of Pueblo and other points passed the night in removing their household effects from the danger line.

The famous Royal gorge, walled in by rocks 1,000 feet high, has been washed by a torrent for almost forty-eight hours and the railroad tracks have been washed out. Trains on the Colorado Midland, the Denver and Rio Grande and other railroad tracks, most of them carrying Eastern tourists, have been detoured over circuitous routes.

Not only the Arkansas river, but almost all of its tributaries, are overflowed. The rainfall in the last two days has been unusual.

CURTISS MAKES NEW RECORD

Covers Six and One-fifth Miles in Slightly Over Eight Minutes.

Rheims, France, Aug. 23.—Glenn H. Curtiss, the American aviator, made a record here. He covered one lap, a distance of six and one-fifth miles, in 8 minutes 35⅗ seconds. This is the official timing.

CASH WHEAT SLUMPS

Price at Minneapolis Declines Twenty-five Cents.

Minneapolis, Aug. 23.—Old No. 1 Northern wheat broke 15 cents from the opening price, dropping from $1.25 to $1.10. Opening figures were 10 cents under the previous day's quotations of $1.35, making a total decline of 25 cents. This was due to the heavy movement into the local market. Demand was good at the lower prices.

Early in the day old No. 1 Northern sold as high as $1.25, but after the first hour $1.10 was the general price. Most offerings were new spring wheat. New No. 1 Northern sold mostly at $1.05.

PAUPER INHERITS $200,000

Promptly Offers to Pay County for Care in the Past.

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 23.—Through the death of Oliver Newhouse of Indianapolis Albert Newhouse, inmate of the poor farm of this county, becomes heir to the former's fortune of $200,000. The legatee is thirty years old and has been sick, penniless and friendless for some time. He had been employed at a local hotel as porter for several years, but he suffered a severe attack of rheumatism six months ago and was compelled to go to the poor farm.

Newhouse received the information regarding his fortune without any display of emotion. He immediately offered to pay the county for the expense of his care, although he did not possess enough money to buy a postage stamp. Albert Newhouse has a brother, but they have been enemies for years.

FATAL STRIKE RIOT

Six Dead and Ten Others Mortally Wounded.

WILD TIME AT M'KEES ROCKS

Trouble Follows Attack on State Constabulary.

Pittsburg, Aug. 23.—Following one of the most fatal and desperate strike riots experienced in the vicinity of Pittsburg in over a score of years a quiet but tense situation prevails at McKees Rocks, the scene of a terrorizing conflict between state, county and special police and striking employes of the Pressed Steel Car company.

Although twenty-four hours have passed an accurate list of the casualties is still unobtainable. Unofficially, however, six were known to have been shot to death and two others believed to have been killed, but carried away in the confusion; a dozen men, both strikers and police, were in hospitals, perhaps fatally injured, while at least two score men, women and children were suffering from bullet wounds and injuries inflicted with clubs and stones. The dead are:

Harry Exler, deputy sheriff; George Millhaszer, striker; John L. Williams, trooper; Anton Gubernet, striker; John C. Smith, trooper; unidentified white man, believed to be striker.

Of the probably fatally wounded three are members of the state constabulary, the others being strikers or others participating in the riot. Among the several score injured ten are in a precarious condition and it is stated at the hospitals most of them will succumb before many hours.

Property Loss Also Heavy.

Aside from the human sacrifice property damage amounted to thousands of dollars. Three street cars were wrecked, many vehicles smashed, the streets littered with window glass, close to 100 doors of houses broken and a half dozen horses shot to death.

Every one within the strike district is being stopped by the police and thoroughly searched. The possession of a revolver causes detention in the box car jails, while those carrying large sized penknives are relieved of them and escorted outside the strike zone.

Orders have been issued to the constabulary, deputy sheriffs and special police to shoot at the first sign of trouble. The practice of the past several weeks, of firing into the air, was abolished, the order being "shoot to kill."

An investigation shows the rioting to have been caused by three new members of the state constabulary, who refused to obey the commands of strikers when ordered from a street car. These troopers, on their way from Greensburg, Pa., to the plant, were in citizens' clothes. All were armed. For weeks the strikers have been holding up street cars and ordering the occupants of them out. Heretofore all have obeyed. However, the three troopers and a deputy sheriff, all being armed, refused to be ordered about by the strikers. They resisted and a battle ensued.

BY ORDER OF PRESIDENT

Seven West Pointers Guilty of Hazing Dismissed.

West Point, N. Y., Aug. 19.—By direction of President Taft seven cadets were dismissed from the United States military academy for being involved in the hazing of Rolando Sutton. Cadet Sutton is a brother of Lieutenant James N. Sutton of the naval academy, whose death was investigated at Annapolis recently.

The cadets ordered to be dismissed are John H. Booker, Jr., of West Point, Ga., first class; Richard W. Hocker, Kansas City, Mo., third class; Earle W. Dunmore, Utica, N. Y., third class; Chauncey C. Devore, Wheeling, W. Va., third class; Gordon Lefebvre, Richmond, Va., third class; Albert E. Crane, Hawarden, Ia., third class; Jacob S. Fortner, Dothan, Ala., third class.

TO MEET IN SAN ANTONIO

Transmississippi Commercial Congress Adjourns.

Denver, Aug. 21.—Finally approving resolutions which, it is believed, will put an end to the Pinchot controversy concerning the segregation of lands other than strictly forest lands, the Transmississippi Commercial congress adjourned to meet again in short session at San Antonio, Tex., in November.

Colonel Ike T. Pryor of San Antonio, Tex., was elected president and Arthur Francis of Cripple Creek, Colo., secretary.

SEPTIC POISON OF THE EYE

Causes General Booth to Abandon Crusade.

London, Aug. 19.—General Booth of the Salvation Army is suffering from septic poison of the eye, a condition that has necessitated the abandonment of his religious crusade in the provinces and his return to London.

General Booth has also postponed his proposed American and Canadian tour, set for this fall.

HARRIMAN STARTS FOR HOME

Has No Intention of Resuming Business Activities at Once.

Paris, Aug. 18.—E. H. Harriman left Paris on a special train for Cherbourg, where he embarked for New York on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm III.

Through his secretary, Mr. Price, he informed the newspaper men that he was going to his home at Arden to rest and complete the cure inaugurated in Europe. He said also that he had no immediate intention of resuming his business activities.

Mr. Harriman, before sailing, sent the following cablegram to the Union Pacific offices in New York:

"I am coming home for my winter cure instead of staying here. With the treatment at Bad Gastein I lost about ten pounds. Our home food is better than hotel food and will help me to gain weight. I hope to recuperate more rapidly there."

NOW HOLDS ALL RECORDS

Mauretania Beats Mark Set by the Lusitania.

New York, Aug. 20.—The Cunard liner Mauretania anchored off Quarantine after a run over the short course which now gives her all records for eastward and westward trips. She did the 2,783 knots in 4 days, 14 hours and 38 minutes, as against the best performance of her sister ship, the Lusitania, over the same course of 4 days and 15 hours flat. Her record over the long course, which is 110 miles longer, is 4 days, 15 hours and 55 minutes.

RAIN CHECKING FLAMES

Situation in Western Canada Still Serious, However.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 23.—A steady downpour of rain west of the Kootenay and Fernie district is checking the forest fires, although fires are still burning around Hesmer, Michel, Fernie, Coal Creek, Morrisey, Jaffray, Cranbrook, Moyie and Creston. Managers of lumber companies are expending large sums in employing men to fight the fire, which is a severe task, as at times the wind blows a gale. The East Kootenay Lumber company, the Wattsburg Lumber company and the Otis Staples Lumber company all suffered heavy losses. Valuable timber south of Nakusp, on Arrow lake, and in the vicinity of Cranbrook has been destroyed. The chief sufferers are the railway and lumber companies, although numerous fruit ranchers throughout the valleys lost residences and property. The most serious fires occurred in East Kootenay, the city of Cranbrook having been threatened to such an extent that many people buried their valuables in the yards in anticipation of a general conflagration such as overtook Fernie last year.

FORCED TO MAKE LANDING

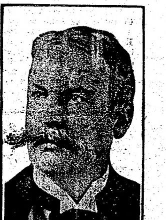
Wellman's Balloon Explodes After Starting for Pole.

Hammerfest, Norway, Aug. 21.—Walter Wellman's balloon America exploded Aug. 15 at a point thirty-two miles distant from his balloon shed on the island of Spitzbergen. Wellman and his companions consequently were forced to make a landing, but none of the men in the balloon was injured.



WALTER WELLMAN.

The departure from the balloon shed was made successfully and under favorable auspices and up to the time of the explosion the balloon apparently was acting well.

MILLION DOLLAR FIRE LOSS

Decatur, Ill., Scene of Disastrous Conflagration.

Decatur, Ill., Aug. 23.—Fire starting in Moorehouse & Wells' hardware store caused a loss of $1,000,000. The insurance is supposed to be 80 per cent of that amount.

The city's situation was an extremely hazardous one, as the water supply gave out and people realized that the breaking out of another fire would mean more than the firemen could handle.

Springfield sent four engine companies in response to a call for help. The local department was crippled by walls falling on several hundred feet of hose.

Prison Binders Good.

Much speculation has been floating around within the last year regarding the new prison binders and mowers. Many people have been of the opinion that no one could make a first class machine except some great big monopoly but it may be demonstrated that the State of Minnesota is big enough to do it.

One of the prison binders was tried near Moorhead last week, and the Crookston Times says of the trial:

"A number of persons who are interested in the work of the new binder sent out from the state plant at Stillwater, went out to the Anderson farm near Moorhead, yesterday, and watched the working of the machine. Among those who were competent to judge, the binder was declared to be a success. It worked perfectly, ran with ordinary lightness, and never missed a bundle.

"The knotter or binder used is the Minneapolis, and the reel, which, in the matter of different adjustments, possesses a number of material advantages.

"The new binder is built upon the same general lines as the Massey-Harris binder, built in Canada, and not patented in this country."

Feats That Never Happened.

A grotesque and foolish view of the west leads many who are not acquainted with that part of the country to perpetrate amusing blunders regarding the possibilities of the typical western weapons, the rifle and the six shooter. To shoot an animal's eye out at a hundred paces is a common feat in wild west literature. Sometimes it is done with a six shooter—in type, not anywhere else. Of course, no man can see the eye of an animal that far. I have had a good rifleman tell me he could cut off a robin's head at a hundred steps. The truth is that he could not see the head clearly that far. You read that the desperado Slade could with a six shooter at fifty or sixty steps hit a man in any button of his coat that he chose, but you may be sure that neither Slade nor any one else could do anything of the kind. Even trick and fancy shooting at its best could ever cover feats ascribed as matters of course to the average frontiersman by those devotees of frenzied fiction who never saw the frontier.—Outing Magazine.

Eluding the Officers.

Here is an amusing description of one of Balzac's periods of impecuniosity. Mery, the poet, a great friend of Balzac, was an inveterate gambler and rarely left the card table before daybreak. His way lay past the Cafe de Paris, and for four consecutive mornings he had met Balzac strolling leisurely up and down dressed in a pantalon a pieds (trousers not terminating below the ankle, but with feet in them like stockings) and frock coat with velvet facings. The second morning Mery felt surprised at the coincidence; the third he was puzzled; the fourth he could hold out no longer and asked Balzac the reason of these nocturnal perambulations roundabout the same spot.

Balzac put his hand in his pocket and produced an almanac showing that the sun did not rise before 8:50. "I am being tracked by the officers of the tribunal de commerce and obliged to hide myself during the day, but at this hour I am free and can take a walk, for as long as the sun is not up they cannot arrest me."

MISCELLANEOUS

The farmers living along the Red Lake River figure on getting their grain to market by boat as it is too wet for good hauling.

There are four peopleat the present time in the city hospital of Minneapolis with broken backs one having lived that way four months.

Ex State Senator Somerville was shot in his offiice at Sleepy Eye last Tuesday by John S. Hayner during a quarrel arising from some land deal. Hayner hung himself Thursday while in the county jail at New Ulm. Somerville may recover.

A gasolene traction engine manufactured at Crookston by the Crookston Manufacturing Co. has been shipped to the Twin Cities to be exhipited at the State Fair. The engine is especially designed to be used in plowing.

the hearing of the charges of malfeasance and non-feasance against county auditor Wilmann commissioners, Wright, Sibley, and Danaher of Beltrami county has been transferred to St. Paul where they will have a final hearing before Gov. Johnson.

Reports from Copenhagen state that Dr Fredrick A. Cook has returned from the North and reports that he reached the North Pole some eighteen months ago. He left this country about two years ago and this is the first that has been heard from him.

The dredging of the Roseou River is now nearly completed the Stanard dredging Co having all ready pulled out their machinery and the other Co expects to finish with in the month. When finishad the river is expected to drain the great Roseau swamp so that it will be fit for farming.

Ten days more of good weather will see the threshing completed in N. D. There are more machines working this year than ever before.

The Steamer Na Ma Puk on the Lake of the Woods foundered last Saturday. All the passengers were safely landed in a scow they were towing Horse thiefs stole a valuable black team belonging to Fred Gothers of Wylie last Sunday night. Sheriff Nelson has posted notices offering $200 for their capture.

Rumors are that the railroads of the state will fight the new forest fire law enacted by the last legislature and try and have it declared unconstitutional.

The North Coast Limited on the N P. road was wrecked near Detroit last Wednesday colliding with a work train. Dad White one of the oldest engineers on the road was killed.

After being in court for two years the Querin Elder case which was over the posession of an automobile was decided in favor of Mr. Elder of Thief River Falls. Mr. Elder traded the auto for a team of horses which turned out to be stolen property and the horse thieves left the machine at Mr. Querin's who held it for the storage charges.

Farmers living in the town of North are figuring upon constructing a four mile ditch to drain that section. They will not petition for a county ditch, but each farmer will contribute a certain amount and the work will be given to some reliable contractor to do. It is estimated the cost will be in the ndighborhood of $2,000.

THEY ALL TAKE A TRIP

Entire State drainage board on Trip to Red Lake Country.

The State Drainage board consisting of, Frank A. Day representing Governor Johnson, Julius Schmahl, secretary of state, State Auditor Iverson and state drainage engineer Geo. A. Ralph spent the first half of the week in the Red Lake country seeing as to the feasibility of draining the swamp lands that lie to the north of the Lake and putting in a dam at the outlet of the Red Lake River.

They went by way of Bermidji and the M. R. L. & M. railroad; at the agency they took the goverment steam-boat to explore the lake country George Welsh state immigration commissioner and Carlos Avery executive agent of the state game and fish commission also accompanied the party. While there they gathered much data in respect to the country and arrived at the opinion by lowering the water level of the lake three feet all of the water forming the water-shed of Red Lake could be drained into Red Lake and it would take some six months to bring the lake back to its normal level. This being true according to Mr. Ralph it would be possible to control the flood waters of the Red Lake River and Red river of the North at a comparativly small cost.

New Postmaster in Charge.

Wednesday morning Mr. Ole Johnson took charge of the Plummer post-office Mr. Latta having resigned about a month ago. Mr. Johnson will with out doubt make a very satisfactory post-master. He is an old resident of this section having previously served for eight years as county commissioner from this district. Miss Clara Johnson will be assistant postmaster.

Mr Latta has not given out what his plans for the future are but will remain in his present location for another week. He has however sold all his holdings here and the rumor is that he will locate at Crookston. Mr. Latta is a man of no mean ability and with out doubt will succeed in whatever he undertakes. He was the founder of the pioneer and published it for about five years.

Mr. Moore has recommended that the home stead entry of all those who are behind in their payments and are not actually residing on on the land and not cultivating it be canceled. It is not unlikely that this is the action that will be taken by the department. According to the recommeudation those living upon the land and cultivating it are not to be molested

OPENS THE THIRTEENTH

Plummer School to Open the Second Monday in September.

The Plummer school will open a week from Monday on September the thirteenth. The school board does not seem to be at all superstitious but it is at least not a Friday. The teaching force this year will consist of Miss Annie Swanson and Miss Emma Witcherman. The school term is eight months with an average attendance last year of fourty eight. That all parents may know the present law in respect to school attendance by childern of school age we puplish it in brief:

Every parent or guardian who has charge of any child between the ages of eight and sixteen shall send that child to school during the entire term unless excused by the school board of education; only four excuses are allowable: that the parent or guardian are unable to decently cloth the child, that the childs bodily or mental condition is such as to prevent his attendance at school or his application to study for the period required, that the child has already completed the studies ordinarily required in the eighth grade, or that there is no puplic scoool within a reasonable distance of his residence.

It is the duty of the clerk of the district to list all the childern of school age residihg in his district together with the name and postoffice address of the guardian. One copy of this list shall be sent to the county superintendent, one is retained by the clerk and another given to the teachers. Every teacher within five days after receiving the clerks list shall report to the county superintendent the names of the childern who do not attend school and who have not been excused by the board with whom the sole power of granting excuses lies.

The county superintendent of schools shall report all cases of unexcused absences to the county attorney who shall notify the parents or guardian to send the child to school and upon their neglect or refusal to do so within a period of ten days, criminal proceedings will be started and where offence is proven the parent or guardian fined fivty dollars or sent to jail for thirty days.

Report Of The American Sunday-School Union.

The following is the report sent to us with a request for publication by the Minnesota Department of the Amercian Sunday School Union,

Since March the first, 1909, the Missionaries of this society in this state have accomplished the following in the needy places and for the childern who were not being cared for by any other agency.

They started 114 Sunday schools having 386 teachers and 3,235 scholars aided other old schools in 221 cases, where 940 teachers are giving Bible instructions to 9651 scholars, delivered 488 addresses, distributed 208 Bibles and testiments, made 3688 visits to families, circulated $353.69 worth of religious literature, 93 conversions reported, 16 preaching stations opened and two prayer meetings established.

Cow Testing Association

The Diary Division at the Minnesota Experimental Station is carrying on a very important work among the dairy farmers of the state in organizing testing associations. The general plan is similiar to the one that has been followed in Michigan with such good results.

The patrons of the local creamery keep a record of the individual cows in their herds, weighing the milk and feed once each week. Samples for testing are also taken one day each week and these samples are tested at the creamery at the end of the month. all necessary blanks are furnished free by the diary division and at the end of the month the records are sent in for compilation.

When possible the representative of the division will be present when the samples are brought in for testing and he is qualified to discuss dairying topics with the patrons.

At the end of the year the monthly results will be tabulated and each patron will be furnished with the record of each cow in his herd. This will enable the farmer to determine which cows are the most profitable. This is a valuable work for our diary farmers and should be greatly enlarged upon.

If the weather man doesn't get disagreeable. Tuesday we'll see the town pretty "lonesome like."

James J. Hill declares that over-speculation is the worst possible for the welfare of our country. Mr. Hill is old enough to know.

The reports are that Russia is waking up. She had better be careful and not make enough noise about her awaking to start Japan's attention to it.

Gompers is reported to be planning a world wide federation of working men. If he succeeds in forming a union it will be a long step towards universal peace.

The Greenbush Tribune seems to think it is a good thing Pres. Taft will not fight shy of the tariff question when he makes Minnesota a visit. "Sure and he can't make things worse."

It does not seem hardly right to allow one man to get such a power of money under his control that upon his life or death hangs the present prosperity of the most powerful country of the world.

The Amercian Society of Equities secured more than their established price for all their cereals last year and they sold their wool for 29 cents per pound. Now for another annual round with the speculators.

The Pres. evidently does not think that scraps in the official family such as Ballinger and Pinchot have been having are a good political advertisement. He is maybe right but if he had allowed it to continue the people might have got some information or how their officers were being handled.

Even the elements seem to be contriving against the W. C. T. U. The Old Atlantic of her own free will brought several kegs of old style lager into Fort Sokum in York State last week, thus breaking the spirit of the anti canteen law though it undoubtedly raised the-the spirits of several of the boys in blue.

A learned Chicago Professor argues that we should teach our young ladies and girls the Jiu Jitsu system so that they will be able to defend themself from evil-minded men. If the young ladies will only be somebody and then give the men to understand who they are we believe that the first practice will be unnecessary.

Senator Aldrich has sailed for Europe to look up the monetary systems of European countries. We do not see any chance of his learning anything in the line of a new currancy system that would be of any advantage to the plutocrats of this country, but he might teach the European rulers something about constructing a system of absolute monarchy.

Our State University Regents are casting about for a head for our State Agricultural College. This is the most important educational position in our state to-day and we would certainly want to see the best man that can be secured selected for that position no matter what his figures are. We need him and we should have him. Hence pay him the price that will bring him.

In a well prepared speech delivered before the British Association for the Advancement of Science the Rev. H. H. Gray D. D. and president of the educational section suggested that Historical Geography and English History should be taught in every school and college under the British flag. "In this respect as well as in many other branches of education the United States have been beforehand in working out a reform system of education," said Dr. Gray. Now it is up to our school ma'am's and professors to make good.

Here is the way the papers will be writing up weddings ten years hence—"The bride looked very well in a traveling dress, but all eyes were centered upon the groom. He wore a dark suit which fitted his form perfectly and in his dainty gloved hands he carried a small rose. His curly hair was beautifully done and a delicate odor of hair oil of the best quality floated down the aisle as he passed. The young people will miss him now that he is married. He is loved by all for his many accomplishments, his tender grace and his winning ways. The bride commands a good salary as book-keeper and the groom will miss none of the luxuries to which he has been accustomed. A crowd of pretty men saw him off at the depot.

Opportunities For Young Men.

Young men having had farm experience are especially fitted to take up the study of agriculture in a scientific way and to make for themselves very useful careers. Graduates of the school are in great demand as goverment experts, as teachers in other schools and colleges of agriculture, and as managers of farms. The demands for men graduating from such courses has been far beyond the supply this year, and the salaries offered have been much higher than ever before given for similar work. That there will be in the future a still stronger demand for men trained in agriculture and its allied subjects there seems no room to doubt.

Any young man who has graduated from a high school and is looking about for some school in which to continue his education, would better send to the college of Agriculture, University Farm, St. Paul, for a bulletin of the work of that institution. This is one of the regular colleges of the University of Minnesota, and those who finish the four year's course prescribed received a degree.

Facts About Quack Grass.

It is a perennial weed, that is it does not die out at the end of one or two years but continues to live indefinitely by means of its underground branching stems.

It reproduces in the following way:

(A) By means of Seeds.

On account of this it is necessary that the grass be prevented from going to seed. It flowers about the middle of June to the middle of July. Quack grass seed may be carried from one field to another by the wind, by running water, by the threshing rig as it passes over the field or along the road, in hay or straw, or in the farm seed grain and in grass seed. Care should be exercised to prevent the introduction of the seed by any of these methods.

(b) By means of underground stems. These underground stems grow out from the plant in all directions and a new plant may spring from each joint in the root. If a root is carried by the plow, harrow or any other farm implement and laid down in another place in the field, the chances are that it will grow and form a new basis of distribution. It is a very persisent weed, and unless the method attempted is thorough and carefully carried out until the grass is entirely killed the grass will come out the winner.

MORE THAN ONE THOUSAND DEAD

Flood Devastates Large Section of the City of Monterey, Mex.

PROPERTY DAMAGE IMMENSE

Estimate of Twelve Million Dollars Is Considered Conservative.

Mexico City, Aug. 30.—A conservative estimate of the damage wrought at Monterey by the flood places the dead at 1,400 and the property loss at $12,000,000. The river has now gone down and the danger is over.

Up to the present time 650 bodies have been recovered. One entire quarter of the city of Monterey was destroyed and 15,000 persons are homeless. The water mains are useless and the city is consequently without drinking water; neither is there light nor street car service, for the power plant has been seriously damaged. It will be impossible to resume the train service for a week and as a result the city is threatened with a food famine. The slaughter houses have been destroyed. Ten thousand persons are being fed on bread, coffee and soup by the municipal authorities. The American consulate is giving food to all who apply. Thousands of persons have taken refuge in the cathedral and the churches. Many adobe structures, soaked by the rain, are falling and there has been some additional loss of life from this cause.

Eighteen blocks of residences and business houses were entirely washed away. The more wealthy people of Monterey, together with the American residents, are contributing to the mayor's fund, which is being expended for the purchase of food.

Railroads In Very Bad Shape.

The railroad situation is deplorable. The branch of the International between Monterey and Tampico contains a score of washouts. The iron bridge at San Juan has gone and seventy-five miles of the track of the Matamoras branch have been washed out. There are a dozen washouts between Matamoras and Cuevas and the big iron bridge over the Rinconaga between Sallilo and Monterey is gone. The total of the loss to the railroads is not definitely known, but it probably will exceed $800,000.

The greatest loss of life is said to have been caused by the giving away of the reservoir dam. Monterey is situated in a cuplike valley and is surrounded on three sides by steep mountains. The waters rushed into this valley down the bed of the Santa Catarina river. This stream is ordinarily 150 yards wide, but with the advent of the flood its banks were fully three-quarters of a mile apart. It is estimated that eighteen inches of rain fell.

The federal authorities here are busy with the organization of relief measures. Benefit theatrical performances, bull fights and fairs are being planned. Subscription lists are being opened all over Mexico City and the other cities of the republic are responding to Monterey's urgent call for assistance.

EXPLOSION KILLS TWELVE

Five Others Seriously Injured at Bocachia, Fla.

Key West, Fla., Aug. 28.—As a result of the explosion of 700 pounds of dynamite at Bocachia, twelve miles from Key West, on the Florida East Coast railroad, twelve men are dead and five others seriously wounded. The explosion was caused by a member of the railroad construction force carelessly throwing a lighted cigarette into a box of fuses.

The men were hurled high into the air and the bodies of the dead were mangled almost beyond recognition, arms and legs being torn from the bodies of some, while the faces of others were mere masses of flesh.

When the explosion occurred the workmen were standing in the water four feet deep and directly beneath were the 700 pounds of dynamite, ready for the blast when the men should stop work for dinner.

KILLED BY FALL FROM CHAIR

Steeple Jack Who Had Worked for Years at Dizzy Heights.

New York, Aug. 30.—Belden Woodring, the steeple jack who rigged the flagpole on the Singer building and who had spent most of his life working at dizzy heights, fractured his skull when he fell the two feet from a chair to the floor and died soon afterwards. Woodring was leaning back in the chair when it toppled over with him.

Thaw Appointed Librarian.

Matteawan, N. Y., Aug. 30.—In a search for regular occupation for Harry K. Thaw, recently recommitted to the state hospital for the criminal insane here, the authorities of the institution have appointed him to the post of librarian.

TAFT ASKS EXPLANATION

Calls on Ballinger for Definition of His Policy.

Washington, Aug. 26.—President Taft has instituted a searching investigation of the interior department because of facts that have been brought to his attention in connection with the taking up by private corporations of valuable coal lands in Alaska.

Secretary Richard A. Ballinger of the interior department, Assistant Secretary Franklin Pierce and Fred Dennett, commissioner of the general land office, have been called on by the president for explicit detailed information as to these coal land troubles and their connection individually with the matter.

Specifically the charge to be met by the interior department officials is that they have rushed matters to permit the approval of entries to valuable coal lands without giving proper time to the hearing of testimony of a complete investigation of the charges of conspiracy.

SAYS HE IS ALL RIGHT

Harriman Issues Statement Regarding His Health.

Arden, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Edward H. Harriman, urged by weary representatives of the press who have camped about his mountain home since Wednesday last, came out with a statement that he was all right. Though brief, the statement is straightforward and explicit, with perhaps a touch of patient resentment at the surveillance to which he has been subjected and a request that reporters withdraw, not so much for his sake, but for his friends, who have been intersected daily coming to and from his residence by zealous interviewers eager for the latest bit of information. It concludes thus frankly:

"If there should be anything serious I will let the press know, and as I have never deceived them, I ask that the press now withdraw its representatives and rely on me."

The message was so characteristic of Mr. Harriman's affable attitude to newspapers, an attitude which was marked when he underwent the strain of a lengthy interview on the day of his return, that most of the men who have been here during the scare over his illness returned to New York, relying on his word.

DEMANDED BY GREEK TROOPS

Resignation of Crown Prince Constantine From the Army.

Athens, Aug. 30.—The immediate resignation of Crown Prince Constantine as chief in the Grecian army is expected as a result of a conference between M. Mavromichalis, the new premier, and the leading generals.

The crown prince's removal has been made a provision of the mutineers' return to the barracks and if it is not forthcoming the soldiers threaten to go out in greater numbers than Saturday.

CROWN PRINCE CONSTANTINE.

The demand for the removal of the crown prince indicates the intense feeling against the royal household, including King George, and is believed by many to foreshadow a revolution. To allay the discontent in the army it is likely that the new premier will grant nearly all the reforms demanded by the army.

BODY BURNED BY CITIZENS

Negro Convict Killed After Shooting Members of Posse.

Soperton, Ga., Aug. 27.—After killing one man and seriously wounding two others in the posse which was chasing him B. Clark, a negro convict serving a life sentence for murder, was killed and his body burned by enraged citizens. Further trouble with the blacks is feared.

Clark had escaped from the chain gang and was roaming the country armed with a shotgun, rifle and automatic pistol and wearing a steel breast protector.

When finally located by the posse he began firing and more than 100 shots were exchanged. James Durden, a member of the posse, was instantly killed, while Sheriff James Lester of Montgomery county is believed to be fatally wounded.

INVESTIGATION IS STARTED

Alleged Abuses of Workmen Will Be Looked Into.

Pittsburg, Aug. 31.—The district attorney's office for the county of Allegheny, in which the plant of the Pressed Steel Car company is located, has turned its attention to the alleged abuses of workmen employed in the works.

Third Assistant District Attorney Seymour gave the assurance that a rigid and thorough investigation has already been ordered by the county officials, which he declared will bear fruit in the form of early prosecutions.

Alleged unlawful imprisonment in box cars, assault and battery and other similar charges developed during the peonage investigations conducted by the federal officials, will be sifted in a most exhaustive manner.

The secret investigation of the government proper is being carried on, the special government agents assigned to investigate the charges of peonage against officials of the Pressed Steel Car company confining their efforts to the strike zone and McKees Rocks. Few witnesses were heard by the government agents during the day.

MRS. KATE SOFFEL IS DEAD

Woman Who Helped Biddle Brothers to Escape Expires.

Pittsburg, Aug. 31.—Mrs. Katherine Miller, formerly Mrs. Kate Soffel, who served a term of two years in the Western penitentiary for her connection with the escape of Jack and Edward Biddle, murderers, from the county jail here, of which her husband was warden at the time, died at a local hospital of typhoid fever.

When the Biddle brothers escaped from the jail through the warden's apartments, Mrs. Soffel accompanied them and was wounded in the battle with detectives.

MOTHER DROWNS THREE CHILDREN

Takes Poison and Then Gashes Her Own Throat.

Barnum, Minn., Aug. 31.—Mrs. Fred Young, aged twenty-two, wife of a farmer residing about five miles southeast of here, while her husband was on his way to town with a load of cream and milk, threw her three children, aged one, three and five years, into a deep well, set fire to the barn, destroying it, also set fire to the house and failing in her efforts to burn the building took a dose of Paris green and then gashed her throat several times with a knife, making ugly wounds, but failing to sever the jugular vein.

Mrs. Young was taken to the sheriff's residence at Carlton and a special meeting of the insanity board was held. The woman was found to be insane and ordered committed to the state insane asylum in case she recovers. In the meantime, she was ordered taken to a hospital at Cloquet. Her condition is serious. The physicians, however, believe that she will recover. Mrs. Young had been in poor health for the past two years and it is said she had threatened several times to kill her children and herself. Her father committed suicide several years ago.

CONTROVERSY IN CHIGACO

Street Car Companies Formally Offer Arbitration.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—The surface traction companies of this city and their 10,000 employes reached a deadlock on the wage question. Following the failure to agree upon any one of the several propositions for a settlement, the companies formally offered arbitration and prepared to await the answer of the men, upon which hinges the possibility of a great strike.

W. D. Mahon, president of the International Union of Street Car Employes, told the traction heads he would reply to the proposal for arbitration after he had submitted the question to the men. Several conferences of union committees will be held today and it is likely a decision will be reached. If the men do not favor the arbitration plan there is apparently nothing for them to do but strike, as the companies intimate they are through proposing wage scales.

Congressmen in Honolulu.

Honolulu, Aug. 31.—The congressional delegation which sailed from San Francisco Aug. 24 to pass a fortnight sightseeing in the Hawaiian group as the guests of the business men of the islands, arrived on the Pacific Mail liner Siberia. The reception committee headed by Governor Frear boarded the Siberia off the entrance of the harbor and extended a cordial greeting.

Dutch Defeat Rebels.

Batavia, Java, Aug. 31.—Sharp punishment has been inflicted upon the rebels of the Island of Flores by a Dutch detachment, fifteen members of which were killed in an ambush set by the natives. The Dutch sent for reinforcements and attacked the rebels fiercely. The natives had 117 men killed.

CASUALTY LIST IS HEAVY

Spaniards and Moors in Sanguinary Conflict.

Lisbon, Aug. 31.—A dispatch from Melilla to Diaro de Noticias says that reinforcements have been sent to Restinga and Elarba, which has considerably weakened the Spanish positions around Gurugu. The Moors took advantage of the opportunity and have been bombarding Alhucemas day and night, their shells causing great havoc in the town, as two of the Schneider batteries which were the principal defense had been sent to Elarba, where General Marina is establishing an entrenchment as a center for future operations.

A dispatch to Mundo from Melilla says that great fights took place at Cabo Morena and Sidimusa Sunday. The Moors lost 650 men and the Spanish about 300. The enemy has been reinforced by the Beni Uriagel tribe, forming two columns, one under El Mezian, a renowned mountain chief, to defend Gurugu and attack the Melillian district, the other under El Chaldy to defend Nador and Selouan. El Chaldy's knowledge of fortifications is expected to render most difficult the Spanish advances. The Spanish convoy on its way to Restinga was attacked, the Spanish losses being 10 killed and 38 wounded.

INVESTIGATING HER DEATH

Coroner Looking Into Mysterious Case of an Iowa Girl.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 31.—Coroner Newlen is investigating the mysterious death here of Mattie Skibble, twelve years old, who died of burns at the home for friendless children Sunday night. Her death was accidentally discovered Monday and the coroner notified. Superintendent Cooke explains that during the excitement following the injuries to the girl, whose dress ignited while burning leaves, he forgot to notify the coroner.

AMERICAN BOATS ARE VICTORIOUS

Decisively Defeat Germans at Marblehead.

Marblehead, Mass., Aug. 31.—America won a decisive victory over Germany in the first of the series of Sonder boat races for the President Taft and Governor Draper cups. All three places at the top of the list were captured by the defenders of the trophies, while the three challenging boats brought up well in the rear. The Joyette, owned by Commodore William H. Childs of the Bensonhurst Yacht club, Blooklyn, N. Y., won first honors, with the Ellen, owned by Charles P. Curtis of Boston, second, and the Wolf, owned by Caleb Loring of Boston, third. Next came the Margarethe, one of the German challengers, and following her more than six minutes astern, was the Hevella, while the Seehund II. finished last. The Seahund II. carried away her throat halyards within five minutes after crossing the starting line and was unable to resume racing for fully ten minutes, while the damage was being repaired. Vice Admiral Darandon, chairman of the joint committee of the Kaiserlicher Yacht club of Kiel and Eastern Yacht club of Boston, when asked after the race what he thought of the result, said:

"Oh, your boats are so much faster. It was a great surprise to me that our yachts did not do better, for this was real Kiel weather."

The admiral, who represents the Kaiserlicher Yacht club, felt very much annoyed because the Seehund II. was disabled, and said that it should not have happened.

AUTHORIZED BY JEFFRIES

Berger's Action In Signing Articles With Johnson.

San Francisco, Aug. 31.—Sam Berger has received a cablegram from James J. Jeffries ratifying Berger's action in signing tentative articles with Jack Johnson in Chicago several weeks ago.

Following the signing of the tentative articles, Jeffries in an interview in England virtually repudiated Berger's action. Berger contended that Jeffries misunderstood what he had done and showed the cablegram as proof. It is from Carlsbad and signed by Jeffries.

"Agreement satisfactory. Inform newspapers you action authorized by me."

Catholic Home Burned.

New York, Aug. 31.—Fire destroyed the St. Malchay's Roman Catholic home at Rockaway Park, Long Island. The loss is estimated at $100,000. When the alarm was sounded, 1,000 children in the institution were marched safely down the fire escapes to the music of their fife and drum corps.

Suit to Test Law.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 31.—A suit to test the constitutionality of the 8 o'clock saloon closing law has been begun here in the supreme court in behalf of Frank Dinuzzo of Omaha, who was recently convicted and fined for keeping his saloon open after 8 o'clock. The fire and police board also revoked the license.

VESSEL GOES ON THE ROCKS

Steamer Ohio Sinks Off the Coast of Alaska.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 28.—Five lives were lost in the sinking of the Alaska Steamship company's steamer Ohio off Steep Point, Alaska. There were 128 passengers on board, but all these escaped, the victims being from among the crew. The loss of the steamer and cargo is total. The drowned are:

Purser F. J. Stephen, Seattle; Wireless Operator George E. Eccles, Winnipeg; two seamen, names not given; quartermaster, name not given.

A wireless dispatch says the Ohio sank in three minutes. This probably means that she was on the reef a considerable time and that the passengers were all off before the ship slid into deep water, which she did so speedily as to carry down five of the crew.

CURTISS WINS PRIZE

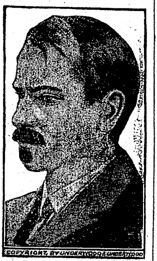
American Captures Chief Event of Aviation Week.

Rheims, France, Aug. 28.—Glenn H. Curtiss, the only American aviator at Betheny, won the international cup of aviation, the most important event of aviation week. He covered the two laps of the course, twenty kilometers, or 12.42 miles, in 15 minutes 50⅗ seconds. This is at the rate of 47.65 miles an hour.

Bleriot, his most formidable competitor, made the distance in 15 minutes 56⅕ seconds. Latham did not start.



GLENN H. CURTISS.

The international cup of aviation is known otherwise as the Gordon Bennett trophy. It is an object of art valued at $8,500, which goes to the winning club, and $5,000 to the aviator. The course is two laps of the Betheny aerodrome.

LINE TO SEABOARD

Hill Secures Direct Route to Atlantic Coast.

SOME NEW LINKS NECESSARY

Must Build Connections Between Required Roads.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 30.—The Burlington system is shortly to establish an air line through Nashville, connecting the grain fields of the Northwest with the Atlantic coast. In this the Tennessee Central will play a conspicuous part, as it will be the connecting link between the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy at Paducah and the Seaboard Air Line at Rutherfordton, N. C., and the report is current here that the Burlington system will acquire the Tennessee Central as the connecting link between the Burlington and the Seaboard Air Line.

To effect the complete chain the Tennessee Central will build from Hopkinsville to Paducah, both in Kentucky, a distance of seventy miles, where the road will connect with the Burlington system at Metropolis, Ill., where a bridge will take the place of the present ferry across the Ohio river to Paducah. The gap from Herrin, Ill., to Metropolis is already being closed by forty miles of Burlington track.

This will give the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy a direct line from St. Louis, Chicago and the Northwest into Nashville, thence over a new line to Sevierville, thirty miles, over the Knoxville, Sevierville and Eastern. It will connect with the Seaboard Air Line at Rutherfordton and thence to Wilmington, N. C., making an air line from the Northwest to the coast.

EARTHQUAKE IN CANAL ZONE

People Greatly Alarmed, but No Serious Damage Results.

Panama, Aug. 30.—A strong earthquake was experienced here. The people were greatly alarmed, but no serious damage has been reported and no one was injured.

The administration buildings of both the government and the canal commission here and at Ancon were so severely shaken that the clerks left their desks hurriedly for the street. They soon returned, however, when it was seen that no damage had been done and that the first shock was not followed by a second.

The quake was felt also at Aguadulce, in Cocle province, and at Paoora, in the province of Panama, points more than 100 miles apart.

There is nothing as yet to indicate that the Panama canal was damaged by the quake. Special inquiries are being made in this direction and a report from the canal commission is expected.

FIVE KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Vehicle Struck by a Train Near St. Louis.

St. Louis, Aug. 30.—Five persons, all of St. Louis, four of them closely related, were killed when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a fast passenger train of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific road two and a half miles west of Virgus Station, on the Creve Coeur Lake road, St. Louis county. The dead are: Theodore F. Witte; Theodore F. Witte, Jr., aged three years; Mrs. K. Klinge, Miss Halcyon Campbell and Frederick O. Witte.

PANIC IN IOWA FACTORY

One Killed and Many Injured in Rush to Escape.

Waverly, Ia., Aug. 28.—In a panic of 300 employes of the Kelly canning factory to escape from the second floor of the canning department, where a gasoline tank had exploded and thrown fire over the room, George McRoberts was killed, three persons were probably fatally injured and a score of others were seriously hurt. The building was destroyed by the fire that followed the explosion, causing $100,000 damage.

GUATEMALA FEELS UNEASY

Hears Zelaya Is Fitting Out Filibustering Expedition.

Guatemala City, Guatemala, Aug. 30.—There is considerable uneasiness here and in Salvador over the persistence of reports that General Zelaya, president of Nicaragua, is engaged in fitting out a filibustering expedition at New Orleans to attack Guatemala and Salvador. The steamer Ellis, said to belong to the United Fruit company, is supposed to have been chartered for the expedition.

BY NEARLY THREE HOURS

Mauretania Reduces Time From New York to Queenstown.

Queenstown, Aug. 30.—The steamer Mauretania, the record holder for the transatlantic passage, arrived here from New York over the short course, making the passage in 4 days, 14 hours and 27 minutes. This beats her previous best passage by 2 hours and 58 minutes.

GREATEST STATE FAIR IS READY

THE 1909 EXHIBITION PROMISES TO EXCEL ALL PREVIOUS SHOWS.

ATTENDANCE PROBABLY 500,000

Tremendous Efforts Have Been Successfully Put Forward for the Fiftieth Annual Minnesota Exposition.

A half million people will visit the fiftieth Annual Minnesota State Fair, September 6 to 11, unless all signs fail, and the Board of Managers of this greatest of all annual expositions has been making tremendous preparations with this probability in view. Not for twenty years have crop conditions in the northwest been so promising as they are this year, and not in twenty years have the money and labor markets been in so healthy condition. Never before in the history of the fair has the institution had such an elaborate and thoroughly equipped plant for the education and entertainment of its thousands of annual visitors, and never before has its Board of Managers invested so much in the program calculated to please all classes of its patrons.

The new $250,000 grandstand and exposition building, of which so much has been said, is a structure the magnitude of which none can appreciate until they see it, although it is admitted to be the only structure of its kind in the world, and the biggest and most modern grandstand anywhere in the middle west. It is 378 feet long, 171 feet deep and 105 feet high, seats 13,000 and has 100,000 square feet of exhibition space. The old grandstand had no exhibition space at all, and was but 250 feet long, 65 feet deep and 75 feet high. In mere description, no adequate idea of the imposing lines along which this greatest of State Fair buildings has been erected can be given, and visitors to the State Fair this year will be amazed at its completeness, comfort and absolute safety against fire and panic. It is built entirely of steel and concrete, has twenty exits and entrances, and such is the scientific skill with which it has been constructed that every seat holder will have a perfect view of the world's record mile track under any conditions.

When in Thief River Falls. call at the City Drug and Jewelry store for drugs, jewelry, cut glass and stationery. Prescriptions compounded by a registered pharmacist. Watches fixed right.—F. J. Stebbins, Prop.

If you know bookkeeping and stenography thoroughly you will never be without a position that pays. The Commercial-Normal will teach you. Write to-day.

Afflicted With Cramps.

All of the six drug stores in Devils Lake will apply for permits to sell intoxicating liquors for the coming year as against four during the past year. One pharmacy alone sold 201 bottles of whiskey for "cramps" during the month of July. The Devils Lake Journal states that commencing on the first of the month it will publish daily a list of the names of purchasers of liquor and the complaint they are suffering from, as shown in the affidavit books of the drug stores and suggests that the city board of health investigate the cramp epidemic —Valley View.

MISCELLANEOUS

Robert E. Perry has returned with the report that he also has reached the North pole and planted the U. S. flag there.

The Grand View Hotel at Red Lake Falls has under gone a change of management, W. H. Krueger having leased the place.

The village of Bagley has issued bonds to the amount of twelve thousand five hundred dollars to take up their floating indebtedness.

J. H. Pifer of Larimore N. D. has 2'500 acres of potatoes under cultivaton this year from which he expects to harvest 500,000 bushell.

Burglars blew open the vault of the First State Bank of Foxhome early Monday morning and made their escape into North Dakota on a hand car. They obtained about two thousand dollars.

The team of horses stolen from Fred Gother of Wylie were recovered near Fisher last week. They were thought to have been taken by the Karlstad bank robbers to aid them in their escape.

Paul Fournier on trial at Bermidji for the second time for the murder of N. O. Dahl near Cormarant Beltrami County has been granted a change of venue and will now be tried in Crow-wing County.

Dr. Egge one of the leading Physicians of Moorhead was murdered last Monday evening while returning on a bicycle from a professional call. A king bolt from a wagon was the weapon used. Keathman a carpenter with whom the doctor had some trouble earlier in the evening has been arrested and charged with the crime.

Commodore Perry now claims that he was the first to reach the North pole and that Dr. Cook never reached there.

Goverment secret service-men are said to be in possession of letters threatning the life of President Taft when he visits Chicago.

Statistics show that 296,785 people were assessed for personal property tax this year which amounted to an assessment of $194.809,287.

Elling Gulbranson ,aged eight, living near Bagley had his head blown off by a double barrel shot-gun in the hands of his sister last Monday.

Norman county farmers are threatning the Wild Rice Lumber Co. with a damage suit claiming it was their log drive that caused the disastorus floods on the Wild Rice River about a month ago.

Off of a three acre peice of ground Allan Boyce of Argyle got 192 bushel of barley this year,he experimented by seeding the peice both ways across and the yield certainly paid him for the extra work. The land was not fertilized the increased yield being due to the cross seeding one bushel each way.

According to the Thief River Falls News the county commissioners have got themselves into a pickle by transfering the ditch fund to the general fund which is contrary to law which says that no money may pe transfered from one fund to another without the unanimious consent of the board. Now the News claims somebody will have to make good the $4,000 spent for the courthousd site and seems to think that some of the commissioners may be financialy out on the deal.

RAILROAD KING DEAD

Harriman Dies at Home in Arden Thursday Afternoon

After a long, hard fight in which the services of the leading physicians of the world were called for, E. H. Harriman passed away last Thursday afternoon at his home in Arden N. J. So far only the simple statement of his death has been given to the puplic particulars being with-held untill later. The news was telephoned from the residence to the Union Pacific headqtarters in New York from where it was given to the puplic. The cause of death has been kept secret but is thought to have been cancer and chronic indigestion. The reports are that towards the last he was kept alive by the use of oxygen and had to be packed in ice to keep his fever down. Harriman ranked in the financial world with Rockerfeller and Morgan and will go down in history as one of the most daring and spectacular financial geniuses the world has ever known. He was sixty-one years of age being born Feburary 25th., 1884 at Hemstad Long Island. What effect his death will have on the financial world remains to be seen.

Want County Officials Removed.

A petition was circulated by citizens of Thief River Falls and filed with Governor Johnson last Friday asking for the removal of county auditor A. A. Letandress, treasurer Haary E. Ives and commissioners W. C. Demann, Joseph Pedgeon and C. A. Linquist charging them with malfeasance in office. Quite a number of unlawful acts and misappropriations of puplic funds are charged in the complaint and the request is made that a public examiner be sent to look into the charges.

Found.

Came to my farm last Saturday seven stray calves. Owner can have same by proving property and paying charges.

Surveys have been started for what will be the largest ditch in Minnesota The ditch with its latterals will be over 400 miles long and will drain a large part of Eastern Marshall and Northern Beltrami swamp lands. It will cost between three and four hundred thousand dollars but the payment of this vast sum will be made easy by spread ing it over a period of twenty years.

The state fair shows a great advancement this year over any previous year but the expenses were very large and the management is not sure as yet whether they will come out even or not.

IS IT THE GREAT NORTHERN

Looks as if Jim Hills finger was in the pie.

With everybody sceptic and wink the other eye when ever the Great American R. R. is mentioned the surveyors are keeping busy and Mr. Williams is still talking co-operative railrayism whenever he can get an audience. But the question remains what is back of it all. The facts are these, that a couple of weeks ago it looked as if the Great American R R. bubble had burst, the reports were that all work had stopped from lack of funds and that parties who had money comming intended to see if there was anything back of the proposition. Then a gentleman shows up who satisfies all claims and every thing is now working smoothly again; that no surveying has been done south of Bagley on the Great Northern and that a feeder from Bagley north thru Clearwater, Red Lake and eastern Marshall counties to the Canadian Northern is feasible; and that the Great Northern would only be following out their former policy of cutting up the territory of the Soo every time they put in a new line. So it looks as if the eleven towns might have two railroads crossing them and the settlements northeast of here may get the railroad they need so badley. The surveyor in charge of the work stated that part of the road which Mr. Williams calls the Great American would be in operation this fall before snow flies this seems possible and if true would necessitate the Soo putting in the crossing.

Thief River Falls Lets the Contract for their new Armory.

The Thief River Falls city council last Wednesday evening awarded the contract for the construction of the new armory and auditorium to A. M. Sivertson of Crookston. The building when completed will cost in the neighborhood of forty-thousand dollars and will be one of the most pretentious structures in the northern part of the state. Mr. Sivertson has already started to get things in shape for immediate construction of the building which is to be completed this fall.

Another Decision in County Seat Fight.

Judge Watts handed down a decision Wednesday in the injuction proceedings brought by Thief River Falls Saturday enjoining the commissioners from building the courthouse. According to the decision the commissioners may build a court house providing the cost does not exceed $16,500 which sum would not be in excess of the five mill tax allowed by law Thief River Falls claims that the decision is contrary to law and former decisions of the supreme court. Attorneys Boughton and Grady appeared for Red Lake Falls and E. T. Young and Gay H. Halvorson for Thief River Falls.

Thief River Falls will now carry the case to the supreme court.

SPORTSMEN ALL AFIELD

Plummer Hunters all Enjoy Very Good Shooting This Year

With the weather man in the best of humor and for that matter every body else except those who could not get away, sunrise Tuesday morning saw all the sportsmen started on their annual first day hunt. Among those lucky enough to enjoy the fun were Chas. W. Latta, Ole Kolstoe, Lafs Haag and Gooder Haagen who were out over night and reported an average bag and a extra good time; Sam Miller, Ed. Johnson, and Tom Norby who enjoyed the day so much they went out the next one also; Henry Enderly and the man who got the goose Jack Pahlen who claim the record bag for the day barring no one and whose bag included a Canadian honker whose honking days are over; Otto Gullingsrud with out side parties; and A. Alrick and S. J. Rice. Those not being lucky enough to take in the shooting contented themselves with feasting on the spoils the next day. The chicken crop seems to be fair and the duck crop extra good.

If our railroad dream should prove of any benefit to Mr. Pennington we would be willing to accept a check for his estimation of its value?!? We fail to find his name on our subscription list however.

When the next party of foolhardy explorers with nothing else to do arrive at the place where the North Pole should be located and fail to find Cook's brass tube that gentle. man will maybe be sitting at home with his feet on a sizzling radiator and a wise grin on his phiz, singing,

Oh where, oh where, has my North Pole gone.
Oh where, oh where has it gone,
With the little brass tube and its U.
  S. flag,
Oh where, oh where has it gone?

It doesn't seem hardly fair the way in which they are treating the poor robber noway. In Pennsylvania they loaded a train robber up with several sacks of pennies and in the southern part of the state the poor fellows lugged a heavy safe a mile for a reward of 32 cents. Why, if this keeps up, pretty soon all the gentlemen will quit the trade and think of the number of men that will be out of employment.

There are rumors of Teddy being a candidate on the Democratic ticket. True, Teddy, would be a strong card for the Democrats if they could land him, but couldn't Minnesota produce as good?

Pres. Taft is to start next month for a trip across the county, from the North to the South and the East to the West and while it will be such a one as no President has ever taken and while the President is a hail fellow, well met and can undoubtedly make good political advertising out of the trip, yet he has a hard job, and will certainly deserve great credit from the beneficiaries of the Republican administration if he is able to pull the party thru to another victory since the tariff has dumped them into such a gully of unpopularity.

There is now scarcely any doubt but that the filers on the land in the Eleven Towns who are behind in their payments and are not residing on their land will lose the same. And it is no more than fair to those who have land up to the law that it should be so. While Uncle Sam is to a certain extent trying to keep the pure speculator out of what public lands there are still left to dispose of there is certainly room for lots of improvement and the last few years it looks as if the powers that be were carrying considerable railroad stock among their holding. They make it necessary for any would be homesteader to spend up to a hundred dollars in R.R. fare for a gambler's chance to get a homestead. Wonder what the rake-off is?

E. H. HARRIMAN DEAD.

At an early hour yesterday morning, E. H. Harriman, the greatest railroad magnate of modern times, passed to his final rest after a long and active life.

Harriman was born at Hempstead, Long Island, on February 26, 1848. He was the fourth son of a poor Episcopalian minister and his opportunities early in life were not very great. He was studious and employed his time to the very best advantage and when he reached maturity he soon became recognized as a constructive genius.

The two best things about Mr. Harriman were that he was constructive and had a national view of things. He was not alone a stock manipulator but a builder. History must give him this credit. It is questionable if we have had any greater railroad builder than he. The manner in which he took the rundown and bankrupt Union Pacific, went over the ground and saw the business there was for the line, coupled with the subsequent courage and energy he displayed in pouring hundreds of millions into straightening and improving the road, showed a constructive genius of the first order. Ruthless he might have been, yet the fact that he did things, and big things at that, must be told to his praise.

It is said that everything upon which he set his mind was soon mastered and without exception he came to be the controller.

Some of his latest dreams were never realized, but he is said to have been resigned to his lot and willing to lay down the constructive work in which he had labored and leave it for younger and stronger hands.

Westerners Opinion of the East.

Saint Paul, Minn., Sept. 10—After swinging around a 3,000 mile circle in the Eastern United States and Canada a party of twenty Saint Paul municipal officers and council members is back again, convinced that Minnesota as an agricultural state need take a second place to none, and the Western cities in spite of their newness as compared with the ancient settlements of the East, and well to the front in everything that means practical progress. The soil and crops of the East: while the latter are considered good, were a revelation to the Minnesota party. After visiting one of the best fields of corn northern Indiana had to show, one of the councilmen remarked, "That makes me homesick for Minnesota. Why, in our state they feed that stuff to cows, and here they think it's corn."

Why Eastern farmers continue to farm a soil apparently made up largely of boulders in various stages of gray forbiddingness, and the commonest variety of yellow sand, remained an unsolved mystery. In parts of Michigan alone was there to be any soil which compares with that of eighty-two large Minnesota counties. The grainfields looked discouraged when one remembered the opulent yield of cereals in Minnesota this year. There were no clusters of grain stacks around the farmhouses, two or three seemed about the best the farms could show. The farmers evidently were not poor, yet there were no fine barms, no large improvements to show any recent prosperity.

On the dock at Lake Champlain a New York farmer was engaged in conversation. He bewailed the lot of the farmer, complaining that the soil devoured fertilizer like a rat hole eating sand, that the grass crop this year was such as to make it difficult to maintain his dairy herd, that apples did not promise as well as they should.

"Why do you farm here then," he was asked. "Why don't you move to move to Minnesota? Out there the surface soil is three feet thick and farmers are making so much money they all ride in automobiles."

"Well," he replied, "my father farmed the same farm I am now on, and he made a living, and besides, Minnesota is such a cold country."

Yet Southern Minnesota this year shows better apples than any this party saw in the old Empire state. It is evidently time for Minnesota to get busy with some of the eastern hardheads who are trying to make grass grow on boulders and to produce wheat from sand piles.

When you work do you try to accomplish something or are you only trying to kill time.

You may consider fruits goodies, but the fellow that raises the daintiest oranges and pears would sooner have a little bacon and beans.

PEARY ALSO AT THE POLE

Naval Explorer Briefly Reports That His Last Attempt Was Successful.

COOK LIONIZED IN DENMARK

Coolly Receives the News That His Achievement Has Been Repeated.

New York, Sept. 7.—The following dispatch has been received here from Indian Harbor, via Cape Ray, N. F., from Robert E. Peary:

"Stars and Stripes nailed to North pole."

This startling and laconic message, flashed from the coast of Labrador to New York and thence to the four corners of the globe, at the moment when Dr. Cook is being acclaimed by the crowned heads of Europe and by the world at large as the discoverer of the North pole, adds a remarkable chapter to the study of an achievement that has held the civilized world up to the highest pitch of interest since Sept. 1, when Dr. Cook's claim to having reached the top of the world was first telegraphed from the Shetland islands.

Two explorers, Dr. Frederick A. Cook and Commander Robert E. Peary, both Americans, are in the Arctic seeking the goal of centuries, the North pole, whose attainment has at times seemed beyond the reach of man. Both are determined and courageous and both leave expressing the belief that their efforts will be crowned with success. Peary is well known to both scientists and the general public as a persistent striver for the honors of "farthest north." Dr. Cook, on the other hand, has held the public attention to a lesser degree. He made his departure quietly and his purpose was hardly known other than to those who are keenly interested in polar research. Then, suddenly and with no word of warning, a steamer touches at Lerwick and Dr. Cook's claim to having succeeded where expedition after expedition of the hardiest explorers of the world had failed is made known. Three days later Dr. Cook arrived at Copenhagen and was given a welcome to an explorer unprecedented in history.

ROBERT E. PEARY.

Five days after the receipt of the Lerwick message, almost to the hour, comes the sensational statement from Indian Harbor that Commander Peary also has been successful on his third expedition to the coveted goal.

One point of supreme importance in Peary's report of his success is that the statement must remain absolutely unchallenged, because Peary undoubtedly is able to confirm his statements by creditable white witnesses who made up the personnel of his party.

SECOND MESSAGE RECEIVED

Comes in Cipher and is Undoubtedly From Peary.

New York, Sept. 7.—A telegram was received here from Lieutenant Peary for Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary of the Peary Arctic club of America. It read as follows:

"Pole reached. Roosevelt safe."

The telegram to Mr. Bridgman was sent in cipher. The cipher used was a private one and indicates clearly that the dispatch was sent by Commander Peary.

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 7.—Commander Peary has just telegraphed the governor of Newfoundland by wireless from Indian Harbor, Labrador, announcing he has discovered the North pole and congratulating Newfoundland on its part in this discovery, seeing that the captain and crew of Peary's steamer are Newfoundlanders.

DR. COOK VERY INTERESTED

Claims His Observations Will Be Confirmed by Those of Peary.

Copenhagen, Sept. 7.—Copenhagen was electrified by the report of Commander Peary's announcement that he had reached the North pole. Dr. Cook was immensely interested and said "that it good news, I hope Peary did get to the pole. His observations and reports on that region will confirm mine."

It is doubtful if history furnishes a more dramatic episode than the breaking of the news to Dr. Cook that Peary had realized the goal of his life's ambition and repeated struggles. Dr. Cook was seated at a dinner surrounded by explorers and correspondents in the gilded ball room of the Tivioli Casino. Around his neck was hung a garland of pink roses, according to the Scandinavian method of honoring heroes, which the explorer wore blushingly and with visible embarrassment. Several speeches acclaiming him had been given and repeated toasts to him had been drunk with clamorous cheers.

Amid this scene a whisper went around that Peary had planted the Stars and Stripes at the pole. Cook was perfectly cool and unmoved. He made a striking speech in which he paid high tribute to the work of Sverdrup, who sat near, to whose discoveries he largely owed his success; to John R. Bradley, who had financed the expeditions; to "the intelligence, endurance and faithfulness" of the Eskimos who had assisted him in the preparation and those who had accompanied him. The whole story of the expedition, he said, has not come out and will not come out for some time; nor will it come in installments, but only when it is completed.

DR. FREDERICK A. COOK.

Dr. Cook did not permit the whispers which came to his ear of Peary's success to move him in the least, but when he had finished he was surrounded by correspondents, who looked for some sign of emotion, but the explorer said smilingly "I am glad."

Asked if there was any probability of Peary's having found the tube containing his records, Dr. Cook replied:

"I hope so, but that is doubtful on account of the drift." Dr. Cook added: "Commander Peary would have reached the pole this year. Probably while I was in the Arctic region last year his route was several hundred miles east of mine. We are rivals of course, but the pole is good enough for two."

THREE NEW OCEAN RECORDS

Fall to the Lusitania on Her Latest Trip.

New York, Sept. 3.—Three new ocean records fell to the Cunard liner Lusitania on her latest trip from Queenstown. The Lusitania made the passage in 4 days, 11 hours and 42 minutes, thereby clipping 8 hours and 18 minutes from her fastest previous time; she maintained an average speed of 25.85 knots for the entire voyage, beating the Mauretania's record of 25.84; and finally she became the first liner to dock on the fourth day from Queenstown.

The liner was favored by fair weather for almost the entire voyage.

VOLIVA MUST STAY IN JAIL

Denied Freedom on a Writ of Habeas Corpus.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Wilbur Glenn Voliva, who succeeded the late John Alexander Dowie as head of the religious cult at Zion City, near here, and who has begun serving a six months' jail sentence for failure to pay a $10,000 libel judgment obtained by a former follower, was denied freedom on a writ of habeas corpus here. Voliva attacked the legality of the capias on which he was arrested.

ABOUT FOUR THOUSAND DEAD

Official Statement Regarding Mexican Flood Victims.

Monterey, Mex., Sept. 7.—An official statement issued from the government flood sufferers' headquarters shows that the loss of life in Monterey by the recent overflow of the Santa Catarina river was about 3,000 people.

It is estimated that the number of victims outside of Monterey was about 800, making all told 3,800 casualties in the overflowed district.

STEAMER GOES ON ROCKS

Vessel a Total Wreck but Passengers Are Saved.

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 7.—Thrilling scenes attended the loss of the Allan Line steamer Laurentian, bound from Boston to Glasgow, which piled upon the rocks near Cape Race during a dense fog. The vessel is a total wreck, but the fifty passengers and forty members of the crew escaped to land after a trying experience.

Minnesota's Capitols

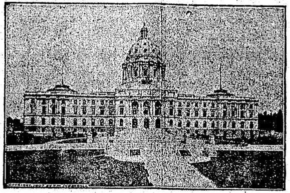
Various Structures Which Have Been In Use Since the Territory Was Organized

IT will be sixty years next winter since St. Paul became the seat of Minnesota's state government, although in the meantime there have been several spirited attempts to secure the coveted honor for various other places. During that period several buildings have been used as executive headquarters.

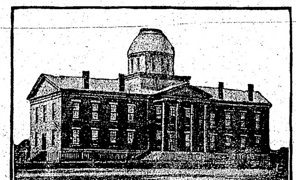
In 1848 St. Paul was a mission station and showed no signs whatever of becoming the capital of a great northwestern commonwealth. Stillwater was a settlement of even greater promise, owing to its lumber trade, and there were a few groups of adventurous traders at the head of Lake Superior and in the Red river valley. These sparse settlements had been a part of Wisconsin when it was a territory, but when it became a state they were not included. Nothing daunted, the pioneers sent a delegate to congress, H. H. Sibley, who in time secured the organization of a new territory.



CAPITOL OF MINNESOTA.

Stephen A. Douglas was then chairman of the senate committee on territories, and he undertook to name it Itasca. Somebody else preferred Jackson, and he offered an amendment to that effect. Both Washington and Chippewa were proposed, but finally it was christened Minnesota, the land of lakes and of waters that reflect the sky. Mr. Douglas had made a trip to the new country, and he made up his mind that Mendota was the proper site for the capital. Mr. Sibley, the delegate, lived at Mendota, but he was in favor of St. Paul. He prevailed, and St. Paul was named in the bill. Six weeks later the first governor of the new territory arrived on the ground. He was Alexander Ramsey of Pennsylvania, and he came May 27 on the first steamer that made its way through the ice. He opened an executive office in St. Paul and proceeded to do business.

The capitol "boarded around" for a few years. The sessions of the first legislature were held at the Central House, a two story log building. Here for awhile the business of the government and hotel keeping were conducted on the same premises. The first session took no steps to establish a capitol. The rival claimants to the honor of becoming the capital were busy laying plans. The second session of the legislature was held in a brick building on St. Anthony street. After the usual bitter controversy St. Paul won the capitol.

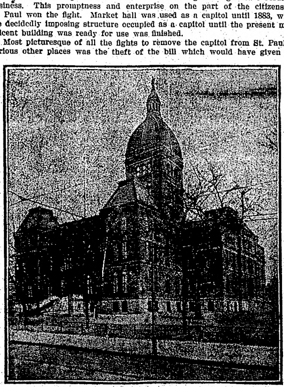


FIRST CAPITOL, DESTROYED BY FIRE.

In 1851 a site was secured and the first capitol was begun. It was of brick, with a rudimentary dome, egg shaped, and it stood until 1881. It cost $40,000. While it was building the legislature met in various makeshift localities. At the second session of the fourth legislature the new capitol was ready and the lawmakers moved into it. Almost immediately it was found inadequate and reconstruction began. In 1881, while both houses were in session, fire started in the cupola, and the building was burned to the ground.

There was an immediate reopening of the capital fight. The St. Paul folks offered their newly built Market hall for temporary use. During the night the citizens fitted up the hall and in the morning the legislature resumed business. This promptness and enterprise on the part of the citizens of St. Paul won the fight. Market hall was used as a capitol until 1883, when the decidedly imposing structure occupied as a capitol until the present magnificent building was ready for use was finished.

Most picturesque of all the fights to remove the capitol from St. Paul to various other places was the theft of the bill which would have given the prize to St. Peter by the Hon. Joe Rolette. The bill passed the council by a vote of eight to seven and went through the house after a hot battle. Governor Gorman was ready to sign it. Rolette was chairman of the committee on enrolled bills, and the document was in his hands to compare with the original. When the bill came up for consideration it could not be found. It had disappeared, and so had Rolette. Search was made for him, but he could not be found. He did not reappear until the session had adjourned sine die, and the capitol remained at St. Paul.



THE CAPITOL, 1883-1905.

SUFFERS RELAPSE

Edward H. Harriman's Condition Said to Be Serious.

BAD ATTACK OF INDIGESTION

Physician's Bulletin Says "He Hopes for the Best."

Arden, N. Y., Sept. 7.—E. H. Harriman is not as well as he was a week ago, on the day that his personal reassurance led the newspapers of the country to abandon the watch maintained for four anxious days about the home on Tower Hill. Dr. W. G. Lyle, Mr. Harriman's personal physician, gave out a brief bulletin from Arden house on his patient's condition. The bulletin follows:

"Mr. Harriman has suffered a relapse. He had a sharp attack of indigestion on Sunday, but rested comfortably Monday. We hope for the best."

Dr. Lyle appeared anxious that Mr. Harriman's condition should not be exaggerated. "Mr. Harriman is a sick man, but we hope for the best," he repeated when pressed for a further statement.

The physician was besieged with telephone inquiries following a day of rumors which had apparently started in New York and had disturbed Wall street throughout the latter part of the market day.

Two incidents at Arden seemed to indicate illness. A trained nurse was summoned hastily from St. Luke's hospital. A second incident was the sudden postponement of a lawn picnic arranged by Mr. Harriman's daughters for the children of the Episcopal church here. No reason for the postponement was given, but the parishioners were of the opinion that the doctors had again advised complete quiet for their patient.

Dr. Lyle, over the telephone, confirmed the report that a trained nurse had been brought from New York. "But this incident should not be exaggerated," he insisted. "It is only natural that a sick man should want a nurse."

Despite Dr. Lyle's reassurances, Arden was full of rumors that Mr. Harriman's relapse was of a very serious character.

PREFERS MONEY TO DIVORCE

Evelyn Thaw Has No Intention of Going to Nevada.

New York, Sept. 2.—"I have never been in Reno in my life," said Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, when asked regarding persistent rumors that she had joined the divorce colony in the Nevada town.

"Furthermore," she added, "I don't intend to go there. I have been right here in this house for the last three years and I am sick and tired of hearing these reports that I have been seen in different parts of the country. I need money more than I need a divorce just at present. That is necessary to live on and I shall make no plans until I arrange a settlement with the Thaw family."

HUNDREDS OF FATALITIES

Earthquake and Volcano Cause Heavy Loss of Life.

The Hague, Sept. 3.—Dispatches received here report an eruption of the volcano Smeru, Java, causing great havoc and a terrible earthquake with hundreds of fatalities in the Besouki district.

Batavia, Java, Sept. 3.—It is estimated that 600 natives have perished in the floods in the southeastern Java. The damage to property and crops has been enormous.

CLYDE FITCH DIES IN FRANCE

Famous American Playwright Victim of Appendicitis.

Chalons-Sur-Marne, France, Sept. 4.—William Clyde Fitch, known to playgoers in every part of the world as Clyde Fitch, the successful American playwright, died in the private hospital of Dr. Axquier here following an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. Fitch had been spending the summer motoring through Germany and was on his way to Paris when seized.

TRAIN STRIKES AUTOMOBILE

Three Persons Killed and a Fourth Fatally Injured.

Reading, Pa., Sept. 2.—A Pennsylvania railroad train struck an automobile at Douglassville, Pa., killing three persons and fatally injuring another. The dead are William L. Graul and wife of Temple, Pa., and the wife of Dr. Samuel E. Siegel, a well known dentist of Reading. Dr. Siegel's legs were broken and he cannot survive.

MEXICO AGAIN SHAKEN UP

Widespread Earthquake of Short Duration Is Reported.

Mexico City, Sept. 7.—A slight shock of earthquake, lasting fifteen seconds, was felt here. Reports from as far west as Acapulco indicate that the shock was widespread. At the latter place it lasted eight seconds. No damage was done by the disturbance.

Spanish Authorities Fear a Second Revolution.

ROUNDUP AT BARCELONA

Several Government Officials and Military Leaders Alleged to Be Involved in New Plot—Houses of Suspects Searched and an Immense Number of Bombs Found—Open Threat Made by Men Behind Revolt.

Barcelona, Spain, Sept. 7.—Fifteen hundred persons have been arrested in Barcelona since Friday in the dragnet that the authorities have spread for the leaders in a threatened second revolution. Several government officials and military leaders are involved in the new plot.

The authorities are more apprehensive than they have been at any time since the recent outbreak, owing to the widespread revolt that now menaces the government. The police, it is declared, have convincing evidence that implicates scores of men hitherto unsuspected even of revolutionary sympathies. The revolutionists openly announce that if Ferrere, one of the leaders in the July outbreak, is executed the new revolution will be launched immediately.

All of the houses of the suspects are being searched and more than 300 bombs have been found.

VESSEL MAY BE TOTAL LOSS

Steamer Laurentian Runs Ashore Near Cape Race.

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 7.—The Allan line steamer Laurentian, Boston for Glasgow, ran ashore near Cape Race during a dense fog. Two holds are full of water and it is feared that she will be a total wreck. The passengers, numbering about sixty, were safely landed.

The steamer broke in two during the forenoon, which renders hopeless the work of floating her.

The Laurentian belongs to the Allan line steamship company of Glasgow and ran regularly between Boston and Glasgow. The steamer is 400 feet long, forty-two feet beam and has a tonnage of 2,837.

STRIKE NEARING THE END

Trouble at McKees Rocks, Pa., Will Be Adjusted.

Pittsburg, Sept. 7.—The strike at the Pressed Steel Car company at McKees Rocks is rapidly nearing an end. Within twenty-four hours it is said a settlement will have been reached.

Following a conference between business men and the strikers' executive committee the demands of the strikers were made known. Later Manager Rider of the company received the demands and practically granted all of them.

BROTHERS IN FATAL FIGHT

One Dying of Gunshot Wound and the Other Seriously Stabbed.

Salem, Ind., Sept. 7.—As the result of a desperate encounter between two brothers on the McGinnis farm Luther McGinnis, aged forty-eight years, was fatally shot and Horace McGinnis, aged forty-five, was seriously stabbed. Since the death of William McGinnis, father of the men, who was found dead in a barn six weeks ago, ill feeling has existed between the brothers.

Official Statement Regarding Mexican Flood Victims.

Monterey, Mex., Sept. 7.—An official statement issued from the government flood sufferers' headquarters shows that the loss of life in Monterey by the recent overflow of the Santa Catarina river was about 3,000 people.

It is estimated that the number of victims outside of Monterey was about 800, making all told 3,800 casualties in the overflowed district.

BANK LOSES ALL ITS CASH

Robbers Blow Safe of Institution at Foxhome, Minn.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Sept. 7.—The First State bank at Foxhome, fifteen miles west of here, was burglarized. Robbers blew the safe and got all the money in it, about $2,000. They then escaped on a handcar, which they threw into the river near Breckenridge.

The bank is owned largely by Fergus Falls men.

Widespread Earthquake of Short Duration Is Reported.

Mexico City, Sept. 7.—A slight shock of earthquake, lasting fifteen seconds, was felt here. Reports from as far west as Acapulco indicate that the shock was widespread. At the latter place it lasted eight seconds. No damage was done by the disturbance.

MILLIONAIRE'S WIFE ON STAGE

Former Leader of Pittsburg's Most Fashionable Colony.

Pittsburg, Sept. 7.—The more exclusive of Pittsburg's rich set sat up quickly when it became known that "Alice Rand," now featured at the Belasco theater in New York in "Is Matrimony a Failure?" is none other than Mrs. Lou Spelgel Woods, until a year ago the leader of Pittsburg's most fashionable colony.

She is the wife of William Woods, a millionaire, and member of the Sewickley Heights colony, in which move all of the very wealthy of Pittsburg. The Woods separated about a year ago, Woods going to Texas and the young wife disappeared from her friends.

CAR GOES OVER EMBANKMENT

One Occupant of Auto Dead and Another Dying.

New York, Sept. 7.—While William Hobby, a wealthy resident of Mount Vernon, was running his automobile at high speed between Mount Vernon and Pelham Manor the bursting of a tire threw the car over an embankment. Joseph Elsenger, one of the passengers, was killed, and Henry Clausen, another passenger, will die. Elsenger and Clausen were musicians whom Hobby was bringing home. Hobby and his chauffeur escaped with bad bruises.

Hobby, who was driving the car was arrested and held in $5,000 bail.

PROMINENT CITIZENS INVOLVED IN TRAGEDY

Sensational Shooting Affray at Huntington, W. Va.

Huntington, W. Va., Sept. 7.—One of the most sensational tragedies in the history of Huntington occurred when I. N. Chapman, supervisor of the Huntington division of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, was shot down and fatally wounded by Earle Dudding, a leading business man of this city.

Some time ago Chapman's daughter, who was employed in a department store owned by Dudding, was arrested on a charge of theft. After the arrest of the young girl Dudding refused to prosecute her. It was alleged by the friends of the girl that the charges were made by Dudding as the result of her refusal to listen to his attentions and a damage suit against Dudding was threatened.

Dudding went to the office of Supervisor Chapman to endeavor to settle the affair. He alleges that Chapman attempted to kill him with a hatchet and he fired in self-defense.

CHILDREN THE BEST CROP

Kansas Educator Would Improve the Product.

Chicago, Ill., Sept 7.—Charging Middle Westeners with neglect of children in their eagerness to produce amazing crops and thoroughbred cattle Professor William A. McKeever of the Kansas state agricultural college has set about, by the circulation of bulletins, to assist in producing a better crop of sons and daughters.

In Chicago he told of his plans for the betterment of Kansas children and showed the bulletins of advice he is issuing from time to time. Discussing the subject he said:

"We have special college courses in poultry and pig raising and horse breeding, while parents go right on in the good old way raising children by guess, hearsay and superstition. As a consequence, the first children in many a family are used for experimental purposes and though they may be well born their prospects of a useful career are often blighted forever."

MAY RETURN TO THE STAGE

Maybelle Gilman Corey Has Longing for Old Life.

New York, Sept. 7.—It is asserted that Maybelle Gilman Corey is going back to the stage. Almost any woman would be ready to cry her eyes out with sheer envy if she could see Maybelle Gilman Corey's gowns, jewels and the thousands of luxuries with which her husband has surrounded her. Yet she is unhappy. She has been unable to buy social recognition. The people she wants to know do not call. That is why she is unhappy and that is why she desires to go back to the stage, whether her husband likes it or not.

The delegation of Japanese repre. senting the commericial interests of Jopan who are touring this country were entertained at Fargo and Grand Forks last Thursday and Friday.

Pres. Taft arrived in Chicago last Thursday on his tour of the country. The Twin Cities are making great preperations for a non-partizan entertainment when he arrives there next week.

The engineer and conductor of the way frieght into which the N. P. flier ran causing the wreck that resulted in the death of engineer White, have been arrested charged with criminial negligence.

On November 1st. the regristration fee on letters and pacages will be raised to ten cents. The maximum idemnity allowed for the loss of a registered article will also be increased, from $25 to $50.

John Anderson of Farris Minn. found the badley mangled body of a man on the Great Northern tracks near that place last Monday which on further examination proved to be that of his father who he had thought was in Montana.

Sheriff Anderson of Kittson county arrived in Hallock last Thurday with two men who are thought to be the ones that burglarized the Karlstad bank several weeks ago. They were taken at Watertown S. D.

Polk County received fouth prize among the county exhibits at the State Fair. Their corn exhibit attracted a lot of attention comparing favorably with any from the southern part of the state.

F. H. Reber a thresherman of Polk County had his seperator ruined by some one loading the bundles with drag teeth. He has offered a hundred dollars reward for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the guilty parties.

The contract for ditch no 36 in the town of Smiley commonly known as the Knox ditch has been let to A. M. Arpin of Thief River Falls the consideration being 17 cents a yard. The ditch is to be completed by Nov. 1st. 1910 and will cost $18,916.

Louis Cugnot 14 years of age while hunting near Warroad in a boat with a younger brother and sister was instantly killed last week. He was reaching for the gun when the hammer caught on a crosspeice in the boat causing the gun to go off in his face.

H. E. Muzzey has been especialy successful with his fruit this year up at Teief River Falls. He has raised some very nice Duchess apples Siperian craps, Compass cherries and Aitkin plums which does not look very much as if Red Lake County was located in the Artic circle.

Carlos Avery the executive agent of the state game and fish commission returned recently from the Red Lake country where he had been looking in to the game conditions. He says that there is lots of big game in that country especialy moose and caribou.

TO CONNECT AT PLUMMER

Soo Extension will Connect with Winnepeg Line - Here

That the Soo extension from Forest River to the Winnepeg line is now a settled fact. There have been several peliminary surveys run and the final survey will now locate the line. One crew started out of Bena several weeks ago and are now working near Popuski north of Bermidji with William Evarts in charge, there has also been a crew working for some time in the vicinity of Clearwater county picking the best route across the swamp there.

Thursday the outfit arrived for the crew that will start out of here the first of the week in charge of Sid Jones. There will be no grading done this fall this side of Bena but the work will be rushed to an early completion next fall so as to be ready for the crop next fall. It is unlikly that there will be more than one town in the Eleven Towns and that will very likely be in the south-east corner of the town of Garnes.

Three Beltrami Officials Removed.

The removal of three county commissioners of Beltrami County was announced Tuesday by Governor Johnson following the reccommendation by the Public examiner's department, after a number of irregularities had been reported by M. F. Kain the deputy examiner. The Governor took no action in respect to county auditor Willman and will make no decision in his case untill after he returns from Rochester.

The charges against the three commissioners were that they had incured obligations against the county requiring the levying of a higher rate of taxration than permifted by law and that they failed to examine the books of the county auditor and county treasurer as required by law, The revenue fund up to the begining of 1908 had been overdrawn several thousand dollars and during that year the county spent $10,518 more than they could raise by taxaction.

Charged With Dirty Trick.

Ole Rogne a well to do farmer of Polk county was arrested last Monday, accused of placing iron bolts in the grain bundles on the Keifer farm with the object of wrecking the threshing rig owned by Nesbit and Love. Rogne is said to have an old grugde against Love and to have made threats to get even. He is said to have made inquiries as to where the Nisbet and Love machine was going to thresh and to have been seen in the Keifer field. He was arraigned in Municiple court at Crookston last Tuesday but the hearing was postponed untill Sept 22sd. to give the state time to get its evidence into shape. Mr. Rogne protests that he is innocent. Whoever is guilty had ought to be punished to the full extent of the law as he was endangering the lives of all the men working on the machine.

The dredging of the upper part of the Roseau River before the lower was finished is causing the overflow of hundreds of acres of land tributary to the river.

COURT-HOUSE CONTRACT LET

M. Brady of Red Lake Falls Gets the contract.

At a meeting of the county commissioners held last Tuesday the contract for the construction of the proposed new court-house was let to M. Brady of Red Lake Falls the consideration to be fifteen thousand one hundred and thirty dollars. There were four bids submitted altogether Mr Moran also of Red Lake Falls being the nearest to Mr. Brady. Work on the construction of the court house will it is said begin at once the contractor to be paid by warrents issued by the county.

Thief River Falls has carried the injunction proceedings to the supreme court and if they should be decided in their favor it will make quite a mix up. The commissioners also passed the motion to return the $35,000 recently thansferred from the ditch fund to the general revenue fund back to the ditch fund.

Governor Dangerously Ill.

Governor Johnson is dangerously ill at the Mayo Bro's. hospital in Rochester and the whole state is anxiously waiting his recovery.

An operation was performed on Wednesday to remove an absess and hernia growth in the abdomen.

This is the third time that Mr. Johnson has submitted to an operation and the complications that now existed were such as to prolong the time of the operation to almost three hours. The operation was performed by Dr. William Mayo, assisted by Dr. Charles Mayo, while several other prominent doctors witnessed the operation. The operation as performed was far more extensive than had been been anticipated and the doctors were not altogether pleased with the outcome.

For some time it seemed as if the Governor would not again be revived, but later he returned to consciousness and at noon yesterday the doctors announced that the chances were about even for a recovery or a demise.

Business at the Capitol is at a standstill and the state is allowed to run along any old way it pleases and all party lines are forgotten while everybody is anxiously waiting for news of the Governor's condition.

It has taken this dangerous illness to make the people of the state as a whole recognise what a great man Governor Johnson has grown to be.

Messages of hope and cheer are coming from all over the world to cheer the Governor in his battle for life.

Buying Lots of Cattle

J. A. Rothsten returned Thursday foom a trip thruout the country with three carloads of cattle which he shipped to St. Paul Friday. John is shipping more cattle than any other buyer in this section and consequently is able to pay a better price.

Plummer is now quite a shipping point besides the grain and stock there are the broducts of a lumber Co. two creameries and a cheese factory shipped from here.

IN ye old times the man that existed without working or producing something to exist on usually ran some risk and was put to some exersion in so doing. But civilization has changed all that. He now sits in his office and gets his existence without force of arms or any personal risk. All he is obliged to do is to take what the producer produces at whatever price he wills and give him back part of his production at a price sufficiently advanced to net him a much better living than the average producer ever enjoys. The American Society of Equity may have been organized with good intentions but it does not seem to affect the market to any considerable extent at the right time.

THE poor fly now has a New York Association working against his existence. The Merchants Association committee of polution of the waters of New York is spreading literature brodcast over the country accusing him of all kinds of horrid things and telling the people how to destroy him. In the future we will not see the dainty little fly waltzing over grandpa's bald pate when he is reading his evening paper.

Now that the public has accepted his first prescription thru their representatives and are taking their medicine with methodical obedience, Senor Aldrich is busy preparing the formula of another dose, which he will prescribe during the next session of congress, under the heading of the Aldrich Currency Bill.

According to the statistics on this years' personal property tax in the state of Minnesota, the number of hogs and sheep show a decrease while dogs and diamonds show an increase. Looks as if the people of Minnesota had such quantities of the filthy lucre that they were dropping the necessaries for the luxuries.

WITH Peary and Cook despoiling the Polar regions of their mysteriousness the small boy of the future will have to plan on some of the planets for unknown regions by the discovery of which he may make himself famous.

THE Greenbush Tribune accuses Bro. Mattson of the Roseau Region of telling a fish story. He should have known better than to do so out of season.

THE antics of the weather man is causing the householder to look askance at his woodpile and coal bin.

This visiting the north pole is getting to be altogether too common. First thing we know all the ordinary people will be going there, thus spoiling the aristocratic temperament the place formerly had.

New Postoffice Rules.

Our postmaster formulates the following rules for the benefit of his patrons and that you may know what you may exact: No letters given out until they have been received. If you don't get a letter or a paper on the day you expect it, have the postmaster look through all the boxes and down the cellar also. It ought to be there somewhere and he likes to hunt for it just to please you. If your friend don't write rave at the postmaster. He is to blame. If he tells you no, put on a grieved look and say there ought to be some. He is probably hiding your mail for the pleasure of having you call for it. Ask him to look again. If you are buying stamps make him lick them and put them on, that's his business.

For Parents.

It is the wish of every patriotic parent that his child shall stand in the front ranks of the business world. To get these results the teacher, the parent and the child must work together. Open mutiny with the school means hinderance to the child to attain this high standing. There should be close unity. Consult freely on these subjects which will largely determine the welfare of the future of the child. If your child is not doing well in school it is your duty to see the teacher and help her to devise plans which will remedy the evil. "Don't! Don't," pour out your wrath on the teacher at the supper table in the presence of the children. It only means that your children will reap what you sow for them. They will have no confidence in the teacher, cause trouble in school, and lose all interest in learning. If the evil exists in school see the teacher and it will be made right.

Hike Off to School.

Young man, I notice that you are not in school any more. What's the matter? Think you have received enough education to carry you thru the world, or do you stay out just because you do no like to go. Didn't like the teacher, eh? Well let me tell you that you will find the meanest teacher on earth a dream of love besides some of the bosses you will have to work under in the cold and unfeeling years you will plow into when you have to get out and hustle and bustle for yourself. Education is the most valuable thing in the world to a man, but to a boy it comes cheapest. It costs you nothing now to get that for which many a man in town would give all he has to posses. You have the winning numbers in the lottery of education if you play it now. Loaf around for a few years and you will always be a blank. It is true that any man can make a living, but you will notice that the fellows who do it with their brains have an easier time of it than those who are compelled to do it with their muscle. At the present stage of the game choice jobs are not held by physical strength. Education will not crawl into your head while you are asleep. The thing for you to do is to hike off to school tomorrow morning and stay there. Your holidays will come later when you need them—Ex.

How Sears Made Money.

Referring to the retirement from business of a member of the catalogue house concern known as Sears, Robuck & Co., Chicago, the Bird Island, Minn., Union says:

"The head of the largest mail order house in Chicago retired last Thursday worth the paltry sum of $25,000.000, and is only 45 years old at that. Seventeen years ago he was a railway telegraph operator in Redwood Falls, when he conceived the idea of selling $5.40 watches by mail for $11.90. He first went into business in Minneapolis and then started in business in Chicago and in four years had cleared $2,000,000 on watches alone. In 1894 he founded the large catalogue house of which he recently was the head and built its business up to $50,000,000 a year, and that money being paid cash in advance before goods are shipped. The gentleman did a strictly cash in advance business and cared not whether his goods were satisfactory to the purchaser or not, and as a result he retires with enough of his customers' coin to keep his family from starvation for sometime to come."

Why wait till your friend dies and then plant flowers on his place of rest while he sleeps on unconsicious of your act? Why not plant flowers along his pathway in life? He needs them now, more, possibly, than you think—he will not need them then.

DETAILED STORY OF PEARY'S TRIP

Explorer Reached North Pole With Only One Eskimo as Companion.

FAST TIME ON WAY BACK

Left Earth's Extremity April 7 and Reached the Roosevelt in Twenty Days.

Battle Harbor, Labrador, Sept. 13.—The following details of Commander Peary's journey to the North pole have been gleaned from members of the expedition on board the steamer Roosevelt:

The only men to reach the pole were Commander Peary and one Eskimo, Eging Wah. The other white members of the various parties that left Cape Columbia were sent back one by one as Peary drew nearer daily to his objective. Matthew Henson and three Eskimos, the only other members of the reduced party that made the final dash, were left one march south of the pole.

Captain Bartlett and George Borup started Feb. 27 from Cape Columbia with a number of Eskimos and dogs on the march across the ice, heading north. On March 1 Commander Peary left Cape Columbia with his party, consisting of seven white men, seventeen Eskimos and 136 dogs. On March 4 Peary came up with Bartlett, who had pitched his camp at the side of a lead of water which it was impossible to cross.

No Progress for Seven Days.

The combined parties had to wait until March 11, seven days, before further progress was possible. The sun was seen for the first time March 5 and an observation showed that the explorers were a short way from the 84th parallel. The supply of alcohol was running short and Borup returned to Cape Columbia for a fresh stock. March 14 Borup overtook Peary again and brought a supply of oil and alcohol. The division under Professor Ross G. Marvin joined Peary the same day. At this point Professor Ronald B. McMillan was sent back, his feet having been badly frozen. Borup returned to land from 85.23 with two Eskimos.

The party now consisted of twelve men, ten sledges and eighty-five dogs. Bartlett was still beating out the trail two days ahead of Peary. Marvin took observations at 85.48 and then started on his return march. On his next trip Bartlett made a record, covering twenty miles. This brought him to 85.38.

Bartlett Leaves on Return Trip.

The party now consisted of Peary, Bartlett, Matthew Henson, the colored man who has been Peary's personal assistant on so many of his expeditions; the Eskimos, seven sledges and sixty dogs and the journey northward was resumed. The ice was perfectly level as far as the eye could see. Bartlett took the observation on the 88th parallel on April 2 and then reluctantly returned, leaving Peary, Henson and four Eskimos, with provisions for forty days, to make the final dash to the pole.

This reduced party started the morning of April 3. The men walked that day for ten hours and made twenty miles. They then slept near the 89th parallel. While crossing a stretch of young ice 300 yards wide the sledge broke through. It was saved, but two of the Eskimos had narrow escapes from drowning.

The ice was still good and the dogs were in great shape. They made as much as twenty-five miles a day.

Reached the Pole on April 6.

The pole was reached April 6 and a series of observations were taken at 90.

Peary deposited his figures and hoisted the American flag. The temperature was 32 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit. The pole appeared as a frozen sea. Peary tried to take a sounding, but got no bottom at 1,100 fathoms.

Peary stayed at the pole for thirty-four hours and then started on his return journey the afternoon of April 7.

On the return the marches were continuous and Peary and the Eskimos suffered greatly from fatigue. They had their first sleep at the end of the eighth march from the pole, in the igloos left by Bartlett. Here there was a violent snow storm.

On April 23 the party reached the vertical edge of the land ice, west of Cape Columbia. The Eskimos were delighted to reach land and the party slept for two days. They repaired their sledges, rested their dogs and, resuming the journey, reached the Roosevelt April 27.

Resume Work at Old Wages.

Saco, Me., Sept. 13.—After an idleness of about three weeks the 2,200 employes of the York mill of this town, who were thrown out of employment by the strike of 150 weavers, returned to work at the old rate of wages.

WILL SUBMIT HIS PROOFS

Dr. Cook's Reply to Accusation of Commander Peary.

Copenhagen, Sept. 9.—"I have been to the North Pole. As I said when I heard of Commander Peary's success, if he says he has been to the pole, I believe him.

"I am willing to place facts, figures and worked out observations before a joint tribunal of the scientific bodies of the world. In due course I shall be prepared to make public an announcement that will effectually dispel any doubt, if there can be such, of the fact that I have reached the pole. But knowing that I am right and that right must prevail, I will submit at the proper time my full story to the court of last resort—the people of the world.

"I will not enter into any controversy over the subject with Commander Peary, further than to say that if he says I have taken his Eskimos my reply is that Eskimos are nomads. They are owned by nobody and are not the private property of either Commander Peary or myself. The Eskimos engaged by me were paid ten times what they agreed to accompany me for.

"As to the story that Commander Peary says I took provisions stored by him, my reply is that Peary took my provisions."

This is Dr. Frederick A. Cook's reply to Commander Peary.

REPEATS HIS CHARGE

Peary Says Cook Is Handing Public a Gold Brick.

New York, Sept. 11.—The Cook-Peary controversy over the discovery of the North pole continues to rage with unabated fury. For the time being the great achievement itself is somewhat obscured if not lost in the intensity of feeling which has been aroused over the personal aspect of the two conflicting claims. Commander Peary's latest dispatch, challenging Cook's claim and characterizing it as "a gold brick," has added fuel to the already fierce fire of charge and counter charge. This dispatch is addressed to the New York Herald and reads as follows:

"Do not imagine the Herald is likely to be imposed upon by Cook story, but for your information Cook has simply handed the public a gold brick. He had not been at the pole on April 21, 1908, or any other time. The above statement is made advisedly and at the proper time will be backed by proof."

In a dispatch to the New York Times Peary declares that as soon as Cook makes his claims as a discoverer of the pole before a reputable geographical or scientific society he (Peary) will be in "position to furnish material that may prove distinctly interesting reading for the public."

COOK LEAVES COPENHAGEN

Explorer Will Reach New York on Sept. 20 or 21.

Copenhagen, Sept. 10.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook has left Copenhagen by sea for Christiansand, where he will board the steamer Oscar II. for New York. A large crowd bade him farewell.

The Oscar II. is due in New York Sept. 20 or 21.

When Dr. Cook boarded the steamer the water front was lined with spectat[illegible] [illegible] the ships in the har bor w[illegible] [illegible] flags

CUTS [illegible] WITH RAZO[illegible]

President of Union Trust Company of New York a Suicide.

New York, Sept. 14.—John W. Castles, president of the Union Trust company of this city, capitalized at $1,000,000, a director in other well known corporations and prominent in club and social life in this city and the South, cut his throat from ear to ear in the Grand Union hotel and was found dead stretched across a bed. He had been in ill health for some time and his suicide is ascribed solely to a nervous breakdown and not to financial troubles.

SPAIN SWEPT BY FLOODS

Property Loss Said to Aggregate $2,000,000.

Madrid, Sept. 11.—Disastrous floods have occurred in many parts of Spain. At Bilboa the Nervion overflowed after a terrific downpour of rain and scores of houses were flooded.

Great damage was caused in Valencia, San Sebastian, Gijon, Santander and Malaga. Near Valencia several persons were killed by lightning.

In Valencia and the surrounding districts the losses are said to total about $2,000,000.

DIES TO SAVE A TRAMP

Switching Foreman at La Crosse, Wis., Crushed to Death.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 10.—In an effort to save a drunken tramp from death Frank Sloan, switching foreman of a Milwaukee railway switching crew here, lost his life. Sloan noticed a tramp climbing over the bumpers of a box car toward which another car was approaching. He hastily pushed the man out of danger, but slipped between the cars in his effort and was crushed to death.

The State Seal of Minnesota

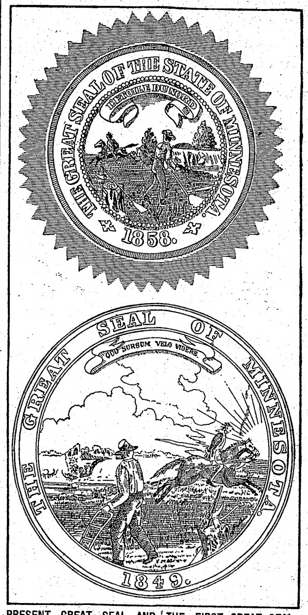
The first official record of a state seal is in the message of Governor Ramsey to the first territorial legislature, Sept. 9, 1849, in which he says, "A temporary great seal of the territory of Minnesota has been adopted, an impression of which will be submitted." But for some reason the seal was never used, another being authorized.

This was used as the great seal of Minnesota until 1858. It bears the date at the bottom, "1849." The device is much the same as the present state seal. A farmer is plowing in the foreground, but facing to the west. His rifle, powder horn, etc., are leaning on a stump near him. In the distance, to the left, is the falls of St. Anthony, and an Indian on horseback riding rapidly eastward, toward what appears to be a rising sun. Over the device is the motto, "Quo sursum velo videre," the third word a misprint for volo, the whole meaning "I wish to see what lies beyond."



THE GREAT SEAL OF THE STATE OF MINNESOTA
L'ETOILE DU NORD
1858.
THE GREAT SEAL OF MINNESOTA.
QUO SURSUM VELO VIDERE
1849.

PRESENT GREAT SEAL AND THE FIRST GREAT SEAL

This seal was ridiculed more or less by journalists, who said it represented "a man plowing one way and looking another," or "an astonished Indian and a scared white man," etc.

At the first session of the state legislature the question of a state seal was taken up. Several months elapsed before the present seal was engraved and put into use, and when it was it was found that the elaborate design proposed in Mr. Folsom's report had not been adopted, but that the device of the old territorial seal had been used, with a little change. The motto was "L'Etoile du Nord" (the North Star).

The State Flag of Minnesota

The state legislature of 1893 provided for the adoption of a state flag. Mrs. Franklyn L. Greenleaf, Mrs. A. A. White, Mrs. Edward Durant, Mrs. F. B. Clarke, Mrs. H. F. Brower and Mrs. A. T. Stebbins were by this act commissioned to select and adopt an appropriate design, and on Feb 28, 1893, met, selected and adopted the design presented by Mrs. Edward H. Center of Minneapolis.

Following is a description of the flag: "The ground is of white silk and the reverse side of blue silk, bordered with bullion fringe. In the center is the state seal, wreathed with white moccasin flowers on a blue ground. The red ribbon of the seal bearing the motto is continued through the wreath, intwining the blossoms and floating carelessly over the lower portion of the flag. It bears in gold the dates 1819, the time of the settlement of Minnesota, and 1893. Above, also in gold, is the date 1858, the time of the admission of Minnesota to the Union. Below the design in gold letters is wrought 'Minnesota.' Grouped around the seal are nineteen stars in the design of star points, with the North Star, significant of the North Star State, in a group of three at the top."

The choice of the number nineteen is a peculiarly happy one, as Minnesota was the nineteenth state, after the original thirteen, to be admitted to the Union. The standard to the flag was surmounted by a golden gopher.

LOSES NONE OF ITS BITTERNESS

Polar Controversy Continues to Rage Unabated.

NOT SOLIDLY BEHIND PEARY

Even Naval Circles Turn by Dissention—Admiral Schley Admires Attitude of Dr. Cook—Secretary of the Arctic Club of America Says He Has Known Peary to Depart From the Truth.

New York, Sept. 14.—With Dr. Cook homeward bound and Commander Peary now in touch with the correspondents, two swelling streams of conflicting affirmation are now centered on a city already boiling over. Comment and criticism lack nothing of their previous acidity and rather gain than lose in volume.

Previous assumption that Commander Peary would have the United States navy solidly behind him was not borne out in a letter from Rear Admiral Schley (retired) made public by Captain B. S. Osbon, secretary of the Arctic Club of America, of which Dr. Cook is a member. The letter, under date of Sept. 11 from Pocono Manor, Pa., runs in part as follows:

"I like Cook's attitude immensely in this unfortunate, unnecessary and unwise controversy. He certainly has been dignified and manly in the stand he has taken in this matter."

Captain Osbon followed his letter from the admiral with a lecture on "Who Discovered the North Pole?"

"Dr. Frederick A. Cook," he said, "was for two years my wife's physician. I saw him two or three times a week and we chatted many hours. If I have ever known a man of integrity, probity, sincerity and modesty, it is Dr. Cook.

"I have known also the other fellow—known him to depart from truth by large margins."

Criticises Commander Peary.

Dr. Cook's attitude in withholding details of his discovery was attributed to his desire not to anticipate the publication of his book. "But as soon as the other claimant got within reach of the wireless," said the captain, "he sent dispatches to everybody he could think of, but delayed in informing the mother of the unfortunate Marvin, who perished during the expedition."

After a meeting of the executive committee of the Arctic Club of America Dr. R. O. Stebbins, its chairman, gave the club's attitude on the controversy.

"The Arctic Club of America," he said, "has nothing to do with the controversy over the discovery of the pole. All that the Arctic club recognizes is that Dr. Cook is the discoverer of the pole and that Peary reached there. Our only desire is to honor the discoverer. Neither side has proved its case to America, but since the Danish government has recognized Dr. Cook, we feel that the burden of proof now falls on his opponents."

"The Arctic club," Mr. Stebbins continued, "will present to Dr. Cook a gold medal, two and a half inches in diameter showing in bas relief Dr. Cook standing on the top of the globe waving the Stars and Stripes."

SHIP IN GOOD CONDITION

Peary's Steamer Soon Will Sail for North Sydney.

Battle Harbor, Labrador, Sept. 14.—Commander Peary's steamer Roosevelt is in good condition and will leave Battle Harbor on Thursday or Friday for North Sydney. From that port the Roosevelt will proceed to New York and if it is possible she will take part in the naval parade at the Hudson-Fulton celebration.

Captain Bartlett is extremely anxious to weigh anchor and return to civilization, but, as there is danger of encountering storms so prevalent at this season on the treacherous Labrador coast, every precaution will be taken to put the Roosevelt in as seaworthy a condition as possible. Under the best of circumstances the steamer is bound to make a slow run to Sydney, probably not more than five knots an hour.

Commander Peary also is anxious lest Dr. Cook should reach New York first, although he adds that the Brooklyn explorer's attempts to induce scientists to believe his story will be futile.

WHITTEN GETS INTO GAME

Peary's Boatswain Confirms Charge Made by Dr. Cook.

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 14.—Alan Whitten, who was boatswain of the Peary auxiliary steamer Erik in 1905 and again in 1908, adds his quota to the polar controversy. On his expedition he naturally saw much of Peary and knew of Peary's plans.

He was also on the Erik in the summer of 1907, when she lay for a week in Sydney alongside the schooner John R. Bradley, in which Dr. Cook was starting for the pole, the Erik that year going to Hudson bay for the Canadian government.

Whitten says that the Bradley was abundantly equipped for Cook's expedition, having supplies for at least three years. He confirmed the charge made by Dr. Cook at Copenhagen that Peary's people took Cook's provisions, adding that not only did the crew of the ship take Cook's stores that were at Etah, but that boats were sent to Annatook, thirty miles distant, to remove Cook's provisions, which were stored there.

Whitten admitted, however, that he did not know if this removal was by arrangement between Rudolph Francke, who was left in charge of the provisions, and Peary, or Peary's representatives, but he thought that in any event it was a strange thing to do, in view of the fact that Cook was then away on the ice floes and might return and find his provisions gone.

TORNADO ON MESABA RANGE

Destroys Thousands of Dollars' Worth of Property.

Duluth, Sept. 14.—A tornado struck Coleraine, western Mesaba, shortly after midnight and continued an hour, completely demolishing the $20,000 two-story brick block belonging to A. M. Murnike of Eveleth.

The wind also destroyed the grandstand and scattered the fence of the Coleraine baseball team, involving a loss of $1,000, partly razed the scaffold of the Itasca Ski club's slide, which was to have been used in the national tournament to be held here next winer, lifted up the big Palace livery barn and set it diagonally on the lots, spit telephone poles, damaged the mines, several stores, residences and outbuildings and did thousands of dollars' worth of damage to fences, sidewalks, streets, avenues and trees.

The wind, which blew seventy miles an hour, was accompanied by a heavy rain, which also did considerable damage.

The Canisto and Walker mines are partially filled with water for the second time within thirty days, and operations are suspended.

PRESIDENT TAFT GOES TO BOSTON

Will Attend Banquet of Chamber of Commerce.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 14.—President Taft gave up his golf game and all official business and devoted himself to preparing for the long Western trip which will really have its beginning when he motors into Boston this afternoon to attend the banquet of the Chambers of Commerce. The president will spend the night in Boston, leaving there for Chicago at 10 a. m. Wednesday.

When Mr. Taft leaves Beverly there will be no formality about his going and in fact the departure will seem like the usual afternoon automobile ride, for Mrs. Taft will accompany her husband on the seventeen-mile journey into Boston. Mrs. More, Mrs. Taft's sister, will also be in the party, and as soon as the president alights at the hotel in Boston where he will stop over night, Mrs. Taft and Mrs. More will begin their return trip to Beverly.

It is now Mrs. Taft's intention to remain in Beverly until Nov. 12, when it is expected that the president will arrive here to take her back to Washington. Returning to Washington Nov. 10, from his Western trip, the president will leave there again the afternoon of Nov. 11 to attend the installation of a new president of Wesleyan university at Middleton, Conn. It is the plan for the president to come direct here from Washington, spend the morning in Beverly and reach Middletown in the afternoon.

The executive offices in the board of trade building will close immediately the president leaves Beverly.

EAGLES GATHER IN OMAHA

National Convention of the Order in Session There.

Omaha, Sept. 14.—Politics got an early start in the national convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, which opened today, and already three candidates are in the field for the office of vice president and at least six cities are bidders for entertaining next year's convention. The office of president is conceded to the present vice president, Frank E. Herring of South Bend, Ind., who by precedent succeeds to the chief office.

The contest for next year's convention is warming up, even before all the delegates have arrived. Syracuse, Saratoga, New Haven, St. Louis, St. Paul and Cleveland have delegations on hand who are ready to show the advantages of their respective cities for next year's meeting.

Registration Fee Increased.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The fee for the registration of mail will be increased from 8 to 10 cents after Nov. 1, 1909, according to an order signed by Postmaster General Hitchcock. The maximum indemnity allowed for the loss of a registered article has also been increased from $25 to $50 by the order.

Mrs. Belmont to Open Campaign.

New York, Sept. 14.—Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont will open the woman suffrage campaign in New York with a luncheon of thirty covers at Delmonico's on Thursday, Sept. 16

ENDORSES AN INCOME TAX

Democratic Conference at Saratoga Concludes Its Labors.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 10.—After adopting a declaration of principles, which included an endorsement of a federal income tax, and effecting a continuation of efforts for the rehabilitation of the party through the organization of the "Democratic league," the Democratic conference concluded a two days' session and adjourned sine die.

The adoption of the income tax clause was accomplished only after extended debate, both in the committee on plan and scope which reported it and on the floor of the conference. There were other minor amendments to the report as submitted, including the insertion of a paragraph declaring for the enforcement of federal and state laws against criminal trusts and combinations in restraint of trade.

The declaration of principles, among other things, declares for a tariff for revenue only; independence for the Philippines; election of United States senators by direct vote of the people and taxation of corporations by the state alone.

POLICIES OF HARRIMAN

Election of Lovett Insures Continuance of Them.

New York, Sept. 14.—The continuance of the Harriman policies in the management of Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and the chain of allied railroads was made certain, temporarily at least, when Robert S. Lovett, E. H. Harriman's personal counsel and friend, was elected to succeed Mr. Harriman at the head of the executive committee of the Union Pacific railroad. To strengthen further the dominance of the "Harriman idea," Jacob H. Schiff and William Rockefeller—both heavily interested in the Harriman enterprises—were elected directors in place of Mr. Harriman and the late H. H. Rogers, and also were chosen to places on the executive committee. The Union Pacific still remains without a president, as Mr. Harriman occupied this position also. It is understood, however, that an operating man—probably L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson, will be elected for the place at the annual meeting of stockholders to be held on Oct. 12. Proxies for this meeting already in the hands of R. S. Lovett and Alexander Millar, secretary of the Union Pacific, seem to guarantee that election will be dictated by the Harriman interest.

ASK AN INCREASE IN WAGES

One Thousand Weavers on Strike at Fall River, Mass.

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 13.—The 1,000 weavers employed at the Fall River cotton mills controlled by M. C. D. Borden of New York did not report for work in accordance with their announced intention of striking for an increase in wages.

The absence of the weavers so hampered the other departments that the management decided to close the entire plant until the differences could be settled and 5,000 operatives are thus temporarily thrown out of work.

The striking weavers ask for a 10 per cent increase in wages and the adjustment of several minor grievances.

Lady Wortley Montagu used to say that her only objection to being a man was that she would have to marry a woman.

Gasoline Not Dangerous

It should be known by everybody in these days of gasoline lamps and stoves that gasoline will not explode until its fumes have been mixed with at least six parts of atmospheric air. Gasoline will catch fire as quickly as any liquid known, but let it alone and it will burn out, doing no damage and leaving no scar or sign of fire. Mixed with air in the proportions mentioned it is far more dangerous than dynamite. No receptacle of this liquid should ever be left uncorked for to do so is to make the room where it is kept far worse than a powder magazine. This matter of safely handling is very easy, and no one should be ignorant of how it is done.

The best money-maker on the farm is the hen. She turns grass into greenbacks, grains into gold, and from the sand and gravel she coins silver. There is nothing else on the place to compare with her. The cattle and horses are heavy consumers, and to get their value we must part with them; but not so with the hen. In her small way she is a gold mine on the face of the earth; a mill that grinds that which others overlook or refuse.

MISCELLANEOUS

The Norman County Fair which was to have been held at Ada next week has been called off.

The Norvegians all over the country will all contribute towards a fund for a mamorial gift to their mother country.

Hundreds of people lost their lives and more were rendered homless by a tidal wave on the Gulf coast last Wednesday.

There are three crews at work running the line for the Soo between here and Bermidji, and the work will be completed as soon as possible.

Thief River Falls will hold their next city election Nov. 2nd. There are several candidates in the field and it promises to be a warm one.

Thief River Falls held a mass meeting last Monday to decide as to the feasibility of building a city hospital The majority of those present seemed to be in favor of the plan.

Mrs. Harriman was made the sole benificiary in the will of the late E. H. Harriman. The wealth she will inherit is estimated to be between 75 and 100 millions.

Dr. F. A, Cook received a royal welcome when he arrived at New York last Weenesday. It is generally acknowledged that Cook was undoubtly the first man to reach the pole.

Rev. Solem of Halstad has had great success with his apple crop this year the crop averaging twelve bushel to to the tree. It would pay Red Lake county farmers to put in orchards the cost and trouble would be more than covered by the increased value of the farm.

Every town in the Northwest has the Soo building into it. Red Lake Falls and Crookston both claim the Soo will build thru there and International Falls claims that they will build a line from Thief River there.

The remaining property of the village of Pelan has been sold and the village is now no more. Pelan was once a thriving little trade centre in Roseau county but the comming of the railroads to that part of the country was its death sentence.

Our Mistakes

None but the initiated knew the accuracy required in a printing office The average reader who detects a mis spelled word or a letter upside down feels that his mission on earth is not accomplished until he has called the attention of the overworked editor to the glaring defect. He does not notice the thousands and tens of thousands of letters that are in place, or the multitude of words correctly spelled, but his eagle eye is glued on the one that is out of place. So it is with our deeds, man does a thousand good deeds and no attention is paid to them but if he makes one mistake it is flashed all over the world. A lifetime may be spent in building up a reputation that may be wrecked in a moment The world is a harsh critic exacting to a fault.

Andrew Arveson of Gully moved his threshing rig into the town of Garnes the first of the week. Mr. Arveson had finished threshing in his territory and moved up here as threshing here has hardly started.

THE STATE AS ONE MAN MOURNS THE LOSS OF GOVERNOR JOHN A JOHNSON.

JOHN ALBERT JOHNSON

Born July 28th. 1861, at St. Peter, Minnesota.

Attended the common schools of St. Peter untill he was 14 years old.

worked in a drug store for ten years.

was a railroad paymaster for one year.

In 1886 became one of the editors and publishers of the St. Peter Herald.

Elected to state senate in 1899.

Served his first term as Governor from 1904 untill 1906.

Re-elected in 1906 and again in 1908

Died September 21st., at Rochester Minnesota.

A Memorial Statue.

A memorial fund to erect a statue to the late Governor was no sooner proposed than it was enthusiastically received all over the state. It was decided that the State Capital would be the most appropriate plase to place it and as it is to be a memorial from the people not over a dollar was to be contributed by any one person.

Dr. Clark received the contributions from the Plummerites which will be sent in together. Up to the time of going to press the following had contributed,

| | |
|---|---|
| Ole J. Johnson | $ 1.00 |
| A. A. Alrick | 1.00 |
| G. J. Hagen | 1.00 |
| Julius Pleth | 1.00 |

The New Governor.

With the death of Governor John A. Johnson lieutanent Governor A. O. Eberhart became the pilot of the ship of state according to the law of the land. The oath of office was administered to him by Chief Justice C. M. Start at ten minutes after eleven Wednesday fore-noon. Mr. Eberhart desired to put off taking the oath of office, out of respect to the late Governor until after the funeral but his duty as regards affairs of state would not allow the delay, but he will transact only such executive business as is absolutly necessary for the next few days. Mr. Eberhart is a graduade of Gustavus Adolphus College of St Peter and is a lawyer having practiced at Mankato. He was born in Vermland Sweden in 1870 and removed to this country in 1881. He is the first Republican Governor since 1904.

Remains Placed Beside His Mother,s at Saint Peter.

After bravely battling for life for five days and remaining cheerful thu out the entire time in spite of the awful agony he was in, Governor John A. Jonnson died at St. Mary's hosbital at Rochester 3:30 A. M. Tues day morning. The remains were taken to St. Paul by a special train on the Great Western and was escorted by the entire State Millatia and the University Cadets to the state capital where they lay in state all of Wednesday. The wonderful hold the Governor had on the hearts of the people was illustrated by the attitude of the thosands that came for the last look at the remains last Wednesday not one among that great throng appeared to have come to pass the time or with any other purpose than to look once more upon a face they all had loved and now mourned for.

The remains were taken to St Peter escorted by the militia and followed by numerous special trains of mourners and laid to rest beside those of his mother in the fine Greenwood Cemetery on the hillside.

In Plummer as elsewhere the signs of mourning were evident. Very little business was transacted and the badge of mourning was to be seen every where. From 3 o'clock untill 3;5 Thursday not a train or a street car in the state moved and not a factory or a manufacturing plant run and this was by mutual agreement. His loss in public affairs will be felt far into the future.

Threshing is Late

While threshing is just about finished nearly everywhere else a series of mishaps have combined to make it later in this vincinity than it has ever been for some time past. Altho a week of good weather was enjoyed the first part of the month all the machines were laid up at that time from one reason or another and unable to run and during the past couple of weeks the weather has allowed but very little threshing. With favorable weather from now on however the threshing will be guickly finished as all the local machines are now ready to run and several more have pulled in from country adjoining where the threshing has been finished.

Red Lake Indians To Take Allotments

The work of examining and classifying the timber and agriculture lands on the diminished Red Lake reservation has been completed, a party in charge of Pat. Kennedy doing the work. There are about 450,000 acres of land that have been examined and it took the crew about three months to do the work.

This estimation and classification of the land on the Red Lake Reservation was necessitated by application for allotments which were made a year ago by members of the Red Lake Band under the provisions of the Steenerson law. The finished work will furnish the department with reliable estimates on which they can base the allotting of the lands to those who have made application for their allottment These allotments will probably be made so that each one will contain equal tracts of argiculture and timber lands and it was for the purpose of definitely determining just which was which that the present estimating corps have performey the work during the past summer.

Soo Surveyors Busy

The crew of Soo surveyors that arrived here last week augmented by the arrival of four new men and now numbering sixteen are at work running a line south east from here. The crew is in charge of Sid Jones who had charge of a crew on the wheat line survey four years ago. The crew will make this their headquarters untill the first of the week when they will move to the crossing at Lost River.

While the present survey is supposed to be only a peliminary one yet it is very likely that the line will be built on the route they lay out. The line as it is now being run leaves the right-of-way about three quarters of a mile south of town and running in a south-easterly direction crosses the P. Medchell and O. Guthler farms entering the town of Garnes at section eighteen. From there the line keeps the same general direction and will very likely cross Lost River in section six of Hill River Township.

That this is going to make Plummer SOME TOWN there is no doubt and seeing that Thief River and Red Lake Falls can not agree on the county seat question we might as well locate it here and put a stop to all this scrapping.

Soo to Enter the City of Bermidji. To Furnish Free Right-of-way.

The Soo railroad has decided to enter the City of Bemidji according to the latest reports from there, providing they are given a free right of way thru the city. This bona fide offer was secured thru the efforts of the Bemidji commercial club. It was only after much persuasion that the Soo people agreed to deviate from their air line survey between Plummer and Moose Lake and go into Bemidji Bemidji is noted for having a bunch of hustlers and the $30,000 necessary for the purchase of the right of way was raised Thursday afternoon and the city council the preceding evening vacated the south twenty feet of what is known as the Crookston Lumber Co's mill road being the highway extending from the Minnesota and International tracts to the limits of the village of Nymore. This will give Bermidji four railroads and means that it will always be an important spot on the map of Nothern Minnesota.

William Howard Taft the 26th president of the United States in a public speech at Winona last Saturday defended the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill and in conjunction James A. Tawney, the one Minnesotan who wouldn't insurge and who stuck by his party instead of by his constittuents.

It being a case of either the frying pan or the fire with our genial and diplomatic William, he decided to try the frying pan and take chances on its smothering the fire. He had to choose between supporting the tariff bill and with it James A. Tawney of Winona or support the insurgents and lose the affiliations of the East with the backing of its numerous capitalists. So he came bravely to the support of James and the Aldrich bill and very likely carried the future support of the fickle crowd with him for our William certainly has a winning way.

But to be fair with him he really may have done what he thought the majority of the people was demanding for with each senator or representative hollering for protection on the products of his section and downward revision on all other things it must have been a hard point to decide So it looks like a wise decision for the gentlemen in power in the East will stand by the fellow who stands by them, while the people of the West are easily tdrned by a genial smile and a hand-shake.

We wish to call the attention of parents who have children of school age to chapter 400 of the State Laws of 1909 which provides that all children between the ages of 8 and 16 shall be sent to school unless a valid excuse is offered and that excuse is granted by the proper authorities.

In case parents neglect to send their children to school they will be reported to the County Attorney and he will take such steps as the law requires to enforce obedience to this legislative act. This may not be a very pleasant duty for our county attorney to perform but he will neverless do so without fear or favor. He received his first report of absentees on September 18th, and immediately proceeded to send orders to the parents to comply with the requirements of the law and he hopes he will not have to call on any more in this recpect.

This law is certainly a good one as it is not fair to the children to allow them to grow up without even the rudiments of an education just because they do not want to go to school or because they can help along with the work at home.

The state, as a whole, is mourning the loss of the greatest man in public affairs that has been its good fortune to raise. That our late Governor would heve had great chances of being our next president, providing his period of usefulnees had been extended, no one denies, and providing he had been successful, it would have marked a new epoch in the civic history of our country. The West would have come into its own in representation at our national capitol. But it was not so willed and the West has had a loss that will not be fully understood until in the future.

Gov. Johnson was one of the few examples of the self-made man who had reached a pedestal of national prominence, the more interesting because his rise was of suoh a recent date. If the country had more, of the same ability and at the same time of as sound integrity, there would be far less excuse for the socialistic clamor than there is at the present time.

There is a more concentrated movement among the farmers this year to hold their grain for a better price than ever before. This is certainly a good thing and means that anything made in that way goes into the pocket of the man who earns it instead of the speculator and big miller.

The controversy started by Commander Peary even before he had reached civilization, has greatly lowered him in the public's estimation. There would have been honor enough for both.

Bold Swindles Perpetrated by Use of the Wire.

THE WAY A BANK WAS FOOLED

A Lot of Nerve and a Little Telegram That Was Properly Delivered by One of the Company's Messenger Boys Made a Winning Combination.

Ninety-nine men out of a hundred will accept as gospel truth the contents of a telegram when it comes from the hands of a messenger boy. They buy and sell, pay out large sums of money, start on long journeys and do countless other things upon the suggestion of the little yellow or white paper slips with their condensed messages without in the least questioning their authenticity. This is an interesting fact, upon which hinges an enormous amount of the country's business, and it is also a fact upon which hinge some of the cleverest and boldest frauds in criminal records.

A lot of nerve and a little telegram was a combination that made possible a smooth swindle on a Des Moines bank. A well dressed man, apparently a business man of large affairs, called at the paying teller's window with a draft or check on an Omaha bank and asked if the Omaha bank had telegraphed notice that the draft was good. He got "no" for an answer and then informed the teller that such a telegram might be expected at any moment. Soon afterward the telegram arrived, delivered by a messenger boy, appearing to have come from the Omaha bank and authorizing the Des Moines bank to pay the draft. When the stranger appeared again he was given the $500. When the Des Moines bank people took up the matter by wire with the Omaha bank it found that the latter institution had not sent the telegram, and then it was discovered that the whole transaction was a fraud.

But how could the swindlers send a telegram from Omaha bearing the bank's name? They did it in this manner: An accomplice of the Des Moines man stepped to a telephone booth in Omaha and called the telegraph office. "This is the —— bank," he said. "Send a messenger at once to get a telegram for Des Moines." Then this accomplice hurried to the entrance of the Omaha bank to meet the messenger and there handed him the message for Des Moines. The telegraph company had no reason to believe otherwise than that the bank had actually signed the message, and it transmitted it. The Des Moines bank also accepted the telegram as genuine because it bore every mark of genuineness, and it paid out the money to the swindlers, who timed their fraud so that they got out of reach of the law on trains that left immediately after their game had been worked.

In two smaller western towns a similar game was worked, only for seven or eight times the amount. An alleged horse buyer appeared in one of the towns and made purchase of a carload of fine animals to be delivered and paid for at a later day, preceding which he made the acquaintance of the officers of one of the banks. On the day fixed for the delivery of the horses the alleged buyer deposited in the bank a draft for a large amount drawn on a bank in another town a hundred miles away. At the same time the bank received a telegram purporting to come from the distant bank authorizing the payment of this draft. The bank believed the telegram, paid out the money and then discovered that the telegram was fraudulent. It had not been sent by the second bank, but by a confederate of the alleged horse buyer. Later developments disclosed that this accomplice had called up the telegraph office in the distant town by telephone. "This is ——, cashier of the —— bank," he said. "Please send this telegram for me." Then he gave the message authorizing the first bank to pay the bogus draft, and this message the telegraph company sent without suspecting that it was fraudulent.

Some years ago an eastern man was induced to invest in worthless mining stock on the basis of a fraudulent telegram purporting to come from an expert he had sent out to investigate the mining property, but which was in reality sent in a manner similar to the above by a confederate. This eastern man's faith in telegrams cost him something more than $10,000.

The story of a fraud with an amusing side comes from across the water, with a London man of rather convivial habits as the victim. This man was forgetful and used to leave at home his office and safe keys. He also had a practice of leaving the city surreptitiously for a day now and then for a convivial time with friends, all unknown to his wife. One day this business man went on one of his periodical jaunts, and a rogue who knew his habits ventured to send this telegram to his wife: "Please send my keys. Love. Freddy." In due course of time the keys were delivered at the office door, and the rogue was there to receive them. He ransacked the whole office at his leisure, safe and all. Late that night the business man came home and was teased by his wife for his forgetfulness. This was news to him, but he kept his counsel. The next morning he discovered that his office had been robbed.—B. K. Mann in Pittsburg Dispatch.

GOVERNOR JOHNSON IS DEAD

Fails to Survive the Operation.

PASSES QUIETLY AWAY

End Comes Peacefully to Distinguished Patient.

DEVOTED WIFE AT BEDSIDE

Brightens Last Moments of Her Husband's Life.

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 21.—Governor John A. Johnson died at 3:25 o'clock this morning.

Life quietly slipped away and in its wake there remained but the sorrow of a great state, the infinite grief of a devoted and courageous wife and the thoughts of what greatness to which his career might have expanded had not it been so sadly brought to a close.

Until death came, he was quite conscious, his firm, resolute mind fully cognizant of the approaching end and meeting it with the clear equanimity which so characterized his active life.

As the shortening hours passed by, the governor remained tranquil despite the mental anguish which he must have endured. Knowing quite well that which he could not avert, he lay quietly in his bed, waiting.

With him during the last hours were Mrs. Johnson, Frank A. Day, Doctors Mayo, Dr. Charles F. McNevin, Miss Margaret Sullivan, Miss Jammie, head nurse of the hospital, and Miss Schiller, the governor's night nurse. All the hospital attaches were those who had guarded him as best they might since the operation nearly a week ago and who had ministered to him so vigilantly.

Mrs. Johnson Cheers Dying Man.

Through the evening and the early morning Mrs. Johnson remained tirelessly beside him, giving the solace which only she could give. She held his hand almost constantly, and at intervals bathed both of them with alhohol. Although none could ever know how she suffered, she cheered the governor when his spirits drooped lowest. Although her husband seemed quite aware of the great weakness which was gradually flooding over him and its import, Mrs. Johnson declined to allow the physicians to tell him the time had arrived when there was no hope. Steadfast at his bedside she stayed, repressing her own grief in order that she might ease the last moments for her husband.

When death touched the still figure, Dr. Will Mayo led Mrs. Johnson away to an adjoining room, where Miss Sullivan gave those comforts so needed to dull the widow's grief.

And so came the end to a state's governor, who was so deeply intrenched in the people's confidence, esteem and love.

Trouble of Long Standing.

Governor Johnson's trouble, which had its fatal termination Tuesday morning, began ten years ago. At that time he was operated on for appendicitis and the operation was not entirely successful. Two subsequent operations were performed, but both were unsuccessful in restoring him to his usual health and vigor. Finally the last operation was decided upon as the governor had been feeling poorly for several months. That Governor Johnson did not regard the operation as dangerous was evidenced when he declined to settle his personal affairs at the suggestion of his secretary, Frank A. Day.

After the governor had been operated on and examined an old abscess was found that had left a fistula in his abdomen that was removed as well as the hernia that was the primary cause of the operation. It is said that the operation was one of the most difficult ever performed by the Doctors Mayo, it requiring nearly three hours' time. The prolonged exposure and disturbance of the intestines caused unusual gas accumulations, which caused a distension of the abdomen, excruciating pains and sapped the vitality.

HURRICANE ON GULF COAST

Causes Heavy Damage In Mississippi and Louisiana.

AT LEAST FOUR LIVES LOST

Three Killed by Live Wires and a Fourth by a Falling Smokestack in New Orleans—Property Damage in That City Very Heavy—Wind Drives Water Up Into Streets of Mobile.

New Orleans, Sept. 21.—After attaining a velocity of sixty miles an hour at New Orleans the West Indian hurricane, which struck the Louisiana and Mississippi gulf coast, has been reduced in its intensity. It left in its wake four dead at New Orleans and perhaps others along the gulf coast, though no definite advices of mortality in other sections have been thus far received here. The property loss in New Orleans will exceed $100,000 and many houses were unroofed and frail buildings in numerous instances were partly destroyed. With all wires down it is impossible to ascertain the loss of life or property along the gulf coast. The tracks of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, which have been inundated some twenty miles east of New Orleans, have not been fully repaired and it is impossible to say when a resumption of traffic will begin. The list of dead at New Orleans follows:

Victor Pujol, street railway inspector, killed by live wire; James Garrettson, foreman street railway company, killed by live wire; Charles Schultz, killed by falling smokestack at Louisiana brewery; John Arends, killed by live wire.

The ferry steamer Assumption sank at the head of Napoleon avenue, but no lives were lost. Considerable property damage was done along the river front.

The storm apparently moved inland to Southwestern Louisiana. The velocity of the wind at New Orleans was the most intense in the history of the local weather bureau.

MOBILE'S STREETS FLOODED

Wind Drives Water Up Into the City.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 21.—With storm warnings issued early in the day by the local weather bureau changed at night to hurricane warnings, "with indications that the wind will increase from the southeast and tides rise higher," with a gradually falling barometer and the waters of Mobile bay backed up beyond Water street, more than two blocks from the river front, Mobile is thoroughly alarmed over the threatening conditions. The wind increased in velocity until a gale of forty miles an hour was sweeping the city.

At 12:15 Tuesday morning the weather bureau reported the velocity of the wind from twenty-four to thirty-eight miles an hour, blowing in gusts. The water is still rising.

The Mobile and Bay Shore train arrived here crowded with residents of the South shore, fleeing from the storm. It was there that so many lives were lost in the storm of Sept. 26, 1906.

Long distance telephone messages received from Point Clear, on the eastern coast, stated that no serious damage had been done there.

KILLS WOMAN AND HIMSELF

Missouri Man Commits Murder and Suicide.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 21.—William Jacobia, a real estate dealer of this city, forty-seven years old, shot and killed Mrs. S. F. Stoll at her home and then, running to his own home, told his wife what he had done and killed himself in her presence. Mrs. Stoll was the wife of a promient druggist.

The shooting followed a series of visits by Jacobia to the Stoll home. Mrs. Stoll's fourteen-year-old son, Albert, took a loaded shotgun when he heard his mother and Jacobia talking, and was about to defend her when she ordered him back. The boy returned to his room and then his mother was shot.

Jacobia threatened young Stoll also.

GUESTS OF MINNEAPOLIS

Japanese Commissioners Entertained in the Mill City.

Minneapolis, Sept. 21.—"Banzai" is the word in Minneapolis, as "Taft" was Saturday.

For the Japanese imperial commercial commissioners are guests of the city, as they were Sunday of the nation, in a larger sense.

The body of Japanese—the representatives of Nippon's highest commercial strength—studied Minneapolis industries and institutions. They met Mayor Haynes and made speeches and listened to one, then they scattered over the city and its environs. Then they had a reception at the chamber of commerce. After that they resumed their automobiles and closed the day with a tour of the residence district.

ALL CAR LINES ARE TIED UP

Employes Out at Omaha and Council Bluffs.

Omaha, Sept. 18.—The employes of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway company have walked out to enforce a demand for increased wages and all the lines in both cities are tied up.

Among the demands the men ask that wages for motormen and conductors be 26 cents an hour for the first year, 27 cents for the second year and 28 cents for the third and successive years, time and a half to be allowed for all time employed over the scheduled run. Not less than nine nor more than ten hours, to be included within twelve consecutive hours, to constitute a day's work.

President Wattles of the railroad company declares that the strike was brought at this particular time with a view to embarrassing the company on the eve of the arrival of the president of the United States.

GETS ENTIRE ESTATE

Mrs. Harriman Becomes One of World's Richest Women.

New York, Sept. 17.—A hundred brief words, weighted each with approximately $1,000,000, and containing in their entirety the last testament of E. H. Harriman, makes his widow, Mary Harriman, one of the wealthiest women in the world. It is perhaps the briefest will on record for the disposal of an estate of such magnitude. All his property is left to Mrs. Harriman.

Wall street estimates that Mrs. Harriman will inherit in realty and personal property betwen $75,000,000 and $100,000,000. Mr. Harriman's private fortune is supposed to have been greater than this by many millions, but there is reason to believe that his unmarried daughters, Mary and Coral, his married daughter, Mrs. Robert Livingstone Gerry, and his two sons, William Averell and Roland, a boy of fourteen, together with his surviving sister, Mrs. Simons, and other relatives, have all been substantially provided for in gifts out of hand and trust funds set aside by Mr. Harriman during his lifetime.

MRS. E. H. HARRIMAN.

vernors of Minnesota

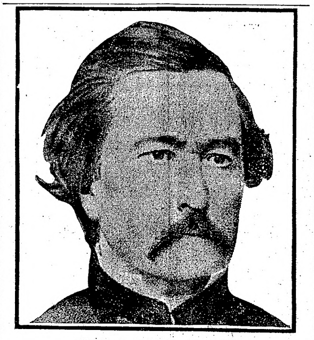
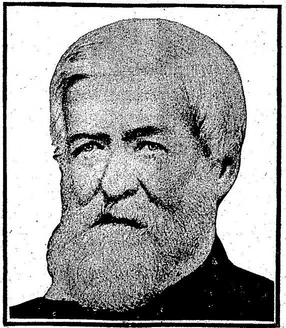
ALEXANDER RAMSEY—1849-1853—1860-1863.

Alexander Ramsey, the first territorial governor and also the second state governor, was born near Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 8, 1815. He was admitted to the bar in 1839 and practiced law at Harrisburg. He entered politics and helped to carry Pennsylvania for President W. H. Harrison. In 1843 he was elected to congress and re-elected in 1844. In March, 1849, President Taylor appointed Ramsey governor of the newly organized territory of Minnesota. He was elected mayor of St. Paul in 1855. In 1863 he was elected United States senator and then re-elected. President Hayes appointed him secretary of war in 1879, and he served in that capacity until the Garfield administration began. He died at his home in St. Paul April 22, 1903.



WILLIS A. GORMAN—1853-1857.

Willis A. Gorman, the second territorial governor, was born near Flemingsburg, Ky., Jan. 12, 1816. He was graduated from the law department of Indiana university in 1836, and he was elected to the state legislature in Indiana and served five or six terms. He enlisted as a private in the Third Indiana regiment for service in the Mexican war in 1846 and was chosen major. He was at the battle of Buena Vista, where his horse was shot under him, and he received permanent injury from the fall. A year later he raised the Fourth regiment, Indiana volunteers, became its colonel and served until the close of the Mexican war. In 1848 Gorman was elected to congress and served until March 4, 1853. The following May he was appointed governor of the territory of Minnesota by President Pierce to succeed Alexander Ramsey. Governor Gorman served as colonel of the First Minnesota volunteers during the civil war and was made brigadier general of volunteers. He was the first Democratic governor of Minnesota.



SAMUEL MEDARY—1857-1858.

Samuel Medary, the third and last territorial governor of Minnesota, was born in Montgomery Square, Pa., Feb. 25, 1801. He attended Norristown academy. In 1825 he went to Batavia, O., and became, respectively, county surveyor, school trustee and county auditor. In 1828 he established the Ohio Sun. He was elected to the state assembly as a Jackson man in 1834 and was afterward sent to the state senate, serving two years. He then went to Columbus and bought the Western Hemisphere, which later became the Ohio Statesman and which he edited until 1857. As chairman of the Ohio delegation to the Baltimore convention he took a leading part in nominating Polk. He was appointed governor of Minnesota territory by President Buchanan. He served from April 23, 1857, to May 24, 1858. He was territorial governor of Kansas in 1859-60. He died in Columbus, O., Nov. 7, 1864.

TO CHANGE LAWS

Recommendations President Will Make to Congress.

REGULATION OF RAILROADS

Would Increase Power of Commerce Commission.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 20.—President Taft spent a little more than four hours in Des Moines and during that time breakfasted with United States Senator Cummins, one of the "insurgent" leaders in congress, reviewed an imposing parade of more than 5,000 federal troops and made an open air address to an immense crowd gathered from all the surrounding country. In the speech he discussed in detail the changes he will recommend to congress in the interstate commerce and anti-trust laws. The troops which the president reviewed are engaged in a military tournament here.

The president announced that he would urge an interstate commerce court of five members to consider appeals from rates fixed by the interstate commerce commission.

He will also recommend legislation to prevent one interstate railroad company from owning stock in a competing line and compelling roads thus owning stock to dispose of their holdings within a given time.

Legislation to prevent the overissue of stocks and bonds and the watering of stocks will be strongly urged, the president's proposition being that no stocks or bonds shall be issued except by permission of the interstate commerce commission after an inquiry has been made into their necessity.

Shippers to Choose Route.

Giving to shippers the choice of routes in the shipment of freight is another important provision which the president favors.

In taking up the anti-trust law President Taft declared that he knew of no way in which a distinction could be made between "good" and "bad" trusts, for he regarded all combinations to suppress competition and to maintain a monopoly to be in the same category, whether the terms of the illegal contract should be regarded in some instances as "reasonable" or "unreasonable."

The president also discussed at some length the proposal to except labor unions and farmers' organizations from the operation of the anti-trust law. To specifically except these organizations, he declared, would be vicious legislation, but he pointed a way in which they could be relieved of some of the onerous restrictions now placed upon them, but at the same time be held amenable to injunctions, which form of procedure he believes adequate to deal with any violations by the unions.

Lafayette Young joined the president's party at St. Paul and accompanied Mr. Taft to Des Moines.

NEGRO SAVED BY DETECTIVES

Mob Had Noose Around His Neck When Officers Arrived.

Pittsburg, Sept. 20.—Ten county detectives fought their way with drawn revolvers through a mob of 300 men and women at a trolley junction in Reserve township just in time to rescue Leon Johnson, a giant negro, from lynching.

The big black had robbed fifteen-year-old Freda Santley, a schoolgirl, after frightfully beating her in a lonely road outside of Spring Garden borough. The mob took the negro from his home nearby, beat him with clubs till he was insensible and had a noose around his neck and the rope over the eaves of a barn when the detectives made the rescue.

EIGHT TRAINMEN KILLED

Fifteen Passengers Injured, Two Probably Fatally.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 16.—Eight trainmen killed and fifteen passengers injured, two perhaps fatally, is the result of a collision between a passenger and a freight train on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad at Pegram station, about twenty miles west of here. In the fire that followed at least two of the bodies were consumed and it is feared that others not yet found have been reduced to cinders, undistinguishable from the mass of ashes about them.

All the injured passengers are from North Carolina and Tennessee.

THREE HUNDRED ON BOARD

Missing Steamer Waratah Probably Burned at Sea.

Manila, Sept. 20.—The British steamer Harlow, from Newport News June 14 for Port Natal and Manila, reports that on July 27, while 180 miles from Durban, she passed a steamer afire. The vessel in question, whose name it was impossible to make out, was shortly afterwards destroyed by an explosion. It is supposed that this steamer was the missing British steamer Waratah, which, with 300 persons on board, has not been heard from since July 26.

PRESIDENT TAFT VISITS OMAHA

Receives Cordial Welcome to the Nebraska City.

CHEERED BY THE CHILDREN

Chief Executive Pleased at Greetings Extended to Him by the Little Ones. Delivers Second Important Declaration of Policy in His Address at Des Moines—Discusses Anti-Trust Laws.

Omaha, Sept. 21.—President Taft, leaving the "insurgent" states of Minnesota and Iowa behind him, crossed the Missouri river and stopped in Omaha for the afternoon and evening on his way to the Pacific coast.

The president found Omaha in the throes of a great street car strike. To avoid the possibility of trouble, Mayor James C. Dahlman ordered all attempts to run cars during the president's stay called off. The strike did not prevent the gathering of a great crowd in the downtown districts and there were times when the president's automobile had difficulty in making its way through the cheering throng.

The president was taken for an hour's ride through the streets and parks of the city. He passed nearly every school building in Omaha and received a joyous greeting from the little children who stood in front, waving flags and cheering their loudest. The greetings he received from the school children in every city visited have impressed Mr. Taft more deeply than any other feature of his trip.

The president was a guest of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben at the Omaha club and afterward was taken out to the "den" of their organization, where he witnessed one of the famous initiation festivals. The president thoroughly enjoyed the evening of gaiety, the pranks and the tricks that were played upon the unsuspecting novices.

Afterward he made a brief address, in which he expressed his gratification for the greeting he had received and his enjoyment from the entertainment.

At Des Moines the president delivered the second of the important declarations of policy he had outlined for his trip. Having disposed of his views on the tariff at Winona, the president addressed himself to the interstate commerce and anti-trust laws and detailed at length the recommendations for amendments to these statutes that he will make to congress in his message of December next.

At Denver Mr. Taft probably will discuss the conservation of national resources.

PINCHOT WILL NOT RESIGN

Chief Forester Has No Intention of Quitting His Post.

Avalon, Catalina Islands, Cal., Sept. 21.—By wireless to Los Angeles—After a two-weeks' sojourn at San Clemente, a barren island forty miles off the coast of Southern California, Gifford Pinchot, chief of the bureau of forestry, arrived here. Concerning the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy, Mr. Pinchot said:

"It is a mystery to me why it has been called the Ballinger-Pinchot fight. I have no fight. Although I am not yet in a position to say definitely, I have every reason to believe that matters will be adjusted satisfactorily as soon as I can return to Washington next week.

"At present I am awaiting a letter from President Taft, which I expect to receive about Tuesday. Further than this I have nothing to say. My duty as a public official demands that no random statements be made."

"Have you made any statement concerning the report by L. R. Glavis relative to the Alaskan coal land cases?" Mr. Pinchot was asked.

"I have not," he replied. "My views in regard to this matter have been misunderstood by the press and by others."

It is understood Mr. Pinchot has not the slightest intention of tendering his resignation as chief forester. He will return to Washington about Sept. 30.

TRIES TO LYNCH A CRIPPLE

Mob Badly Injures Negro Before Police Arrive.

Pittsburg, Sept. 21.—A mob of 400 negroes and foreigners attempted to lynch John Watkins, colored, a cripple, here, and before two reserve forces of policemen who were rushed to the scene could reach the victim, he had been seriously injured.

The riot occurred in the negro settlement of the city and started over a report that Watkins had tried to sell the body of his wife, who died Sunday, for $10. It was later learned that the man did not have money to bury his wife and had applied to the department of charities for aid.

Issues Appeal for Aid.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The national Red Cross has issued an appeal to all its branches in the United States to procure food and clothing for the benefit of the flood sufferers in Mexico.

The Law to Protect Newspapers from Fraudulent Subscriebrs.

The following is a synopsis of the United States Supreme Court decision regarding delinquent suscribers;

Suscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered to renew their subscription. If suscribers order discontinuance of their periodical the puplisher may continue sending it untill all arrears are paid.

If suscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the postoffice they are responsible until after they have settled their bill and ordered their paper discontinued. If subscribers move to other places without informing the puplisher and they continue they are responsiple.

The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the postoffice or moving and leaving them uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not want to continue taking it, otherwise to send it until an express notice with all arrears is sent to the publisher.

Is your subcsription due now or next month.

MEAT IN AFRICA.

When the Butcher Murders a Bull the People Get Beef.

Travelers in Africa find the standard of living somewhat different from what they are accustomed to at home. Mary Hall in her book, "A Woman's Trek From the Cape to Cairo," throws a strong light upon the condition of market and kitchen in British Central Africa:

When the native butcher proposes to kill an ox, notice to that effect is sent round to the white people on the previous day. Once they were apprised of the fact by the following startling announcement: "A bule will be murdered tomorrow morning at 6 a. m."

This cold blooded crime, so carefully premeditated, even to the exact hour, was, however, not committed, as the next morning a second notice was issued as follows: "The bule ran away this morning, so was not murdered." But this was an exceptional case.

I heard one story which is so characteristic of the native that I repeat it. The man who related it told me that the incident occurred when he was on a journey and was suffering from a bad attack of fever. One evening he fancied he would like some eggs and told his boy to get two and boil them lightly.

After a time they were brought to him as hard as bullets. He told the boy he must get some more and boil them less; but, alas, these were brought to him in the same condition, and the poor fellow wished he had never ordered them at all.

Being unwilling to give in, he made another attempt and told his boy, "Come to me when the water boils." The boy did so.

"Now," said his master, "put the eggs in, and when you have counted fifty take them out."

The native method of reckoning is to count up to ten and then begin again, arriving at the total by the number of the tens counted. The sick man heard the boy start fair and get as far as four tens, when a second boy interfered and questioned whether it were the third or fourth ten.

This started a discussion, and as they could not agree it was decided to begin all over again. Meanwhile the eggs were still boiling and getting harder and harder. This was about the last straw, and, ill as the man felt, he was compelled to get out of bed and put a summary end to the cooking operations.

One Exception.

"You know," began Lovett, "it is said that 'love levels all things.'"

"Yes," remarked the crusty bachelor, "it may level all things except the lover's head."—Philadelphia Press.

WELCOMES VISITING JAPS

President Greets Mikado's Subjects at Lake Minnetonka.

Minneapolis, Sept. 20.—President Taft met the fifty members of the Japanese commercial mission to the United States, bade them a hearty welcome to the country, assured them of the lasting friendship of the American people, paid a tribute to their qualities of industry and patriotism and in conclusion drank a toast to the emperor of Japan as "the warm and sincere friend of America," amid great enthusiasm among both his Japanese and American hearers. After the meeting President Taft and his party left here for Des Moines, Ia., over the Chicago Great Western railroad.

The meeting with the Japanese was at a luncheon at the Lafayette club on the shores of Lake Minnetonka, twenty miles out of the city, tendered by the Commercial club of Minneapolis.

President Taft's address, which throughout was filled with expressions of the warmest admiration for the Japanese emperor and the Japanese people, followed a speech by Baron Shibusawa, a prominent banker of Tokio and chairman of the visiting commission, in which, speaking in his native tongue, he referred to President Taft as "one of the foremost men of the age and a warm and true friend of Japan."

BUSY DAY FOR TAFT

Appreciates Enthusiastic Reception at Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—President Taft during a stay of twelve eventful hours in Chicago, plunged with a will into the long programme of entertaining that awaits him on his Western and Southern itinerary. With perfect weather and crowds that fairly fought to catch a glimpse of the chief executive, this, the first city to be visited, set a high mark of enthsiastic welcome, which the president seemed deeply to appreciate.

From the moment he stepped off the rear platform of his private car at a temporary station on the outskirts of the city until he retired late at night on board the train which will take him to Milwaukee, the president's journeyings of thirty miles or more over the city's streets and parkways led him through lanes of massed humanity that were kept open with the greatest difficulty on the part of the police.

Beginning with an automobile trip in review of 150,000 school children, four deep on either side of the park boulevards, the president's day was replete with incident. He attended and spoke briefly at a luncheon of the Commercial club, viewed an exhibit of ambitious plans for the improvement and beautification of Chicago—plans which the president said he hoped would be realized by Chicago pluck and energy—attended the regular National League baseball game between the Chicago champion "Cubs" and the famous New York "Giants;" dined quietly at the Hamilton club at the Congress hotel, made a notable address to a mass meeting in Orchestra hall and as a finale attended for a few minutes the ball of the American Bankers' association at the Auditorium.

GIVEN CLEAN BILL OF HEALTH

President Taft Exonerates Secretary Ballinger.

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 16.—President Taft has given Secretary of the Interior Ballinger a clean bill of health in the entire Ballinger-Pinchot dispute. In the matter of the Cunningham coal claims in Alaska Ballinger is absolved from all suspicion of wrongdoing and L. R. Glavis, chief of the field division of the general land office, who prepared the charges against the secretary of the interior, is ordered dismissed from the service.

In the matter of the general policy to be observed in the conservation of natural resources, the president, without naming the chief forester, overrules all of his contentions, which were the policies of Roosevelt, and puts his seal of approval on the later methods of Secretary Ballinger.

MRS. NELSON MORRIS DEAD

Succumbs to Injuries Received in Automobile Accident.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Mrs. Nelson Morris, widow of the Chicago packer, is dead at Saints Bleu, a small town near Paris, as a result of injuries received in an automobile accident, according to word received here by relatives. The machine in which Mrs. Morris was riding was overturned.

By the will of her late husband Mrs. Morris was left in control of a $20,000,000 estate.

She went abroad last spring with her two daughters, Mrs. Rothschild and Mrs. Schwab of Chicago.

MISCELLANEOUS

The Mahnomen Plaintalk claims that Mike Schonborne a farmer near there had a wheat crop that averaged thirty three bushels to the acre.

A. C. Corliss the postmaster at Caledonia was committed to the county jail to await the convening of the district court. He is charged with being $200 short with the post-office funds.

The crop of wild rice is reported to be very good this fall and the indians are reaping a rich harvest. The rice brings a good price in the cities and numerous buyers cover the northern part of the state picking up what they can for the market.

The saloons in Cass county numbering thirty three in the towns of Bena Backus, Walker, Cass Lake and Longville have been ordered to close their doors by Chief special officer William Johnson of the U. S. Service. The saloons are said to have all been selling liquor to the Indians.

George Alstag aged seventeen a son of Fred Alstag of Langdon was accidently killed by his companion while hunting ducks from a boat. Charles Walker aged fifteen was in the stern of the boat and fired at some ducks ahead just as his older companion who was in the bow raised up. The charge caught him in the head tearing the top completly off.

THIEF-RIVER-FALLS—MINNESOTA.

The Northwestern Minnesota Agriculture Society was organized at Crookston last Wednesday, and they plan on holding a fair there October 21 and 22.

Greenbush is to have a system of waterworks, a crew of men arrived there last week to start laying the mains.

Congressman Steenersen has left for Washington D. C. where he will appear before the war department on Monday to argue in favor of the contempelated improvements on the Red Lake River.

Sam Thorin a Kittson county farmer was awakened one night last week by the barking of his dogs and had the good luck to bag one of the largest bears ever seen in this part of the county, in his yard.

Ole Rogne the Polk county farmer who is accused of putting the iron in the grain bundles to wreck the Love Bros. threshing machine was bound over to the grand jury and released under $500 bonds.

Benjamin Onderberg of McIntosh had his back broken last Thursday and is not expected to live. While he was driving a load of grain into the grainary on the A. O. Hunter farm near Grand Forks he got caught between the wagon box and the top of the door.

A property loss of two hundred thousand dollars resulted from the breaking of three dams at Fergus Falls last Saturday. A couple of bridges were also washed away and the city left without fire protection or lights one of the dams being that which furnished power for the water and electric light plant.

Soo Officials Visit Thief River Falls.

A special train passed thru Plummer Monday bearing B. Pennington, Pres. of the Soo Line, G. R. Huntington, general manager and other Soo officials bouud for Emerson, where they met Sir Thomas G. Shaughnessy president of the Canadian Pacific Road and the whole party returned to Thief River Falls where they spent some time in looking over the city and the Soo yards there. The whole party then proceeded on their way to Minneapolis. Sir Thomas' visit was for the purpose of conducting a general inspection of the Soo Line, of which the Canadian Pacific owns a controlling interest.

Is It Right

Some of the settlers on the puplic lands who have been living on their claims more than a year, and having gone upon and selected the lands in good faith and with the intent to make a home, are now menaced by the state authorities with a notice to leave the lands so the state may add them to their unoccupied millions of acres. These settlers went upon these lands by authority of an act of congress declaring all public lands in a certain region of the state open to homestead entry, and have made extensive and lasting improvements. Such an attempt to drive the bona fide settler off the land he has selected for a future home can in no instance be considered a credit to the state; it the state who always plays the part of the big hog with both feet in the common trough, and has driven hundreds of settlers from our state by its piggish proclivities. Is it any wonder that settlers are not attracted to the north half of our state when to do so is to run the chance of being ejected and the lands they have selected claimed by the commonwealth. Shame on a great state with a policy so narrow and detrimental to the puplic interests.

—Cass Lake Times.

Wire Grass Factory May Come.

D. B. Tisdale, agent and prospector for a Wire Grass Carpet Company of Oskosh, Wisconsin, was in the city the first of the week looking over the possibilities for erecting a factory at this point. He received considerable encouragement and stated that he would return after it freezes but before snow falls and make a thorough tour thru the country. He was very well pleased with the outlook and said he felt quite certain that a factory would be located here. With the swamps northeast of here drained as they will be in another year there will be an unlimited amount of wire grass available and such a factory here should prove a bonanza.

—Thief River Falls Press

There was a bad fire at McIntosh last Tuesday afternoon and a heavy wind made it difficult to handle. The large store building of Carpenter and Webster with the entire stock estimated at $75,000 and the Mathews building including stock worth $25,000 was destroyed while the Citizens State Bank building was damaged to a certain extent.

WILL GRADE THIS FALL

Plummer Headquarters for Contractors. Men will be Paid off Here

Mr. A. McDougall representing Foley Bros. accompanied by Thomas Higgins another railroad contractor spent Monday and Tuesday here looking over the country thru which the new line will run. Foley Bros. have the contract for all the grading on the new line and they have sublet the first twenty five miles at this end to Mr. Higgins. Mr. McDougall stated that grading would start as soon as the survey was finished and would be rushed as fast as possible as trains are to be running by the first of June.

Their equipment will arrive next week and the Carlson building has been rented for office quarters. They are subleting as much of the work as possible as they will be taxed to their utmost to get the grading done in time. Halverson Bros., the Plummer contractors have taken the contract for the first five miles of grading out from here from Mr. Higgins and will start work as soon as they can get things in shape. Mr. McDougall returned here Friday to see about subleting more of the work and from there he went to Thief River Falls to see contractors there.

As this will be the headquarters for the contractors, several hundred men will be paid off here thru the winter. This means that Plummer will see some lively times in the next six months and just watch her grow next summer.

New Receiver for Crookston Land Office

Judge Montague of the Crookston United States Land Office tendered his resignation as receiver, to take effect in December and A. P. Toupin of Red Lake Falls will in all probability be named as his sucessor, as he has received the indorsement of Congressman Steenerson who was the recipient of strong endorsements for Mr. Toupin from a number of leading residents of the district. Mr. Toupin is one of the best known men in Red Lake county having been a resident of Red Lake Falls for years, and has a host of friends who will congratulate him on his good fortune. He is also a capaple man and well posted along lines which will tend to make his duties easy.

Judge Montague has been contemplating this move for some time as he desired to devote more attention to his law practice. He has made a most capable official and the rulings of the local office have almost without exception been sustained by the department at Washington when appealed.

School Laws Will Be Enforced

There are reports that there children of school age in the Plummer and other neighboring districts who are not attending school. It is the duty of parents or guardians of childern of school age to see that such childern attend school and failure to do so is punishable by a fine of thirty dollars and thirty days in the county jail.

The following is a section of the law which we advise all parents to read over carefully; Every parent or guardian who has charge of any child between the ages of eight and sixteen shall send that child to school during the ENTIRE school term unless excused by the school board of education; only four excuses are allowable, that the parent or guardian is unable to decently cloth the child, the childs bodily or mental condition is such as to prevent his attendance at school or his application to study for the period required, that the child has already completed the studies ordinarily required in the eighth grade, or that there is no public school within a reasonable distance of his residence. Much as the teacher may dislike to so no other course is open for her than to report all cases of absence in her classes and the county attorney is then forced to prosecute those who have neglected to comply with the law. If your neighbors children are not attending school you had ought to warn them that they are disobeying the law and may save themselves considerable trouble by seeing that they attend regularly as the law is going to be enforced. You are not doing your duty or your childern justice unless you see that they attend school until they are old enough to begin to think for themselves.

GENTLEMEN, did you ever see the ODonnel Shoes? If you have not, come and look them over they are the best that money can buy in the state.

Subscription price, $1.50 per year.
If paid in advance, $1.00.

Entered at the Post-office in Plummer, Minn. as Second Class Mail Matter.

With this issue the PIONEER has passed its fifth milestone and started on the sixth lap in the race of existence. We are trying to give to our supporters a clean and newsy sheet and will try to improve as we grow older. Take the PIONEER and compare it with any newspaper in Northern Minnesota published in a town even up to a thousand population and we do not think you will find the comparison unfavorable to us. We are ably supported by our town merchants, with the result that you cannot find a better town to trade in, in this part of the state. They advertise, thus letting the people know that they are here to do business, and the result is, they do it. They keep their stock on the move, thus insuring fresh goods, the latest styles and improvements, and at prices that make it a paying proposition to do business here. Look over our advertising columns and you will see that you need not go to any other town to get any necessary articles or to transact business of any kind whatsoever.

We also have a very good subscription list in the neighboring country but it could be better. If you think that the PIONEER is worth the dollar a year it costs you, or double that amount, tell your neighbor who doesn't take it or who comes over to borrow yours, and if you are willing to help us make it better, why watch your subscription and pay it when it is due. When you know any news of general interest, tell us about it, if necessary by mail and we will gladly return the postage. Send us your job work and we will do it as cheap and better than the other fellow and tell your neighbor to do the same.

The death of Gov. Johnson has left the state politicians in a bad mix up. The Republicans do not seem to be able to agree among themselves and still seem to stand in fear of the Kitchen Cabinet even with its motive power gone. It would be a death blow to the politicians if the people had got into the habit of electing the best man regardless of party. Who in that case would be our next governor is hard to say.

Well, anyway, visiting the North Pole is not very likely to become so common but what those who have "gone and done it" may safely form of North Polers without the exclusiveness of the same being spoiled by an overcrowded membership.

Why not? What? You was going to ask. Oh! Why not have the County Seat at Plummer of course. Our town is to be the future railroad centre of the county and why not be the County Seat also.

Taft is still being enthusiastically received on his 3,000 mile tour. Well if a few more of us had that genial diplomacy of William's at command we might own our own au-to-goes.

IMMIGRATION BUREAU WORK

Our State Bureau of Immagration Seems to Be Favoring Certain Sections.

Is the Minnesota department of immigration worth the cost? It is giving those who are putting up the sheckels for its maintenance a square deal? Members of the board and George Walch, the chief commissioner in particular, make an emphatic answer in the affirmative, but the position they take does not detract from the talk that is going the rounds. To be frank about it, the hints are that the department is too decidedly a close corporation and that a few choice spirits on the inside are benefitting. One of the assets of the department is 50,000 or more inquires received annually from prospective settlers and land buyers scattered over the United States, and one of the odd features of the system in vogue in the department is that the names attached to this vast amount of correspondence are not for the vulgar public.

"It would create entirely too much confusion," is the way one of the members of the board explains it. Then, too, there are many callers, all seeking land, but their presence is kept more or less of a secret. How three Illinois farmers bent Canadaward were captured by the department while passing through St. Pau and induced to locate in Minnesota was heralded by an over-talkative attach as showing the good the department was doing, but the lid was applied in time to prevent an overly inquisitive person from learning who pulled off the sale and where the three were located. The new immigration department is undoubtedly doing much good for Minnesota. It is of knowledge that many have been brought to the North Star state by reason of its efforts and its efforts and its expenditures in behalf of the immigration cause have been along economical lines. This, however, does not help matters as far as some of the talk going the rounds is concerned. Some one miffed at his failure to get a look in at the business that the department is supposed to create, is going to make a holler some of these days, and then look out. I am not hnocking, mind you, just suggesting.

Another complaint made in connection with the state immigration department and possibly undeserved is its partiality toward the northern part of the state. It is claimed, and it is admitted by those in charge, that intending settlers are furnished information more particularly covering the counties in the northern part of the state, but this is explained on the ground that the only cheap land to be had is located in that section. Lands in the southern part of the state are generally high in price and have no attractions for those seeking a location, such as are drawn to the state by the bureau's attractive advertising—The Pioneer Press.

Give the Horse a Chance To Breathe.

A farmer, plowing with three horses hitched abreast, noticed that the middle horse became tired and exhausted long before either of his mates. As the animal was the equal in every way of the other two, he was puzzled as to the cause of this horse's not being able to stand the same amount of work. He finally observed, however, that as they drew the plow along, the three horses held their noses close together with the result that the middle horse was compelled to breathe the expired air from its fellows. The farmer then procured a long "jockey" stick, which he fastened to the bits of the outside horses. The device worked perfectly; for, given his rightful share of good, fresh air, the middle horse was able to do the same amount of work, and with no greater fatigue than his fellows. Many persons are like the middle horse; they do not get their rightful share of fresh, pure air, and this is why they are not able to perform as much work.

We would prefer the blunt, straight forward, honest man to the polished mixture of hard-heartedness, civility complaisance and circumspection. Like the brass in the gilded ring may be covered over so some of our greatest faults may be concealed by politeness, but they are there just the same.

ALL ON BOARD MEET DEATH

French Military Balloon Explodes in the Air.

Moulins, France, Sept. 25.—The French dirigible military balloon Republique exploded in the air five miles from here and was completely wrecked. The four men on board were killed. They were Captain Marchal, Lieutenant Chaure, Sub-Lieutenants Vincenot and Reux.

The Republique left Papalasse, where she had been engaged in the recent army maneuvers, in charge of Captain Marchal. She passed over Moulins at an altitude of 400 feet, going at a high rate of speed and apparently under perfect control. The officers in the cars waved their hands in response to the enthusiastic cheers from the people below them. Nothing presaged the terrible catastrophe which occurred a few minutes later. Without warning the airship exploded with a loud report. At the time she was sailing at an altitude of more than 300 feet. The wrecked envelope and car fell to the ground immediately and the four men on board were crushed to death.

PINCHOT WILL REMAIN

President Approves Work of Chief Forester.

Salt Lake City, Sept. 25.—In a statement issued here Chief Forester Pinchot declares that he has no intention of resigning and that he will remain in the government service to do what he can toward carrying out the Roosevelt conservation policies, which he construed as being approved by President Taft.

The president also issued a statement in which he pays high compliment to the work already accomplished by Mr. Pinchot, asserts that the letter he wrote to Secretary Ballinger some ten days ago is not to be interpreted as reflecting in any way upon Mr. Pinchot and that it would be a great public loss if Mr. Pinchot should quit the public service, which, the president is glad to be assured, Mr. Pinchot will not.

TEN DIE IN WRECK

Number of Others Probably Fatally Injured.

PASSENGER HITS STOCK TRAIN

Engine Plows Through Caboose and Fires Debris.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Ten men were killed and sixteen probably fatally injured when a train southbound for Cincinnati on the Pennsylvania railroad crashed into the caboose of a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul cattle train bound for the stock yards.

Sixteen men were in the caboose of the stock train when the passenger train crashed into it in the railroad yards a few blocks from the downtown station. The engine plowed through the caboose, literally tearing it to shreds and setting fire to the debris.

Six bodies were recovered within a few minutes after the crash while the flames were eating up the splintered bits of the demolished car. Sixteen injured were dragged from the burning pyre of ruin.

The passenger train, known as the Cincinnati Special of the Panhandle route of the Pennsylvania, left the union depot soon after midnight. No signals had been given, so far as could be learned, that any other train was on the tracks. The passenger train increased its speed and when at Twelfth street the engineer saw the rear lights of the freight ahead it was too late to avert a collision. He used the air brakes and reversed his engine, but crashed into the caboose filled with sleeping stockmen with tremendous momentum.

The caboose was cut into pieces and four cars in front of it were telescoped.

The first body to be identified was that of Charles Bond of Milwaukee, Wis., conductor of the freight train. The second of the dead to be identified was H. H. Potter, Mandan, N. D., and the third was William Stephens, Livingston, Mont.

MOORS ASK TERMS OF PEACE

Spaniards Surround Stronghold of the Enemy.

Madrid, Sept. 27.—The war office announces the complete success of the maneuvers in Morocco against the Moors. Both Nador and Zeluan have been occupied. At the latter town there was bloody fighting with large bodies of Moors. The ring around Mount Guruga is now considered almost closed and the position of the Moors is desperate. Kaid Amas appeared before General Marina, the commander of the Spanish forces, and asked terms of surrender for the tribes entrenched on Mount Guruga. The results of this conference are not known, but it is believed the Moors are ready to submit without consideration of conditions.

THREE SCORE ARE INJURED

Explosion Wrecks a Building in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Sept. 28.—The Ferguson block, an eight-story office building on Fourth avenue in the heart of Pittsburg's financial and business district, was wrecked by an explosion. At least sixty persons were injured, about half that number being young women stenographers in the building, who were either injured by the explosion directly or hurt in escaping from the building.

The injury done by flying glass was fearful and scores were hurt in the rush for elevators. Three elevator boys did heroic service, though badly hurt, by sticking to their cars and taking the injured young women from the building.

THREE OF HER CREW PERISH

Schooner Run Down by Steamer Off Erie, Pa.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The steamer City of Erie, from Cleveland, ran down a schooner supposed to be the Eccleston, hailing from a Canadian port, off Erie, Pa. The schooner sank and three of her crew, two men and a woman, went down with her. Two men were rescued by small boats. Passengers on the steamer were thrown from their berths and some of them came on deck in their night clothes. Through the efforts of the officers they were soon quieted.

TWELVE OF CREW DROWNED

Norwegian Vessel Founders Off the Atlantic Coast.

Baltimore, Sept. 27.—Six survivors out of a crew of eighteen of a Norwegian steamer are aboard Winter Quarter lightship, the remaining twelve men having perished, according to a report made by Captain Delano of the steamer Porto Rico, which arrived here from New York. The vessel foundered nine miles northeast of the lightship.

Earthquake Shock in Middle West.

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—A slight earthquake was felt through Southeastern Missouri, Southern and Central Illinois and Indiana and Western Kentucky. So far as has been learned little or no damage resulted.

PEARY CONFERS WITH HUBBARD

Submits Data on Controversy With Dr. Cook.

STATEMENT NOT YET READY

But Naval Officer Soon Will Issue One to Support His Contention That His Rival Did Not Reach the North Pole. Dr. Cook Admits That Some Pictures Illustrating His Story Are Old and Blames Newspaper for Trying to Deceive the Public.

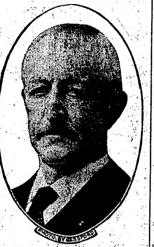
Bar Harbor, Me., Sept. 28.—Commander Peary, accompanied by his wife, reached here from Portland and within half an hour was in conference with General Thomas H. Hubbard, president of the Peary Arctic club, concerning the statement which soon will be made public by Peary to support his contention that Dr. Cook did not reach the pole.

"There is nothing to say just now," said General Hubbard, "Commander Peary is here and we are looking over the data he has on the Cook controversy, but there is no statement to be made at this time.

"No date has been set for the meeting of the officers of the Peary Arctic club, and I shall not determine that until my return to New York next week."

After the conference Commander Peary probably will return to Eagle Island. It is generally believed that he and General Hubbard will go to New York together.

From what can be learned of the conference, Peary went over every phase of his alleged evidence against Dr. Cook, dating from the time the Brooklyn explorer began his preparations to go north, more than two years ago, and until after Peary's interviews with Dr. Cook's Eskimos at Etah. General Hubbard has been arranging this material in order as personal counsel for Peary.



GENERAL THOMAS H. HUBBARD.
[President of the Arctic club.]

There was a large crowd at the steamboat landing, notwithstanding the inclement weather, to give Commander Peary and his wife a hearty welcome.

During the trip to Bar Harbor, Peary spoke frequently of Harry Whitney.

"There might have been some strange reasons why Whitney did not go back to Etah in the Jeanie for Dr. Cook's stuff," he said. "I cannot understand how any one could let such records get out of his hands. I would not give my records to my dearest relative. I say again, I don't see how Cook could have turned his stuff over to Whitney or anybody else. I secured my instruments in a bag and the flag which I took to the pole I sewed in my clothes and I wore it until I reached Battle Harbor.

"I kept my records under watch day and night and I was prepared in case the Roosevelt was crushed in the ice, to throw them overboard so that they could float in their cases. Can you imagine me giving up those records to a perfect stranger?

"Harry Whitney did not tell me what was in Dr. Cook's stuff except six fox skins, a narwhal horn and some other trophies. I could not see why I should have carried the stuff when Cook could have taken it. If Dr. Cook's stuff was of such importance why didn't Whitney go back in the Jeanie and get it?"

ADMITS PICTURES ARE OLD

Dr. Cook Blames a Newspaper for Trying to Deceive the Public.

New York, Sept. 28.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, in a lecture under the auspices of the Arctic Club of America at Carnegie hall, added no essential facts to his narrative of the discovery of the North pole, but supplied added circumstances to those passages which have been previously criticised for their lack of detail.

"Harry Whitney," he said, "asked me to entrust to him as a special favor the flag that I planted at the North pole. He expected, then, an American ship to call for him and we both argued that his journey would

GOVERNORS OF MINNESOTA

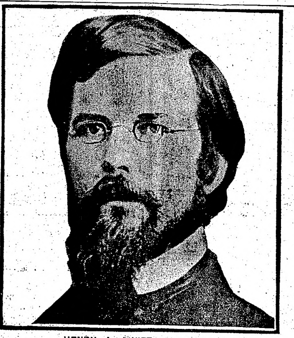
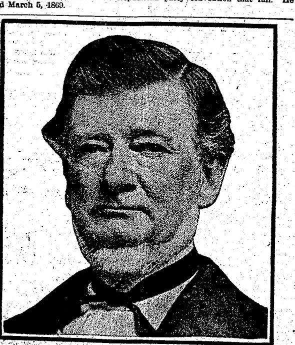
HENRY H. SIBLEY—1858-1860.

Henry H. Sibley, the first state governor, was born at Detroit, Mich., Feb. 20, 1811. In 1834 he formed a partnership with H. L. Dousman and Joseph Rolette in the American Fur Company of New York and became the chief factor in the fur trade and grew wealthy. Governor Chambers of Iowa territory in 1838 appointed Sibley the first justice of the peace west of the Mississippi river in the present Minnesota. In 1849 he was elected to congress from the new territory and was re-elected in 1851. He was elected president of the Democratic branch of the constitutional convention and in 1858 was elected first governor of the state of Minnesota, defeating Alexander Ramsey. He served in the legislature in 1871. Governor Ramsey appointed him commander of the expedition against the Sioux Indians in the uprising of 1862, and he won a decisive victory over the savages at Woodlake. General Sibley died at his home in St. Paul Feb. 18, 1891.



HENRY A. SWIFT—1863-1864.

Henry A. Swift was born at Ravenna, O., March 23, 1823. He was given a common school education and entered the Western Reserve college at Hudson, from which he was graduated. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1845. He was assistant clerk in the Ohio legislature in 1846-7, and the following term he held the chief clerkship of the Ohio house of representatives. He removed to St. Paul in 1853 and to St. Peter in 1856. The Republicans nominated him for congress in 1857, but he was defeated. In 1861 he was elected to the state senate and became ex officio lieutenant governor. Early the same year Governor Ramsey resigned and Mr. Swift became governor. He held the office only about six months, however, and refused the nomination of the Republican party convention that fall. He died March 5, 1869.



STEPHEN MILLER—1864-1866.

Stephen Miller was born in Perry, Pa., Jan. 17, 1816. He was given a common school education. He was an old line Whig and was elected probate officer of Dauphin county in 1849, which position he held until 1855. At the same time he was editor of the Telegraph, a Whig paper at Harrisburg. Failing health induced him to move to Minnesota, and in 1858 he engaged in the merchandise business at St. Cloud. Two years later he was elected delegate at large to the convention that nominated Lincoln for president, and later in the same year his name headed the electoral ticket. When the civil war broke out he enlisted as a private, but was appointed lieutenant colonel of the First regiment by Governor Ramsey and served with that regiment until September, 1862, when he was promoted to a colonelcy and given command of the Seventh regiment. He was promoted to the rank of brigadier general and shortly afterward was elected governor. He died at Worthington in 1881.

MILLIONS VIEW PAGEANT

Thousand Vessels Participate in Vast River Parade.

New York, Sept. 25.—Fully 5,000,000 people, gathered along the Hudson river, viewed the most impressive pageant that ever floated in New York harbor. The affair was in connection with the Hudson-Fulton celebration. Humanly speaking the city was a shell, with probably two-thirds of its population massed on its water front. From the Battery to Spuyten Duyval the sloping western edge of Manhattan island afforded a vantage ground from which 2,000,000 spectators viewed the naval parade that moved up and down the river. Two million more lined the Jersey shore and on the western water front of Brooklyn, facing the bay, at least half that number watched the gathering of this pageant in the waters between the mainland and Staten Island.

The pageant consisted of fully a thousand vessels, varying in type from the one man catboat to the mighty British battleship Inflexible.

SEES MINERS AT WORK

President Visits Underground Operations at Butte.

Helena, Mont., Sept. 28.—Attired in a linen duster, an old black slouch hat and swinging an electric lantern at his side, President Taft was locked in a narrow iron cage and dropped 1,200 feet through midnight blackness into the depths of the famous old Leonard copper mine at Butte. He had the rare experience of seeing miners at work with a giant drill in a vein of high grade ore that sparkled green with its wealth of mineral.

When he had ascended with a whiz, after an hour under ground, the president, blinking in the glare of the noonday sun, was cheered to the echo by the crowd of curious people gathered at the hoist. He declared enthusiastically:

"I would not have missed it for the world."

The president also visited the big smelters at Anaconda and from there made the run to this city, where he was greeted by an immense crowd at the state fair grounds.

CALLS IT MISTAKEN IDENTITY

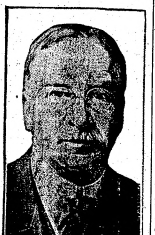
Theodore P. Shonts Defendant in Sensational Suit.

New York, Sept. 25.—That he is the victim of mistaken identity is the declaration of Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Chicago and Alton and several other railroads, against whom Frederick Hipsh has brought suit for $200,000 damages for the alienation of his wife's affections. According to Attorney Delancey Nicoll Mr. Shonts has some evil double, for whose actions the railroad president is held responsible. The identity of this double has not been given by Mr. Shonts or his attorney, but they say the case will be cleared to the credit of Mr. Shonts and the satisfaction of everybody at the proper time.



THEODORE P. SHONTS.

BUTTE DISPUTE ADJUSTED

Trouble Affecting Most of Her Mines Is Settled.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 27.—The labor trouble which threatened to tie up this camp, shut down the smelters in Anaconda and Great Falls and throw 15,000 people out of work throughout the state has been settled.

While no official statement of the agreement has been given out it is known that the contentions of the Miners' union were sustained and the seceding engineers who withdrew from the Western Federation of Miners have gone back into the fold. All will be received and given their old positions.

FREIGHT HITS HAND CAR

Four Persons Killed in Collision Near Edgar, Wis.

Wausau, Wis., Sept. 27.—Four persons were instantly killed and three others injured in a collision between a freight train and a hand car one mile west of Edgar, this county.

A party of nine persons was returning from church at Poniatowske and had reached a rocky cut on the road when the freight train crashed into them.

SEES MINERS WORK BIG DRILL

President Taft Visits a Copper Mine at Butte.

ENJOYED EXPERIENCE GREATLY

Chief Executive Says He Would Not Have Missed It for the World—His First Visit to the Montana Copper District—Takes Thrilling Automobile Ride Over the Mountains. Talks at State Fair Grounds.

Helena, Mont., Sept. 28.—Attired in a linen duster, an old black slouch hat and swinging an electric lantern at his side, President Taft was locked in a narrow iron cage and dropped 1,200 feet through midnight blackness into the depths of the famous old Leonard copper mine at Butte. He had the rare experience of seeing miners at work with a giant drill in a vein of high grade ore that sparkled green with its wealth of mineral.

When he had ascended with a whiz, after an hour under ground, the president, blinking in the glare of the noonday sun, was cheered to the echo by the crowd of curious people gathered at the hoist. He declared enthusiastically:

It was the president's first visit to the Montana copper district and between the smelters at Anaconda and the mines at Butte he had a series of interesting experiences. Not the least of these was a thrilling automobile ride over the mountains from Butte to the mouth of the Leonard mine. The grades were steep and winding, but the chauffeurs were experienced men and while there was apparently no threat of danger at any stage of the trip, there was a sigh of relief when Mr. Taft had once more been placed safely aboard the Mayflower for the run to Helena.

Arriving here he went directly to the state fair grounds, where, after viewing a portion of the exhibits, he made an open air address and witnessed a race of cowboys. Returning to the city Mr. Taft reviewed a parade of school children.

Leaving here, he headed direct for Spokane, where he is expected to deliver his formal speech on the subject which holds supreme interest to all the West—the conservation of the natural resources and the reclamation of arid land.

President Taft Lame.

President Taft walked with a limp when he first got off the train at Anaconda, the result of a sprained tendon in his right foot. The sprain occurred at Beverly, but he suffered little inconvenience from it until Monday, when his foot was considerably swollen. There is nothing serious about the sprain and Mr. Taft did not let it interfere in any way with his plans.

The president made a flying trip through the Washoe smelter of the Amalgamated Copper company at Anaconda, then proceeded into the city and after a brief address took the train for Butte. The crowds which greeted him on the streets there were the largest he had seen since leaving Chicago.

The police had their hands full in opening a way for the automobile procession and after the president's car had passed the crowd swarmed in its wake. Speaking at the courthouse, the president looked out upon a mass of humanity that blocked the square and spread far down the converging streets. He made a decided hit with the great throng when he told of the wonderful impression the country was making upon him and ending by saying:

"I am like the old Dutchman who said: 'The more you live the more you find, by golly.'"

When the president's special train pulled into Helena a reception committee composed of 400 citizens from all parts of Montana greeted Mr. Taft. He was driven in an automobile directly to the fair grounds, where the state fair is in progress. Fully 20,000 people gathered in and about the grounds to see and hear him.

He was given an enthusiastic welcome as he mounted the speakers' stand where two hours before James J. Hill had delivered an address. Mr. Taft was introduced by Governor Norris, who welcomed him to Montana's capital in the name of the people.

Mr. Taft spoke for about twenty minutes, expressing his admiration of what he had seen since entering the state and thanking the audience for the kindly and enthusiastic welcome he had received.

At the conclusion of his speech he witnessed a cowboy race and was then driven down to the city, where he reviewed the school children who had been assembled on the lawn in front of the federal building. He was then driven to his train and left for Spokane.

Negro Escapes From Posse.

Statesboro, Ga., Sept. 28.—After having been captured by the brave daughter of a farmer eight miles from Statesboro during the late hours of the night after he had broken into her room, Otis Hendricks, a burly negro, later escaped from the men in whose custody he was placed and is at large.

Laughed Too Soon.

Charles Tolefson, prop. of a poolroom at Larimore, N. D., chuckled to himself last night as he stood at the corner of Fourth st. and 3rd ave. south in Minneapolis. His pockets had been picked by a woman who profited $4.90 by the theft. And still Tolefson chuckled. He knew that his pockets had been picked, but he congratulated himself upon the fact that the "picking" had not been "clean" In an inner pocket snugly rested a wallet containing $300 in bills which the fair one had overlooked.

Three men walked up to the still chuckling Tolefson, while two of them held his arms the third removed the wallet. They got everything but his poolroom and that was in Larimore.

Origin of the Word "Mustard."

Our English word "mustard" is traceable to the French "moutarde," the origin of which is curiously given. In 1382 Philip the Bold, duke of Burgundy, granted to the town of Dijon the privilege of bearing his armorial ensigns, with the motto "Moult me tarde" ("I wish ardently"), in return for a handsome contingent of a thousand men furnished to him at his expense. Pleased with the royal condescension, the authorities ordered the device to be affixed over the principal gates of the city. Time or accident at length obliterated the middle word, and the two remaining, moult tarde, were printed on the labels which the merchants of Dijon pasted on pots in which they sent this commodity all over the world.

TOO CLEAN.

African Natives Who Were Lavish In Their Use of Soap.

Miss Mary Kingsley, who made many journeys in the wilds of Africa, used to relate how once, finding it necessary to cleanse a much soiled and stained blouse, she carried it, with a cake of soap, to a neighboring spring, where an interested group of native women watched her wash it. They were much impressed by the way in which the spots disappeared, and it emerged as good as new.

The next morning when it came time to break camp Miss Kingsley missed her soap—a precious commodity in the wilderness. Suspicion soon pointed to a certain woman, who, on being accused, confessed boldly that she had taken it and cast it into the spring that its extraordinary powers of renewing old garments might be permanently imparted to the waters. She was deeply mortified to learn that her effort had been in vain.

The Rev. Peter McQueen of Charlestown, Mass., tells a kindred story. His soap, however, was not lost, although misused. He still had it with him.

"I told our native servants to be sure to lay in a supply of clean water when we crossed the Taru desert, a scorched belt of sand stretching some seventy-six miles," he relates. "Tidings had reached us that an English explorer who had attempted to cross that desert shortly before us had perished from thirst, so we wanted to be careful.

"You can imagine my surprise when, upon taking my first draft of water, I discovered that it tasted strongly of soap. All the casks were similarly tainted, and we rounded up the natives and held a hasty court martial.

"It was a tough predicament, but I couldn't refrain from smiling within when the leader of them meekly confessed that as the master had instructed him to lay in a supply of clean water he had seen to it that bars of soap were added, for soap, he said, was used to clean things."

They did not perish of thirst, but after sixteen days of drinking soapsuds, which agreed with neither palate nor stomach, no native of that particular gang was again likely to try to purify water with soap.—Youth's Companion.

ON THE DEAD RUSH.

An Experience In Getting Acquainted In New York.

Getting acquainted in New York is thus described by a man from Atlanta. He brought a letter of introduction to the person he was to meet at the latter's office in Nassau street.

This is the Atlantan's report to his house:

"Called at 2 p. m. Boy on the gate asked my name and business. Gave him the letter of introduction. Boy returned and told me to sit down.

"Sat down twenty-five minutes. Saw a man come out of his office and break through the gate as if he was chased by hornets.

"'Who's the man from Atlanta who wants to see me?' asked the hurried individual.

"'I am the man,' I replied, trying to act as if I was also hurried.

"'Come along with me,' said the man as he grabbed me by the arm. He dragged me through the main door into the hallway. He caught sight of a descending elevator and shrieked to the man in the car to stop.

"The door of the car slid ajar, and the man who had me by the arm said, 'Come along; let's get acquainted as we go down.'

"By that time the car had reached the landing on the main floor. As the door of the car was pushed back the man who had my letter in his hand said:

"'I haven't had time to read this letter, but we know each other. Come in day after tomorrow. I've got to make a train. I'll know you when we meet again. Goodby.'

"Before I could say goodby he had turned the corner and was out of sight. That's business in New York."—Success Magazine.

VAST CROWDS VIEW CORTEGE

Body of Governor Johnson Removed From Capitol to Train.

St. Paul, Sept. 24.—Preceded by a band of 100 pieces playing a funeral march, ten companies of infantry in full dress uniform with arms reversed, three batteries of artillery, the guns and caissons draped in black, and followed by carriages bearing representatives of the official and civil departments of the city and state the hearse carrying the body of the late Governor Johnson left the state capitol for the Union depot, where trains were taken for St. Peter.

All along the route the streets were packed with humanity eager to bid a last farewell to the governor. And, as the hearse passed by, tears stole down many a cheek and some women turned away sobbing aloud.

At the Union depot another tremendous crowd had gathered. From the hearse to the train the militia formed in double lines and stood at "present arms" while the casket was borne to the baggage car and placed inside. The interior of the car had been transformed into a bower of beauty with the magnificent floral tributes sent by friends and admirers.

M'CANN GUILTY OF GRAFTING

Chicago Police Inspector Convicted by Jury.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Police Inspector Edward McCann, charged with "grafting," was found guilty by a jury in Judge Barnes' court. Sentence was not pronounced and will not be until after the hearing of arguments for a new trial. The law provides an indeterminate sentence in prison.

The charges against the inspector, in charge of the Des Plaines street district, were the most sensational which have been aimed against a police official in years. State's Attorney Wayman charged that "graft" aggregating many thousands of dollars had been collected from disorderly houses in return for "protection."

Gang of Nineteen Russian Prisoners Makes Break for Liberty.

Osh, Asiatic Russia, Sept. 24.—A group of nineteen prisoners attempted to escape from the local jail. While walking out for exercise they attacked their wardens, wounding five, and then made a break for liberty. The remaining wardens summoned a military guard, who fired on the fleeing men. Nine were killed, nine others were wounded and one prisoner got away.

IN FIGHT FOR LOWER RATES

Nebraska Supreme Court Upholds Cut in Express Charges.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 25.—In the first attempt in the United States to regulate express rates the supreme court of Nebraska upheld the Sibley act, which made a flat cut of 25 per cent in express rates in Nebraska. The law has been in operation sixteen months under injunction. The contentions of the state are upheld in every respect.

They Knew the Pole.

Some years ago when Dr. Nansen visited Leeds on his return from the polar regions he was welcomed by a large crowd of spectators, who cheered vociferously. Two of the most ardent admirers of Nansen were a couple of old men, who kept shouting and waving their sticks. When the celebrated explorer had passed, immediately following in the wake of the carriage came a wagon dragged by three horses, bearing a long iron pole, which belonged to the electric tramways company.

Directly the old men saw it the following conversation took place:

"Well, I'll be blowed! Sitha, Bill, he's brout the pole back wi' him!" said one.

"Aye," said the other admirer of Nansen, "and we t' only two 'at's noticed it. The're all running after t' carriage. Sitha, the're that ignorant they can't tell t' pole when they see it!"

What Your Paper Does.

Newspaper! who has never felt the pleasure that it brings?
It always tells us of such strange and wondrous things!
It makes us weep at tales of woe—it fills our hearts with mirth—
It tells us of the price of stock—how much produce is worth—
And when, and where, and how, and why, strange things occur on earth
Has war's loud clarion call'd to arms? —has lightning struck a tree?—
Has Jenkins broke his leg?—or has there been a storm at sea?—
Has the sea-serpent shown his head? a comet's tail been seen?
Or has some heiress with her groom run off to Gretna Green?—
All this, and many wonders more, you from this sheet may glean.

From all such, good Lord deliver us! We like boys who give evidence of a determination to hew their own way in the world. They are the natural kings of society, and if left to develop the natural, untarnished impulses of their souls, will make their mark in the world, and be of some use to their fellow creatures.

Are You A Booster?

Forced Education.

Boys and girls forced against their will through a long course of study distasteful and abhorrent to them, are always failures, only mere parrots and chatterers through their lives. We love the rough honesty of homely humor and comic good sense, even though some of the higher rules of rhetoric may be violated. We love a man whose native boyishness is not all lost by the use of a hair brush and shoe blacking, whose nature is not all combed out and brushed away. We don't care if his coat is a little out of fashion, and his speech a little too much emphasized—we say "that man is natural, he does really live—he shows it; he acts just as he feels, and he means what he says." On the other hand, we hate with a true hatred, the sham who weighs every meal he eats for fear he shall take more than a law of physiology allows; who marks with the most exact precision every word he utters; values the cut of a coat, and is most scrupulously nice about contact with this nasty world; who hates good, honest dirt, uses eye glasses young; goes to the theatre with "very nice" young ladies, bows well at a party, and is an excellent judge of perfumery.

MISCELLANEOUS

St, Hilaire will hold their second market day October the 26th. They were much pleased with the results of their first one which was held, last August.

The jury trying O. J. Shinn, former treasurer of Beltrami county, on the charge of embezzlement failed to agree and he was released under five hundred dollar bonds

Governor Eberhart will deliver an address during the first annual fair to be given by the Northwestern Minnesota Agriculture Society at Crookston October, 21ts and 22sd.

Crookston reports that the fall rush of laborers returning from Dakota is now on. The prospects of railroad work here the comming fall and spring will likely attract large numbers of them to this vicinity.

A man, giving his name as Clarance Hamilton was arrested at Red Lake Falls last week for passing a forged check at a Roseau Bank. The check was only for a small sum but it will cost him a term in the penitentiary.

Sheriff Daniels of Polk county captured a crazy man near Beltrami last Wednesday who was roaming the country near there stark naked. Papers found in his cloths gave his name as J. J. Burns and he had tax receipts for land in Beltrami county.

The promoters of the proposed Mississippi and Northern railroad which is to be created out of the old cross lake logging road, state that the road will run thru Brainerd, Deer River, and Big Fork to Internatianal Falls. This will tap a rich country which as yet has no railroad facilities.

The Johnson memorial commission met last week and decided to try and raise $25,000 by November first. They have not yet decided what form the memorial will take.

Bemidji is still husttling for that $30,000 to furnish the Soo with free right of way thru the city. They have raised something over $22,000 up to the present time.

Minnesota has 910,585 cows more or less industriously engaged in supplying milk, cream, cheese and butter to the consumers of the state and to the eastern market.

Farmer Hines the railroad promoter now trying to promote a railroad in Canada, is said to be insane again. He was in an insane asylum some years ago in this country but reeovered and was given his liberty.

$1,159,308 is now ready for the so called October apportionment, for the schools of Minnesota. There are 386,430 school childern registered who will benifit by the fund, which is distributed pro-rata according to the number registered.

The grand jury of Beltrami county in session this week at Bemidji has asked Governor Eberhart to remove from office court commissioner M. E. Solcum and county attorney Charles R. McCusids charging them with malfeasance in office.

According to the annual report of the Soo Line their gross earnings for the fiscal year ending June 30th show an increase of $1,160,232.05 over the year before. An increase of $1,275,820 is shown in the net earnings and their surplus is fattened $725,775.49.

MAHNOMEN UNDER ARMS

Citizens Resent Invasion of United States Marshalls Over Saloon issue.

A stranger stopping off at Mahnomen last Wednesday or Thursday would have thought that he was back to the good old times, when the Indian took pot shots at the white man to furnish him with amusement when hunting was poor. Every brave citizen toted just as brave a gun it mattered not whether the blame thing was loaded, in fact we doubt whether some of the hurriedly made warriors could have told if it was or not, it served its purpose just the same. An eye witness said that there would be 'a capitan, who had risen to the occasion, drilling his assorted company on every corner and the working man in "overalls" would be ranged alongside the professional man in "biled" shirt, they all toted these "business like" looking guns however and the stranger thought it was safer inside."

The cause of all of this "arming of the multitude", was the Goverments attempt to close the saloons in what was formerly the White Earth Reservation. The saloon keepers were ordered to close out their stock and shut up their places of business within the next thirty days by the goverment agents, and according to the reports the order was obeyed by all the saloon keepers except at Mahnomen where having the backing of the citizens they decided to test the Goverments authority in the matter. Yesterday the thirty day limit was up and several U. S. Marshalls appeared at Mahnomen and started to do things to the saloons there, and while the streets were not aflow with blood they certainly were with "booze". The citizens thinking they were exeeding their authority armed themselves and assisted the town marshall in placing them under arrest. Excitment ran high for awhile and they were taken to Detroiot where they will be tried and the matter settled in the courts.

This is just another phase of the old question of State Rights versus Federal Rights; the people at Mahnomen holding that, being incorporated under the state law as a city they are not subject to the goverment rulings regarding the reservations.

Horse Power for Sale.

I have for sale one Acme 2 horse tread power which is now at the stock yards in Plummer. This machine will furnish the best kind of power for grinding feed and sawing wood and is practically as good as new. Sell cheap either cash or on time.

Charles W. Latta,
Plummer, Minn.

A man in a neighboring town took a city newspaper in preference to his country paper, says one of our exchanges because he got more paper for the money. He was attracted by the advertisement of a fire escape which would be forwarded on the receipt of two dollars. He sent the cash and in a few days received a copy of the new testament.

H. F. Anderson county superintendent of schools, was here Wednesday visiting the Plummer schools.

Nearly Wiped off Map by Big Fire.

A fire originating in the chimney of the general store of A. and G. Lillo at Lengby last Thursday noon nearly wiped that town off the map before it burned itself out. The fire destroyed the Lillo Bros, store and warehouse the John Hedstrom saloon, two residences, Ole Linbergs saloon, Great Nothern coal shed and gasoline tank, some box cars and six hundred cords of wood. The firemen fought hard but with the limited facilities at hand could do nothing to stop the progress of the flames which lapped up the tinder like buildings rapidly fanned by a high wind.

In his efforts to save the Ringstad store in which the postoffice is also located, Sennie LeMarf fell from the roof of the building and was severly injured. The fire was a bad one for Lengby as practically all of the business houses are gone.

Business College Opens at Thief River Falls.

The Commercial Normal School, the new business, and normal training institution of Thief River Falls, opened its doors to the puplic last Thursday and the regular classes are now being held. The new school has the finest quarters and most up-to-date equipment of any in this part of the country and will fill a long felt want in this locality. The work promises to be very high grade as the instructors are college and university men with many years experienec in this line of work. The principles of the institution were much pleased with the opening attendance and the prospects are that the opening year will be a very successgul one.

New Commissioners Chosen

Last Tuesday at Bemidji commissioners were selected to fill the vacancies caused by the removal from office of A. W. Danaher F. O Sibley and Wes. Wright as members of the board of county commissioners of Beltrami county, because of alleged malfeasance in office. The presidents of the village councils, chairmen of boards of supervisors and mayor Pogue of Bemidji, choose the new commissioners. W. G, Schroeder, a prominent merchant and land owner of Bemidji, was chosen to succeed Wes. Wright. William Fellows, a business man of Tenstrike, and president of the village council there will succeed Danaher, and Lars Myhra, a pioneer of the town of Liberty, was choosen to succeed Sibley.

A Sad Occurence.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Birt Everitt was saddened Wednesday, by the birth and death of a baby boy. The little mite of humanity for some unknown reason was too delicate to endure the haidships of life and flittered away without ever having known any of the earths joys or sorrows. The bereved parents have the sincere sympathy of all their friends in their sad berevement.

We wish to correct one of our local items from last week. Erick Craft's yield of oats was eighty five bushel to the acre instead of thirty five as we stated as the result of a mistake in composition.

GREAT NOTHERN IS SPARRING

Surveyors Watching Soo Operations in Clearwater County

The following is from the Bermidji Pioneer of October 4th.

Bagley October 4.— A rumor which will not down, and which apparently has some foundation, is that the line surveyed from Thief River Falls to Weme postoffice in Clearwater County, by a large party of engineers under the name of the Great American Railroad was in reality a Great Northern survey. The line from all indications wil, connect with the G, N. at eithea Ebro or Bagley and pass just south of the Soo, cutting off all of the best territory in Clearwater, nothern Polk and Red Lake counties.

What gives color to the rumor is the fact that the route selected has the very best grade, is run in such shape as to cut off all the best farming country from the Soo, and the tuther fact that the engineers, now that they have run and staked out their lines thru the richest portions of these counties are quietly resting at their camps and watching the route selected by the Soo thru Clearwater county, with the intention apparently of continuing their survey in this county in the manner best suited to get the best territory with the building of the least number of miles.

Should the Soo people build their line sixteen to eighteen miles north of Bagley the proposed line will no doubt connect with the Great Nothern at Ebro, but should they build twelve miles north of Bagley the line will then be run direct to Bagley, shutting off the richest farming country from the Soo.

The party of surveyors has been in the field six weeks, but have been doing their work so quietly, and in such an unobstrnsive way, that they attracted but very little attention.

The Grand Jury.

The Minneapolis Journal the first of the week gave considerable space to a prophecy that the Kitchen Cabinet was going to run Fred W. Johnson, younger brother of the late governor, as the democratic candidate for governor next fall. The Kitchen Cabinet may be well organized body politic, but if they think they can remain in control by using the popularity of their late leader as a boat in the political sea, they will find the sailing very rough. Governor Johnson was not twice re-elected to the highest office in the state because the so-called Kitchen Cabinet was backing him, but, because in him the people saw that they had a leader they could depend on to honestly administrate their affairs favoring no man. If Fred Johnson has the right kind of stuff in him to make good gubernational timber, he is the possessor of a sufficient amount of common sense to know that this would be no fit time for him to enter the field of politics, especially to succeed to the office recently held by his late brother. He is a young man and has plenty of time in the future to prove to the people what his rating should be. At present however the only demand he has to popular recognition is as the relation of a great man. It will very likely prove to be an unfulfilled prophecy.

Senator Aldrich is having a fine time in Europe and is being banqueted by all the big bugs over there. They rightly recognize him as the ruler of that little country across the sea; for lo, did he not declare that such goods the good people could and such they could not receive from their brethern in other countries without paying additional toll and also such goods could they in turn send them and did it not become so.

In St. Louis they are organizing a chilivary club. Every man is supposed to wear a button to remind him whenever he happens to notice it, that when he sees a lady standing in a street car he is supposed to offer her his seat provided he has one at that time. Woe be unto the man that forgets to change his button to his other clothes on "go to meeting days."

With his usual diplomacy, President Taft has so successfully straddled the "Ballinger-Pinchot Controversy," that he has satisfied both the people and the capitalists.

The government is pulling off another land lottery in South Dakota in which the railroads seem to be the chief beneficiaries.

Will not somebody please second the motion that the weather man be given a Carnegie Medel.

Helping Mother.

Girls, what are you doing to help your mothers? There are many households where the older girls might assume a large share of the burdens of housekeeping and lighten in many ways the labor of the overtaxed mothers. It seems as if the young girls of the present day are almost too much absorbed in becoming accomplished parlor ornaments to descend to anything so menial as cleaning up a room, making beds and arranging table, and yet what more useful knowledge could be attained or what accomplishment could be so admired in any girl as the desire and willingness to lighten a poor mother's cares and toils? Many a young woman sits and reads Tennyson, or spends hours at her piano or organ or painting, while here mother is doing the entire work of the family. There is a time for all things; Tennyson, music and art are very good in their place, and we would not have you suppose we desire you to do otherwise than enjoy them, but help mother first.—Ex.

IMMENSE GROWTHS IN VEGETABLES.

Pumpkins, Squas, Etc. of Seemingly Fabulous Size Grown Here This Year.

The season just drawing to a close has been one of the most remarkable in this section of the state. No frost hard enough to kill even the tender vegetables has as yet fallen. There has been sufficient rainfall thruout the latter part of the summer to keep things growing and the results are seemingly fabulous. The writer will give only instances that he positively knows of to show how immense the growth this season really has been.

Daniel shaw has in his possession a squash raised by J. I. Brown east of the city that nicely tipped the scale at 115 ponnds when it was brought in from the field and it is certainly a fine ripe specimen.

Julius Pleth of Plummer is the owner of a squash raised by Fred Bender in the town of Equality which weighs 104 pounds. It is a nice plain round figure with as perfect shape as any ever grown.

A man near Greenbush, whose name the PRESS reporter was unable to learn has a pumpkin that weighs 152 pounds and is perfect in shape.

These are only a few of the many cases of extreme growths in this locality. It is a very common occurrance to see squashes weighing from 25 to 40 pounds and pumpkins ranging from 35 to 50 pounds and almost all of them of the most regular shape.

Corn is brought in from the surrounding country that would make any Iowa farmer prick up his ears and wonder where his staple article was raised with such great succes as to so far excell his very best productions. To cite just one instance: A sample of corn was brought in by George Bender of the town of Equality, every cob being fourteen inches or more in length and having from 18 to 24 rows of corn on each ear.

Tomatoes are as abundant as the potato usually is and sells almost as cheap. All kinds of roots are also of extraordinary size and quality while the fruit trees and berry bushes were everywhere in this neighborhood loaded to the limit.

These facts, and facts they are, should prove to the sceptical brethren of the south that we are hardly living within the boarders of the frigid zone and that, while we have our drawbacks once in a while we have our bonanzas as well as other parts of the world, and as for an agreeable climate to live in you may travel the world around and find nothing finer in the way of good healthy and invigorating climate.

Second Crop of Strawberries.

A. A. Nelson reports that his strawberry patch is now just beginning to ripen a second crop of berries

To substantiate his statement. he brought to the "Press" office a handful of nice, new, and fresh but ripe strawberries. Now say this country is not a bonanza and you will have to either furnish proof of the soundness of your mind or give bond for your future good behavior.

Big Bear Killed.

The fourteen year old son of Herman Kiso of the town of Esplee in Marshall county, last Saturday won his spurs by laying low one of the finest black bears ever seen. The boy noticed the bear and secured his father's rifle and though he says he had to shoot more than once he kept right at him until old bruin finally yielded to the inevitable. The old bear weighed 347 pounds and the pelt brought a nice round price.

As for the boy one may safely con clude that he grew at least a foot in the next three days and well might he feel proud. He had dropped a beast such as few American boys rarely have even an opportunity to see.

PARKHURST AND BINGHAM

Advocate Election of Republican Mayor of New York City.

New York, Oct. 5.—A minister of the gospel and a former police commissioner have jumped into the municipal political game. The Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst announced his intention of advocating from his pulpit the election of the Republicon nominee for mayor, Otto T. Bannard; Theodore A. Bingham, who was ousted by the McClellan administration, said that he would go on the stump in Mr. Bannard's support.

General Bingham is a Republican, though appointed to office by McClellan, a Democrat. For the first time since his removal he spoke publicly, appearing at the Cavalry Methodist church.

In view of his attacks on McClellan in recent magazine articles, General Bingham, heralded to speak on "The Police System in a Great City," surprised his audience. While he denounced Tammany and the present administration and criticised Justice Gaynor as a candidate, he made not even the remotest reference to Mayor McClellan, save in answer to a question. But throughout his address he urged his hearers to vote for Bannard for mayor.

ONLY TWO OF THEM SAVED

Boat Capsizes and Five of the Seven Occupants Perish.

Wolfville, N. S., Oct. 5.—Five persons of a party of seven lost their lives by the capsizing of a boat in Minas basin. The victims are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin, their two children and Gertrude Stivers, aged three years. The Martins for a time clung to the upturned boat, but one by one were swept into the sea and drowned. Robert Stivers and his wife and the other passengers managed to hold on for four hours until rescued.

SILVER SERVICE AND A STAND OF COLORS

Presented to Battleship by the State of Minnesota.

New York, Oct. 5.—The state of Minnesota honored herself and the battleship which bears her name in the presentation of a magnificent silver service of twenty-six pieces and a stand of colors.

The event came at the New York city end of the Hudson-Fulton celebration, with a large number of Minnesotans still in the city. To the number of more than 300 they gathered on the afterpart of the upper deck to take part in the ceremonies.

The silver service is the gift of the state of Minnesota to the battleship and cost $10,000, which was appropriated by the legislature.

Special Commissioners A. H. Stem of St. Paul, D. J. Calhoun of Minneapolis and J. Harry Lewis of St. Paul turned it over to the ship in person.

Miss Rose Schaller, daughter of ex-Senator Schaller of Hastings, who christened the Minnesota when she was launched three years ago, made the formal presentation speech.

ON SHORE AND ABOARD SHIP

International Dinners Given by and for Naval Officers.

New York, Oct. 5.—Two international dinners were given on shore and aboard ship by and for the officers of the American and visiting fleets here for the Hudson-Fulton celebration.

Grand Admiral von Koester, at a dinner aboard the German flagship, expressed the official thanks of the German representatives for the hospitality accorded them. In his toast he proposed the health of the president of the United States, the German emperor and other sovereigns and rulers represented.

The other dinner was given at the Hotel Astor by the Pilgrims of the United States in honor of Admiral Sir Edward Seymour and Rear Admiral Frederick Tower Hamilton, C. V. O., of the British squadron.

Young Italian Killed.

Cumberland, Wis., Oct. 5.—Nick Alberice, an Italian, aged sixteen, was shot and instantly killed at Drummond. Another Italian who has disappeared is accused of the shooting. The tragedy is believed to be the result of a feud between two families.

Corn Beef and Cabbage Barred.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 5.—The local Taft reception committee overruled Captain Butt's "corn beef and cabbage" programmo and adopted plans for a $15-a-plate luncheon for the president Oct. 15. There will be no French indigestibles, however.

Whitney Declines to Talk.

New Bedford, Mass., Oct. 5.—Harry Whitney, the New Haven sportsman who spent the winter in the Far North, visited at South Dartmouth and then left for New Haven. Mr. Whitney would not talk about the affairs of Dr. Cook and Mr. Peary.

Prairie Fire in South Dakota.

Le Beau, S. D., Oct. 5.—A prairie fire started west of this city and burned over a territory a mile and a half square before it was finally extinguished.

WEDS SPANISH NOBLEMAN

Miss Fernanda Wanamaker, Granddaughter of Merchant Prince.

Paris, Oct. 4.—Miss Fernanda Wanamaker, daughter of Rodman Wanamaker and granddaughter of John Wanamaker, the Philadelphia merchant prince, was married to Count Arturo Heren, a member of the Spanish nobility.

COPYRIGHT BY CLINEDINST, WASH.

FERNANDA WANAMAKER.

The wedding was solemnized in the French Catholic church of St. Philippe du Roule in the presence of a comparatively small company.

The members of the Spanish embassy were in attendance.

MANY SETTLERS BURNED OUT

Fire Causes Immense Damage in Western Canada.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 4.—Two million dollars' worth of property damage has been done by a prairie fire which swept over the Hutton (Alberta) district. The fire has been raging for a week. Hans Yagerson, a Swede, was burned to death and his niece, Mary Segelstad, is dying in a Calgary hospital from fighting the flames. All those burned out are new settlers from the United States. The fire is still burning with intense fierceness.

How to Restore Withered Vegetables.

For the housewife who must practice strict economy, as well as for her who lives at a distance from the market, it is well to know that cabbage, celery, lettuce and their like which have lost the first freshness may be restored by putting first into warm water, just comfortably warm to the hand, and, after fifteen or twenty minutes, taking out and covering with fresh cold water for thirty or more minutes. You will be surprised to note that it will have the original snappy crispness so much desired. Often the grocer will sell "second day" celery and lettuce at half price. The above method will absolutely freshen same and may make quite a saving of "bills" during a season.

How to Banish Dandruff.

A young man who was much troubled by dandruff tried many remedies before he was advised by an old doctor to use a cure much favored by physicians of several generations ago—a paste made of vaseline and precipitated sulphur. The ointment is made by blending a dram of the sulphur with two tablespoonfuls of vaseline. Divide the hair into strands and rub well into the roots, not getting into the long hair. The ointment should be left on several days and repeated when necessary. This treatment is equally good for a scalp that has grown dry or filled with an ugly, scaly scurf.

How to Restore Mildewed Clothes.

A cure for mildew that is the remedy of an old negro laundress is excellent for all white goods, and will not injure fine materials. Pour a quart of boiling water over two ounces of chloride of lime, add three quarts of cold water, let the mixture stand until settled, strain, and it is ready for use. The material should be steeped in the limewater for a day or over night, when the spots will be found to have disappeared.

VAHEY HEADS THE TICKET

Choice of Massachusetts Democrats for Governor.

Boston, Oct. 1.—With singular unanimity and almost unparalleled harmony the Massachusetts Democracy in convention at Faneuil hall named its state ticket, headed by former State Senator James H. Vahey of Watertown for governor, and adopted a platform of party principles.

MOORS GAIN VICTORY

Spanish Suffer Severe Reverse in Morocco.

Melilla, Morocco, Oct. 1.—A Spanish force from Zeluan, reconnoitering in the direction of Sokel Jemis, encountered the Moors and met with a serious reverse.

General Diez Vicario, three other officers and fourteen men were killed and 182 men were wounded.

The Spanish force was under the command of General Orozco. The other officers who lost their lives were a lieutenant and two captains. The Spaniards were ambushed by the Moors.

The division under General Tovar, supported on the left by General Vicario's brigade and on the right by two squadrons of cavalry and a battery of artillery, had made a reconnaissance into the Beni-Buifrur territory and it was on the return in the direction of Zeluan that the Spaniards fell into the Moorish ambush and were attacked furiously. The fighting was fierce and bloody. The Spaniards held their own until the arrival of reinforcements, consisting of two companies of infantry and a battery of machine guns, with the aid of which they succeeded in beating off the Moors, but at a heavy total in dead and wounded.

IN GREAT FLIGHT

Wilbur Wright Soars Over New York Harbor.

IN AIR OVER HALF AN HOUR

Passes Above Numberless Craft Anchored in Port.

New York, Oct. 4.—Wilbur Wright, the aeroplanist, defied the air, the water and the land in a marvelous flight over the numberless craft in New York harbor and the North river.

Starting at 9:56 and flying high Mr. Wright went up the North river, over the fleet of battleships and on past Grant's tomb, encircling the British cruiser Argyle. Returning at faster speed, with the wind, he came back over the water and landed at his starting point in the most matter of fact way possible. He had been gone for 33 minutes and 33 seconds, making one of the most perilous trips ever attempted. The distance of the flight was estimated at fifteen miles.

As the aeroplane approached the city, flying steadily but bucking the wind, the roofs of all the buildings became crowded and pleasure craft started up the river in an effort to keep up with the remarkable craft that flew above them. They were soon compelled to give up the chase, for Wright outstripped the fastest of them.

As the machine pushed into the breeze, dipping slightly occasionally as though caught by a downward trend of the air, and then again was lifted suddenly, apparently striking a disturbing air current, the absolute mastery of the aviator was strongly impressed on the spectators.

CELEBRATION AT FAIRVIEW

Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan's Wedding.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 1.—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bryan observed their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary at Fairview. The house was decorated with flags and flowers and filled with messages and presents from all parts of the world.

Their three children and two grandchildren were home and the former aided in receiving the long line of neighbors who called.

Although there was much correspondence to be taken care of Mr. Bryan dropped all business and devoted himself to his family and the visitors.

PERISH IN PRAIRIE FIRE

Mother and Two Children Lose Their Lives in Alberta.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 2.—Near Stettler, Alberta, the wife of a farmer named Frank Grover, living ten miles southeast of Lee, and their two children lost their lives in a prairie fire. The mother saw the fire approaching their home and set out to neighbors with the two children, Katherine and Dorothy, aged four and two years, but was overtaken by the fire before reaching there. The two children were burned to death before her eyes, but Mrs. Grover lived a few hours after being found. The entire district of farm buildings and crops were wiped out.

LARCENY OF BIG SUM ALLEGED

Members of Failed Brokerage Firm Under Arrest.

Boston, Oct. 4.—The affairs of the failed Boston brokerage firm of Sederquist, Barry & Co. were transferred from the civil to the criminal courts when Arthur B. Sederquist and John E. Barry, members of the firm, were arrested on a secret indictment charging them jointly with the larceny of $120,000.

The indictment contains 120 counts, alleging larceny of $120,000 from a number of persons, including L. M. Bingford and Alexander Green, in connection with stock brokerage transactions after May 1 last.

POLICE OFFICERS INDICTED

Charged With Aiding and Abetting Race Track Bookmaking.

New York, Oct. 4.—Police Inspector John J. O'Brien, Lieutenant Hugh Reynolds and Sergeant Hugh Meyers were indicted by the grand jury of Kings county charged with aiding and abetting bookmaking at Sheepshead and Gravesend race tracks. Five detectives from a private agency were also indicted.

Judge Dike paroled the police officers until the day of their trial, which will be Oct. 18. The private detectives will have to give bail. All the men entered pleas of not guilty.

RAILROAD PLEADS GUILTY

Southern Pacific Fined a Thousand Dollars for Rebating.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 2.—The Southern Pacific railroad pleaded guilty in the United States district court to rebating and was fined $1,000 by Judge Wellborn.

Through Attorney C. M. Dubrow of San Francisco, the company entered a plea of technical and unintentional t. The maximum penalty would e been $20,000.

AFTER YEARS OF AGITATION

Grand Jury Writes New Chapter in Crusade Against Gambling.

New York, Oct. 5.—After two years of agitation against race track gambling in this state, marked by the passage of the drastic Hart-Agnew anti-betting bill, it remained for the Kings county (Brooklyn) grand jury to write a new chapter in the crusade when there were handed up a court indictments against the two big Kings county race tracks, three police officials, five private detectives and twenty-five bookmakers.

The Brighton Beach Racing association was similarly involved last year, but the case failed and action has heretofore been mainly against bookmakers or bettors who have been exonerated by the lower courts, which held that oral betting was no crime.

It was the increase of "oral betting," conducted by the so-called "memory brokers" that resulted in this latest evidence of Governor Hughes' continued activity and the indictment against the corporation of the Brooklyn Jockey club and the Coney Island Jockey club.

The police officials are indicted for "conspiracy" on the ground that they knowingly permitted the Sheepshead Bay track to be used for betting purposes.

There is much gloomy speculation among the local followers of racing as to the probable effect of the new crusade against gambling.

CRANE RECALLED TO WASHINGTON

Receives Summons on Eve of Sailing for China.

San Francisco, Oct. 5.—Charles R. Crane, newly appointed minister from the United States to Peking, was recalled to Washington by a telegram from Secretary Knox.

Mr. and Mrs. Crane were to have sailed on the transport Thomas today for the Orient.

Mr. Crane stated that the telegram merely requested his return to the capital, as there were certain phases of the Eastern situation with which the secretary of state did not think he was fully acquainted.

"I will return to Washington Wednesday," said Mr. Crane when he was asked as to the recall while seated at a banquet given in his honor by the Chinese Chamber of Commerce. "I am waiting over one day in order to attend the banquet at which President Taft will be president. I expect to sail for the Orient on the steamer Korea,' which sails Oct. 20."

COPYRIGHT BY

CHARLES R. CRANE.

Mr. Crane declared he did not know what matters Secretary Knox desired to discuss with him."

"I did not see Mr. Knox before I left Washington," he said. "He was not in the city. I suppose something has arisen or been called to his attention which he thinks I should know before I go to my post. I do not know what it may be."

Banquet to Jap Commissioners.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 5.—The Japanese trade commissioners left Cleveland after being tendered a banquet by Cleveland business men. John D. Rockefeller occupied a seat at the speakers' table. The Japanese tourists make a stop at Dunkirk, N. Y., where they inspect the plant of the American locomotive works. Then the special train will go directly to Buffalo.

Mayors Meet in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Oct. 5.—Governor Hadley and Mayor Frederick Kreismann welcomed the mayors of 361 cities who are to be the city's guests during centennial week. The guests attended a welcome mass meeting in the Coliseum, at which civic improvement was the theme discussed.

Shoots Creditor and Himself.

Duluth, Oct. 5.—William Colja shot Jacob Leinomen at Tower, Minn., and then committed suicide. Leinomen is not expected to live. The two men quarrelled about a bill which Calja owed for board at Leinonen's boarding house.

TAFT'S LONG TRIP

Journeys From Portland, Ore., to Sacramento, Cal.

AGAIN TALKS CONSERVATION

Legislation Necessary to Carry Out Roosevelt Policies.

Sacramento, Cal., Oct. 5.—After making one of the longest jumps of his trip and traveling for twenty-five hours through Oregon and the northern half of California, President Taft arrived here to remain until morning, when he proceeds to Oakland and San Francisco.

Mr. Taft was entertained at dinner, was taken for an automobile ride through the city, to be cheered all along the route, and made an address in the state capitol grounds.

The president selected for the principal feature of his speech the conservation of natural resources, in which he declared anew that before many of the Roosevelt policies of conservation can be carried into effect confirmatory and enabling legislation must be secured and he pledged himself to use all his power to induce congress to pass the laws necessary.

Having already made a number of set speeches covering the various subjects he expects to incorporate in his annual message to congress, the president during the rest of his tour will discuss in more or less detail many of the phases of the larger questions, for he believes that after all the details count more than a mere general declaration of policy.

While to the average mind the thought of a day and night of uninterrupted travel suggests discomfort and fatigue, the twenty-five hours between Portland and Sacramento proved to be a period of real rest and enjoyment for the president. The only stops made on the way were at division points—stops necessary to the operation of the train. There were crowds at each of these places and the president appeared on the rear platform of his car to shake hands or to make a few informal remarks.

PRESIDENT ANGELL RETIRES

Leaves University of Michigan After Long Service.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 1.—Dr. James B. Angell has retired from the presidency of the University of Michigan, an office he has filled for thirty-eight years except for the two periods when he was away on leave of absence filling the posts of United States minister to China and United States minister to Turkey. The regents have appointed Dean H. B. Hutchins of the law department of the university to become acting president, pending the appointment of a permanent successor to President Angell. Speaking of his retirement President Angell said:

"I am very glad to lay down the duties of president and enjoy the rest and relief to come with lessened responsibilities for the rest of my days."

SEEK LAND IN THE DAKOTAS

More Than Seven Thousand Persons Register.

Aberdeen, S. D., Oct. 5.—The reproduction of the Custer massacre at Pierre by the reservation Indians and the government troops, a great prairie fire at Le Beau and hot objections by the town of Lemmon to the failure of the St. Paul road to grant reduced rates into that town—this sums up what rose out of the ordinary routine of land openings in the Dakotas the first day. About 8,000 people had registered for the lands of the Standing Rock and Cheyenne River Indian reservations by midnight.

The registration is estimated by the respective notaries in charge at the different registration points as follows: Aberdeen, 4,600; Pierre, 900; Bismarck, 800; Le Beau, 300; Lemmon, 350; Mobridge 300.

FIGHT OVER ESTATE ENDED

Mrs. Yerkes Will Get a Third of Her Husband's Property.

New York, Oct. 2.—Mrs. Charles T. Yerkes, widow of the Chicago traction magnate, has finally arranged for a settlement of the fight over her husband's estate, according to the World. Under the settlement, it is said, Mrs. Yerkes will get virtually a third interest in the value of the estate or substantially the same amount she would have obtained if the court had awarded to her dower rights under the laws of Illinois.

IN DANGER OF STARVATION

Mexican Flood Sufferers Badly in Need of Food.

Monterey, Mex., Oct. 4.—The suffering growing out of the recent flood is very acute and unless something is done thousands of people must starve. There is great need of corn, rice and beans. Blankets and clothing are also needed to prevent death from exposure. Second hand clothing from the United States would be most acceptable.

Prepare For Winter

The summer is past, and soon the last month of autumn will be here. A few more weeks and we will be in midwinter. Whatsoever thy hands find to do, do it with thy might. The predictions are another cold winter, with abundance of snow; and that "Jack Frost" may not torment us and deprive us wholly of comfort, we should prepare to withstand him. But a few more days are left us; let us wisely improve them.

Society's Latest Fad.

The latest fad in society is the tub cure. In this the patient arises just as the crisp air of the morning is mellowed by the first sunbeam. An ordinary washtub is then filled with hot water and soap suds into which various articles of linen are thrown. After they are thoroughly saturated the patient takes them up one at the time and rubs them briskly up and down on a washboard placed in the tub. This is kept up until the hands arms and face are a glowing pink.

The patient then goes into the open air and hangs all the linen articles on a line stretched for that purpose. The one completing the task first announces the time to others over the telephone, and is entitled to a prize. It is exciting sport and also invigorating exercise.

Governor Willson's Advice to Independent Tobacco Growers.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 4.—"Fight the devil with his own fire" is the method Governor Willson advises independent growers of tobacco in Kentucky to adopt in their struggle against night riders. Piles of letters are stacked on his desk, the governor says, from persons who have appealed to him and asked him whether they must pool their tobacco or whether they will be afforded protection by the militia if they do not pool it.

"Organize liberty leagues and kill the nocturnal invaders," is the advice of the governor.

In this statement the governor has set the whole of the burley and dark tobacco district aflame.

"No man should pool his tobacco unless he wants to and I will pardon any man who resorts to arms to protect his home," the executive declared.

NAME JUSTICE GAYNOR

Democrats Pick Jurist for Mayor of New York City.

New York, Oct. 1.—The Democratic convention for the city of New York nominated the following ticket:

For mayor, Justice William Jay Gaynor of Brooklyn; for comptroller, Robert M. Moore of Manhattan; for president of the board of alderman, John F. Galvin of Manhattan.

The nomination of judge Gaynor was made with a great demonstration of enthusiasm and by a unanimous vote. Tammany had its own way at the convention. Of the 1,679 delegates represented Tammany had control—to all intents and purposes—of almost the entire representations of the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx, mustering 918 votes.

THE PARAGUAYANS.

A Lazy, Happy-go-lucky People in a Bankrupt Republic.

The infusion of Spanish blood and customs into the Guarani has produced a people with the faults and good qualities of both in about equal parts. Dark of complexion, with strongly marked Indian features, essentially gentle when unrestrained or not unduly excited, careless of the morrow, poor and honest, hospitable and generous, indolent and uncultured, strongly Catholic in theory, but generally lax in religious performances as to dogmas—this is a rough sketch of the native people of Paraguay. Asuncion, the capital, and even the smaller places—Villa Rica, San Pedro, Villa del Pilar, Villa Concepcion—have their aristocratic families, of which the daughters and sons are sent to Europe to be educated and which maintain an exclusiveness that must be almost isolation. But in general the people mingle readily.

In the early morning in the streets of Asuncion the women gather in their long white dresses and barefooted to sell their wares. The younger women, judged by our standard, are beautiful and from carrying baskets and water jars on their heads have attained an erect and graceful carriage which our young women could well imitate. Besides, when they laugh they show two rows of pearls, and their speech in soft Guarani patois is worth going far to hear.

When you see Asuncion you see Paraguay, for it is the most advanced city in the republic. Its streets are poorly paved, it has mule cars which run at long intervals and low speed, and the hotel accommodations are not exceptional, but there is a kind of lazy, happy-go-lucky gayety about the city that represents the national feeling. Paraguay is hard up—yes, almost stone broke. The currency is paper and the value so small that for a hundred dollars one receives a basketful of ragged stuff, printed in Germany, to represent some nebulous indebtedness of the republic. Gold does not stay long in Paraguay, nor does it often enter the country.—Van Norden Magazine.

A Prophecy.

A certain college president in Indiana, a clergyman, when addressing the students in the chapel at the beginning of the college year observed that it was "a matter of congratulation to all the friends of the college that the year had opened with the largest freshman class in its history."

Then, without any pause, the good man turned to the lesson for the day, the Third Psalm, and began to read in a voice of thunder:

"Lord, how are they increased that trouble me!"—Detroit News-Tribune.

A Drawing Card.

"I see sixteen years elapse between acts 2 and 3," said the manager "Gives me an idea."

"What's that?" inquired the author.

"I'll have the gowns that the heroine wears during those sixteen years on exhibition in the lobby. That ought to draw the women in droves."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

MISCELLANEOUS

Fosston held an old settlers reunion last week. Congressman Steenerson was the principle speaker of the occasion.

If you have not paid your personal property tax yet do so before the first of November or there will be a ten per-cent penalty attached.

Simmie DeMarre, the hotel keeper who was hurt by falling from the building during the fire at Lengby last week died of his injuries the next day having injured his spine in the fall.

Threshing in Red Lake county is very late this year and there will be some done well into November. The fact that plowing is well along partly makes up for the lateness of the threshing season.

The 14 year old son of Herman Aiso of the town of Esplee in eastern Marshall county killed a huge bear last week on his fathers farm. The bear weighed 347 pounds and it took several shots to finish him.

Thief River Falls has the promise of having an interesting city election next November first. There will be three candiates for the mayorship T. P. Hamre the present mayor will seek the office again and Ed. Wilcox and F. H. Gambell are also in the field.

While on the way to her home near Kratka last Wednesday accompanied by her husband, Mrs H. C. Lane was accidently hurt receiving the charge of a shotgun in her left arm and injuring that member so badley that it is doubtful if it can be saved. Mrs. Lane is a daughter in law of Fred A, Lane one of the first settlers of the town of Kratka.

Following the directions of Judge Page of the Federal Court, sheriff Daniels of Crookston, took the ten goverment special officers who were arrested at Mahnomen last week for the destruction of saloon property there to Duluth, Thursday, where they will have their hearing.

The first annual fair of the North western Minnesota Agriculture Association will be held next week at Crookston. Governor Eberhart will be the chief speaker of the occasion and the fact will attract much attention as it will be his first appearance since his succession to the Governors chair.

Auction Sale.

There will be a big auction sale of HIGH GRADE LIVE STOCK and a guanity of grain and hay on the south east quarter of Section 1 Wyandotte township, formerly known as the Mayfield farm on SATURDAY, OCT. 30. The list of property to be sold includes the following: One pure bred short horn bull, 20 months old, by Captain Ira, No. 179438, out of Mabel, Vol. 47 P. 409, by chief of Rossville, No. 129, 480, out of Mayflower by Ashwood Duke 3rd, ect. 15 head fine milk cows, six of which are high-grade Durhams, of these cows 4 will be fresh this fall and eleven are now milking.

6 calves, about 450 bushel Oats, 220 of Barley and 140 of Speltz. Sale will commence at 1, P. M. Sharp.

Terms: All sums under $10 cash, on sums over time will be given to November 1st, 1910, for strictly first class paper bearing 7 percent interest.

J. A. Briar, Owner.

GRADING HAS STARTED

Several Contractors now at Work, Route Changd but very little.

Three of the contractors who have taken grading contracts on this end of the New Soo Line are now at work and in spite of the inclement weather the work is being pushed as fast as possible, and within another week there will be several more contractors on the job. This work according to the contracts is all to be completed this fall and there will be very little grading left, to be done next spring so that it can be finished soon enough so as not to hold up the construction gang which will start laying steel as soon as possible next year.

Halverson Brothers, of Plummer, have the contract for the first five miles and started work Tuesday being the first to move dirt on this half of the line. Later in the week Dan Conroy, of Turtle Lake Wisconson who has the next mile, and A. Perusse of Red Lake Falls who has the next six miles started work, the latter using two graders with traction engines

There have been two surveys run by the party under "Sid" Jones, the last varies but very little from the first running a trifle more to the south On the first one they missed making connections with the party from the east by several hundred yards, being too far north, so another was run which varied about seven tenths of a foot, to the station of a hundred feet, from the first.

From Moose Lake the line takes a direction a little south of southwest, crossing the Northern Pacific near McGregor from where it runs in a nearly straight line to the goverment dam at Leech Lake where the division will be, crosses the Great Northern just west of Bena, and then turns and parallels it thru to Bemidji, from there it again takes a northwesterly direction, crosses Clearwater county north of Oldberg and Pine Lake cuts across the northeast corner of the town of Edan and running south of Gully post-office enters town of Chester in section 25 runs in nearly a straight line to section 2 of the town of Lambert, where it crosses Lost River just below the bridge and then takes a straight shoot to Plummer.

This will very likely place one town somewhere near the crossing at Lost River and the next one near the point where they enter the town Gully.

County Official Removed.

Following an investigation by public examiner M. F. Kain, A. A. Kremer of Grand Rapids, treasurer of Itasca county was removed from office last Tuesday by Governor Eberhart.

A. Shortage in the accounts of the office which may run up as high as $15,000 was found by the examiner. It is charged that the treasurer made out duplicate tax receipts which totaled each from a hundred to a hundred and fifty dollars less than the orignal. His method it is said was to charge against himself only the total of the reduced tax receipts, the balance being placed to his credit in the bank Kremers hearing was continued and he is at liberty under bonds He has returned $6,200 to the treasurer.

You want to pay your subscription in advance if you want the pioneer $1.00

Lose Lives in Fire.

Two men whose identity is not known perished in a fire that destroyed a livery barn at Greenbush last Monday. The entire contents of the barn including ten horses and two head of cattle were lost. The origin of the blaze is not known but is thot to have been due to the carlessness of the men who lost their lives in the fire. They were burned beyond all hope of recognition but are thought to have been homesteaders living near there, just returning from the harvest fields, who had entered the barn to procure a free nights lodging.

A Good Showing.

In the fifth test in the six months educational scoring contest conducted by the Minnesota State Dairy and Food Department, Lars Haselrud the butter maker for the Plummer Creamery, ranked third highest with a score of 93½, the high score was 95½. The only other high score from this far north is Viking with 92. This gives the Plummer creamery a chance to hold first place in the general average for the contest as Mr. Haselrud has always been one of the leaders and one month had first place.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our sincere and most heartfelt thanks in appreciation of the sympathy and kindness shown us during our late bereavement.

Barnyard Manure.

(Notes furnished by the Minnesota)
(Farmers Institute.)

Barnyard manure is undoubtedly one of the most valuable by products of the farm. It is almost an absolute necessity on the farm if the soil is to be maintained at a high state of productivity. At a conservative estimate six to ten loads of barnyard manure applied to a cornfield, the corn crop followed by a grain crop and seeded to grass, left one or two years in grass then plowed and sown to grain, will produce enough more during the four or five years following the applacation of the manure to return from $2.00 to $3.00 per ton on the manure applied.

It is essential, if crops are to be removed year after year carrying with them a part of the plant food stored in the soil, that some steps be taken to replace the plant food removed. Manure not only adds plant food directly to the soil, but it also aids in liberating portions of the mineral plant foods, as potash and phosphoric acid, that are in the soil in an available form.

The three elements of plant food liable to become exhausted in most soils are nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash, nitrogen may be easily supplied to the soil by growing clover and other legume crops. Manure add nitrogen and potash, and some phosphoric acid, but its chief function in regard to the two latter elements is to assist in liberating the stores of these elements locked in the soil. Phosphoric acid and potash are food in most Minnesota soils in quanities sufficient to produce a hundred or more ordinary crops. Plant food that is solnble, that is disolves in water as will sugar, can not remain in the soil in large quanities because it is carried out by water flowing thru the ground. Hence it is found in an insoluble form in the soil: and the proplem of the farmer is to make this plant food soluble while the crops are growing and can use it. Barnyard manure and other vegetable matter when decaying gives off an acid which acts on the surface of soil particles and aids in dissolving small amounts of plant food.

Considering the great value of barn yard manure and the need of it to enrich the partially depleted soils and supply the vegetable matter rapidly used up by corn and grain crops, it seems that more care should be exercised to save in the best possible way the millson of dollars worth of this valuable by product produced every year in Minnesota.

It has been amply proved by experiment that the greatest value is obtained from manure if it is applied directly to the field as fast as it is made. If it is left in piles about the barn it decomposes and much of its value is lost as gas and is bleached out by rains. By applying directly to the field and spreading it very little decomposition takes place untill it is worked into the soil. Then practically all of the value is retained by the soil and the additional benifit of the decomposition in dissolving mineral plant food is secured.

The weather man held his breath for a long time but it was followed by an awful gust of wind.

Jack Frost seems to have "got up on his ear," on account of the treatment his friend, the North Pole has received, and is furnishing us all alike regardless of whether we have "poked fun" at his friend or not. 'Tis hardly treating everybody fair.

Charles R. Crane, the U. S. minister of China has been asked to resign on account of having talked too much to a Press Representative regarding state secrets. The "Gift of God" is the making of some men and the unmaking of others.

The necessary number of states, namely two thirds of them have gone on record as demanding an amendment to the constitution electing United States Senators by a direct vote of the people. Whether congress will pay any attention to the demand or not remains to be seen.

The Bemidji Sentinal seems to have taken upon it shoulders the burden of transporting our friend Halvor Steenerson to the gubernatorial chair. We think Halvor is wise enough to know that a bird in the hand is worth two in a bush, and that he will spend his spare time in keeping a close watch on the bird he already possesses.

The honorable and honest way to stop a newspaper is to step into the office and pay up arrearages, get a receipt and have your name taken off the list. To fire your paper back at the publisher marked "refused" when you owe six months or a year, and never go near the office is not only disreputable, but superlatively dishonest as well.

The trouble at Mahnomen is an illustration of the usual way the different departments at Washington transact their business. It is like the farmer who refused to lock his barn until his horses had been stolen. It is true, as in the farmers case that there is still something to be lost, but if they really had the Indians welfare at heart, why was not some action taken sooner. Four years ago the White Earth Indians took their allotments and they then had holdings that ran all the way from $1,500 to $30,000 a piece in value. The governor then did not display very much solicitude as far as their words were concerned, and the result was that between his love for "booze" and the land sharks that flocked to that vicinity, poor "Loo" did not stand much chance of saving anything out of his heritage. The result was, that except for a few of the more fortunate ones, better educated in the ways of the white man, who used their knowledge to skin their brethren, the children must fall back upon the government again for support and the only persons who derived any benefit from the whole transaction is the bunch of luckies that went there with that purpose in view. There have been many heritages disposed of for a mess of potage since the supposed time of Esop.

We wish to call the attention of the patrons of our schools to a few important facts. First, the school is yours, it is supported by you, and your children should receive the benefit of it. Second, as members of society, it is not only your privilege but your duty to educate your sons and daughters, and those who pay their money to support schools have a right to demand of you that your children be sent regularly to school that they may become intelligent members of society and good and worthy citizens, and they cannot be if kept out of school. It is not right that the children be kept out of school when they could be sent, neither is it right to permit them to stay at home when they are not needed merely because they do not wish to go to school. Experience and observation have taught us how impossible it is for pupils to receive full benefits by going to school two or three times in a week and remain away the balance of the time. This is bad enough when necessity compels parents to keep their children from school, but when they are permitted to remain out for the purpose of attending some place of amusement, or merely because they feign sickness until after school is called and then immediately recover, is much worse.

Time thus lost can never be regained, and parents all will see the day when they will rue it. Again, teachers feel greatly hurt by this disregard of their efforts and feelings. No true teacher wishes to receive pay, be it ever so little, without giving more than an equivalent, but, if after exerting themselves to their utmost to make the school a success, they see the interest die out and the school end a failure through causes they have no power to subvert, it is simply injustice; first to the children, because they do not know what is best for them, and second, to the teachers because the responsibility is in ninety-nine cases in one hundred saddled upon them. Remember, too, that teachers have but little to work with. It is impossible, almost, for a teacher to make a room with bare wall and floor covered with dust and dirt and dull lessons of which pupils know but little, as attractive to children as are the matinee or other places of amusement. In view of these facts, in behalf of the teachers of our schools, we entreat the patrons to see to it that your children are sent to school regularly, and not only sent but supplied with books and other appurtenances necessary to their successfully doing their work while there. The teachers would be glad to have you visit them occasionally and see that they perform their duties and that your children improve their time as they should.

800 Killed By Hurricane.

New Orleans, Oct. 12.—Wireless dispatches from Tampa, the nearest point of communication from the hurricane-swept district of Key West today conveys the intelligence that no less than 800 people may have lost their lives in the storm that last night swept the southeast coast.

Today, in addition to the dead, thousands are homeless; hundreds of buildings are in ruins and Key West itself is a city of mourning.

While the death toll was great in all sections of Southern Florida and the Keys, where the hurricane struck the brunt of the storm is believed to have been borne by the immense gangs of workmen who were engaged in bridge and ship construction. Of these, at least 400 are declared to have perished.

The city to suffer the most damage however, is Key West. Today it is one great mass of wreckage with a property loss of not less than two million dollars.

County Treasurer Suspended.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 12.—Following an investigation by Public Examiner M. F. Kain, A. A. Kremer of this place, treasurer of Itasca county, was yesterday suspended from office by Governor Eberhart.

A shortage in the accounts of the office which may run to $15,000 was found last night by the examiner. The shortage is said to effect a large number of items. It is charged that the treasurer made out duplicate tax receipts which totaled each from $100 to $125 less than the original. His method, it is asserted, was then to charge against himself only the total of the reduced tax receipts, the balance being placed to his credit in a bank.

Kremer's hearing was continued until late today and he is at liberty on bonds. He has returned $6,200 to the treasury.

The public examiner is in charge of the office, but the county board will meet without loss of time to appoint a successor to Kremer.

The following simple and explicit directions are posted up in a hotel on the Nordfjord:

"The fire escape! Directions for use. The one end of the rope is to be fixed at the hook in the window frame, the other is to turn out of the window. The plaited snotter, which is fixed at the log of wood, is to be put under your arms, whereupon you may safely let yourself slide down. You may regulate the hurry by keeping the rope under the log. If more persons are to be saved you have to pull up the contrary end of the rope, fix this at the hook and go on so till nobody is left."—London Punch.

AUTUMN LEAVES TO BLAME

Forty Persons Injured in Trolley Collision at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Oct. 12.—Forty passengers, including two women, all employes at the Northern Pacific shops and all citizens of St. Paul, were injured and 200 more were in danger when the autumn leaves on the tracks caused a rear end collision of two Como-Harriet cars.

Fortunately, with half a dozen exceptions, the injuries consisted only of general cuts, scratches and bruises, the cuts being caused by flying glass from every window in the two cars. One man may lose his right eye and at least two may be internally injured. It is considered a miracle that no passengers were killed outright.

AFFECTING COAL AND PHOSPHATE LANDS

Secretary of Interior Ballinger Issues Statement.

San Francisco, Oct. 12.—Secretary of the Interior Richard A. Ballinger has issued a statement declaring that the disposition of the phosphate lands of the Rocky mountain states presents emergencies calling for legislation. He says:

"All the known areas of phosphate lands in the public domain are now under temporary reservation awaiting congressional action. Common prudence demands that this fertilizer be disposed of with such restrictions as will require its domestic use, so far as possible, in the renewal of the fertility of the American farm rather than permit of its exportation."

Respecting coal lands he says:

"Since 1906 no coal land entries have been permitted to be made in Alaska, pending requests upon congress for legislation to prevent the monopolization of the vast fields of this valuable deposit lying in this territory and to secure authority for permanent reservation for naval purposes. Too much cannot be said in favor of legislation which will prevent the absorption of valuable coal deposits by private interests with the design of monopolization."

SENATOR FLINT TO RETIRE

Honor of Representing California Too Costly, He Says.

Fresno, Cal., Oct. 12.—Senator Frank P. Flint announced officially that when his present term of service expires, March 4, 1911, he will not be a candidate for re-election.

As he is regarded as such a fixture that his renomination and re-election are generally conceded the news that he is to voluntarily quit national politics will throw a bit of ginger into the Republican campaign and a great scramble is expected for his vacant shoes.

SENATOR FLINT.

"If I were a rich man," said Senator Flint, "I would like nothing better than to remain in the senate all my life.

"But I feel that I owe it to my family that I get out of politics and gain a competence while I am able."

LOSS ABOUT ONE MILLION

Beautiful Home of Former Rhode Island Governor Destroyed.

Narragansett Pier, R. I., Oct. 12.—"Canonchet," the home of former Governor Sprague and one of the most beautiful estates in Rhode Island, was destroyed by fire, with all its contents. The total loss is estimated at about $1,000,000, on which there is no insurance. Former Governor and Mrs. Sprague, who were sleeping in the house, escaped without injury. A large item in the loss was the antique furniture with which the residence was furnished and many valuable paintings and works were destroyed. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Prominent Suffragettes Jailed.

Newcastle, Eng., Oct. 12.—Lady Constance Lytton and Mrs. H. N. Brailsford, who were arrested here following a suffragette demonstration against David Lloyd-George, the chancellor of the exchequer, were sentenced each to a month's imprisonment.

FACES LONG TERM

Appellate Court Affirms Banker Morse's Sentence.

NOW BACK IN THE TOMBS

Keenly Regrets Curtailment of Financial Activities.

New York, Oct. 12.—Unless the supreme court of the United States reverses the decision or the president of the United States interferes, Charles W. Morse, one-time "ice king," coastwise steamship line organizer, banker and capitalist, will serve fifteen years at hard labor in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. After having been at liberty under $125,000 bail since June 17, last, he is back in the Tombs prison, where he contemplates the decision of the United States circuit court of appeals rendered Monday sustaining the judgment of the lower federal court, which found him guilty in November last of violating the national banking laws.

There was solace in the decision of the court of appeals, however, in that only ten of the fifty-three indictments on which he was convicted were sustained, and on the strength of this, his counsel, Martin W. Littleton, will immediately carry the case before the United States supreme court on a writ of certiorari. To this end, the United States court of appeals has granted a forty days' stay of execution and pending a decision by the supreme court application will be made to have the prisoner again admitted to bail.

Morse was almost immediately taken to the Tombs.

One of Morse's keenest regrets at being forced to return to prison is the interruption of his beaver-like struggle to rebuild his fortune. Since his liberation under bail he had been re-elected president of the Metropolitan Steamship company, a New England corporation, and of the Hudson Navigation company, operating a line of boats on the Hudson river. He is credited with having discharged the bulk of his debts. From the two big transportation lines that had within the week elected Morse as their president, there was no official statement forthcoming after Monday's decision. It was understood that for the time being, at least, the elections would stand.

FIRST TOUCH OF WINTER

Heavy Fall of Snow in Northern Part of Minnesota.

St. Paul, Oct. 12.—A dash of winter swirled down over the northern part of the Mississippi valley and Great Lakes country, throwing everywhere a transitory confetti of white—the first snow of the fall of 1909.

Twelve inches of snow were reported from the range north of Duluth and more falling. Northwest gales were whipping Lake Superior into a fury as the storm center moved nearer to it.

Snow fell throughout Iowa, accompanied by high northwest winds. It fell as far south as Omaha and St. Joseph, Mo., as far east as Hamilton, O.

New Richmond, Plainfield, in Wisconsin, and Michigan's peninsula reported a heavy fall of snow

SAYS BRYAN HAS NO CHANCE

Taggart Picks Governor Marshall for Democratic Candidate.

Toledo, O., Oct. 9.—William Jennings Bryan will be conspicuously absent from the next Democratic convention to name the presidential candidate, according to an announcement made by Tom Taggart of Indianapolis, former Democratic leader.

"Thomas R. Marshall, governor of Indiana, will be the next Democratic nominee for president," said Taggart. "Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio will be second choice."

Since the death of Governor Johnson of Minnesota Taggart believes the governor of Indiana will have little trouble in landing the nomination.

PIRATES WIN THIRD GAME

Defeat Detroit in a Spectacular Contest.

Detroit, Oct. 12.—Pittsburg defeated Detroit by the score of 8 to 6 here in one of the most spectacular and fiercely contested games ever played in world's championship series. This gives Pittsburg the margin of two games to one in the series and the National league champions are correspondingly jubilant. Detroit, however, showed in the final innings of the battle that it is far from a hopelessly beaten team.

Despite the wretched weather, the attendance, 18,277, broke all local records for the world's series.

FIVE PERSONS DIE IN FLAMES

Others Rescued After Narrow Escape From Death.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 8.—Five persons were burned to death in a fire which destroyed a brick dwelling house here. Several others were rescued after narrow escapes from the flames.

Two negroes were arrested on suspicion in connection with the origin of the fire.

NORTHERN PACIFIC WRECK

Three Trainmen Killed in Collision at Silesia, Mont.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 9.—Three men were killed in a wreck on the Northern Pacific at Silesia, on the Red Lodge branch, an extra freight train "sideswiping" the regular bridge train. The dead are:

Martin, fireman of the extra; E. F. McKeefrey, head brakeman of the extra; Teeters, engineer of the extra.

The engines and fifteen coal cars were piled in a tangled mass of wreckage, which tied up traffic over night, and beneath which lay the bodies of the victims.

JUSTICE MOODY VERY ILL

Condition of the Jurist Said to Be Desperate.

JUSTICE MOODY.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The condition of Associate Justice William H. Moody of the supreme court of the United States, who is at his home at Haverhill, Mass., is desperate, it was learned here.

Justice Moody was seized with rheumatism just before the close of the term of court last May.

IN CRASH OF TRAINS

Seventeen Men Killed and Ten Others Injured.

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 9.—Seventeen persons were killed and ten severely injured in a collision between a freight train and a construction train on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad near here.

Among the dead are eleven Mexicans.

The injured are all Mexicans and are at the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe hospital. It is believed some of them are fatally injured.

The work train was backing into Topeka with fifty Mexicans riding on the flat cars. As the train was rounding a curve, the northbound freight crashed into it.

Engineer Edward Ash and Fireman Joseph Corey of the freight train jumped as soon as the airbrakes could be set. The engine on the freight ran over the four flat cars comprising the work train and almost a score of men were pinned down and it was several hours before they were extricated.

It is said the wreck was caused by the crew of the work train disregarding orders

STORM IN FLORIDA

Hurricane Causes Enormous Property Damage.

SOME LOSS OF LIFE FEARED

City of Key West a Mass of Wreckage.

Key West, Fla., Oct. 12.—As a result of the hurricane which struck the southern coast of Florida, Key West is a mass of wreckage and the damage to property is estimated at $2,000,000. Martial law was proclaimed by the mayor and the Key West guards are patrolling the city.

The United States government has been asked to dispatch troops here without delay to assist in patrolling the storm-swept area.

Chaos reigns on every hand and few people remain in their homes, hundreds of which have been totally wrecked or damaged. It is impossible now to say whether there has been loss of life, but it is thought that many lives have been claimed along the coast.

It is known that many have received serious injury and unconfirmed reports are current that several lives have been lost. The storm reached its height at 1 o'clock p. m., when the wind had an estimated velocity of 100 miles an hour.

While the hurricane is the worst that Key West has ever experienced, the local weather observer said that the indications are that the entire east coast of Florida will suffer terribly. Of one hundred local vessels in the harbor, but five remain at anchor; the others have either gone to sea or have been washed upon the beaches. The streets along the water front are a mass of wreckage.

Brick as well as frame buildings throughout the city suffered alike from the fury of the hurricane and many miraculous escapes from death and serious injury have been reported.

Besides the several score of residences either totally wrecked or blown from their foundations, nine factories were partially destroyed. No. 1 and No. 3 of the city fire engine departments were destroyed and the firemen narrowly escaped. The top of the First National bank was blown off, the postoffice damaged and two running gears of the government coaling station were wrecked.

Every telephone and electric light pole on Duval street, the principal thoroughfare of the city, was blown down.

SERIOUS CYCLONE IN CUBA

Devastates Whole Western Portion of the Island.

Havana, Oct. 12.—The most serious cyclone since the big blow of Oct. 17, 1906, struck Cuba, causing extensive devastation through the whole western portion of the island. In the city of Havana many minor buildings were blown down or unroofed; almost all the trees were uprooted and five persons were killed, one by an electric wire and the others by falling buildings. About twenty-five persons were injured.

The greatest damage done was in the harbor, where forty or fifty lighters, launches and small tugs were either sunk or blown ashore. At Casa Blanca great anxiety was felt throughout the day for the safety of the Ward liner Morro Castle from New York and the Plant line steamer Miami from Key West. Both of these steamers, however, arrived safely, having kept off shore for hours awaiting an abatement of the storm. The total damage in Havana and vicinity is estimated at $1,000,000. The greatest individual loss has been caused by the destruction of half the coal elevator conveyors of the Havana Coal company at Casa Blanca.

IN RACE FOR AN HEIRESS

Three Titled Foreigners Seek Hand of Marjorie Gould.

London, Oct. 8.—Enter a third titled personage who is reputed to be a suitor for the hand of the comely Miss Marjorie Gould, daughter of George Gould, multimillionaire.

Those who have been previously mentioned as suing for the hand of the young American heiress are Francis Joseph, brother of Prince Miguel of Braganza, who recently wed Miss Anita Stewart, an American girl dowered with plentiful millions, and Prince Alexander Georgyitch Romanowski, duke of Leuchtenberg. The third, according to report, is the Duke of Alba, a Spanish grandee of the highest order.

CASE ENDS BY COMPROMISE

Cudahy Company Agrees to Pay Government $97,777.

Leavenworth, Kan., Oct. 11.—The case against the Cudahy Packing company for the violation of the internal revenue laws by failing to place stamps of proper denomination on packages of oleomargarine came to an end in the federal court here by a compromise. The packing company was fined $5,000 and agreed to pay a back stamp tax of $82,777 and special tax of $10,000 for agencies, making the total of $97,777 to be paid by the packing company to the government.

PRESIDENT AT LOS ANGELES

Given Enthusiastic Greeting in California City.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 12.—President Taft arrived in the hospitable flower land of Southern California and received an enthusiastic greeting. He visited first the deep water and inner harbors of San Pedro below the city and had a sail of an [illegible] and a half inside the big government breakwater

Returning to Los Angeles, he was taken for an automobile ride of two hours through crowded streets.

The president passed in review of the school children and made an address to them in which he sought to inculcate a lesson on patriotism by catechising them as to the meaning of the flag and their idea of the liberty which it represents.

Mr. Taft was the guest of honor at a banquet at the Shriner Auditorium, which, in point of attendance and in lavishness of decoration, proved to be one of the distinctive features of his trip.

The president's visit to Los Angeles primarily was arranged that he might spend a day or two with his sister, Mrs. W. A. Edwards. Mr. Taft rested at his sister's home for a time during the late afternoon and spent the night there.

MAY NOT GO TO CHINA

Minister Crane's Hold on Position Very Insecure.

CHARLES R. CRANE.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Whether Charles R. Crane shall proceed to Peking in the capacity of American minister to China seems now to depend upon the outcome of conferences between Mr. Crane and Secretary of State Knox, who unexpectedly and rather mysteriously summoned Mr. Crane from San Francisco to Washington on the eve of Mr. Crane's proposed sailing.

Many indications support the belief that the situation in which Mr. Crane stands is exceedingly serious and in quarters presumably well informed the belief strengthened with the passage of the hours that Minister Crane's connection with the diplomatic service is in a very precarious condition.

It is known now that the immediate occasion for the recall of Minister Crane was an article in the Washington special correspondence of the Chicago Record-Herald of Sept. 27, evidencing a somewhat minute acquaintance with confidential matters supposed to be known only by responsible officials in the state department, and presumably by Minister Crane, relative to the attitude of the United States government toward the two treaties recently concluded between China and Japan. That publication was highly objectionable to the department of state in that it disclosed the possibility of protest on the part of the United States against the consummation of these treaties and it is known that Secretary Knox and his associates in the department have held Minister Crane responsible for these disclosures.

VIOLATED PROHIBITION LAW

Kansas Judge, Policemen and Others Are Fined.

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 9.—J. E. Holden, police judge of Pittsburg, Kan., was fined $100; seven policemen were fined $50 each, eight firemen $25 each, twelve liquor sellers $500 each and Frank Linski $1,000 by the state supreme court for contempt for participating in a fine system of licensing joints, or illicit saloons, in Pittsburg, Kan., in violation of the state prohibition law.

Linski, it is alleged, collected the money from the joints and with it the city officials were paid their salaries.

Two Supreme Justices Absent.

Washington, Oct. 11.—The supreme court of the United States convened for the regular term of 1909-10. Seven of the nine justices were present. Justices Peckham and Moody were absent on account of illness. The court was in session for only forty minutes.

WILLIAM R. MARSHALL—1866-1870.

William R. Marshall was born in Boone county, Mo., Oct. 17, 1825. He was educated in the schools at Quincy, Ill. He located on a claim at St. Anthony Falls (now Minneapolis) in 1847, and two years later he was elected a member of the first territorial legislature of Minnesota. In 1861 he bought the Times and Minnesotan, two Republican dailies published in St. Paul, consolidated them and began the publication of the Press. He enlisted in the Seventh regiment, Minnesota volunteers, in 1862 and was commissioned brevet brigadier general March 13, 1865, for services at Nashville. He was wounded in the advance on Spanish Fort March 25, 1865. At the close of the civil war General Marshall was elected governor, and he was re-elected in 1867, serving until Jan. 9, 1870. Then he became a banker in St. Paul. He died in Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 8, 1896.

HORACE AUSTIN—1870-1874.

Horace Austin was born Oct. 15, 1831, at Canterbury, Conn. After obtaining a common school education he worked at a trade and then studied law at Augusta, Me. He came west in 1854, settling at St. Peter, Minn. As a captain of cavalry he took an active part in the Sibley campaign against the Sioux Indians. The following year he became judge of the Sixth judicial district. In 1869 he was elected governor, and he was re-elected in 1871. Soon after retiring from the executive chair Governor Austin was appointed third auditor of the United States treasury by President Grant, and he served under Secretaries Bristow, Morrill and Sherman, after which he held a position in the department of the interior for about seven years. Subsequently he served the state of Minnesota for several years as chairman of the railway commission. He then became the head of an important financial institution in Minneapolis.

CUSHMAN K. DAVIS—1874-1876.

Cushman K. Davis was born at Henderson, N. Y., June 16, 1838. That same year his parents moved to the territory of Wisconsin. He was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1857. He then studied law, but in 1862 he enlisted in the Twenty-eighth Wisconsin infantry and served as first lieutenant of Company B. In 1867 he was elected to the state assembly and next year was appointed United States district attorney, serving in that capacity five years. In 1873 he was elected governor. He served one term, declining a renomination. He was elected United States senator in 1887, re-elected in 1893 and again in 1899. He was a member of the high joint commission that negotiated the peace treaty at Paris in 1898 and was a great authority on international law. He died in St. Paul Nov. 27, 1900.

Wanted to See Them.

When Helen, aged four, for the first time accompanied her mother to church she was given some money for the collection box. It was carefully explained to her that this money was "for the poor."

Helen sat patiently through perhaps a third of the service, when she startled her mother by rattling the coins between her cupped hands and inquiring in a loud voice: "Mamma, when are the poor coming around? My 8 cents is getting all hot and sticky!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

Good name in man or woman is the immediate jewel of their souls.—Shakespeare.

Every young man should learn this lesson, then learn it over and over again and again: The world does not owe you a living. It doesn't owe any man a living. True, there are those who have gotten a notion in their heads that they have a right to be taken care of by others regardless of any exertion themselves. They will find out in time, however, that while they are waiting for the procession to come along with a feather bed on which to carry them to fame and fortune, the hustler has gotten a long way to the front; while he who waited for others to "boost" him along waited for what never came.

HOPES TO UNITE FACTIONS

Captain Lewis Would Lead Republican Ticket in Wisconsin.

New York, Oct. 12.—Captain William Mitchell Lewis of Racine, Wis., has started home for the purpose of opening the campaign for the Republican nomination for governor of the Badger state. He is known as the football candidate because of his record as the Yale center rush in 1890, when his team defeated Harvard.

"My friends in Wisconsin have suggested my candidacy," said Captain Lewis, "in the hope it may be the means of uniting the rival factions, the stalwarts, under the leadership of Stephenson, and the progressives, under Senator La Follette."

Captain Lewis is one of the largest manufacturers in Wisconsin. He believes that he can bring about peace in the Republican party of his state.

IMPORTED LABOR IS LEGAL

Verdict of Jury in Federal Court at Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—A jury in the United States district court returned a verdict of not guilty in favor of Meyercord & Co., lithographers, charged with importing during a strike in 1906 eleven lithographers from Toronto, Can.

The defense introduced witnesses from New York and elsewhere showing that attempts to obtain skilled labor in the United States had failed and the jury found that the importations from Canada were therefore legal.

Reaches Los Angeles In His Tour of the Country.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 12.—President Taft, fresh from his four days of touring and sightseeing in the canyons of Yosemite, arrived in Los Angeles shortly before 8 a. m. The period of respite from crowds, banquets and speechmaking had accomplished a happy effect and the famous smile adorned the president's features as the welcoming committee boarded his special train.

After being greeted by Mayor Alexander and the other members of the committee the train pulled out for San Pedro, the harbor of Los Angeles, where the party spent several hours in viewing the government work on the big breakwater and the site of the proposed fortifications.

When President Taft reached Los Angeles he had accomplished 6,266 of the total of 12,759 miles of journey stretched out before him when he left Beverly, Mass., a month ago. Almost exactly one-half of the long swing across the United States and back has ended. This also is one of the geographical turning points of the tour, for here the president turns eastward for his long tour through the Southwest and South, finally ending at the White House.

The principal reason that Los Angeles received two days of the presidential schedule was the fact that the president's sister, Mrs. W. A. Edwards, is a resident of this city and he desired an opportunity to spend as much time as possible with her. He will spend the night at his sister's home.

FAIL TO GET INTO SAFE

Robbers Wreck Vault of Bank at Sandstone, Minn.

Duluth, Oct. 12.—An attempt was made to blow up the First National bank of Sandstone at 2 o'clock in the morning. The vault was wrecked, but a small safe withstood the attempts. The robbers got nothing. The bank fixtures were wrecked, causing a loss of $1,000.

Broke the Charm.

"Well, you are a good little boy. Are you usually as quiet as this?"

"No fear, but mother's going to give me a clockwork engine if I don't say anything about your dreadful red nose!"—London Opinion.

In the Fog.

Towne—So you were in London, eh? How did you find the weather there? Browne—I didn't have to find it. It came and hunted me up and surrounded me in chunks.—Philadelphia Press.

A London Jake.

MISCELLANEOUS

The prosperity of the Northwest this fall is evidenced by the lack of sheriffs sales and attachments of crop as compared to former years.

Ed, Kossenborg living near Moorhead, is reported to have raised a crop of potatoes that netted him two hundred and fifty dollars per acre.

A Missouri editor refuses to publish obituary notices of the people who while living failed to suscribe for his paper giving the reason that the people who do not take the home paper are dead anyway and their passing away has no news value.

A bad prairie fire is reported to have devasted the townships of Fanney and Lowell in Polk County last Wednesday. The prairie fire time is now here and settlers should be careful how they handle fire for by carelessness they are not only endangering a lot of property but also a great many human lives.

A large attendance of teachers is expected at the meeting of the Minnesota Educational assoctation to be held in Minneapolis next Thrsday and Friday. Attorney General Simpson has rulled that the schools may be closed upon those days for the purpose of permitting teachers to attend without requiring them to sacrifice their pay.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs Nels Dallum of Fertile River township, Polk county while playing near a fire last Monday, that had been started to burn up rubbish near the schoolhouse, had her clothes catch fire and was, so badly burned that she died the same day. The teacher Miss Blanch Heultson, was severely burned while trying to save the girl.

Charles Gullickson of Beltrami, Polk county had a seven acre piece of wheat that averaged 33 bushels to the acre.

A Barnsville man is said to have invented a potatoe sacker which can be attached to the digger. If it should prove practical there will be a fortune in it for the inventor.

A new dam is being put in by Kankel and Hoss on the Rice river at Fertile, to replace the one washed out by the flood last July. It will be two feet higher than the former structure.

To silence the attacks as to his veracity Dr. Cook has cancelled all his lecture dates and proposes to again ascend mt. Mc. Kinley to get the records he left on the summit when he made his first ascension.

During this years harvest season just closed the twine plant of the state prison at Stillwater, disposed of 15,850,000 pounds of twine to the farmers of Minnesota, of which amount Polk county bought the most.

A $10,000 silver service and a stand of colors were presented to the battle ship Minnesota at New York last week. The silver was the gift of the state whose name the warship bears, and the flags came from the school childern each child having contributed one cent.

Mahnomen people have been claiming there is an elevator trust that keeps one of their elevators closed. But the elevator people say there is only one road leading into Mahnomen that is passable for loaded teams, that being the Beaulieu road. When the farmers can get into Mahnomen, they say the elevator will open.

Find Infant in River.

Matt Julian, of Crookston, discovered the remains of an infant about two weeks old in the Red Lake river at a point on the river bank opposite the junction of Ash and Cowing streets, at that place.

The little child, a male, was found with a ladies' waist belt buckled tightly about its neck, and from every indication death had resulted from strangulation. There is no means of identification from the belt, which was of plain leather with a pearl buckle.

Coroner Stenshoel will call a coroner's jury to investigate the cause of death and, if possible, fix the blame on the guilty party.

Things grow some.

A stranger dropping into the First State Bank and seeing their display of products grown in Red Lake County would be some surprized especially at the showing of home grown corn, which, we were about to say, he might think had been raised in Iowa or Kansas, only we realy doubt whether they could realy raise any in their famous corn belt that would favorably compare with it and it was raised where they used to say corn could not be grown protitibly. And then when you see squashes and pumpkins to large for a man to carry you begin to think that the country raising them must have some strong points. They used to think this was too far north to raise fruit but Red Lake county farmers are now raising as fine apples, plums and cherries as are raised in the conntry, and conditions are so favorable that in some places they picked a second crop of strawberries and the apple trees started to bear their second crop of fruit; we even heard that one farmer was going to start raising bananas and pineapples altho we can not vouch for the truthfulness of the statement.

Some people are wondering at the cheapness of the land here considering the richness of the soil and the many natural advantages, but they must consider the newness of the country and that it is just starting to develope and the settlers begining to find out what a bonanza they have. It will not be long before it will take from 50 to $80 an acre to buy the poorest of it and there will be many a man "kicking himself" because he did not tie to a chunk of Red Lake County when he had a chance to get it cheap.

Auction Sale.

There will be a big auctionsale of HIGH GRADE LIVE STOCK and a guanity of grain and hay on the south east quarter of Section 1 Wyandotte township, formerly known as the Mayfield farm on SATURDAY, OCT. 30. The list of property to be sold includes the following: One pure bred short horn bull, 20 months old, by Captain Ira, No. 179438, out of Mabel, Vol. 47 P. 409, by chief of Rossville, No. 129, 480, out of Mayflower by Ashwood Duke 3rd, ect. 15 head fine milk cows, six of which are high-grade Durhams, of these cows 4 will be fresh this fall and eleven are now milking.

6 calves, about 450 bushel Oats, 250 of Barley and 140 of Speltz, also about 35 ton of hay. Sale will commence at 1, P. M. Sharp.

Terms: All sums under $10 cash, on sums over time will be given to November 1st, 1910, for strictly first class paper bearing 7 percent interest.

IS NOT A CANDIDATE

Steenerson returns. Denies that he has Gubernatorial Aspirations

Congressman Steenerson returned the first part of the week from Washington where he had gone to present arguments in favor of improveing the channel of the Red Lake River to the War Department. At the last session of Congress it was left to the discretion of the War Department whether the proposed improvements where needed and practical. If the Department does not rule in favor of the improvements, he will attempt to have a special bill passed next session authorizing the work being done, and if the heads of the Department had to live in the territory tributary to the upper river and make their living from a homestead there they would not belong in deciding whether the improvements were necessary or not.

As to his candidacy for the governship, concerning which the Bemidji Sentinal had quite a long article last week, the Crookston Times of Thursday quotes Mr. Steenerson as saying "I want to say decisively that I am not now, nor never have been, and will not be a candidate for governor of Minnesota. I am a candidate for reelection as congressman and nothing else at the present time. I make this statement without reservation and I want all my friends to know it."

Dance next Saturday.

There will be a dance given at the Carlson Hall Saturday, Oct. 30th. to which a crdial invitation is extended to all. This is the opening Ball of the season and a good time is assured The Red Lake Falls Orchestra will furnish the music.

Minnesota has no lieutenant governor, and it is said that Senator Smith will not take the oath, because he voted for an increased salary for that office. Under the constitution this makes him ineligible. In the event that Governor Eberhart should resign or die it is likely the state senate wonld convene and elect Senator French president pro tem' in order that he could be in the line of succession, Senator French was elected to fill a vacancy after the salary bills were passed, and is the only senator eligible to hold either the office of governor or lieutenant governor.

Theodore Steen arrived here Tuesday, from Adams North Dakota, for a few days visit with his parents.

Monday evening the people of this vincinity were treated to one of the most brilliant displays of the aurora borealis or more often called the Northern Lights. The heavens were all aflame with a scintillating mass of colored lights which reached, its greatest brilliancy about eleven o'clock when one could almost see to read, and it was considerable lighter than the brightest winter moon lit night although there was no moon then shining The most generally accepted explanation of the phenomenon is, that it is the reflection of the light of the sun cast by the air of the Frigid Zones wh ich is filledwith minute particles of frozen moisture.

Hill for Governor.

If the cordiality with which Mr. James J. Hill is received at the numerous county fairs where he has spoken can be taken as an indication, he is the proper man for us insurgents to nominate for Governor. He is all right on the tariff and with conservation of soil and a reduction of operating expenses as our platform we can sweep the state with him as our candidate. When we have elected him and he sends his first annual report to the legislature, we shall know how much more it costs per day per capita to run our state than it did before this era of extravagance set in, and that is something which no one has ever stopped to think about. He would also ascertain in short order whether the crews in the various state departments were larger than they needed to be to handle the work and do it on time. It would be a real pleasure to follow him on a trip thru the departments early on a morning and to count the vacancies which there would be before lunch time. It would be worth millions to Minnesota to have him as governor even for a single term.—Fergus Falls Jour,

In the grubbing around for Gubernatorial timber that the Minnesota press has been indulging in lately the Journal seems to have turned up the best idea in the bunch. If once nominated there would be no doubt as to Mr. Hills election but all the politicians would be opposed to Mr. Hills' canidadacy as it would mean that the affairs of the state would be tended to right and without any attention being paid to the political end of the game, and then think of all the men who would have a hard time making ends meet if they had to get out and hustle and were paid according to their worth, who would be out a nice at job, for James would have no loafers on the payroll

Farmer and the Census.

The superintendent of the national census wisely suggests to farmers the importance of recording now, from day to day, until the end of the year the exact yield of their acres and other products of their farms, making an inventory of the stock on hand at the beginning of the census year April 15 1910, and the sales during the year. This and such other information as may be given freely, for the census act provides:

This information shall be used only for the statistical purposes for which it is supplied. No publication shall be made by the census office whereby data furnished by any particular establishment can be indentified, nor shall the director of the census permit any one other than the employes of the census office to examine the individual reports. Furthermore the information reported on the agricultural schedual will not be used as a basis of taxation or communicated to any assessor.

There is such a deal of wild and wooly guessing done regarding affairs agricultural during the interim between census years, that it will be to the farmers' interest to have one correct accounting every 10th year so that it may be known as accureatly as possible how large a factor agriculture is in our national economy, and how it compares with other industries.

President Taft is now making a bid for the sportsmen's vote, which his predecessor used to have such a good hold on, by stopping off at his brother's ranch in Texas for a few days' hunt.

Teddy is reported to have had a very narrow escape from being killed by an elephant in Africa. He had better return to the U. S. where there is an elephant that he can handle without danger of personal injury,

White dress suits are becoming all "the go." This gives the poor man a chance to be in style, if the good wife will keep his nightshirt washed and patched. The reason, very likely, for the new style proving so acceptable is that it enables the visiting stranger to tell the difference between the servants and the members of the "elite." so called.

The government has been upheld in the action that they took at Mahnomen a couple of weeks ago; the seizure and destruction of all the liquor that they found, the special officers who were arrested by the local authorities being released by the decision of Judge Page of the Federal Court at Duluth. Rumor now has it that the little "excitement" spree Mahnomen had will likely cost them something in worldly wealth, besides making them the laughing stock of the surrounding country. If the decision is upheld and the government desired to enforce it all the saloons in Minnesota as far south as Minneapolis could be cleaned out. Mr. Valentine has given the assurance however that it will be enforced only in cases where the Indian is procuring his much craved for booze.

It now looks as if there would be a great old mix-up at the White Earth reservation from the fact that some of the full-bloods there have sold their land when they could not lawfully do so, and now want it back again. The full-blood Indian is a ward of the government and the government now proposes to see that those who have squandered their heritage get it back again. This may seem unfair at first glance but when you consider that the man who bought the land from him knew that the transaction was unlawful and only bought it because he could cheat the Indian out of it, giving him in the majority of cases a good drunk for his land, it does not seem so unfair. The majority of the bankers and land-dealers down there would look good wearing a suit of stripes, as their only object in locating there was to cheat the Indian out of his land which his love for booze made easy for them. The government could have improved on the situation if they had proceeded according to the old adage "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and taken steps to prevent things getting into the present mixed up state.

COMING TO TOWN.

He had a pocket full of cash; the proceeds of his farm, and he came to see the city never fearing any harm. He met a dapper stranger who escorted him around to where the jovial tiger and the elephant abound. He dallied with the festive and he lingered by the bowl, and awoke upon the sibewalk minus his plethoric roll. He was a jay? Of cours- he was, a green and verdent thing; but he didn't read the papers, which accounts for everything. The street was rather crowded and the pave ments they were wet, but he started from the curbstone to the other side to get. He saw a car, but never thought that harm it could portend, for he looked and noticed that there were no horses on the end. He never knew what struck him and what chopped him like a knife, for the 'lectric doesn't linger when it yanks away a life. He should always know? Of course, and then he'd not have met his fall, but he didn't read the papers and thought he knew it all.

Ten Things A Baby Can Do.

It can beat any alarm clock ever invented waking a family up in the morning.

Give it a fair show and it can smash more dishes than the most industrious servant girl in the country.

It can fall down oftener and with less provocation than the most expert tumbler in the circus ring.

It can make more genuine fuss over a simple brass pin then the mother would over a broken back.

It can choke itself black in the face with greater ease then the most accomplished wretch that ever was executed.

It can keep a family in a constant turmoil from morn till night, and from night till morning, without once varying its tune.

It can be relied upon to sleep peacefully all day when father is down town and cry persistently at night when he is particulary sleepy.

It may be the naughtest, dirtiest, ugliest, most fretful baby in all the world, but you can never make its mother believe it, and you had better not try it.

It can be a charming and a model infant when no one is around, but visitors are present it can exhibit more bad temper than both of its parents together.

It can brighten up a house better then all the furniture ever did; make sweeter music than the finest orchestra organized; fill a larger place in its parents' breast then they knew they had, and when it goes away it can cause a greater vacancy and leave a greater blank than all the rest of the world put together.

ASCENT OF MOUNT M'KINLEY

Cook's Companion Says Doctor Never Reached Summit.

New York, Oct. 14.—The Globe prints a copy of the affidavit made by Edwin N. Barrill, who accompanied Dr. Frederick A. Cook at the time he announced his reaching the summit of Mount McKinley. The affidavit was made before a notary public at Tacoma, Wash., on Oct. 4 and has just been received in New York. Barrill's affidavit states in effect that he was the only person present with Dr. Cook on the date when he claims to have reached the summit of Mount McKinley; that they did not in fact reach the summit and the nearest point to the summit reached was at least fourteen miles distant from the summit of that mountain, the elevation at no time exceeding ten thousand feet. Barrill's affidavit also brings into question a number of the photographs which Dr. Cook has given as representing the summit and other high altitudes of Mount McKinley.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND IN LINE

Gipsy Smith Leads Parade Through Chicago Tenderloin.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Led by a battalion of police and thrilled with the crash of five brass bands, 15,000 men and women, led by the famous Romany evangelist, Gipsy Smith, marched into the heart of Chicago's most notorious underworld jungle, known as the "Twenty-second street levee."

This spectacular religious display—climax of the Gipsy's three week's revival here—was witnessed, despite the late hour at which it was held, by as many people as could jam the sidewalks along the line of march, which began at the Seventh regiment armory, where the Smith meetings are being held, wound around the three miles of streets and disbanded at a burlesque theater on the edge of the segregated district.

RED MAN ON A RAMPAGE

Ends Wild Outbreak by Shooting Two Indian Constables.

Ashland, Wis., Oct. 18.—A halfbreed Indian from the Odanah Indian reservation, near here, went on a wild rampage, holding up and robbing a hack driver and later the inmates of an alleged disorderly house and capping the climax by shooting two Chippewa Indians, John Blackbird and Joe Bigby, constables from the reservation, the former through the chest and the latter in the leg. Blackbird will probably die.

The desperado secured $75 from the resort and all the watches and jewelry in the house. He has not been captured.

New York, Oct. 18.—Former Senator J. C. S. Blackburn, head of the civil administration of the Panama zone, has arrived home from the isthmus. "I am still the civil governor of the zone," he said, when asked whether he was about to resign or had resigned. "I am merely here on leave."

TAFT MEETS DIAZ

Executives of Two Nations Exchange Greetings.

THOUSANDS OF TROOPS THERE

Extra Precautions Taken to Safeguard Notables.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 16.—With cannon roaring a sequence of salutes, with soldiers everywhere and a pomp of ceremony seldom, if ever before witnessed in this country President Taft of the United States and Porfirio Diaz, who for years has ruled over the destinies of Mexico as president of that great Southern republic, met here and exchanged formal greetings of good will and friendship.

The meeting took place behind closed doors in the directors' rooms of the Chamber of Commerce building and only two assistant secretaries to President Taft were present to report the addresses of the executives.

After having received President Diaz on American soil President Taft himself crossed the international border line and returned the call of President Diaz at the customs house in the quaint little city of Ciudad Juarez. Again the two presidents were closeted for a few minutes and President Diaz repaid the hospitable courtesies which had been extended to him while a guest of the American people. President Taft returned to the United States and reviewed a military parade in this city in the afternoon. In the evening he crossed into Mexican territory for the second time and was the guest of President Diaz at Juarez.

Extra Precautions Taken.

Rumors of a possible demonstration attending the meeting of the two presidents caused the authorities, both civil and military, to take extra precautions on this side of the Rio Grande for guarding the life of President Diaz and caused a similar alertness across the border on behalf of President Taft.

President Diaz rode to the meeting with President Taft over streets that were lined with soldiers, 3,000 regular troops having been augmented by the national guard.

The troops surrounded the Chamber of Commerce building during the time that President Diaz was there. Members of the two parties were introduced and exchanged courtesies in the corridors and main rooms of the chamber of commerce while President Diaz and President Taft were in the directors' rooms.

President Taft was attired in the conventional frock suit. President Diaz presented a striking contrast in full uniform, gold lace glittering at his throat and decorations covering his left breast. The journeying to and fro of the two executives and the members of their party was attended by a military display, which was impressive of authority.

ON HIS BROTHER'S RANCH

President Taft Enjoying a Few Days of Rest.

Gregory, Tex., Oct. 19.—When President Taft reached here he was met at the station by his brother, Charles P. Taft, and immediately carried off to the 100,000-acre Taft ranch on Corpus Christi bay.

Until Friday afternoon the president will remain at the ranch, enjoying the rest and quiet of a ranchman's life. Linen suits and soft hats were brought along and the president proposes to do a little bit of fishing, some golfing, and maybe a little shooting if the conditions are good.

ONCE A RESPECTED LAWYER

Man Who Killed Himself After Robbing Illinois Bank.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—The police have succeeded in establishing conclusively that the man who shot and killed himself after robbing the Erskine bank in Highland Park was Lamar A. Harris of Los Angeles, a member of a prominent California family and once a respected lawyer.

Wine and women and the swift life of the race track lured him to his downfall. A few years ago he and his father, Will A. Harris, had a profitable practice in the California city.

THREE DEAD AND TWO DYING

Twenty-eight Horses Also Perished in Fire.

Wichita, Kan., Oct. 18.—Three men were burned to death, two fatally burned and twenty-eight horses cremated in a stable fire here. The fire is supposed to have been incendiary.

The fire was discovered about 3 o'clock. Before the fire department arrived the building was a mass of flames. It was burned to the ground. The bodies of the three men were taken out burned to a crisp.

CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH

Three of Them Perish in Fire at Ironwood, Mich.

Ironwood, Mich., Oct. 19.—Three small children of John Trejak, a Slav miner, were burned to death in their home here. The father was at work in the mine at the time and the mother was visiting at a neighbors.

WEARS CROWN OF HARRIMAN

Edwin Hawley the New Railroad King of America.

MILLIONS AT HIS COMMAND

Wealth of Wall Street Back of the New Transportation Magnate—Believed That He Will Build Up a Railroad System That Will Surpass That Created by the Late "Czar of the Pacifics."

New York, Oct. 19.—Edwin Hawley has succeeded to the throne of E. H. Harriman as the ruler of the railroads of the United States. Within the past few days there has been a change of alignment of the greatest financial powers in Wall street, and they have proffered to Hawley the backing of the millions which were the essence of the Harriman power, and which, likewise, make Hawley the dominant figure in the American railroad world. This shift of the balance of money power to the support of Hawley marks the most important of several changes in the railroad situation here that have been brought about by the passing of Harriman.

Another change of scarcely less interest during the past few days has been the appearance of a well defined plan to eliminate Harriman influence from the management of railroads outside his own system into which Harriman forced himself during his lifetime.

EDWIN HAWLEY.

This is announced on the highest authority.

Harriman's Personal Power Dead.

Briefly, the occurrences of the past few days mean that Edwin Hawley, by virtue of the backing conferred upon him by the greatest money dynasty in America, becomes the new railroad leader; that, with the millions to which he is thus given access he can acquire, build up and dominate a vast railroad system throughout the country that probably will overshadow even the Harriman system; that Harriman's personal power, which enabled him to compel admission to the councils of other railroad systems, died with him and is no longer the formidable weapon it was as long as he lived.

The new order of things does not mean, however, that the Harriman system is to be deprived of a large share of financial support it has enjoyed at the hands of the controlling money powers, nor does it mean that Edwin Hawley is likely to undertake the control of the Harriman system, and there is little likelihood that Hawley will ever enter the management of the Harriman system officially, although there are some who predict that Hawley will ultimately become a member of the Union and Southern Pacific directorates.

Those closest to Hawley, however, believe that he will reign from a throne built up from the extensive railroad system he now controls rather than attempt to transfer the foundation of his dominance to the Harriman system.

SAWMILL BOILER EXPLODES

Seven Persons Killed and Three Others Injured.

El Dorado, Ark., Oct. 19.—Seven employes were killed and three other persons were severely injured when a boiler at the plant of the Griffin sawmill company near El Dorado exploded.

Mrs. J. Reed, wife of the superintendent of the mill, was in her home some distance from the mill. A brick penetrated the wall and injured her severely.

Crushed to Death by Logs.

Duluth, Oct. 19.—Harry Hubbard, proprietor of the Reidal hotel at Carlton, was accidentally killed at Kimberly. He was assisting in the unloading of a carload of timber for the Soo line. The stakes which held the logs gave way suddenly and Hubbard was caught beneath them as the mass rolled to the ground.

SIX LIVES LOST IN WRECK

Result of the Violent Storm on the Great Lakes.

Detroit, Oct. 14.—In the wreck of the steamer George Stone of Cleveland, O., on Point Pelee, Ont., six lives were lost, a lifeboat containing Captain Paul Howell, Peter Dailey of Erie, Pa., who was a passenger, and six members of the crew being capsized in an attempt to go to shore for assistance. Two of the crew clung to the overturned lifeboat four hours until they drifted ashore. The remaining ten men of the crew were taken off the wreck by the Steamer F. M. Osborne of Cleveland and brought to Detroit. One of the ten brought to Detroit, John Diedrich, was knocked into the Detroit river by a crowd of strikers on the docks and narrowly escaped drowning after his arrival here.

Zelaya Gathering Forces for Attack on Insurgents.

Managua, Nicaragua, Oct. 15.—The revolutionists are now in possession of Bluefields, Corinto, Greytown, Rivas, Cape Gracias, Rama and San Juan del Norte.

PRESIDENT ZELAYA.

President Zelaya is gathering the government forces for an attack on the revolutionists at Rama and San Juan del Norte.

DEATH LIST IS LARGE

Thirty-seven Lives Lost in the Southern Storm.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 16.—With the known death list already reaching a total of thirty-seven, and with thirteen others reported dead, with scores seriously injured and many others painfully bruised and with the property damage running to $1,000,000 or more, the havoc and destruction of the storm which swept Middle and West Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia and portions of Arkansas and South Carolina grows hourly as reports are received from remote points and as normal wire communication is gradually being resumed.

The storm was probably the worst that has visited this section of the South in years, being intense in its destroying fury and widespread in its area. Halves of counties were laid in waste and ruin. Towns were destroyed, plantations were greatly damaged and from all sections of the storm-swept area come reports of loss of life, ruin and desolation.

At Stantonville, Tenn., thirteen people are reported killed, but the report lack confirmation.

CITY IN INDIAN COUNTRY

Federal Officers Could Close Saloons in Minneapolis.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Owing to the absence of Commissioner Valentine of the Indian bureau it is not possible to get a statement relative to the probable future action of the Indian office, following Judge Morris' declaration that all land covered by treaty of 1855 is "Indian country," and that liquor cannot be sold thereon.

In his discussions of the application of this treaty in the past, however, Mr. Valentine has taken the position that all the bureau desires is to keep liquor away from the Indians, and that treaties and laws would not be invoked against white men.

Last week in an interview he stated that he had no objection to the sale of liquor to white men in towns where Special Agent Johnson had been operating, but only desired to keep liquor away from the Indians, and that he would back up his agents to the fullest extent in carrying out that policy. Indications are, therefore, that the Indian bureau will not make any attempt to enforce the law as interpreted by Judge Morris, in any part of the state except that in which Indians actually reside.

Several years ago the question of whether lands not now occupied by Indians, but covered by the treaty of 1855, were in the "Indian country." It was pointed out at that time that if these lands were decided to be "Indian country," liquor selling could be prohibited in the state, practically from the Canadian boundary southward to and including the city of Minneapolis.

Apparently it is up to District Attorney Haupt to say whether an effort will be made to enforce the anti-liquor selling feature of the treaty on lands not now occupied by Indians.

MRS. FROHMAN SEEKS DIVORCE

Noted Actress Brings Suit at Reno, Nev.

Reno, Nev., Oct. 19.—Divorce proceedings were filed in the district court here by Mrs. Daniel Frohman, wife of the famous theatrical manager of New York and London, and herself one of the most brilliant stars of the present-day stage, known as Margaret Illington. They were married Nov. 22, 1903.

The ground of action is one of simple desertion and failure to provide. It sets forth that there are no children and no community property involved in the action, and that a simple severance of marital relations is all that is prayed for. The complainant asks for the restoration of her maiden name.

MARGARET ILLINGTON.

There will be no contest by her husband.

For nearly a year Mrs. Frohman has resided here quietly, never appearing in social events.

Some time ago Mrs. Frohman said she was tired of the stage and wished to lead a domestic life.

It is believed that she will marry when her divorce is granted, Edward Bowes, a wealthy real estate man of San Francisco. When she parted from her husband she admitted that this was her intention, and Mr. Frohman said:

"I don't know of any one who would make her a better husband."

BOOM FOR WAR SECRETARY

Dickinson's Friends Would Send Him to the Senate.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 19.—A senatorial boom has been launched by friends of Secretary of War J. M. Dickinson, who is urged as the successor to United States Senator James F. Frazier. Although it is stated positively that Mr. Dickinson has not been consulted in the matter, Luke Lea, candidate for governor, declares the secretary will state his views at the proper time.

Workman Killed by Train.

Sandstone, Minn., Oct. 19.—Patrick Williamson, forty-five years old, was struck by the Great Northern passenger train bound for St. Paul between Bruno and Partridge. He died in the baggage car while being brought to this city.

Banker Dies From Injuries.

Oshkosh, Wis., Oct. 19.—Leander Choate, seventy-five years old, one of the wealthiest ex-lumbermen and leading bankers of this city, died at his home here from injuries received in a runaway accident several weeks ago.

MISSING SINCE LAST AUGUST

Kidnapped St. Louis Children Located in Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Two Italian children, identified from photographs as Tomasso and Grace Viviano, who were kidnapped from St. Louis Aug. 2, last, and who have been sought since by the police of many cities, were found wandering aimlessly on the North Side of the city by Detective Stephen Parodi of the Chicago avenue police station.

Tomasso, the elder of the children, was asked by the inspector and Captain Rehm where he and Grace, who is his cousin, had been since they were taken from their home in St. Louis. The child could give no intelligent answer. He said he did not know where he lived and could give no account of his abandonment.

IN SHADOW OF TREASURY

Counterfeiters Flooding Washington With Spurious Coin.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Counterfeiters, working almost in the shadow of the treasury, have invaded certain districts of Washington with spurious coin. The counterfeits are of the 25 and 10-cent coinage patterned after the issue of 1908, but according to the secret service operatives they are poor imitations. Chief Operator George F. Proctor has taken personal charge of the investigation and a number of operatives are seeking the source of the coinage.

MEETS TRAGIC DEATH

William I. Buchanan Found on a London Street.

London, Oct. 18.—William I. Buchanan of Buffalo, N. Y., former American minister to the Argentine Republic and Panama, who had been closely identified with several important American diplomatic missions, met a tragic death on a London street.

He was found lying on a sidewalk in Park lane near the American embassy in a dying condition, and died on the way to St. George's hospital in an ambulance. The cause of death is not known, but it is supposed that it resulted from heart disease or apoplexy.

There were no marks of violence on the body, nor had robbery been committed.

The body was placed in the hospital mortuary and the police were notified. The identity of the dead man was discovered through inquiries sent out by the management of the hotel where Mr. Buchanan was staying.

WILLIAM I. BUCHANAN.

Mr. Buchanan, who had come to London on a mission for the United States government in connection with the Venezuelan claims, had been here for several weeks. He took up quarters at Claridge's hotel, one of the most fashionable in the city, which is located about half a mile from Park lane.

He left the hotel for dinner early in the evening, attired in evening dress. No one has yet been found who knows where he spent the evening, but it is supposed that he was walking home when stricken. Park lane is a particularly quiet street at night.

PITTSBURG GETS FINAL GAME

Defeats Detroit in World's Championship Series.

Detroit, Oct. 16.—Pittsburg of the National league won the world's baseball championship for 1909 by defeating Detroit of the American league in the seventh game of the series by a score of 8 to 0 in a one sided contest. Adams pitched for the Pirates and he blanked the Tigers without trouble. Only six hits were made off his delivery and good support on the part of his team mates prevented any of the Tigers scoring. "Wild Bill" Donovan started to pitch for Detroit, but he was taken from the box in the fourth and replaced by Mullin.

There was considerable betting on the result of the final game, Detroit being the favorite at 8 to 5 just before the contest started.

Negroes May Govern Town.

Hamilton, O., Oct. 16.—The negro voters of the college town of Oxford, who number 100 out of the less than 400 voters of the community, have put in the field a complete ticket. As there are three white tickets the town faces the possibility of being governed by negroes.

WILLIAM R. MARSHALL—1866-1870.

William R. Marshall was born in Boone county, Mo., Oct. 17, 1825. He was educated in the schools at Quincy, Ill. He located on a claim at St. Anthony Falls (now Minneapolis) in 1847, and two years later he was elected a member of the first territorial legislature of Minnesota. In 1861 he bought the Times and Minnesotan, two Republican dailies published in St. Paul, consolidated them and began the publication of the Press. He enlisted in the Seventh regiment, Minnesota volunteers, in 1862 and was commissioned brevet brigadier general March 13, 1865, for services at Nashville. He was wounded in the advance on Spanish Fort March 25, 1865. At the close of the civil war General Marshall was elected governor, and he was re-elected in 1867, serving until Jan. 9, 1870. Then he became a banker in St. Paul. He died in Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 8, 1896.

HORACE AUSTIN—1870-1874.

Horace Austin was born Oct. 15, 1831, at Canterbury, Conn. After obtaining a common school education he worked at a trade and then studied law at Augusta, Me. He came west in 1854, settling at St. Peter, Minn. As a captain of cavalry he took an active part in the Sibley campaign against the Sioux Indians. The following year he became judge of the Sixth judicial district. In 1869 he was elected governor, and he was re-elected in 1871. Soon after retiring from the executive chair Governor Austin was appointed third auditor of the United States treasury by President Grant, and he served under Secretaries Bristow, Morrill and Sherman, after which he held a position in the department of the interior for about seven years. Subsequently he served the state of Minnesota for several years as chairman of the railway commission. He then became the head of an important financial institution in Minneapolis.

CUSHMAN K. DAVIS—1874-1876.

Cushman K. Davis was born at Henderson, N. Y., June 16, 1838. That same year his parents moved to the territory of Wisconsin. He was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1857. He then studied law, but in 1862 he enlisted in the Twenty-eighth Wisconsin infantry and served as first lieutenant of Company B. In 1867 he was elected to the state assembly and next year was appointed United States district attorney, serving in that capacity five years. In 1873 he was elected governor. He served one term, declining a renomination. He was elected United States senator in 1887, re-elected in 1893 and again in 1899. He was a member of the high joint commission that negotiated the peace treaty at Paris in 1898 and was a great authority on international law. He died in St. Paul Nov. 27, 1900.

There is little doubt that it will be a successful venture. They are going to a good field and both of them are capable musicians and good clean men. Their many Red Lake Falls friends will wish them well—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

OBESITY CURED.

A Remedy That Is Not Liable to Attain Wide Popularity.

Peter the Great was once traveling incognito in a part of Finland, when he met a very fat man who told him that he was going to St. Petersburg.

"What for?" asked the czar.

"To consult a doctor about being so fat, which has become very oppressive."

"Do you know any doctor there?"

"No."

"Then I will give you a line to my friend, Prince Menschikoff, and he will introduce you to one of the emperor's physicians."

The traveler went to the prince's house with a note. The answer was not delayed. The next day, tied hands and feet, the poor man was dragged off on a cart to the mines.

Two years after Peter the Great was visiting the mines. He had forgotten the incident of the fat man, when suddenly a miner threw down his pick, rushed up to him and fell at his feet, crying:

"Grace, grace, what is it I have done?"

Peter looked at him, astonished, until he remembered the story.

"Oh, so that is you!" he said. "I hope you are pleased with me. Stand up! How thin and slight you have become! Go, and remember that work is the best cure for your complaint!"

Bamboo Shoots as Food.

The bamboo shoots that are eaten are not yet branched, of a conical form and sheathed in an envelope generally covered by small, prickly bristles. These young shoots emerge very vigorously from the soil at the foot of the bamboo tufts. The Chinese and Japanese, it appears, consume large quantities of them. They use them as seasoning with pork and chicken. The first thing in their preparation naturally is to rid the sprouts of their disagreeable sheath. They are then cut either lengthwise or in slices and are placed in boiling water. The water is renewed once or twice, and after adding salt a vegetable is obtained which reminds one strongly of the root of the artichoke. The Japanese also eat them preserved in brine or vinegar. The gathering of the young bamboo shoots, during which one must be careful of the prickly envelope, takes place in June and November in Tonkin. The November shoots are the better appreciated.—New York Herald's Paris Edition.

Sawing Rails Is Not Musical.

Rails are cut with saws—not quietly; not at all. There is considerable racket underneath an elevated railroad in a narrow street, the subway isn't quite a lodge in some vast wilderness, but never until I watched a toothless saw cut through a cold steel rail by friction, melting its way—you can see the smeared ends afterward—did I experience a noise that my ear felt rather than heard, says Eugene Wood in Success Magazine. The toothless saw whirled with unimaginable speed, the sparks showered like an enormous pinwheel, and the unwilling steel emitted a shriek of agony that was like a forceful finger jammed into my ear and scratching on my eardrum with its nail. It was like a brass band of a hundred pieces, each piece blowing fortissimo, a note a half tone higher than its fellow. I don't care for such "close harmony."

On the Spot.

"Yes," said the Billville story teller, "the cyclone carried his house into the next county and set it down there as comfortable as you please, and as he stepped out of the door to survey the country the man who owned the land notified him of suit for trespass and the tax collector handed him a bill for taxes."—Atlanta Constitution.

Take as Directed.

Doctor—How are the pains today? No better? Then don't take any more of the pills. Patient—I haven't taken any of them, doc. Doctor—That accounts for it. You may take them as directed.—Lippincott's.

The [illegible]

Not So Bad as It Sounded.

In a downtown cafe two old college friends met by chance. They had not met before in several years and were properly delighted. In the course of conversation one, who had been long absent from town, bethought him of a mutual friend.

"Tell me," said he, "how I can reach Jim. I'd like to look him up tonight."

"My boy," said the other, "if you want to reach Jim you'll have to telephone to ——, an undertaker on Sixth avenue."

"What! You shock me. Jim dead! I—I am sorry indeed to hear it."

"Dead? Who said he was dead. He's a friend of the undertaker and has rooms near by. He has no telephone, but has an arrangement for using the undertaker's, as the place is open at all hours. Just telephone the undertaker, and the message will be carried around to Jim."—New York Globe.

MISCELLANEOUS

Hans Johnson an aged farmer was found dead near Badger last Tuesday He had been busy feeding and watering his stock and sitting down near a hay stack to rest suffered a apoplectic stroke.

According to the looks of this weeks Thief River Falls PRESS that city is going to have some excitement before they are through with their city election which is to be held Nov. 2nd. and is already warming up considerable.

An illeterate negro, Cal vin Bowdry of Bismark will get first choice of the lands in the Standing Rock and Cheyenne indian reservations the drawing for which took place the first of the week. W. D. Engle, whose name was drawn first was disqualified having filed on a homestead in Tripp Co. S. D.

The state drainage commission consisting of Frank Day, representing governor Johnson, Sec. of state, Schmahl, state auditor Iverson, and state drainage engineer Ralph left for Roseau, Tuesday, to inspect the last section of the Roseau river cut off which is seven miles long and fifty feet wide and is expected to reclaim about 155,000 acres of land.

Caroline Phelps Stokes, who died on August 26th at Redlands Calforina left the bulk of her big fortune for the building of model tenements in New York city. A few thousands were left to different relatives and the residue of her $5,000,000 estate for the purpose of furnishing better homes for the poor and the education of the negroes, and indians of the United States.

MORE SALOONS CLOSED

Saloon Question still a Live One in Nothern Part of State.

According to reports from Cass Lake all the saloons except those run by Tedford and Evidien against who there was no evidence of their having sold liquor to the indians, closed their doors and disposed of all their "fire-water" last Wednesday, which was the last day granted them by the Indian Department in which they would be allowed to run, and not a drop of intoxicant was sold at any of the places since. The only federal officer there was deputy Marshall Larson, who came over from Bemidji to watch proceedings The saloon keepers when the order was first received were inclined to disobey it but thought better of it evidently when they saw what happened at Mahnomen. Reports as to the effect of the closing of the saloons, on the disposal the redman made of the payment he received last Wednesday differ. one stating that when the redmen found they could not procure liquor at any of the towns bordering on the reservation they all took the train to Park Rapids and proceeded to get tanked up in great old shape and brought enough of the stuff home with them to start a fair sized buffet, while another report states that the indian unable to acquire the intoxicant spent his money for clothing and other much needed supplies. Mr. Johnson intends to keep the indians from getting any of the firewater if such a thing is possible and it would undoubtely be better for all concerned if the saloon keepers would cooperate with him in the attempt.

---

The trouble on what was formerly the White Earth reservation is not over as yet. It appears that the saloons were opened up again after the raid and the first part of the week the saloon keepers of Malinomen, Calloway, Wauban, and Ogema were arrested on warrents issued on complaint of Mr. Johnson according to a statement and affidavit filed by E. S. Oakley, assistant federal district attorney for Minnesota, charged with introducing liquor into indian territory and were arraigned before United States Court Commissioner Peter F. Schroeder at Detroit where they waived examination and were held to await the action of the grand jury being released on bail of five hundred dollars each.

---

With out a disenting vote the city council of Bemidiji last Thursday voted to revoke the license granted T. Dugas, at the request of H. A. Larson, special agent of the indian department, who charged Dugas and F. Gagnon from whom Dugas leased his building, with selling liquor to the indians. Larson produced affidavits from three special agents who stated positivily that Mr. Dugas and Mr. Gagnon had sold intoxicating liquor to the Red Lake Indians.

Raises Alfalfa.

Ofaf Tande living in section eleven town of Garnes raised a most successful crop of alfalfa this year getting four good cuttings off the piece he had seeded to the grass, and all of a very good growth. Mr. Tande does not belive however that, every thing considered, alfalfa is as good a paying crop as timothy and clover and will raise those two grasses in the future in preferance to the western grass It will not be long before the farmer has his pasture seeded to tame hay besides having it for feed during the winter months.

---

The Supreme Court last week decided the case of the Red Lake Falls Milling Co. vs. the city of Thief River Falls, in which the city attempted to prevent the removal of the Milling Co's. elevator into the city's fire limits in favor of Thief River Falls and it will now go back to the district court for another trial.

Mrs. Knute Peterson of Baresville is reported to be the champion woman potato picker of the Northwest. In one day she picked 107 bushels for which she was paid at the rate of 4 cents a bushel or $4.28.

Governor to Call a Conservation Congress.

Governor Eberhart expects to summon a conservation congress next winter and as soon as he returns from the deep waterways congress in New Orleans will give the subject earnest attention. He has come to see the need of a systemactic and concentrated action for the preservation and devolopment of the states resources and since his ascendancy to the chief magistracy has become imbued with the idea that one of his duties to the people is to take the lead in the movement.

In his Crookston address last week he dwelt at some length on the agriculture resources of Minnesota, and while he gave high praise to the results attained by the farmers of the state, he did not fail to make it plain that there is more work for them. While agriculture in his opinion always will remain the mainstay of the nation there remains much more to be done in other directions.

These in brief are, the conservation of farm lands, reforestation of cut over lands, development of waterpower, inauguration of artificial waterways, scientific drainage, utilization of peat beds, and extension of good roads.

Haul Grain By Boat.

The Dan Patch arrived in the city last Monday, Martin Swanson at the helm. The cargo was a boat and a barge loaded with some of the finest wheat ever grown in our state. The Grain was raised by Oliva Beaudry on the N. E. ¼ of section 28 in the Town of Highlanding. The wheat was sold to the Hansen and Barzen Milling Company and brought a couple of cents above the market price. In view of the fact that the owner of this grain would have to haul the same at least twenty five miles by team it does seem queer that any one inspecting the Red Lake River should consider it of no importance for navigation. —Thief River Press

Lets Have a Game.

"There is a new game out" says the Waverly Democrat" called tickle the editor' You take an ordinary sheet of writing paper, on which you pen a few lines suitable to the occasion. Next you fold it carefully, inclosing in the fold a banknote sufficiently large to pay arrearages and a year in advance and hand it to the editor. Keep an eye on him and if a smile adorns his face the trick works fine It can also be played by mail.

Come on lets have a game.

Unfavorable Report.

The board of engineers of the War Department refused to sanction the survey of the Red Lake River with a view to its improvements for the benefit of Congress.

Maj. Shunk, the engineer officer in charge of that territory, recently submitted a report to the war department, following a preliminary examination, recommending that no survey be made because the interests of commerce along the river would not warrant the expenditure.

Representative Steenerson went to Washington and submittid an argument before the board of engineers, to the effect that Major Shunks conclusions were wrong, but the board refused to accept Mr. Steenerson's reasoning and approved the recommendation of the engineer. Congressman Steenerson will now bring the matter up at the next sesson of Congress and try and have a bill passed authorizing the work.

All the land not yet filed on, on what is known as the Eleven towns, of what was formerly the Red Lake Reservation has been withdrawn from entry. The act of Feb. 20, 1904 rovided that at the end of five years all lands that remained unsold be again offered for sale to the highest bidder at not less than $4 per acre and purchasers will not be obliged to live upon or cultivate the same. There are a few choice pieces of land that will be offered at this sale but the most of it is not very desireable. The choice pieces are those forfeited to the government for various reasons. Just when the sale will be held is not known at present, but a list is being prepared by the U. S. Land Office.

DAIRYMENS CONVENTION

Red River Dairymen Will Meet at Crookston next week.

Next Wednesday and Thursday, November 3rd and 4th the sevehth annual Convention of the Red River Valley Dairymens Association, will be held at Crookston and it will pay every dairyman who can possibly get away to attend the convention and meet some of the worlds most learned dairymen.—

This meeting will be of more than ordinary interest inasmuch as the management has succeeded in securing for this convention some of the best talent and authority in the world. Prof. T. L. Haecker, who has given a life study to the dairy question will be there. He has just returned from Europe, where he represented the United States as their representative at the fourth International Dairy Congress, held at Budapest, Hungary, from where he also visited several other dairy countries of Europe. His address alone will be worth coming to hear.

Premiums will be given to all prize winners ranging from $2.00 to $15 each and it is expected that some of the world's best dairy produce will be there for inspection.

Besides the addresses by Prof. Haecker there will be one of the finest programs of music and addreses by prominent dairymen of Minnesota and North Dakota that has ever been listened to anywhere within the great dairy state—Minnesota.

The following is the program.

Wednesday, 10 A. M.

Address of welcome, J. D. McPhee, mayor of Crookston; response, F. W. Schilling, Northfield, Minn., pres. Minn. State Dairymen's Ass'n; president's annual address. Prof. Wm. Robertson; appointment of committees.

Wednesday, 2 P. M.

Music, Viking Chorus; "What May Be Gained by Attending a Dairy Convention," F. D. Currier, sec'y Minn. State Dairymen's Ass'n; address, Prof. T. L. Haecker St. Anthony Park, Minn.; "Pasteurizing Cream by the Intermittent System," H. A. Lidenberg, Fosston.

8:30 P. M.

Reception to members of the Ked River Valley Dairymen's Ass'n given by the 25,000 Commercial club. Announcement of prize winners and scores of butter and cheese.

Thursday, 10 A. M.

"Butter at Contests and on the Market," J. C. Joslin; Federal Inspector, Mankato; "Enterprise as applied to Operating a Creamery," R. F. Flint, Dairy Commissioner, Bismark, N. D.; "Reflections on Present Dairy Conditions," Joel G. Winkjor, Federal Inspector, Bismark, N. D.

Newspaper Laws.

The following is a synopsis of the United States Supreme Court decision regarding delinquent suscribers:

Suscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered to renew their subscription. If suscribers order discontinuance of their periodical the puplisher may continue sending it untill all arrears are paid.

If suscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the postoffice they are responsible until after they have settled their bill and ordered their paper discontinued. If subscribers move to other places without informing the puplisher and they continue they are responsiple.

The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the postoffice or moving and leaving them uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not want to continue taking it, otherwise to send it until an express notice with all arrears is sent to the publisher.

Why not have that market day. Boost it along Mr. Merchant it will be an advertisement for the town.

That attack ofindigestion that the weather man must have been suffering from, seems to be staying with him quite a while.

Dr. Cook has been receiving such a warm reception that he is thinking of taking a second trip to the summit of Mt. McKinley to get a chance to cool off.

American women now dress as smarty as their French cousins according to Mme. Jane Noridca a pridonna who recently returned from Europe. Methinks that papa, working over-time at the office, has been thinking that for some time.

A school to teach navigation of the air has been established in France. In a few years the people on this little earth of ours will have to return to the old time style of wearing armor to protect them from injury from the things dropped by careless people sailing over-head.

Spain appears to have gone into the bout with Morrocco withoutbeing "in training" as the college lad would put it: If Alfonso only had one of the American college physical directors for his prime minister, he would not find himself mixed up in a scrap when everything was not alright internally.

The war department did not see fit to grant the need of the improvements asked for the Red Lake River, by the settlers living along it's course. The members of that worthy body do not seem to be long headed enough to see that a few thousand dollars expended in internal improvements is as good a preparation for war time as a few million put into these floating steel boats that are out of date in a year or two.

The different papers published in Mahnomen County are keeping their Editorial colums pretty well filled with their opinions of the Saloon situation in their locaity, most of them being of the opinion that is if the goverment is honestly looking to the welfare of the Indians, the saloons should be closed in Detroit also. There is no doubt but what a good share of poor "Loos" money went over the bars in the polors of that place.

If the citizen would like to have his stateman in a business like manner with all graft eleininated and all unneccessary expense cut out, let him talk "Jim Hill for govenor". He is just a big enough man not to be swayed by politicel ambition from running things to the best interests of the people, he would not have backing of organized politics, but why not try running the state affairs without having a few hundred of these so called politians hanging to her skirts.

Which Shall Rule?

The real issue in our politics today is whether the dollar or the man shall rule this country. The battle is raging in the democratic and the republican party—yes, right in our midst, the long arm and talon fingers of the plutocracy are seen and felt. Its sublime cunning surrounds us, its tools, with the word of God in its mouth and the devil in its heart, and breathing platitudinous devotion to the cause of humanity while it seeks to tear down our leaders and divide our councils.

Right must win or the public dies There should be harmony with all true, earnest men, but not that kind of harmony which involves the sacrifice of principles. We want peace, but not the peace of the corpse quiet decay, silence, absence of motion, and a bad smell. Honesty is a great force if you give it a fair chance; but villainy has throttled it so long that the distinctions between right and wrong, between truth and false-hood, have almost disappeared.

NO PORK BARREL

President Airs Views on Waterway Improvement.

OPPOSES BIG BOND ISSUE

Any Plan Adopted Must Benefit the Whole Country.

St. Louis, Oct. 26.—Millions of bonds for inland waterway improvement, but not a penny for the pork barrel was the new slogan enacted by President Taft on the eve of his departure down the Mississippi to look into the proposition for a lake-to-gulf improvement.

About 200 United States senators and congressmen, including Speaker Cannon himself, sat on the platform of the coliseum when the president made his declaration. The immense audience, filling every quarter of the big auditorium, cheered its approval.

"There is a project now on foot," cried the president, for his voice was almost gone and he was speaking with a great effort, "that involves the issue of $500,000,000 or $1,000,000,000 in bonds for the improvement of the Mississippi, the improvements to be distributed between various sections of the Mississippi valley, a part to the Atlantic, a part to Missouri and so on. I am opposed to it. I am opposed to it, not only because it smells of the pork barrel, but it will be the pork barrel."

Elsewhere the president declared:

Must Benefit Whole Country.

"Every measure that is to be taken up and adopted must be on the ground that it is useful to the country at large, and not on the ground that it is going to send certain congressmen back to congress or on the ground that it is going to give a certain part of the country during the expenditure of that money prosperity. If that is the principle, and one which I deprecate, that is to obtain, I am in favor of going along the same old way we have, gone before."

With these reservations the president renewed all his declarations of last Friday at Corpus Christi in favor of a definite and comparative plan for the improvement of inland waterways and of a bond issue to carry out the plan once it has been adopted.

The president flung this demand for a bond issue in the teeth of Speaker Cannon, who sat only six feet away. He faced the speaker also when he made his declaration with regard to the "pork barrel" and "Uncle Joe," as chairman of the house committee on appropriations, was the originator of the pork barrel, and is now, as speaker, the man who measures the amount of pork that is to be distributed.

MAURA CABINET FORCED OUT

New Spanish Ministry Headed by Senor Moret.

Madrid, Oct. 22.—The Spanish cabinet, which was formed Jan. 25, 1907, under the premiership of Antonio Maura, resigned as a result of the bitter attacks made against the government by the former premier, Moret y Prendergast, representing a powerful opposition.

At a conference with King Alfonso, Premier Maura told the king that, in the face of Senor Moret's statement that the opposition would refuse to discuss even the most urgent measures, he had no option but to resign. He asked, however, the members of the majority to support the new ministry.

Moret y Prendergast formed a new ministry, himself assuming the post of premier and minister of the interior.

When the president of the chamber of deputies made the announcement of the cabinet's resignation it was received with such an ear-splitting uproar that he was forced to adjourn the sitting.

ENDS LIFE IN NEW YORK

Butte Woman, Disappointed In Love, Shoots Herself.

New York, Oct. 23.—So determined to take her own life that she nerved herself to pull the trigger a second time after the first cartridge had failed her Leah Oppenheimer, a beautiful woman, shot herself in her sister's home here and died instantly.

The cause of the suicide's act, according to the statement made by her family to Coroner Harburger, was disappointment in love.

The woman, whose home was in Butte, Mont., had recently received letters from that city which depressed her and two weeks ago she threatened to do away with herself.

MRS. ASTOR SEEKS DIVORCE

Leader of Gotham's Four Hundred Brings Suit.

New York, Oct. 26.—Society will hear with sincere regret that Mrs. John Jacob Astor, the beautiful and queenly leader of the 400, is suing her distinguished husband for divorce.

The legal proceedings have been conducted quietly and with dispatch. The case is now in the hands of the referee, C. H. Young. Exactly what is the basis of the action has not been learned.

STENOGRAPHERS' NOTES.

Perfectly Intelligible Only to the One Who Wrote Them.

"My stenographer was taken ill suddenly," said a well known business man the other day, "and as I had dictated some important letters to him which I wanted written at once I took his notebook to a stenographic institution and asked for a man to translate the notes. Judge of my surprise when I was informed that no matter how good an expert a stenographer may be he cannot read the notes of a colleague."

"This is a common complaint of men who know nothing of stenography and have never studied it," said a shorthand reporter recently. "It is true, however, that no stenographer can accurately translate another's notes This does appear strange, but it must be remembered that stenography is by no means a perfect science. In fact, it is most imperfect, and there is great room for improvement. Therefore every intelligent person who studies stenography after he gets through the rudiments of it begins to improve it in his own way, invents word signs and characters and changes or alters those he has learned. As a result every stenographer's notes are stamped by his own individuality, a mystery to another, and therefore, with the exception of words most commonly used, it would be impossible to read another's notes accurately.—New York Herald.

The Longer It Looks the More It Sees Within Certain Limits.

Often the eye of the camera will decipher documents of which the writing had been substantially obliterated by age, says a writer in Van Norden's Magazine. I have successfully copied with the camera the utterly faded photograph of a classmate of forty years previous.

Changes in the pigment of the skin, undiscovered by the eye, appear with distinctness on the sensitive plate, and it is said that ample warning of approaching disease has been thereby given.

The camera takes pictures of subjects which cannot be made to appear on the ground glass and of those which the eye of man has never seen. The human eye can penetrate space no farther in an hour than in a single instant. Yet the eye of the camera will gaze into the sky for hours, looking deeper and seeking more with each second that passes.

Through this attribute of the camera a great chart of the heavens is now being made. In this work distinguished astronomers and photographers throughout the world are co-operating. Yet not one in a hundred of the stars already plainly pictured by them was ever seen by the unaided eye of scientists.

A Verbal Speedometer.

Every calling has its technical vocabulary, and those who are familiar with it are often surprised and irritated at the difficulty other people have in understanding it. A writer in the New York World tells of an old horseman in Maine who had run over a man and was being sued for damages.

The court asked the defendant if he was driving fast. He answered, "I was going a pace." The court then said, "Now, kindly tell the gentlemen of the jury just how fast you were going."

"Well," said the defendant, "I reckon I was going a clip."

"Well, will you tell the jury how fast a clip is?"

"Well, it's going a dite."

"Now, will you tell the jury how fast a dite is?"

"Well, a dite's a dite. Anybody knows what a dite is."

Which Leg?

In a small town in the west of Scotland the town clerk, who was a bit of a "character," had the misfortune to lose his leg in a railway accident. As a mark of appreciation and esteem for his long services the council unanimously agreed to replace his loss with an artificial limb, which they did as soon as he was sufficiently recovered. A few months afterward the town clerk, who was generally known by his Christian name, Paul, was unfortunate enough to have his other leg fractured in an accident. Naturally the mishap became food for town gossip, and one old wife in discussing the matter with a neighbor was overheard saying:

"It's a gey bad business for Paul, puir man, but is't his ain leg or the leg that belangs to the toon that's broken?"

Life of the Red Deer.

According to an old Gaelic legend, a red deer might live for 210 years, an eagle for 630 and an oak tree for nearly nineteen centuries. Nowadays, however, hundred-year-old deer would be difficult to find. From twenty-five to thirty-five years apparently may be about the range of their existence.—London Country Gentleman.

The Amateur.

"Yes," said the person who had attended the party, "Miss Keepounder was there, and we had to beg and beg her to play."

"And did she play?"

"Oh, yes. I thought for a time that we would have to beg and beg her to stop."—Exchange.

No Fun.

Peter and John (seeing a large plate glass pane being put in)—We may as well go home. They are not going to let it fall.—Fliegende Blatter.

Kind words are the music of the world.—Faber.

Bad luck is only a man sitting on the corner or lounging around a redhot stove in the corner grocery store with a pipe in his mouth, and expectorating tobacco juice, looking to see how things turn out. Good luck is the pluck of a man with his sleeves turned up, hustling like a turk to make things come out all right.

JUSTICE PECKHAM IS DEAD

Was Cleveland's Last Appointee to Supreme Bench.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Rufus W. Peckham, associate justice of the United States supreme court, died at Coolmore, his summer home at Altamont, Albany county. Death was due to a complication of diseases, heart trouble, Bright's disease and hardening of the arteries contributing.

Justice Peckham had been in ill health for some time, but his condition was not considered serious until recently.

Justice Peckham was a Democrat. He was born in Albany, N. Y., Nov. 8, 1838, and had been on the bench, state and federal, for twenty-six years. He was the last of President Cleveland's Democratic appointees to the federal supreme court. He took his seat in January, 1896.

KILLS MAN HE FALLS ON

Brick Mason at Des Moines Has Drop of Fifty Feet.

Des Moines, Oct. 21.—W. J. Kennedy, a brick mason at work on the Des Moines Coliseum, fell from a scaffold, alighting squarely upon the head of John Holmquist, a tailor, who was passing on the sidewalk fifty feet below. Holmquist's neck was broken and he died within a few minutes. Kennedy was seriously injured.

DEATH ENDS CAREER

Passing of Senator McCarren, Brooklyn Political Leader.

New York, Oct. 23.—Patrick H. McCarren, state senator and Democratic leader of Brooklyn, died at St. Catherine's hospital, Brooklyn, at 1:15 o'clock this morning, never having completely rallied from the effects of an operation for appendicitis which was performed on Oct. 13. The senator himself realized throughout Friday afternoon and the earlier part of the night that his end was near.

PATRICK H. McCARREN.

Patrick Henry McCarren, by trade a cooper, by profession a lawyer and by vocation a politician, was one of the most picturesque figures in the political history of Greater New York. No leader was ever more roundly condemned, yet at the close of sixty-one years of his life he was probably the most strongly entrenched leader in New York state, and had even wielded some influence in national politics.

BY DEATH OF M. N. JOHNSON

Political Situation in North Dakota Badly Mixed.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 22.—United States Senator M. N. Johnson of North Dakota died at a hotel in this city of acute Brights disease.

He had been here a short time for medical treatment and the disease developed rapidly following a slight nasal operation. He was to have left here in a day or two to join the Taft party in the South and with it finish the trip to Washington from New Orleans.

Johnson's death leaves the political situation in North Dakota badly mixed up. As McCumber comes up for re-election before the next primaries and the legislature this will necessitate the election of two senators.

Congressman Gronna, from the same county as Johnson, will now enter the senatorial race for the short term. Ex-Congressman Marshall is already in the race against McCumber for the long term. Former Senator Hansbrough, now in Washington, will also undoubtedly return to the state and engage in the senatorial contest.

As Governor Burke is a Democrat he will in the meantime select some man of his party to fill the vacancy until the next legislative session and North Dakota, for the first time since Roach's term, will have a Democrat in the senate.

ZELAYA'S ARMY LOSES

Nicaraguan Revolutionists Win Important Battle.

Bluefields, Nicaragua, Oct. 25.—The tug Blanca, which has arrived here from Greytown, brings news of the first important battle of the revolution.

General Chamorros' forces fought an engagement with 1,000 of President Zelaya's troops at a point below Boca San Carlos, on the San Juan river. The revolutionists won a decisive victory, 100 of the government troops being killed and 300 wounded. General Chamorros' losses were slight.

The insurgents captured two Krupp siege guns and 400 rifles. This defeat for President Zelaya will doubtless have a deterrent effect on recruiting for the government service at Managua and is likely also to bring additional revolutionists to the standards of the insurgents. General Chamorros is now advancing slowly.

The steamer Yulu also has reached here with the details of the capture by the revolutionists of Cape Gracias a Dios. This port was easily taken, not more than five or six men being killed and a small number wounded. This gives the revolutionists control of the entire Atlantic coast.

QUARTER MILLION DAMAGE

Terrific Boiler Explosion at Pabst Plant at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Oct. 25.—As the result of a terrific boiler explosion in the power plant of the Pabst Brewing company Fred Stern, an employe in the engine room, is dead under tons of debris and Gottlieb Jehnert is in the Emergency hospital seriously and probably fatally injured. He is badly bruised about the head, right arm and back.

The force of the explosion was so great as to throw nearby buildings off their foundations and to shatter windows for many blocks.

The damage is estimated by Gustav Pabst at $250,000. The big malt elevator was moved three feet from its foundation into a private alley.

Tenth street for a block is filled with eight and ten feet of tangled debris.

Flues and pipes weighing from ten to twenty tons were thrown all over the vicinity.

RAINS TWENTY-SIX INCHES

All Records Broken During Recent Philippine Storm.

Manila, Oct. 25.—Some storm records were broken in the recent typhoon which crossed Northern Luzon and the Benguet mountains. Eighteen inches of rain fell in nine hours and twenty-six inches fell in the twenty-four hours the storm lasted. The Bued river rose sixty feet.

The wind gauge at the observatory broke when the wind attained a velocity of ninety-five miles an hour.

It is estimated that it will require two months to restore the Baguio road.

Another typhoon went swirling across Luzon between Manila and Dagupan Sunday, but no serious damage is reported.

LIPTON ARRIVES IN NEW YORK

Wants Another Chance to Lift the America's Cup.

New York, Oct. 25.—Sir Thomas Lipton, accompanied by Colonel Duncan F. D. Neill, arrived here on the Cedric. Before leaving the Cedric Sir Thomas said:

"I have come over this time red hot for another challenge to the New York Yacht club and will do my best to arrange matters with the club so that I can have another chance to lift the cup. At the present moment I do not care to talk until I have seen the yacht racing committee, who will have this matter in charge."

Sir Thomas looked the picture of health and was in splendid spirits.

PRINCE ITO SLAIN

Japanese Statesman Assassinated by a Korean.

CRIME COMMITTED AT HARBIN

Victim Classed as One of Country's Greatest Men.

Tokio, Oct. 26.—News has been received here that Prince Ito, the famous Japanese statesman, has been assassinated by a Korean at Harbin.

He was at Harbin for the purpose of conducting negotiations for the Russian railway lines in Northern Manchuria.

The news was received in Tokio at 3 o'clock this (Tuesday) afternoon. The dispatch contained only the brief announcement that Prince Ito had been assassinated.

Prince Hirobumi was born in 1833. He spent a year in London in 1863, was governor of Hiogo in 1868, vice minister of finance of Japan 1869 and was premier of the Japanese cabinet four times.

PRINCE ITO.

Prince Hirobumi Ito was perhaps the greatest statesman of new Japan. The achievement with which his name has been chiefly associated in the minds of Occidentals was the framing of the imperial constitution, by virtue of which Japan took her place for the first time in the rank of modern civilized states.

EARTHQUAKE CAUSES HAVOC

Villages Destroyed and Many People Killed in India.

Quetta, India, Oct. 23.—Great havoc was wrought in Beluchistan and the western portion of the Punjab by an earthquake, according to reports received from tribesmen straggling in from the affected districts.

These say the villages of Makanbela, Tanio, Kanda and Kurani have been almost entirely destroyed with the loss of hundreds of lives.

The cities of Khelat, with 12,000 population, and Ragh, with 10,000, are isolated and it is feared that great damage has been done there also. Some of the tribesmen have heard rumors that both cities have been wiped out.

SIX DIE IN RAIL COLLISION

All the Victims Employes of the Pennsylvania Road.

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 23.—Six persons, all railroad employes, were killed in a wreck on the Pan Handle division of the Pennsylvania railroad near Collinsville, O., when southbound passenger train No. 18 ran into a freight train on an open siding.

The passenger train, which does not stop at Collinsville, was said to have been running at a rate of fifty miles an hour when the crash came. According to reports reaching here the switch was open and the passenger and freight trains collided head on.

PRISONER ADMITS HIS GUILT

Confesses to Murder of Woman Found Near Islip, L. I.

New York, Oct. 25.—Frederick Gebhart, alias Otto Mueller, made a complete confession of the shooting of Anna Luther, the woman he married in Newark, near Islip, L. I., in April, 1908, according to the police of Brooklyn. Mueller broke down, the police declare, and admitted the killing. He stated that he shot her because she had discovered that he had another wife living and threatened to prosecute him for bigamy.

TEN DIE IN MINE EXPLOSION

Believed to Have Gone Beyond "Dead Line" With Lighted Lamps.

Hartshorn, Okla., Oct. 22.—Ten men are dead, two are injured and one is missing as a result of an explosion in mine No. 10 of the Rock Island Coal Mining company. Nine bodies were recovered.

The men are believed to have gone beyond a "dead line" with lighted lamps in entering the mine, the lamps igniting escaping gas.

CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

Made Against Dr. Fritch in the Millman Case.

Detroit, Oct. 26.—After Chauffeur Joseph W. Leach had testified in police court that on the night of Aug. 27 he drove Dr. George A. Fritch from the physician's office to Ecorse creek, where the doctor threw into the water three sacks, which they had taken from his office, Dr. Fritch was held for trial in the recorder's court on the charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Maybelle Millman of Ann Arbor.

Miss Millman's body was found in three sections in sacks in Ecorse creek and the lower Detroit river early in September. The body bore evidence, and the police and county physicians were satisfied, that a criminal operation had been performed or attempted.

Chauffeur Leach on the stand gave a graphic recital of the story he told the police about the events of the night of Aug. 27, which led to Dr. Fritch's re-arrest. Cross-examination failed to shake his testimony.

RESULT OF LABOR TROUBLE

Explosions That Wrecked Buildings in Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Oct. 26.—Superintendent Metzger of the police department said that his investigation of the circumstances of the four explosions of dynamite that wrecked buildings in different parts of the city late Sunday night had satisfied him that they were brought about by a carefully organized and skilfully executed conspiracy by enemies of Albert Von Spreckelsen, a building contractor, in revenge for his having employed non union labor. No arrests have been made.

Spreckelsen, fearing violence, sent his children out of town. His wife remains with him.

WILL NOT BE TRIED ON MURDER CHARGE

Little Evidence Against Louise Arbogast.

St. Paul, Oct. 26.—Louise Arbogast will not be prosecuted for the murder of her father, no matter how the case against her mother terminates.

That much was learned from an authoritative source, although the county attorney would not make a specific statement to that effect. Apparently, however, there is little or nothing to show that Louise was in or near the bedchamber when her father was killed.

This new development in the case is the result of the testimony of Mrs. Mary Garvey, when she gave evidence flatly contradicting the statements of Ida Arbogast regarding her mother's presence in the burning room the morning her father, Louis Arbogast, was killed.

Mrs. Garvey stated positively that Mrs. Arbogast informed her that she was in the kitchen cooking breakfast when she was aroused by Ida's cries of fire upstairs. The girl swore that her mother was standing by the burning bedside of her dying father when she rushed in and dragged her away.

Ida Arbogast was the most uncomfortable person in the courtroom while Mrs. Garvey was reciting the events of the morning when Louis Arbogast was murdered while in bed. She squirmed in her chair, and the agonized expression of her face portrayed her feelings.

Mrs. Arbogast heard the testimony of her neighbor with a tremor, but it would be difficult to determine whether herself or Ida felt the keenest disappointment over it. It was known all along by the county attorney that Mrs. Garvey had a totally different tale to tell from the narrative of the Arbogast girls, and her statements were not unexpected. The witness is a very discerning woman, who told a connected tale of the happenings of the morning of the murder.

The bloody night dress worn by Mrs. Arbogast the morning of the murder, when Mrs. Garvey dressed her burns, was identified by the latter, as were other garments. The identification of the night dress and the statement of Mrs. Garvey that Mrs. Arbogast told her another night dress had been burned off her were regarded as strong points by the county attorney. What ever became of the remnants of the gown that was destroyed has never been established.

Mrs. Lawrence Ulmer (Emma Arbogast) was the most stubborn witness the county attorney has had to handle since the beginning of the trial. Her memory was distressingly bad about facts that might guide the county attorney in his efforts to solve the mystery surrounding the murder of her father.

Sanatorium Site Chosen.

Custer, S. D., Oct. 26.—The site for the tuberculosis sanatorium has been chosen by the state board. The institution will be located about two and a half miles from this place, which had agreed to donate 160 acres. The board thought this area too small, and decided the state would need at least 1,000 acres. The board suggests that the business men of Custer take steps to secure the necessary tract of land from the government in the shape of a grant from the forestry reserve.

GOVERNORS OF MINNESOTA

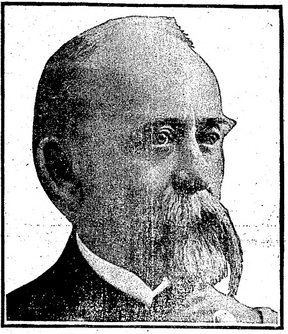
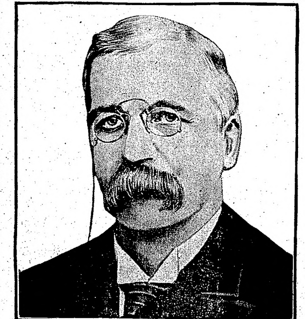
JOHN S. PILLSBURY—1876-1882.

John S. Pillsbury was born in Sutton, N. H., July 19, 1828. He came to St. Anthony Falls, which is now Minneapolis, in 1855 and engaged in the hardware business. After eighteen years he sold out in order to devote his time exclusively to the manufacture of flour under the firm name of Charles A. Pillsbury & Co. He was elected governor in 1875, re-elected in 1877 and again elected in 1879, being the only man who ever had the honor of being elected governor three times. He was a member of the Minneapolis city council for ten years, and from 1863 to 1876, with a single brief interval, he was state senator. Mr. Pillsbury was a wealthy man and did much to assist the state university in attaining its present position among institutions of learning. He died at Minneapolis Aug. 18, 1901.



LUCIUS F. HUBBARD—1882-1887.

Lucius F. Hubbard was born in Troy, N. Y., Jan. 26, 1836. He went to Chicago in 1853 and in 1857 to Red Wing, Minn., which city is now his home. His first venture in Red Wing was the establishment of the Red Wing Republican, a weekly newspaper. On the outbreak of the civil war he sold his newspaper to enlist as a private in the Fifth Minnesota infantry. He was commissioned captain Feb. 5, 1862, lieutenant colonel March 20, 1862, and colonel in August of the same year. He was wounded at the battle of Corinth. After the fall of Vicksburg Colonel Hubbard commanded a brigade at the battle of Nashville, where he was again wounded. He was breveted brigadier general for conspicuous gallantry. In 1872 he was elected to the state senate and re-elected two years later. He was elected governor in 1881 and re-elected in 1883.



ANDREW R. M'GILL—1887-1889.

Andrew R. McGill was born at Saegerstown, Pa., Feb. 19, 1840. After obtaining a common school education he attended Saegerstown academy. He taught school in Kentucky in 1859. In 1861 he came to Minnesota and taught school, and in 1862 he enlisted in Company D, Ninth Minnesota infantry, and was made orderly sergeant of the company. He took part in suppressing the Indian outbreak, but served only one year, being discharged on account of poor health. Then he was elected superintendent of schools for Nicollet county and served two terms in that capacity. He was editor of the St. Peter Tribune two years. He was elected clerk of court of Nicollet county and served four years, at the end of which time he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1868. He was private secretary to Governor Austin. The Republicans in 1886 elected him governor. He died Oct. 31, 1905, at his home in St. Anthony Park, a suburb of St. Paul.

The Benefit Of A Change

One of the worst foes of human life is monotony. The whole human being, body and soul, rebels against it. After long residence in one place the blood begins to run sluggishly; the appetite fails, the mind becomes dull and the feelings stupefied. Mind and body act and react upon one another. Every physician recognizes the value of change, not only the change of air and diet, but change of surroundings, as a medicine for the sick. Change of scene stimulates the mind and heart to activity, and these reacting on the body rouse it to greater vitality and effort, until the whole system is renovated.

NOISES IN VENICE.

The Way They Crash Upon the Normal Quiet of the City.

With all the water traffic and with not a horse or a cab or a wagon to wake the echoes, the utter silence of Venice is the thing that first impresses the traveler. Yet because there is no undertone of city noises in which occasional noises may merge the Grand canal at Venice seems to the sleeper at night the noisiest place in the world, for every little noise crashes into one's sleep, and the most wakeful hours of our six weeks in Italy were spent on the Grand canal in Venice. The bells of the churches probably do not ring louder nor more frequently than they ring in other cities, yet because Venice is so still these bells clang through the night like the alarm of a continuous and ever increasing fire. The bawl of a lovelorn human calf carrying home three drinks and a throbbing heart, a noise that may be heard by the attentive listener any place on earth after 11 o'clock, in Venice becomes insistent and demoniacal. The common quarrel in the street enters the bedroom at night with nerve racking distinctness, and the morning song of the market gardener bringing his wares to town in his silent boat smites the sleeper's ears like a call to arms. If Macbeth really did murder sleep, the crime was done in Venice.

There are, of course, considerable acres in Venice—islands—where the streets are paved and where commerce goes on in the ordinary way, except that there are no horses or carriages in the narrow ways.—William Allen White in Emporia Gazette.

TAFT MAY APPOINT LURTON

Tennessee Man May Succeed Justice Peckham.

Washington, Oct. 26.—The death of Justice Peckham leaves but two Democrats on the supreme bench, Fuller and White, who were appointed by President Cleveland. It is believed here that President Taft will be almost certain to name a Democrat in Peckham's place, and that Judge Horace Harmon Lurton of Nashville, Tenn., will be the man. Lurton is now judge of the federal court in the Sixth judicial district.

Lurton and Taft served on the circuit bench together and became well acquainted. Lurton is a Democrat, but President Taft regards him as one of the best judges in the United States, a man who holds himself above partisanship. The president has repeatedly commended Judge Lurton as a model judge, both for principle, erudition, courage and fairness.

When President Roosevelt was looking for a successor to Justice Brown, who had resigned, he offered the place successively to P. C. Knox, then United States senator, and to William H. Taft, then secretary of war. Both declined, but Mr. Taft urged Mr. Roosevelt to appoint Judge Lurton. Mr. Roosevelt was much inclined to accept this recommendation, but Senator Lodge convinced him that Judge Lurton was not quite "right" on the question of the rights of the negro, and, as the peonage cases and a matter involving contempt of the supreme court of the United States, in the lynching of a negro, were coming up, Mr. Roosevelt decided to appoint Mr. Moody, of Mr. Lodge's own state, then attorney general of the United States.

In view of President Taft's recommendation then, there is little doubt, as the matter is being looked at here today, that he will appoint Judge Lurton to succeed Justice Peckham, especially as the vacancy is caused by the death of a Democrat.

Judge Lurton was born in Kentucky in 1844. He was graduated from the University of Tennessee in 1867 and was admitted to the bar in the same year. He became chancellor of the Sixth division of Tennessee in 1886. He was soon made a justice of the supreme court of Tennessee and chief justice of the state court in 1893, and the same year President Cleveland appointed him to the United States circuit court bench.

BOWERS MAY GET THE PLACE

Former Minnesota Man May Succeed Justice Peckham.

Washington, Oct. 26.—That Lloyd W. Bowers, solicitor in the department of justice, who formerly resided in Winona, Minn., is slated for a place as associate justice in the United States supreme court, or will ultimately be promoted to a post in the Taft cabinet, is assured, according to information obtained here.

Mr. Bowers is prominently mentioned in connection with the vacancy on the supreme bench created by the death of Justice Peckham, although the impression is beginning to prevail that President Taft will be guided in making this appointment by geographical consideration. If he is, the nomination will be given to a New York man.

Apfelsine.

Messina furnished early in the nineteenth century a new word for the German language. It was from there that oranges were first shipped to Germany, and the fruit was known for a long time after its advent as "apfel aus Messina"—apple from Messina. After many years "apfel aus Messina" degenerated into "apfel Messina," and finally it became "apfelsine," the name by which oranges are still known among German speaking people.

Quite Sufficient.

Mrs. Jones (inspecting a milliner's window)—I don't see what it is that keeps those women's heads turning around all the time. Mr. Jones—Why, my dear, just a bonnet itself is sufficient to turn any woman's head.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Firm Friends.

"Friendship, boys and girls," said a member of a provincial education committee, "is a thing to be cultivated and practiced by all of us. Read and ponder the stories of the great friendships of sacred and profane history. Take them for your models—David and Jonathan, Damon and Pythias and Scylla and Charybdis!"—London Telegraph.

BUSINESS MEN MEET

Discuss Good Roads. Lay Foundation for Commercial Club.

The business men of Plummer met at Carlsons hall last Wednesday, and discussed the numerous pertinent subjects of the day, including good roads and the formation of a commercial club. The most important subject handled at the meeting was that concerning the improvement of the road to Garnes and the east over which there is more traffic than any other highway leading into Plummer.

A hundred dollars was appropriated from the town funds to be used in fixing up the road and it is expected that the town board of Emardville will appropriate as much more. Tom Norby was appointed to oversee the work which means that the money will be well expended. This is a move in the right direction and will undoubtedly be appreciated by the farmers in the vicinity. Commercial club plans were also discussed at the meeting and there will be anothor meeting held in the near future at which such a organization will be perfected. For the future prosperity of Plummer, this is one of the best moves that could have been started as nothing makes such a favorable impression on a stranger looking for a business location as to see a bunch of good-live-hustling business men with the interest of their town at heart. So let everybody forget all their minor differances and present a harmonious and busy aspect to the visiting stranger.

AUCTION SALE.

At the farm of Stein Tvedten south west quarter of section 23 town of Mayfield, four miles north of Garnes, on SATURDAY NOV. 13 starting at 10:00 A. M. Free lunch at noon.

The following is a partial list of the property which is to be sold.

9 cows 3 fresh in December rest in January and February.

3 bulls about 15 months old.

5 calves.

1 heavy yoke oxen with harness.

200 bushel of oats.

5 stacks of hay about 45 ton.

1 Cream seperator.

An assortment of farm machinery and household goods too numerous to itimize. Usual terms.

Minnesota a Leader.

Minnesota had the best yield per acre of any state in the Union in rye and hay and second best in wheat during the season just closing. Figures showing these facts were compiled by George Welsh, immigration commissioner, from the government crop report. Beside that Minnesota had the largest yield of wheat of any state in the Union. Minnesota's wheat crop is figured at 94,562,000 bushels, an average of 16.5 bushels per acre. Wisconsin was the only state with a better average, 19 bushels; but its total crop was only 2,318,000. North Dakota raised 87,283,000 bushels, nearly as much as Minnesota, but the average yield was only 13.7. Iowa's average was 14.71 and South Dakota and Nebraska had average of about 14 bushels.

The office force of Foley Welch and Stewart, who has the grading contract for the entire new Soo Line, formerly located at Moose Lake, will be moved to Bemidji in the near future according to information received from that place. John Molerg a Bemidji contractor has the contract for six miles of the road from Bemidji west will and start grading next week.

---

Paul La Chappelle, indicted by the grand jury at Mahnomen, Tuesday, for forgery, broke jail Tuesday night and his whereabouts is not known at this writing. La Chappelle was entered in the village awaiting the turn for his case to be called. It appears that he must have had assistance as three locks were broken in order to get him out. The jail breaking was committed towards morning as the electric lights are lighted until after one o'clock and the jail is close by the light plant.—Wauban Forum.

GRADING WELL ALONG

Weather Conditions Ideal. Big Outfit now on the job.

Under the ideal weather conditions that have prevailed for the past two weeks the grading on this end of the new Soo Line is being pushed right along and a couple of more weeks of favorable weather will see the greater part of it finished. The four contractors working between here and Lost river have nearly completed their contracts and at the end of next week the first eighteen miles will likely be ready for the steel gang.

The first of the week a part of Mr. Higgins' outfit arrived and the remainder is expected to arrive most any time. When his complete outfit if here Mr. Higgins will have about three hundred men and a hundred and fifty horses on the job besides a couple of steam shovels. He has the contract for the first twenty six miles east of Lost River and will have some of the heaviest cuts and fills on the line but as it is a sandy country he expects to work the most of the winter. He has pitched camp in Gully township and when all the tents are up it makes quite an imposing array.

A story in the Crookston Times stated that a Crookstonite traveling north of Bagley saw the combined camps of the surveyors and contractors at Gully he thought that in must be a army invading this country from Canada and hurried back to spread the news. Altho he is having part of his outfit unloaded at Brooks as it will give him a shorter haul to Gully Mr. Higgins it is under stood will make this his head quarters while he is on the job.

A. A. Alrick Sells.

A deal was closed the first of the week whereby A. A. Alrick transferred his interest in the business of A. A. Alrick and Co. to J. C Schmidtz of Minneapolis and the business in the future will be conducted under the firm name of J. C. Schmitz & Co. with Mr. Schmitz in charge. Mr. Schmidtz is a man of large business experience and will without doubt make a success of his new venture; the Pioneer in beealf of the people of Plummer and vicinity extend to him the "glad hand" of welcome. Mr Alrick has not given out what his plans for the future are but the many friends of the family hope to see them remain here.

"Goin Fishin".

Game warden Munch received a shipment of thirty cans of fish fry from the state hatchery Wednesday at Crookston and took them to Red Lake Falls where he planted them in the Clearwater river. In the near future you will see all the local followers of Isac Walton putting in their spare time whipping the local stream for a mess of trout and many is the fine mess he will enjoy, when in the realms of Morpheous after a days tramp along the stream.

The Misers Profit.

When a man takes his money out of a bank and buries it in the garden or gives it to a friend to keep in his boot leg for him, it generally turns out that somebody finds the spot in the garden or the friend takes a sudden notion to emigrate. The most absurd thing one can do is to draw money from institutions that are managed by honest men and hide it about the house or trust it to friends He who wants to gain wealth must deny himself extras or always remain poor. Even a five cent cigar each day will amount to $18.25 each year; and one that saves that sum will be much ahead of one who spends it. And the habit of saving will be worth everything. If he save $18 25 each year, only putting it at 6 per cent simple interest, it would in twenty years amount to more than $570. So much for one little trifle of indulgence. He who would in a few years be independent, and not envy the 'capitalist', must start right.

A Last Opportunity.

The father of the late Benoit Constant Coquelin, the great French actor, was a baker, and young Coquelin was brought up to the trade. At thirteen, a writer in Le Figaro says, he manifested an irresistible inclination toward the stage, an inclination which his father steadfastly strove to repress.

"Don't devote so much time to those dramas," his father used to say. "You have learned a good trade, the business is running well, and you shall be my successor."

A number of years after Constant had made his way into general favor his father, who took pride in his boy's success, but could never quite get over the feeling that Constant should have been a baker, was congratulated upon his son's eminence.

"I remember," said the old man, "that Constant was a good baker. He would have gone far in the trade."

Blowing Up the Locks.

Would it be easy to blow up and destroy a lock canal by the malicious use of dynamite or other high explosive? The question has been debated much in connection with the Panama canal. The Engineering News calls attention to the fact that an attempt made in 1900 to wreck the Welland canal in this way produced surprisingly small results. After two weeks' examination the two men concerned selected lock 24, and each lowered a satchel containing dynamite and a fuss to the water behind the gate at each end of the lock. Both charges were exploded. but the dynamite failed to carry away the gates. Although the explosives blew a hole about a foot in diameter through each gate and loosened the hinges, the gates remained in position holding back the water.

In the Regular Establishment.

"Yes," said the fresh young lieutenant, "the army has fallen on evil days."

The sophisticated captain merely gasped.

"Why," the F. Y. L. went on, "look at the names on this roll—Private Entrance, Corporal Punishment, Major Domo, General Housework. What kind of a"—

But just then the S. C. shied a—a—well, a ginger ale bottle at the fleeing offender.—Lippincott's.

Explained.

"You say the defendant pulled the plaintiff's hair. Now, how could the defendant, who is an unusually short man, reach the plaintiff's hair, the plaintiff being fully six feet tall?"

"Why, you see, your honor, the plaintiff was butting him at the time."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Evidently a Connoisseur.

"Biggins is a connoisseur in cigars."

"He must be. Otherwise he might make an occasional mistake and give away a good one."—Washington Star.

Martin A. Swiss of Nebraska has acquired the reputation of being the best farmer in the country. Starting a few year ago with nothing he now has a clear title to twenty acres of land fine buildings and money in the bank. He made all his money off the twenty acres for which he has a standing offer of $2,500.00 and claims that for a man to try and farm over fourty acres of land is a calamity. He is so successful in his farming that the go vernment experts are taking lessons from him.

Fifteen suits have been filed against the Northern Pacific railway company by the residents of Hawley and vicinity as a results of heavy flooods the past summer, the amounts aggregating between $7,000 and $8,000. It is generally alleged that the huge embankment near and through the village was not properly constructed, sufficient outlet not being provided for the flood water. C. A. Nye of Moorhead will defend the cases for the railway company, who themselves suffered damage from the floods aggaegating hundreds of thousands of dollars.

WITHDRAWN FROM ENTRY

No More Entries Can Be Made on Land remaining in the Eleven Towns.

The following is a copy of the orders received at the Crookston Land Office in respect to the lands open for settlement in the ceeded portion of the Eleven Towns.

"The act of February 20, 1904, (33 Stat. ,46 ) which provided for the disposal of the lands in the eleven townships in the western part of the Red Lake Indian Reservation, contained the following provision:

That the lands above described which shall remain unsold at the expiration of five years from date of the first sale hereunder, shall be offered for sale at not less than four dollars per acre and lands remaining unsold after such sale shall be subject to private entry and sale at said price without any conditions what ever except the payment of the purchase price.

The sale referred to closed October 8 1904. You will therefore discontinue the allowance of homestead entries for said lands from the date of receipt of this letter and will at as early a date as practicable transmit a list of the lands remaining unsold in said eleven townships.

Respectfully (signed) Fred Dennett.
Commissioner."

In accordance with the instructions contained in the above letter all the lands unentered in the said eleven townships have been withdrawn from entry and no entries of any kind can be made thereon until futher instructions has been received from the department.

R. J. Montague, Register.
John Peterson, Receiver.

YOU MUST WORK.

Whether you handle a pick or pen, a wheelbarrow or a set of books, dig ditches or edit a paper, ring an auction bell or write funny things, you must work, don't be afraid of killing yourself with work. Work gives an appetite for meals, gives the appreciation of a holiday. There are young men who do not work, but the world is not proud of them. It does not even know their names; it simply speaks of them as old so and so's boys. The great busy world does not even know that they are here. So find out what you want to do and do it; take off your coat and make a dust in the world. The busier you are the less deviltry you will get into, the sweeter will be your sleep and better satisfied will the world be with you.

Gentle reader, you who owe us for this paper you are reading, as well as for several of its ancestors: did you ever see an editor'spocketbook? Well, it is just as fallible and prone to emptiness as those of other common mortals. The newspaper business hasn't yet been brought to that degree of perfection that it can be run without expense, and until that is successfully done we shall be under the painful necessity of asking you for a little cash, now and then, especially now. We have been patient—in some cases long-suffering—knowing that your pocketbooks were about as lean and lank as our own. But now, the harvest is past and some of you have sold your hogs. When the big, round dollar begin to jingle in your breeches pockets, please remember that vacuum in the editorial purse.

That farmiliar rag time," oh Mr. Johnson won't you turn me loose," is very likely the favorite song of those White Earth saloon keepers,

That the term Republic, has a limited meaning to the average citizen, has been illustrated time and time again. The old freedom aphorism of,"all men being free and equal, is really overshadowed by what the mail citizen classes, the greatest good of the greatest number, the latest illustration being the scrap the people of St. Paul are putting up to keep the negro from settling in their exclusive residence districts. The affiliation of races that is the dream of many a student is one that will never materialize and as soon as the inferior races demand equal rights in the full meaning of the word just so soon will there be a world wide war.

A Tragic Event.

It was a town girl—and the same sad story that, alas, has often been told, and checkered many a young life which had its beginning in sunshine, surrounded by luxury and the wealt of the world. Her eyes were now wild and staring, her face was flushed, her hands were nervously working. She was a deeply troubled and injured woman, and we hear her saying: "O, cruel one, I have injured the very foundations of my being! Day by day you have tortured me, and yet I could not bear to give you up. When first we met, how your ease and polish attracted me! When you become my own, how my friends envied me, But your understanding is too small for my large soul. You are opposed to my advancing myself. You have injured my standing in society. If we had never met I might have walked in peace. So now begone We part forever!" There was a moment's con vulsive breathing, a gritting of teeth and a sigh. It was all over. By a supreme effort she had pulled off her "new shoe."

The Wise Mother

Your wise mother is not given to worring over trifles. She does not expect perfection in a day. And she has put from her, as far as the east is from the west, the gastly possibility of setting vanity up in the room of love. So she does not begin with exhaustive attention to the minutia of etiquette, knowing that way lies the danger of making her boys prigs and her girls self-conscious society misses before they are in their teens. She lays down as the laws of her household the broad principles of respect for elders, reverence for women, kindness for all; and she permeates the home atmospher with her finest conceptions of the sympathy due from soul to soul. Her children very early delight to place a chair for grandmother and to save father steps. They learn to be proud of that restraint, which enables them to keep self in the background, and to defer to brother and sister. It never enters their heads that servants are less worthy of respect than other people. They are unabashed in the presence of wealth and power as they are tender toward suffering and poverty, When she teaches them from time to time her code of manners——and she is caeeful to perfect it according to her best judgmeent——she teaches it for home use, and it becomes fixed by becomidg natural.

Keep Up Courage.

Don't be discouraged if occasionally you slip down by the way, and others tread on you a little. In other words, don't let a failure dishearten you; accidents will happen, miscalculation will sometimes be made, things will turn differently to our expectations, and we may be sufferers. It is worth while to reimember that fortune is like the skies n the month of April, sometimes clear ane favorable, and the man who never failed may be counted a myth, in fact such a man never lived and is never likely to. All success is a series of efforts, in which, when closely viewed, are seen more or less failures. The mountain is apt to overthrow the hill, but a hill is a reality nevertheless. If you fail now and then don't be discouraged, Bear in mind it is only the part and experiance of every successful man, and the most successful men often have the most failures.

Some Philosophy.

How many people would be willing to write their secret thoughts of one day on a blackboard.

The greatest of all pleasure is to give pleasure to one whom we love

What is necessary to change a house into a home? If yon know, attend to it at once.

The world would be happier if the people were a little more generous with their praise. There is too much flattery, but a word of just appreciation wauld cheer the heart and strengthen the hands of many a discouraged worker in the home, in the school, in the church and in the world.

TAFT MEETS COMPETITION

Fair and Circus Other Attractions at Jackson, Miss.

RECEIVES CORDIAL WELCOME

Chief Executive Gets a Wildly Demonstrative Reception From the People of Mississippi's Capital City. Negro Poplation Declines to Avail Itself of a Special Welcome Proposed for Them by the Local Committee.

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 2.—Competing against a wild animal circus a state fair and a hair-raising balloon ascension and parachute drop. President Taft managed to get a wildly demonstrative reception from people of Mississippi's capital city, despite all the popular handicaps.

It is almost impossible to estimate the number of people who were here in the pretty little city to welcome the president or to tell how many turned out to see him exclusively, or to take in all the attractions that were on hand to attract the crowds. The town was smiling under different kinds of bunting and the heavy shower that fell just before the arrival of the presidential train did not dampen a whit the enthusiasm with which he was greeted.

One or two little incidents served to put an edge on the programme. Because of a feeling that the president is not recognizing the negro vote in the South in his appointments to office; and, going a little farther back, because he upheld the decision of former President Roosevelt in the Brownsville affair, the negro population declined to avail itself of a special welcome that had been proposed for them by the local committee.

Then, again, the prohibitionists—Mississippi being a prohibition state, which the colonels admit with a blush—these prohibitionists then objected to the serving of wine at the $25 banquet which was given in honor of Taft to close the entertainment, but wine was served.

Neither of these incidents marred the whole-souled and good-natured, open-hearted hospitality of the demonstration, however, and with the Taft smile in full operation there was not a hitch from the time the president arrived until he bowed good night from the rear end of his car.

The closest Jackson had ever before come to having a president in its midst was the time, eight or nine years ago, when McKinley went through here on his way to New Orleans. It is to be borne in mind, however, that Jefferson Davis, president of the Southern Confederacy, hailed from this state, and mention was made of the fact in the fraternal exchange of renewed assurances of the solidity of the whole union of states.

In all of the addresses which he made during the day, and they numbered four or five, the president laid stress upon the complete restoration of good feeling between the states, and at the state fair grounds he made a strong plea for the agricultural life for young men.

GAYNOR IS THE FAVORITE

Betting Is Two to One That He Will Be Mayor of New York.

New York, Nov. 2.—New York's triangular political campaign has ended. In each of the rival camps confidence is expressed.

All three sides were agreed that about 600 000 votes would be cast out of a total registration of 644,500. Of this number about 20,000 will be scattering.

Betting is 2 to 1 on Gaynor.

There were big roundups of alleged repeaters. One man, convicted of illegal registration, was sentenced to three years in Sing Sing, while two others got indeterminate sentences of from six months to four years. A special grand jury in the Borough of Queens (Long Island), returned fifty indictments against men alleged to have registered illegally.

JORDAN KILLED BY TRAIN

Coroner's Jury Frees Men Held in Connection With His Death.

La Crosse Wis., Nov. 2.—A coroner's jury decided Walter Jordan, bridge construction man, found dead near the construction camp of the Northwestern road Sunday morning, and for connection with whose death Frank Cunningham and Charles Kelley, fellow workmen, were held, was killed by a train. A postmortem examination showed other wounds besides those indicating murder. The other men had caroused with Jordan the night before.

Gunshot Wound Proves Fatal.

Cumberland, Wis., Nov. 2.—Oscar, the twenty-year-old son of Charley Helbig, a wealthy farmer residing southwest of this city, died of a gunshot wound received while out in a boat on Pipe lake near his home. When stooping to row the boat his gun was discharged, filling his right leg full of shot, death resulting from the shock and loss of blood.

ITO'S BODY REACHES TOKIO

Hundreds of Thousands of Mourners Fill the Streets.

Tokio, Nov. 1.—The body of Prince Ito, who was assassinated Oct. 25 by a Korean at Harbin, Manchuria, was received in this city with honors consistent with the career of the foremost Japanese statesman.

The station platform was filled with prominent representatives of public and private life, those thus paying homage to the slain statesman including five princes. At Yokosuka the privilege of guarding the casket had been relinquished by the navy and assumed by the army and here it was placed in a carriage drawn by troopers through the streets to the Ito house.

The route was lined with hundreds of thousands of mourners and from every house passed were displayed flags and crepe, the latter being of bright colors, the custom in Japan.

The body will lie in state at the late residence of the prince until Thursday, when the funeral will be held.

DOCTORS SAVE BABY'S LIFE

Perform Caesarian Operation After Mother Commits Suicide.

Philadelphia, Nov. 1.—After Mrs. May Schneider had committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid a healthy baby girl was born.

Mrs. Schneider, who was eighteen years of age, swallowed the poison in the rooms she occupied with her husband. She was removed to a hospital, where she died shortly after.

The physicians performed a Caesarian operation and succeeded in saving the life of the baby.

GRECIAN REVOLT ENDS

Arsenal Recaptured and Ringleaders Surrender.

Athens, Oct. 30.—The mutiny in the navy is at an end. The government has taken formal possession of the arsenal, the leaders surrendering. The ringleaders have been ordered into solitary confinement and will be courtmartialed. The government forces are in complete control everywhere and it is officially announced that the revolution has been crushed.

Government affairs are chaotic. It is generally believed that the Military league, which has been practically in full power for months, will now be forced to proclaim a military dictatorship to counteract the loss of prestige which has resulted from its failure to maintain order. Former Premier Shallys, commenting on the situation, said:

"The condition of Greece is most precarious. The leaders of the Military league might have entered the cabinet some time ago and combined the power, which they have held anyway, with the responsibility of the position. They will undoubtedly be forced to do this finally."

NINE LIVES LOST IN FIRE

Two Other Persons Probably Fatally Burned.

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Nov. 1.—When the ruins of the Citizens' Savings block had been wet down to a temperature which made a thorough search possible, it was definitely learned that nine lives were lost in the fire which practically destroyed the principal business building of this town. Two other persons were probably fatally burned. The property loss is estimated at $50,000. Of the killed, two persons fell from the upper stories, while seven were burned to death.

The block, a four-story brick building, was a combination of stores, offices, tenements and assembly halls. It was owned by the Citizens' Savings bank.

INHABITANTS ARE TERRIFIED

Earth Shocks in California Do No Serious Damage.

San Francisco, Oct. 29.—Reports received here indicate that earthquake shocks were felt severely in Northern California. While no lives were lost and the property damage is slight the inhabitants were terrified.

The shock was first felt at Redding, the disturbance lasting some time. People fled to the streets, fearing their homes were about to tumble on them. Hundreds of windows were broken and many building walls were weakened.

At Eureka the shock lasted twenty-five seconds, but no material damage resulted. Reports from Marshfield and Brants Pass, Ore., say that the shocks were very light.

TWENTY-THREE DIE IN MINE

Victims Include Three Men Who Attempted a Rescue.

London, Oct. 29.—A score of miners were killed by an explosion in the Rhymney Iron company's colliery in Glamorganshire, Wales.

Manager Bowen and two companions, who attempted a rescue, were themselves overcome by the afterdamp and perished.

Dozen Injured in Wreck.

Chillicothe, Mo., Oct. 30.—Passenger train No. 1 on the Wabash road, bound from St. Louis to Omaha, left the rails twelve miles west of Pattonsburg, Mo. A dozen persons were reported injured, none dangerously.

MUST BE GRADUAL

Taft Discusses Improvement of Waterways.

ARRIVES AT NEW ORLEANS

Makes Speech Before Deep Waterways Association.

New Orleans, Oct. 30.—"We have got to come down to brass tacks, where more general oratory in favor of a waterway does not suffice. It is a question, what can you do, how much will it cost, how long will it take, and what will it result in? Now, when you address yourselves to this problem and treat it as a mere question of transportation on a profitable basis, I have not the slightest doubt that you will reach a solution that will appeal to those who have the responsibility of voting the money for the government and that you will get what you desire in a measurable time."

In these words President Taft concluded his speech before the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway association. By so doing, according to the interpretation of the delegates who heard him, he handed the responsibility for the future of the waterways to congress.

This was his utterance after five days on the river under the auspices of the waterways enthusiasts of the country's central cities and beyond a mention of bonds that set the delegates yelling for a moment was the only hope for them who are shouting "fourteen feet through the valley," and "river regulation is rate regulation."

The president's address impressed the delegates with the belief that the one point which the president found most impressive is the tremendous cost of the work needed to deepen and maintain a channel in the Mississippi. This seemed to be more impressive than the immediate need of the work.

The keynote of the speech was "look before you leap."

COURT DENIES THE PETITION

Refuses to Put Banker Walsh Behind the Bars.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—John R. Walsh, the aged Chicago banker, will not be committed to a federal prison at once. The application for his commitment made by United States District Attorney Sims was denied by the federal circuit court of appeals, which rules that he remain in Chicago at liberty under bonds pending an attempt to appeal his case to the supreme court of the United States.

This legal victory will enable Walsh to continue the negotiations for the sale of his railroad properties, which are reported to be well under way. It is rumored that he has practically agreed to sell them to an undisclosed corporation for a price which, it is said, will enable him to meet all his obligations and have a surplus of some millions beside.

In denying the district attorney's petition to have Walsh's bond cancelled Judge Grosscup decided that the defendant, hitherto allowed to travel about the country, must remain in Chicago.

MILLION TO FIGHT DISEASE

Rockefeller Gives Big Sum for War on the Hookworm.

New York, Oct. 29.—John D. Rockefeller has set aside a fund of $1,000,000 for the purpose of fighting the "hookworm disease," that newly discovered malady which has been called the "vampire of the South," because it produces the "crackers," the "dirt eaters" and the "poor white trash," who for generations have been holding Dixie Land from progressing.

Mr. Rockefeller also has selected a committee of leading scientists of the country—officially styled the Rockefeller commission for the eradication of hookworm diseases—to administer the fund and carry on the battle of the rejuvenation of the South.

It is estimated that no less than 2,000,000 persons hitherto supposed to be lazy, "shiftless," "no account," are victims of the peculiar ailment.

STICK BY THEIR TOWNSMAN

Residents of Hamilton, Mont., Express Faith in Barrill.

Hamilton, Mont., Oct. 29.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, in an address here, denounced the tactics of his opponent as unfair and defended his claims of having ascended Mount McKinley. He declared money was used corruptly in obtaining certain affidavits against him.

This is the home of Edward N. Barrill, who made a sworn statement that Dr. Cook never reached the summit of Mount McKinley.

After a stormy session the meeting adopted a resolution expressing confidence in the veracity of Barrill and Printz, the guides who made affidavits that Cook did not climb Mount McKinley.

Auto Scares Horse to Death.

Eldora, Ia., Oct. 28.—A fine draft horse, six years old, belonging to John H. Barlow, a farmer, was scared to death at an automobile near here and dropped dead in the road from the effects of heart failure.

THEIR OWN DOCTORS.

Remedies That Animals When Sick Instinctively Select.

With the brute creation the simple remedies of nature generally suffice for their few ailments, and they are guided to them by instinct. We have been told how the mongoose cures himself when bitten by a cobra by eating a certain plant, and many country residents have seen a sick dog bury himself in the dirt.

Animals instinctively choose such food as is best suited to them. A large number of animals wash themselves and bathe, as elephants, stags, birds and ants. In fact, man may take a lesson in hygiene from the lower animals. Animals get rid of their parasites by using dust, mud, clay, etc. Those suffering from fever restrict their diet, keep quiet, seek darkness and airy places, drink water and sometimes even plunge into it.

When a dog has lost his appetite he eats that species of grass known as dog's grass (chiendent). Cats also eat grass, catnip, etc. Sheep and cows when ill seek out certain herbs. An animal suffering from chronic rheumatism always keeps as much as possible in the sun. The warrior ants have regularly organized ambulances.

Latrelle cut the antennae of an ant, and other ants came and covered the wounded part with a transparent fluid they secrete in their mouths. If a chimpanzee be wounded it stops the bleeding by placing its hand on the wound or dressing it with leaves and grass. When an animal has a wounded leg or arm hanging on it completes the amputation by means of its teeth. —Philadelphia North American.

HER CHOICE OF BOAS.

The Question That Is Now Puzzling the Man In the Case.

Crosby had always been inclined to conservatism in household expenses, especially in the matter of his wife's dress bills. His wife went so far as to say that he was penurious.

She had been in need of a new boa for a long time, and after she hinted that her happiness would never be quite complete till she had one he at last consented to make the purchase. He went into a store and picked out two, one of which was a cheap imitation affair and the other a fine, expensive one.

Taking them to his office before going home, he changed the price marks, the expensive tag on the cheap boa, and vice versa.

His wife examined them for a long time very seriously indeed and then said: "Now, dear, the expensive boa is a beauty, and it is really very good of you to allow me my choice. Some women would take it without a word, but really I don't think we can afford the more costly one, and besides, dear, I think the cheap one the more stylish too. Why, Cros, dear, what's the matter? Are you ill?"

But dear old Cros had made his getaway into the night where he could kick himself as hard as he felt he deserved. But what he would like to know is this: Did his wife happen on the more expensive boa by pure accident or—

Girls and Outdoor Games.

Women in their ambition to be athletic contend against innumerable difficulties. One of these difficulties is skirts, a second is waists and a third—almost insuperable—is hair, including hairpins. Watch a girl playing tennis or cricket, and after a more than usually brilliant effort she invariably puts her hands to her head, as if she expected something to fall off if she did not. Energetic play is usually attended by dishevelment of the unruly locks and a shedding of hairpins that cause the pretty athlete distress. Her pleasure in the game is marred by a sense of insecurity and a constant fear of consequences. No woman can wield a racket or essay a run with an undivided mind. Half her brain is occupied by the fearful surmise that her hair is coming down—a surmise, by the way, which is probably too painfully justified by the fact.—London Black and White

The Check System.

John Palmer, who died some years ago in rather straitened circumstances in a little town in Michigan, was the inventor of the check system. Palmer was a fiddler and assumed responsibility for the hats, coats and wraps of those who came to his dancing parties. In keeping things straight he gave numbered checks for the articles committed to his care. Some railroad men who attended one of the dances noticed how perfectly the idea worked and appropriated it, and in a short time the system was adopted all over the country. As is so often the case, the inventor got nothing out of it.—New York American.

A Nest Made From a Leaf.

The tailor bird of India, a tiny yellow creature, makes a most curious nest. To escape snakes and monkeys this bird takes a dead leaf, flies up into a tree and with a fiber for a thread and its bill for a needle sews the leaf to a green one hanging from the tree. The sides are sewed up, an opening to the nest thus formed being left at the top. The leaf, apparently hanging from a twig, would never be taken for a nest.

The Only Kind.

"It would be a good idea if brains could be gone over and renovated now and then."

"If that were possible some brains would have to be renovated with a vacuum cleaner."—Baltimore American.

GOVERNORS OF MINNESOTA

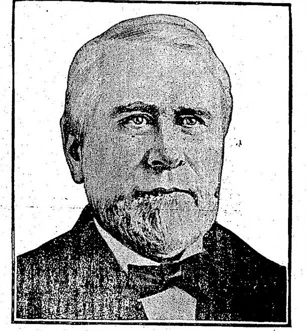
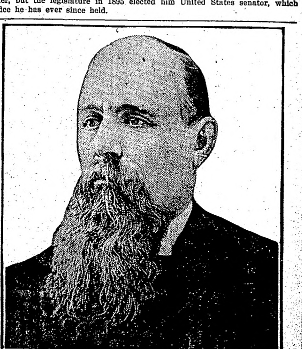
WILLIAM R. MERRIAM—1889-1893.

William R. Merriam was born at Wadhams Mills, N. Y., July 6, 1849. The family moved to Minnesota in 1861. Young Merriam was sent to school at Racine, Wis. Upon leaving school he at once entered into active business life, becoming clerk in a bank at St. Paul. At the age of twenty-four he was made cashier of the Merchants' National bank of St. Paul. He became vice president of the bank in 1880, and in 1882 he became its president. His reputation as a financier was more than state wide. At an early age Merriam entered politics, and in 1882 and 1883 he was elected to the state assembly, and in 1886 he was again elected to the state assembly and was chosen speaker of the house, a position twice held by his father. In 1888 he was the Republican candidate for governor and was elected and re-elected in 1890. Mr. Merriam is now engaged in business in New York city.



KNUTE NELSON—1893-1895.

Knute Nelson was born at Voss, Norway, Feb. 2, 1843. His mother brought him to America when he was but six years old. He obtained a common school education. He enlisted in the Fourth Wisconsin infantry and served as a private and also as a noncommissioned officer in the civil war from 1861 to 1864. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1867. He served in the state assembly in 1868-9 and was re-elected. Then he moved to Minnesota. From 1872 to 1874, inclusive, he was county attorney of Douglas county. From 1875 to 1878, inclusive, he was state senator. In 1882 he was elected to congress, re-elected in 1884 and again in 1886. In 1892 he was elected governor on the Republican ticket, re-elected two years later, but the legislature in 1895 elected him United States senator, which office he has ever since held.



DAVID M. CLOUGH—1895-1899.

David M. Clough was born in Lynne, N. H., Dec. 27, 1846. The family removed to Waupaca, Wis., in 1855 and two years later removed to Spencer Brook, Minn. At the age of twenty he struck out for himself and did teaming and sawed logs. Then he and his brother Gilbert went into the lumbering business under the firm name of Clough Bros. In 1874 the firm moved to Minneapolis, where Gilbert died, and David assumed sole control of the business. From 1883 to 1887 Clough was a member of the Minneapolis city council and was president of that body one term. In 1886 he was elected to the state senate and re-elected in 1888 and 1890. In 1892 he was elected lieutenant governor, and when Governor Nelson was elected United States senator in January, 1895, Clough became governor for Nelson's unexpired term and was then elected governor for a full term. He now resides in the state of Washington.

RECEIVED WITH GREAT APPLAUSE

Invitation to Waterways Convention to Meet in St. Paul.

EXTENDED BY THE GOVERNOR

Minnesota's Chief Executive Invites the Convention at New Orleans to Hold its Next Meeting in the Capital City of the North Star State. Five Hundred Lobbyists to Demand That Congress Deepen the Mississippi River.

New Orleans, Noc. 2.—Governor A. O. Eberhart of Minnesota in a stirring address before the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterways association convention invited the convention to meet in St. Paul next year, and the suggestion was received with a roar of applause and evident appreciation. The board of governors will select the next convention city, but it seems likely that St. Paul will get it. Peoria Ill. is after it and will make a contest.

Adopting President Taft's suggestion that the time for oratory was past, the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterways convention, to the accompaniment of cheers, decided to send 500 lobbyists to Washington to demand that congress deepen the Mississippi river. The action followed a day of oratory, but when the climax came it came quickly and all doubt as to the temper of the delegates was dispelled.

Former Governor David Francis of Missouri offered the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the president of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway association be requestion to appoint five hundred delegates from our organization to visit Washington and to present to the proper committee of congress and to the heads of our government the resolutions adopted by the convention, and at the same time to act as delegates to the rivers and harbors congress to be held in that city Dec. 3, 9 and 10."

There was silence for a moment in the big hall, but it was only for a moment. Then some one turned loose an old-fashioned rebel yell and the resolution was adopted with a whoop.

The resolutions insisted that the federal government should, without needless delay, enter upon a definite policy and plan of waterway development, beginning with the improvement of the Mississippi and Illinois rivers, as a main trunk of a great waterway system, in such a way as to open effective navigation between the Gulf of Mexico and the Great Lakes.

Above all it was insisted that a minimum depth of fourteen feet at low water was the one cardinal principle of the association.

DEATH BLOW TO THE HOME

Cardinal Gibbons' Opinion on Woman Suffrage.

New York, Nov. 2.—Cardinal Gibbons declared that woman suffrage would be the death blow of domestic life and happiness in letter written to the secretary of the National League for the Civic Education of Women and read at the first annual meeting of this anti-suffragette organization held in the Waldorf-Astoria:

"I regret greatly that I cannot attend the meeting you have called. Although my many duties will not allow me to be present at your meeting I beg to assure you that I am most heartily in symopathy with the aim of your league and I approve most strongly the stand it has taken in opposing woman suffrage, which, if realized, would be the death blow of domestic life and happiness."

SPARING HER NERVES.

A Careful, Considerate Visitor and Her Timid Friend.

The mistakes which were plentifully sprinkled along Mrs. Comer's career were never regretted by any one more than by Mrs. Comer herself. "I used the very best judgment I had," she said, referring to one unfortunate occurrence, "but, as usual, everything went wrong.

"You see, I went to Greenville in the morning with Mrs. Hobart, intending to go on to Nashua, but I changed my mind when the weather turned cool and spent the day with Anna Woods, going home at dusk. I'd forgotten my little bag with my key in it, so I went right over to Mrs. Hobart's.

"She'd gone down the road to Mrs. Cole's, but I found her key behind the left hand blind and went right in.

"The house was dark, but I said to myself, 'I won't light a lamp for fear of scaring her, a timid woman, living all alone, as she does.' So I sat in the dark till I heard her coming up the walk.

"When she found the door was unlocked she gave a kind of a gasp, so I stepped forward and then, long as I had a cold so my voice didn't sound natural and I was afraid 'twould scare her, she being so timid, I put out my hand and laid it on her arm.

"And, if you'll believe me," finished Mrs. Comer plaintively, "she fell right over in a faint and cut her forehead on the edge of the rocking chair, and I though I'd never bring her to!

"There's no use trying to be careful with a woman like her."—Youth's Companion.

CIRCUS CHILDREN.

The Making of Acrobats Begins at an Early Age.

It is nothing unusual for the larger circuses to carry thirty and forty children, ranging all the way from mere babies to boys and girls of fifteen and sixteen years of age. The majority are traveling with their parents, both the father and mother doing daily duty in the ring, and while often they are trained to follow in the steps of their elders they are seldom allowed to perform in public.

It is a common belief among circus men that the performer whose training is not started until after the age of six will seldom make a distinctive record. Following the afternoon show I often saw groups of boys, some of whom could not have been over four and five years old, practicing rudimentary somersaults and hand springs, while their parents looked on with a gratified smile. These were the families of the circus aristocracy, who treasure the records of their ancestors with the pride of a son in his father's sword and who see no more inspiring calling for their own children than that of the great white canvas.

Not that their education is neglected in other respects. Several of the families often hire an instructor—perhaps one of the performers who has the time and ability for such work—to coach their children in the standard studies. One circus has a traveling school for the youngsters. If they are to be acrobats, they are to be educated acrobats.—Bohemian Magazine.

Not a Bark.

"Then you don't have any dog-watch on this craft?" inquired the anxious passenger, according to a writer in Life.

"No. This is a catboat."

For artificial evils, for evils that spring from want of thought, thought must find a remedy somewhere.—Lowell.

The Government special officers have for the second time seized at the store operated by C. M. Johnson at Cass Lake name that gentleman that the next offence will be seriously punished. The people of that section are at last begining to realize that the Government men mean business in the matter of keeping liqour from the Indians.

A basket social, for the benifit of Mrs. Gunsteen Jergenson of Garnes, will be given in the hall at Hazel next Saturday, November 20th.

Proceedings to foreclose the chattle mortgage on the Red Lake River Transportation company's boat were instituted last week. The debts against the boat amount to nearly $1,000, and a meeting of the stockholders will be held next Sunday at Kratka to consider the matter.

County Auditor Wilman of Beltrami county was removed from office by Governor Eberhart Thursday Governor Eberhart said he did not question the officials honesty but that the affirrs of the office had been very loosely conducted.

SIX PERISH IN EXPLOSION

Mistake Causes Fatal Explosion and Blaze Near Warroad.

Mrs. Nels Johnson and five childern were burned to death at the Johnson home four miles south of Warroad last Wednesday morning in a fire caused by a explosion of gasoline.

Jensen had risen early and started a fire in the heater which not burning very well he attempted to coax with what he thought was some kerosene. The liquid he poured on the fire exploded first followed immediatly after by that yet remaining in the can. This scattered the fire to all parts of the room and Mr. Jensen was so seriously injured that he was unable to assist his family in making good their escape; the mother and seven childern were all in bed when the explosion occurred. The oldest daughter, a girl of fifteen, together with her younger sister, about five who were sleeping upstairs escaped by jumping thru an upstairs window and were uninjur.d. The fire got such a start from being scattered by the explosion that the mother and remaining five childern who were sleeping down stairs were unable to make their escape The father who was terribley burned becamé frantic and but for the timely arrival of Mr. Gerrie, a neighbor who had heard the explosion would have undoubtly shared the fate of his wife and childern.

The cause of the explosion is supposed to be a mixture of gasoline and kerosene which Mr. Johnson purchased at Warroad the previous day. It seems that the law governing the shipment of gasoline had not been strictly complied with, and the gasoline had been shipped in kerosene tanks and the contents having been emptied into the kerosene reservoir at the store.

A relief committee has been organized to collect money to aid the stricken family, and contributions are liberal.

NOT TO MIX IN QUARREL

Governor will not Oust Red Lake County Officials.

The following article is taken from Thursday evening's St. Paul Dispatch.

Like his predecessor, Gov. John A. Johnson, A. O. Eberhart, the present exectuattive, is not anxious to mix in the troubles which have torn Red Lake County from end to end. The difficulty grows out of a county seat fight between Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls. Tho he has been asked at the instance of Thief River Falls taxpayers, to remove several of the county officials because of a report filed by Public Examiner Anton Schaefer, charging certain irregularities, the Governor has said that he hopes that the whole matter can be peaceably settled.

A petition now in the office of the Secretary of State calls for the division of the county with each town as the centre of goverment for a division This will be voted upon at the next general election. According to John E. King, State Libarian and a resident of Red Lake Falls, the division will undoubtedly be made, He thinks that many Red Lake Falls taxpayers will aid in dividing the county. The petition originated with the Thief River Falls people,

The report made by public Examiner Schafer concerning the officials investigated, makes no charge of dishonesty, wrong tranfers of funds and several overcharges are among the principal allegations.

The Hanson and Barzen milling Co. has built a new elevator at Crookston which was opened for business Thursday. M. A. G. Sandberg is in charge.

Mr Johnson was brought to Crookston and taken to the Bethesda hospital where he is receiving treatment. The attending physicions belive that he may recover tho his condition is very critical.

Expert accountants are going over the books of A. A. Kremer, the county treasurer of Itasca county, who was removed from office by Governor Eberhart. It is now belived that the shortage will exceed $50,000. Kremer invested the money in various securities many of which are good so that large part of money can be recovered. It is reported that insanity will be the defence. It is claim that Kremer was ill two years ago and that since that time his mind has been effected.

A Hundred Years To Come

WHERE, where will be the birds that sing,
A hundred years to come?
The flowers that now in beauty spring,
A hundred years to come?
The rosy cheek, the lofty brow,
The heart that beats so gayly now?
Where, where will our hopes and fears,
Joy's pleasant smiles and sorrow's tears,
A hundred years to come?

Who'll press for gold this crowded street
A hundred years to come?
Who'll tread yon aisles with willing feet
A hundred years to come?
Pale, trembling age and fiery youth
And childhood with its brow of truth?
The rich, the poor, on land and sea?
Where will the mighty millions be,
A hundred years to come?

We all within our graves will sleep
A hundred years to come?
No loving soul for us will weep
A hundred years to come?
But other men our lands will till
And others then our homes will fill,
And other birds will sing as gay,
And bright the sun shine as today,
A hundred years to come?

—HIRAM L. SPEMOER.

How would you have liked to put off the days of your courtship for a few years, when instead of inviting your hearts desire to go walking, or take a ride behind old Dobbin, "or in some" joy wagon, you could call her up on the phone and ask her if she did not want to go soaring for a few hours. Avitors now claim that the time is not far distant when a man can take his air ship mount high up into the blue sky, and soar there upon different air currents at his pleasure. When that times comes auives there will again be the spice to life that there was in the good old days, when knighthood was in flower, and the phrase now in use of dropping in on people, will no longer be used. It will be joyous days for the Roffeles of the future.

In spite of Mr. Taft's clean bill of health for Mr. Ballinger the people do not think he is the man for the place and complaints still continue. If William desires to keep the water unruffled, he had better accept Mr. Ballinger's resignation. True this will not stop the storm of suspicion and protest that will arise when the people find out what has became of some of the public resources, but it might prevent it becoming a tornado that would spoil Williams aspirations for another four years term at the White House.

Now that the movement has started for the improving of the roads the ball wants to be kept rolling. It's the country with good roads in which the home seeker likes to settle and in which the land values increase.

Did you ever happen to think that the paper published by some everlasting hustler is doing your community more good than any enterprise in it? If a church notice is to be published, do they send it to the big city dailies? If any one dies or a child is born, or some unlucky couple gets married, who is it that cheers the mourner's heart or adds liberal donation to the joys of the happy pair? Who but the local printman? And he doesn't do it with any expectation of pay either, for nine times out of ten his last copy will be begged from him and he won't get a red for it. So don't forget to help your home paper out with a good word occasionally.

One of the main drawbacks to a new country is the lack of sociability and get to getherness of the farmers. In this respect the settlers living on the north half of the eleven towns have set a good example for their neighbors, in the formation of their farmer's clubs. Not only do they gain thru the exchanging of ideas, but the man was never conceived who can not do his work better and enjoy it more when he mixes in a little social relaxation and pleasure with it.

While at Albuqurque, New Mexico, President Taft was very much hurt by the doubt expressed by the territorial citizens of the sincerity of the Republican Party in respect to statehood for Arizona and New Mexico. Why the very idea, and there is even a rumor that some of the citizens of the great Northwest were rude enough to do the same in respect to the downward revision of the tariff.

Beware of the barb wire fence fiend, who puts the lightning rod shark in the rear. He proposes to the farmer to put up an eight wire fence at eight cents per foot. This seems so cheap the farmer usually signs the contract, and when the bill comes in, which it is sure to do, the deluded farmer finds he has agreed to pay eight cents per foot for each wire. When the scheme works he has to surrender farm in part payment and give his note for the balance, Hence we say, beware.

With increased number of laborers being let off or forced at decreased wages in every country across the Atlantic; the American laborer has at least one good thing to be thankful for, that he lives on the right side of the ocean.

It is the circumstances and environments of life that have much to do with downing many a young man who has started out in life with the brightest prospects of success, but who has too often said, "I don't care.

We allow little difficulties, often imaginary ones, that would vanish at the slightest show of resistance, to deter us from doing many things both great and small, the memories of which would bring us our sweetest joys in after years.

Senator Aldrich has really come to the conclusion that our monetary system should be for the whole country and not merely for the trusts. A marvelous expansion of brain power.

The Time To Advertise.

There is nothing on earth so mysteriously funny as a newspaper advertisement. The prime, first, last and all the time, object of and advertisement is to draw custom. It is not, was not and never will be designed for any other human purpose. So the merchant waits till the the busy season comes and his store is so full of customers that he can't get his hat off. and then he rushes to the newspaper and put in his advertisement. When the dull season gets along and there is no trade and he wants to sell goods so bad he can't pay his rent he takes out his advertisement. That is, some of them do but occasionally a level headed merchant puts in a bigger one and scoops in all the business while his neighbors are marking mortgages to pay the light bill.

There are times when you couldn't stop people from buying everything in the store if you planted a cannon behind the door and that's the time the advertisement is sent out on its holy mission. It makes light work for the advertisement, for a chalk sign on the sidewalk could do all that was needed and have a half holiday six days in the week but who wants to favor an advertisement? They are built to do hard work, and should be sent out in dull days when the customer has to be knocked down with hard facts and kicked insensible with bankrupt reductions and dragged in with irresistable slaughter of prices before he spends a cent.

Write this down where you'll fall over it every day. The time to advertise is when you want business, and not when you have more business than you can attend to already.

SHORTAGE LARGE

Railroad Official Admits Stealing Over Half Million.

LOST IT ON STOCK MARKET

Also Paid Considerable Sums to Blackmailers.

New York, Nov. 9.—C. L. Warriner, until a week ago local treasurer at Cincinnati of the Big Four railroad, one of the Vanderbilt lines, stole $643,000 from that company before he was even suspected of being a thief by his superiors in the railroad service.

Announcement to this effect was made from the office of Albert H. Harris, vice president of the Big Four, whose headquarters are in the Grand Central station.

Warriner lost the money on the stock market and also gave large sums to blackmailers.

This is the brief and formal typewritten statement handed out by Mr. Harris:

"The amount of defalcation of C. L. Warriner, local treasurer of the Big Four at Cincinnati, has been ascertained to be $643,000. Warriner has turned over to the company property amounting to more than $100,000 and there will be received from the American Surety company on his bond $50,000, leaving the net amount of the shortage something less than $500,000.

"He has been arrested and is now held to await the action of the grand jury at Cincinnati.

Method of Manipulation.

"The method which Warriner adopted was to cover his defalcation in the item 'cash in transit.' At the end of each month there are considerable sums of money on their way to the local treasurer from the station agents and others which have not been received by him. It was by including in this item the moneys that he had in fact stolen that Warriner was able to conceal his defalcation."

Just a week ago the general financial and auditing officers of the New York Central system were startled to receive from Warriner in the office of Mr. Harris at the Grand Central station a full confession of his shortage. Warriner told Vice President Carstensen in the Big Four offices in Cincinnati that he was a defaulter "for a very large amount." Carstensen had only a few hours before discovered that there was an unaccountable discrepancy between the actual cash on hand in Warriner's office and that which showed on his books.

When he called the treasurer's attention to this Warriner with amazing coolness said to him:

"Well, I guess there ought to be. I have stolen more than half a million dollars from the company."

KEYNOTE OF HIS MESFAGE

Taft Will Declare for the Roosevelt Policies.

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 8.—The keynote of President Taft's message to the coming session of congress will be this statement:

"This administration was elected on a platform that we proposed to carry out the policies of Theodore Roosevelt and we propose to keep that promise."

The president reserves to himself the right to decide what these policies are. He has said in public addresses that he, more than any other man, perhaps, has been in a position to know just what Roosevelt did or did not believe.

MRS. ASTOR SECURES DIVORCE

Proceedings in Court Occupy Less Than a Minute.

New York, Nov. 8.—Mrs. John Jacob Astor was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Justice Mills. All papers in the case were sealed and the proceedings were carefully guarded.

The proceedings consumed less than one minute in open court and it was plain nothing had been left undone to prevent any of the details of the divorce action becoming known.

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Astor were in court when the decree was granted.

START FOR CANADIAN NAVY

Dominion to Secure Two Cruisers for Training Ships.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 6.—Canada is completing arrangements with the British admiralty for the loan of two cruisers. This will be the first step toward the formation of the proposed Canadian navy. The primary purpose is to serve as training ships. One of the cruisers will be stationed on the Atlantic and the other on the Pacific coast. They will also protect fisheries.

Notorious Desperado Captured.

Galveston, Tex., Nov. 5.—Inez Ruiz, the notorious desperado and for many years a terror of the Texas-Mexican border, has been captured in Frio county. Six years ago he escaped from Mexico, where he was awaiting execution. Ruiz is charged with having killed at least forty men.

EAGER TO GET BACK HOME

President Pleased That Long Journey Is Nearly Ended.

Florence, S. C., Nov. 9.—With the end of his long journey in sight, the president himself admitted his eagerness to get back home. To the Augusta folk he said with that touch of deep affection in his voice which is always apparent when he speaks of Mrs. Taft:

"There is a lady in Washington that I am very anxious to see. Nothing could restrain the haste with which I would go back to the capital city except the pleasure of meeting my old friends in Augusta."

And Augusta made it worth while to stop over there in the place where he resided when the electoral college made him president, if spontaneous enthusiasm, great crowds, lavish decorations and the evident affection of the people count for anything.

Florence, S. C., had the president briefly for a mess of "pine bark stew," which is a sort of a fish chowder, and an address to a big crowd on the plaza of the public school.

SENDS MESSAGE TO WIFE

Former President Roosevelt States That He Is Well.

Rome, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt has received a cable message from her husband, former President Roosevelt, dated Nairobi, stating that there is no truth in the rumors that he is ill or has met with an accident. He adds that he is perfectly well.

ABANDON BOAT AND JOURNEY BY TRAIN

Waterways Commissioners Find River Is Shallow.

Dubuque, Ia., Nov. 9.—The national waterways commission abandoned the government snagboat David Tipton at a station a few miles above Dubuque, where the water became too shallow to permit of easy progress, boarded a train and went to Rock Island, Ill.

The stage of water in the river is the lowest since 1892 and the navigation of the government sidewheeler was further hindered by heavy fogs and absence of channel lights, which had been doused some time ago when general navigation ceased throughout the upper river.

The David Tipton continued down the river, passed through the draw and will take the commission aboard again at Rock Island to continue their journey.

This city had made great preparations for the arrival of the commission, which was compelled to forego stopping here.

The members of the commission passed the greater part of the day in Rock Island and Moline and in an inspection of the Hennepin canal from Green River to Rock Island.

At Moline the harbor was inspected, after which the party was taken by automobile to Green River.

At the latter point the steamer Ruth was boarded and a trip was taken to the mouth of the Hennepin canal, the latter flowing into the Mississippi a few miles below this city.

The visitors were entertained informally at a dinner at the Rock Island club. There were sixty guests which included representative delegates of business men from the neighboring cities.

MRS. FLAGLER BADLY HURT

Divorced Wife of Oil Magnate Injured in Auto Accident.

New York, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Ida Shounds Flagler, sixty years old, divorced wife of Henry M. Flagler, the Standard Oil magnate and Florida railroad builder, is in a serious condition at the private sanatorium of Dr. Carlos F. McDonald, the alienist, at Central Valley, N. Y., as the result of a bad automobile smash.

Dr. McDonald, who was in the wreck, is also under the care of a physician. His chauffeur and Mrs Flagler's maid, who were the other occupants of the car, were badly injured.

None of the party received fatal hurts, but fear was expressed at the sanitarium that Mrs. Flagler, who has been in a hopeless mental state for more than twelve years and has been Dr. McDonald's patient for that length of time, might suffer permanently from the experience.

It was while returning from a short outing for Mrs. Flagler's benefit that the chauffeur ran into a ditch and struck head-on against a high brick wall. All four of the party were flung out of the car and it was smashed into a mass of steel and splintered wood.

Mistaken for a Deer.

Rhinelander, Wis., Nov. 9.—H. L. Bacon of New London, Wis., was brought here in a dying condition, as the result of being shot by mistake for a deer by his companion. The accident occurred four miles from Mercer.

McFarland Gets Decision.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 9.—Packey McFarland, the idol of the Chicago stock yards district, was given the decision over "Cyclone Johnny" Thompson of Sycamore, Ill., in a whirlwind ten-round fight here.

ALASKA COAL FIELD MONOPOLY

Discussed by Former Field Chief of Land Office.

SCORES SECRETARY BALLINGER

L. R. Glavis Accuses the Head of the Interior Department of Failure to Attempt to Save Immense Beds of Fuel From Fraudulent Entry—Deposed Employe Says Taft Did Not Give Him a Square Deal.

New York, Nov. 9.—In an article prepared for Colliers Weekly of Nov. 13 and copyrighted by that publication L. R. Glavis, removed in September from the office of chief of field division of the general land office, says:

[Copyright, 1909, by P. F. Collier & Sons.]

"From 1902 to 1909 I was in the field service of the general land office for the last two and a half years as chief of field division. In September, 1909, I was summarily removed from my position without a formal hearing by Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of the interior, by authorization of the president of the United States. That removal was accompanied by the publication of a letter of the president to Mr. Ballinger. I believe that my removal was unfair. I believe the president's letter was grievously unfair, because in it the president gives weight to a charge against me which I never had the opportunity to see or answer. The president states in his letter that I withheld from him information favorable to my superiors. I do not know of any such information withheld by me, nor am I conscious of doing my superiors injustice. Nevertheless, I should not now make any public statement of the matter were it not still possible to save for the government many thousands of acres of coal lands which I believe the land office may in the near future grant to fraudulent claimants.

Would Be a National Menace.

"The coal lands of Alaska owned by the government amount to over 100,000 acres. They are the future coal supply of the nation, of almost inestimable value. Possession of them by private individuals means great wealth. A monopoly of them would be a national menace.

"On Nov. 12, 1906, President Roosevelt withdrew all coal lands in Alaska from public entry, but previous to that time there were about 900 claims filed, covering about 100,000 acres, nearly the whole of the coal fields. The law attempts to prevent monopoly of such claims by limiting the amount of each claim and providing that each claimant must take up the land in his own interest and for his own use. This law has been interpreted by the supreme court of the United States to forbid speculating in coal lands before entry, either by dummy entrymen or by previous agreements to consolidate claims after entry. Of these 900 claims to Alaska coal lands, among them the so called Cunningham group, the majority are fraudulent. [It is asserted that the Guggenheims are seeking a monopoly of the Alaska coal fields.]

"As to the action of the land office on these claims I assert that the land office ordered the Cunningham claims to patent without due investigation when Commissioner Ballinger knew they were under suspicion; that while in office Commissioner Ballinger urged congress to pass a law which would validate fraudulent Alaska claims; that shortly after resigning from office he became attorney for the Cunningham group and other Alaska claims; that soon after he became secretary of the interior his office rendered a decision which would have validated all fraudulent Alaska claims. A reversal of that decision on every point was obtained from Attorney General Wickersham.

Dismissed for Insubordination.

"I assert that in the spring of 1909 the land office urged me to an early trial of these cases before the investigation was finished and when Secretary Ballinger, as the president has stated, knew that the Cunningham claims were invalid. When I appealed to Secretary Ballinger for postponement he referred me to his subordinates. The department of agriculture intervened. I was superseded in the charge of the cases and the man who superseded me endorsed my recommendations and the postponement was granted. Immediately thereafter I made my report on the Cunningham cases to President Taft and was dismissed from the service for insubordination.

"The president has chosen to treat my report as a charge of criminality. I made no such charge, nor do I make it now. The president's letter is a defense of Mr. Ballinger and Mr. Dennett [commissioner of the general land office] from charges not made in my report to him. I was not investigating either Mr. Ballinger or Mr. Dennett, but the Alaska coal cases."

[The forthcoming article in Colliers Weekly is expected to reopen the entire Pinchot-Ballinger dispute over the disposition of public lands. One of the most bitter official controversies ever known in Washington may follow.]

EXCEEDS ROOSEVELT PRICE

Peary to Receive $1.20 a Word for Pole Story.

New York, Nov. 5.—The literary end of discovering the North pole is more profitable than that of running errands in Africa for the Smithsonian institution. Commander Peary is to get 20 per cent more a word for the magazine story of his achievement than former President Roosevelt is getting for his hunting story and, as a rule, words do not grow as long in the Arctic as below the equator.

Mr. Roosevelt's price is $1, but Commander Peary is to get $1.20 a word for a story of about 50,000 words that is to run serially in a magazine for the next eight months.

CAR SHORTAGE INCREASES

Most Acute in East, Middle West and Southeast.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—A fortnightly statement issued by the American Railway association regarding the car situation says:

There has been an increase of 50 per cent in the shortages reported, which now total 36,636 cars. The surplus, however, shows a decrease of only 5,081 cars, leaving 30,896, of which about one-half are box cars. This surplus is principally in the Northwest, while the more severe shortages are in the East, the Middle West and the Southeast.

JUDGE GAYNOR ELECTED

Tammany Candidate Is Chosen Mayor of New York.

New York, Nov. 3.—Tammany elected another mayor of Greater New York but lost its grip on city finances. William J. Gaynor of Brooklyn swept the five boroughs to victory as mayor by at least 70,000 plurality, defeating Otto T. Bannard, Republican-fusion, and William Randolph Hearst, independent.

He failed, however, to carry his ticket with him, and the Republican-fusion forces will control absolutely the board of estimate and apportionment which will disburse approximately a billion dollars during the administration. This is more than half a defeat for Tammany, for the control of the board of estimate was one of the principal issues of the campaign.

In Cleveland the reign of Tom L. Johnson as mayor was ended by the election of Herman C. Baehr, the Republican nominee. Mayor Johnson was a candidate for a fifth term as mayor and the issues were purely local.

In Cincinnati the Republican nominee of Boss Cox, Dr. Schwab, was elected mayor by an increased plurality. He is the man whom President Taft wished to go home to vote against.

BABE'S CRIES SAVE MANY

Arouse Sleepers in Burning House at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Nov. 5.—The cries of a fifteen months-old baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cohen probably saved eighteen persons from death in a fire which damaged the building in which they live.

While every one else in the crowded two-story frame building was asleep the little child awakened to find his room filled with smoke.

The child's mother was awakened by feeling the little one's hands pulling at her arms and the child's voice raised in screams of terror.

ARMISTICE WITH THE MOORS

Spanish Commander Hopes to Soon Conclude Peace Treaty.

Madrid, Nov. 5.—The Spanish commander in Morocco wires that he has arranged for an armistice with the Moors and that he expects that, as a result, peace in Morocco will soon be assured.

Engineer Killed in His Cab.

Sioux City, Ia., Nov. 5.—While sitting in the cab of his engine, making fast time on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, between Manilla and Sioux City, John Smith, one of the best-known engineers on the system, was instantly killed by the breaking of the driving rod.

GOVERNORS OF MINNESOTA

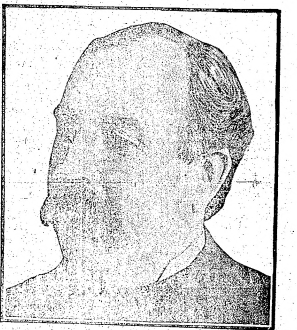
COPYRIGHT BY C. A. ZIMMERMAN

JOHN LIND—1899-1901.

John Lind was born at Kanna, Sweden, March 25, 1854. The family came to America in 1867, settling in Goodhue county, Minn. Here John lost his left hand by accident while laboring to support the family. In 1873 he moved to New Ulm, Minn. He attended the law school at the state university and after he graduated was elected superintendent of schools of Brown county. In 1886 he was elected to congress on the Republican ticket from the Second congressional district, re-elected in 1888 and again in 1890. In 1896 he was the candidate of the Democratic party and the People's party for governor, but was defeated. During the Spanish war he was appointed regimental quartermaster of the Twelfth Minnesota infantry with the rank of first lieutenant. While encamped at Camp Thomas, Chickamauga park, the Democrats and Silver Republicans nominated him for governor, and he was elected in 1898. He is now engaged in the practice of law in Minneapolis.



SAMUEL R. VAN SANT—1901-1905.

Samuel R. Van Sant was born in Rock Island, Ill., May 11, 1844. He served through the civil war as a member of the Ninth Illinois cavalry. At the conclusion of the war he attended Knox college. He afterward became interested in river transportation on the Mississippi and acquired a line of boats. He came to Minnesota in 1883, taking up his residence in Winona. Then he entered politics and was elected to the legislature in 1892. He was re-elected in 1894 and was unanimously chosen speaker of the house. In 1900 he was elected governor and was re-elected in 1902. He is given the credit of starting the fight against the merger of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads. Mr. Van Sant returned to Winona and is now engaged in looking after his transportation interests.

JOHN A. JOHNSON—1905-1909.

John A. Johnson, the present governor, is the first native born Minnesotan to become chief executive. He was born in St. Peter July 28, 1862. At the age of thirteen years the boy became the main support of the family, and for three years he worked in a country grocery store. For nine years he was a drug clerk, another year was spent in railroad construction work, and finally in 1886 he secured an interest in the St. Peter Herald and became its editor. He entered politics in 1888, being a candidate for the state senate on the Democratic ticket. He was defeated by a small majority. In 1894 he was again defeated for the same office. He was elected to the state senate in 1898, but was defeated for re-election. In 1904 he was elected governor, and in 1906 he was re-elected by the largest plurality ever given a Democratic candidate in Minnesota. In 1908 he was re-elected for a third term.

Life of Governor Johnson.

Frank A. Day, private secretary of the late Governor Johnson, has undertaken to write and publish a biography of the lamented governor. He does this at the request of Mrs. Johnson, and as the most intimate friend, perhaps, that the late Governor had he is undoubtedly peculiarly qualified for the task. There are thousands of friends of the late Governor who would like to have some permanent record and memorial of his live and works. It would seem as if there should be a great demand for such a biography as Mr. Day proposes to issue. The book will be about four hundred pages and will be well bound and typographically perfect. The book will be profusely and handsomely illustrated. and will be in very respect a publication worthy of a place in every Minnesota home. Governor Johnson's life was an inspiration to every ambitious boy and girl, and a record of that life on the library table will be a valuable contribution to the education of the children. We understand that Mr. Day will distribute the book thru the medium of agents to be appointed in every county of the state.

Corn Growing In Northern Minnesota.

Five years ago the Minnesota Experiment Station started to test varieties and to brood corn in various parts of northern Minnesota. As is well known the seasons for corn growing, especially in the north where corn must matnre in less than 100 days or run the danger of frost, have been anything but favorable. In spite of this fact a few varieties have shown adaptability to a short season, and an ability to yeild a goodly amount of corn per acre. The varieties, thus far, most prominent in the tests are, Minnesota No. 23, Northwestern Dent, Mercer and Triumph flint, Minnesota No. 13, Pride of the North, and Minnesota King. Foremost among those is Minnesota No. 23, a white cap yellow Dent. This variety was selected in 1903 at University Farm at St. Anthony Park, from three or four hundred others, for its high yield — an average of 36 bushels of shelled corn per acre — and its early maturity. It ripened in less than 100 days In view of the fact that early maturity and largest yields are not correlated, that early maturity must lessen the yield, No. 23 was thought to be an exceptional variety. The tests at the northern trial stations have also shown its superior qualities. At Aitkin, Carlton, Grand Rapids, Erskine, Frazee, Wadena, Osakis, Crookston, Bemidji and other points where it has been tested in a thorough manner, No. 23 has matured and given promise of better performance the longer it has been grown. In 1907, 1908, and 1909 the surplus seed grown at University Farm was distributed to farmers in northern Minnesota. There are therefore many who have a supply of seed for sale, Farmers should get in touch with these men and secure early a supply for their own planting.

Corn growing in northern Minnesota is successful provided the land is in good condition of filth and drainage, provided the cultivation is frequent and shallow—not more than two and one-half inches deep; provided the seed is produced in the north; and provided the seed is saved properly and planted early.

C. P. Bull, Assistant Professor of Agriculture.

STANDS BY CONVICTED MEN

Labor Federation to Carry Case to Highest Court.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 9.—That the American Federation of Labor intends to stand by President Samuel Gompers and his officers, Vice President John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, in their fight to evade the jail sentences imposed in the United States for contempt of court, was indicated by the attitude of the delegates at the twenty-ninth annual convention. It is apparent that the committee on the president's report will recommend that the case be carried to the supreme court of the United States.

The delegates vigorously applauded salient points in Mr. Gomper's report summarizing the Buck Stove and Range company injunction case and the contempt proceedings which followed.

COMMONS AND LORDS CLASH

Lower House Rejects Peers' Amendments to Irish Land Bill.

London, Nov. 5.—By a vote of 219 to 54 the house of commons refused to agree to the house of lords' amendments to the Irish land bill. On moving the refusal of agreement Augustin Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, in a conciliatory speech, repudiated all desire to quarrel with the house of lords on the subject of Irish land and declared he was anxious to come to terms, if possible, as the failure of the bill would create a deplorable situation in Ireland.

Efforts will be made to arrange a compromise between the two houses of parliament.

MENTAL HEALERS ARE JAILED

Treated Child Dies of Pneumonia in Agonies.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 6.—Charles Williams, a leader of the Christian Scientists, Virden, Man., was sentenced to two years in prison.

A child suffering from pneumonia was treated by Williams and his associates. No medical man was called, the child dying after a few days of intense suffering.

In answering questions witnesses in attendance for the accused stated the treatment given the child was prayer, but they would not explain treatment exactly.

Girl Seriously Injured.

Paul Thompson a resident of Pitt, a small station near Baudette shot and seriously injured Hazel Farrier a fifteen year old girl who was with a party of charirari who were serenading Thompson who had just been married. According to the story from Baudeete Thompson disputed with the crowd from an open window and then fired two shots in the air, and as the crowd did not disperse, he fired in the crowd, the bullet striking the Farrier girl in the arm and side, inflicting a severe wound. Thompson was arrested and given a hearing before a justice at Baudette, and was held to await the action of the next jury on the charge of assault.

He was brought to Bemidji and lodged in the Beltrami County jail.

A Rural Enoch Arden.

"In our little town in a western state," said Brown, "there was a half witted sort of fellow named Bill Wilkes. One day Bill took to the rail road tracks and never reappeared for about six years. In the meantime his wife, Bettie, took in washing and supported the family. One day Bill came back. He went around to the kitchen door, softly opened it, stuck in his head and said, 'Boo, Bettie.' Bettie turned around from her washtub. 'Te, he,' said Bill; 'I scared ye, didn't I, Bettie?' Whenever I see a stage husband return to his family I think of Bill's greeting after six years' absence, 'Boo, Bettie; I scared ye, didn't I?'"—New York Times.

Disraeli's Jokes.

Disraeli dearly loved a joke at the expense of others. An author who had sent his latest effort in fiction to him received the following complimentary acknowledgment:

"I thank you for the book you sent me and will lose no time in reading it."

"I wonder what makes my eyes so weak!" a fierce Radical once said to Disraeli.

"It is because they are in a weak place," was the reply.

An incident in the life of the late Lord Rosslyn shows how acute was the sense of humor in Disraeli. "What can we do with Rossyln?" he asked of a colleague.

"Make him master of the buckhounds, as his father was," suggested the latter.

"No," replied the premier; "he swears far too much for that. We will make him high commissioner to the Church of Scotland." And such he was made. —Chambers' Journal.

A Maker of Bulls.

Some excellent bulls are credited to William Arolin, who was a London police judge in the thirties of the last century. He once remarked to counsel, "If you can show precisely at what moment the offense was committed, and prove that the prisoner was not there when he did it, he could not possibly have done it/" And he sagely added, "We cannot divest ourselves of common sense in a court of justice." Of a similar character was an axiom he once delivered himself of, which has been maliciously fathered on many other occupants of the bench, "If ever there was a case of clearer evidence than this case, this case is that case."

Worst of All.

Mr. Lane, Mr. Hobart and Mr. Meek had been off fishing the day before. They had gone unexpectedly from the postoffice, where they met, and neither Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Hobart nor Mrs. Meek had been informed of their whereabouts until nightfall. "And it did beat all what poor luck we'd had!" said Mr. Lane when the three friends met the next day.

"I tried to explain to Sadie that we kep' staying in the hopes of fetching home something that would show why we'd stayed, but she said we'd acted like a parcel o' yearlings and it would be one while before she'd have a hot apple pie for my dinner again and dumplings. She ran me uphill and down, I tell ye!"

"Maria spoke of my clothes," said Mr. Hobart forlornly. "She pointed out the way the dampness had cockled that coat I had on. She said 'twouldn't ever be the same again and if I knew of anybody that was going to spend summer days heating great irons and pressing out clothes for a man like me she didn't!"

"Marthy never said a word," said Mr. Meek as the other two men turned to him, but as they remarked with one accord, "That's the kind of wife to have!" Mr. Meek looked much depressed.

"The only trouble is," he added, "she hasn't spoken yet, and I don't know when she will."

Senator Steephens of Crookston upon taking up the matter of the rate on potatoes from Crookston & Girard to Kansas City and Omaha with the railroads secured a reduction of five cents a hundred in the rate this will make a big difference in the value of the potato crop there about.

Nels Johnson, the Roseau county farmer who was badly burned last week when he tried to start his fire with what he thought was kerosene, died last Wednesday at the Bethesda hospital in Crookston after living a week in the most terrible agony This makes a total of seven deaths caused by the explosion and fire.

Ground in this part of the country will remain compartively free from frost this winter in the opinion of many who are in a position to know At the present time the dirt is frozen only two or three inches deep. On the level it is protected by over a foot of snow which will ward off the cold during the frosty winter months. Seldom if ever has there been such a heavy fall of snow at this season of the year. Usually the frost is down a good distance before a sufficient amount of snow falls to furnish any protecian. It is held by many that this will leave the ground in fine shape in the spring, being ready to be worked as soon as the snow has melted off.

Local Butter Maker Gets Fourth Place in State Contest.

In the six months educational contest conducted py the Minnesota Dairy and Food Department, which closed with the month of October, Lars Haslerud, butter-maker of the local creamery got fourth place being only one twelth of a point behind the third highest score. The average score as given by the Diary Record is, Chris Jenson of Dunnel 94¼, Jacob Schilling of Plainview 93 1-12, P. Sorenson of Faribault 92 23-54 and Lars Haslerud of Plummer 92⅙ In this case as in lots of others the figures do not tell all the story. It must be taken into consideration that the Plummer creamery is one of the new ones and in a new country compatutively speaking and as with the present patronage it does not pay to have more than two cream days a week with the exception of a few months in the summer, the older and more thickly settled places have the advantage of having fresher cream. With the cream only brought in once or twice a week some of it is bound to be a little old to make the best butter as after the cream has passed the turning point it starts to deterioate thus impairing the flavor of the butter.

Next year with the co-operation of the creamery patrons the local creamery had ought to hold down first place or give the one that does a close run. Mr. Haslerud is deserving of much commendation for the showing he has made in the different contests as it imposes considerable extra work on him to enter them. The patrons had ought to assist him in every way possible as it is one of the best of advertisements for the creamery and means more competition in the buying of the creamerys products which of course means better prices for the same. It is also an excellent advertisement for the town and surrounding country. In the cheese contest the factory at Gentilly took first place with a score of 96¾

Following is a statement of the business of the Plummer creamery for the month of October:

Severely Injured.

Mr. Pleth is authority for the statement that 'Ox Tail Ole' was severely injured last Wednesday by a fall, caused by his stepping on some object which being round moved his base too fast to enable him to keep his centre of gravity in the proper position in respect to its relation to said base so as to enable him to retain his equilibrium, thus the fall. As the gentleman in question had left town we were unable to find out how serious his injuries were.

---

Mr. H. C. Selden was a business visitor here Wednesday. While here Mr. Selden thought he would like to go in search of big game so getting Mr. Alrick to accompany him he "done went." All the neccessary paraphernelia being loaded into the rig they proceeded five or six miles to the southeast where they thought they would be likely find some deer. They then left the rig and invaded the haunts of their quarry. While following what they thought was a deer trail they became mixed as to direction and remained so until later in the day when they wandered out of the woods just south of town. A messenger was then sent out to imform their patient driver that they had reached home.

The President's Thanksgiving Proclamation.

The season of the year has returned when, in accordance with the reverent custsom established by our forfathers, the people of the United States are wont to meet in their usual places of worship on a day of thanksgiving appointed by the civil magistrate, to return thanks to god for the great mercies and benifits which they have enjoyed.

During this past year we have been highly blessed. No great calamities or flood or tempest or epidemic sickness have befallen us, We have lived in quietness undisturbed by wars or rumors of wars. Peace and the plenty of bounteous crops and of great industrial production animate a cheerful and resolute people to all the renewed energies of beneficent industry and material and moral progress. It is altogether fitting that we should humbly and gratfully acknowledge the divine source of all these blessings.

Therefor, I hereby appoint Thursday, the twenty fifth day of November, as a day of general thanksgiving and I call upon the people on that day, laying aside their usual vocations to repair to thier churches and unite in approiate service of praise and thanks to Almighty God.

In witnese whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this fifteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and nine, and of the indepen-

He does this at the request of Mrs. Johnson, and as the most intimate friend, perhaps, that the late Governor had he is undoubtedly peculiarly qualified for the task. There are thousands of friends of the late Governor who would like to have some permanent record and memorial of his live and works. It would seem as if there should be a great demand for such a biography as Mr Day proposes to issue. The book will be about four hundred pages and will be well bound and typographically perfect. The book will be profusely and handsomely illustrated, and will be in very respect a publication worthy of a place in every Minnesota home. Governor Johnson's life was an inspiration to every ambitious boy and girl, and a record of that life on the library table will be a valuable contribution to the education of the children. We understand that Mr. Day will distribute the book thru the medium of agents to be appointed in every county of the state.

Threshing Rig Fords River.

Last week John Johnson of the town of Kratka was confronted by one of the most serious propositions in the line of moving his threshing rig that has ever confronted any thresher. He was however, equal to the occassion. The problem was to cross the Red Lake River without a bridge or ferry.

He took his threshing rig to the bank of the river on the south side and having already secured several teams which he stationed on the north side he run the engine into the river up to the fire place and allowed the steam to escape.

With the use of a long cable he succeeded in pulling the engine across and later took the seperator and water tank across in the same manner, Many people had gathered to see this novel way of crossing the river and many a one was surprised at the manner and rapidity with which this feat was performed.

It would almost seem as tho this might put editor Huats bridge proposition a little in the dark. If the threshing rig can ford the great river it seems that it should not be very hard for some of the light articles to swim accross.

WILL GRAND TRUNK BUILD

Rumors of Line From New Ulm to Some point in Canada West of Here.

From Thursday's Crookston Times. —The startling proposition that has been advanced by parties close to the throne, relative to the workings of the crew of surveyors who have been operating in eastern Red Lake and nortwestern Clearwatar counties, closely adjacent to the camps of the Soo surveyors who are extending the Plummer-Moose Lake extension of the Soo, in the claim that the surveyors were realy surveying a direct route for the Grand Trunk Pacific railway from a point in Canada west of the Lake of the woods, southward to New Ulm in Minnesota, is being authenticated by recent acts of the surveyors who have "pulled up stakes" and gone to Bismark N. D., from where it is claimed they will survey a line to New Ulm.

The surveyors were in the employ of the Great American Construction company, which large concern surveys feasable routes and constructs parts of lines, selling out their routes and line so far as built to some railway company desiring the same as "air lines" or desireable connecting links.

The Great American Construction company had its surveyors in northwestern Clearwater county for many weeks, trying to get a direct line southward over some of the hills in that section without too large a grade. The surveyors went as far south as Gully, when they "backed up" and have been running lines in that vicinity ever since.

It had been the original intention of this crew of surveyors to have extended their survey southward to within two miles of Ebro, on the Great Northern, west of Bagley, and southward from there, but they decided to abondon the survey temporarily so as to tga to Bismark and start a survey from that place to New Ulm intending to return to Clearwater county within a month.

Bert Umland, county surveyor of Clearwater county, has extensive knowledge of the topograyhy of the country through which the newest railray enterprise is accredited with a desire to run, and he has mapped a line for the surveyors. This line would extend to within two miles of Ebro, and extend on the "flats" to Bagley, passing southward to the Walker Brook valley, thru Moose and Bear Creek townships to the east side of Itasca state park, thence southward through Hubbard county and onward to New Ulm. The object of the survey being made by the Great American Construction company is to furnish a direct route southward to the Grand Trunk Pacific road, from a point on the Canadian Nothern, in Canada, west of the Lake of the Woods south into U. S. territory to New Ulm, where connection can be made with some of the railways the least of which is controlled by the Hawley railroad interests, giving connection to the Gulf of Mexico, from Winnipeg.

The Grand Trunk Pacific railway is a bitter enemy of the Canadian Pacific railway and its American ally the Soo and by building this line southward from the Canadian Nothern, (which the Grand Trunk Pacific has leased) the Grand Trunk will cut into an immense business westward and north ward now controlled by the other lines.

The possibility of a new railroad for Bagley and Clearwater county is causing no little inquiry as to what exact route will be taken in constructing the road.

Mrs. Cleminson Testifies In Behalf of Her Son.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—Mrs. Isaiah Cleminson proved a strong witness for her son, Dr. Haldane Cleminson, who is charged with the murder of his wife, Norah Jane Cleminson, in court here.

Most of her testimony refuted that of previous witnesses for the state. She testified that Dr. Cleminson's illness at the time of his wife's death was not feigned; that he was convulsed with grief; that he had a genuine affection for his wife; that Mrs. Cleminson was in ill health some time before her death and that Dr. Cleminson did not repulse his children when they were taken to him the day of the tragedy.

Railroad Employe Arrested for Violating the Law.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—The first local arrests for the violation of the interstate commerce law, which prohibits the issuing of railroad passes to any except railroad employes and members of their families, were made when Charles J. Lundbloom, a consumptive on his way west on a pass secured for him by Bernard Love, an employe of the Santa Fe railroad, was arrested near Joliet Ill., and Love was arrested here. Love secured a pass by representing Lundbloom as his brother. The pass was for a trip to Denver.

Love was released on bail of $1,500 and Lundbloom on $500.

The abundant fall of snow has at least greatly lessened the danger from prairie fires this fall.

This is the time of the year when the wise farmer puts bells on his stock and has the good wife sew a piece of her red petticoat on his cap.

It is strange that in all their proclamations the Presidents have forgotten to mention Turkey and pumpkin pie etc. Or is it indeed possible that we have the wrong view of the purpose of the day.

General Frederick D. Grant has been informed that if he will run for President he will get the entire negro vote. If the General really has presidential aspirations he had better go over to Siberia before he starts "a running," if he depends on the negro vote to elect him. The average negro of this country loves his "booze" too well.

Senator Aldrich is taking a trip thruout the West, telling the people of this section a few things they are not expected to know about, he having been over to Europe taking a Post-graduate course in that subject. If he could invent a practical system under which it would be impossible to have a bank failure or for a banker or clerk to go wrong, and got it working in this country the people might be willing to overlook a few of his shortcomings.

Speaker Cannon claims that Herman Ridder and others representing the American Publishers Association offered him the support of certain Metropolitan newspapers in his candidacy for the Presidency if he would use his influence to have the tariff on print paper reduced. We fear that the people's sense of humor will become blunt with too much usage if many more such stories are sprung on them.
"Cannon for President!" It contains a laugh for everybody with several left over.

The citizens of the country's metropolis seems to have taken the wisest course open to them in their recent election although their is always a lot of talk about the "gang" it is generally a case of the 'outs" against the "ins," and in splitting things up and sitting part of one outfit so that it can watch the others and U—U had ought to make quite a saving to the city exchequer and eliminate considerable of the graft. Something on the principal of setting "a thief to catch a thief," that is providing the two outfits do not form a combination.

It is a living indicator of your daily business and chronicler of all that transpires from day to day and year by year. Stand by it and encourage it to go on improving and adding to your prosperity.

An editor died and slowly wended his way to where he supposed a warm reception awaited him. The devil saw him and said: "For many years thou hast borne the blame for the many errors the printers made in the paper. The paper has gone, alas, for $1 and the $1 has often failed to come in. The printers have deviled thee on Saturday night for wages when thou hadst not one cent to thy name. Men have taken the paper without paying for it and cursed thee for not getting it out better. Thou hast been called a dead beat by passenger conductors when thou hast shown thy annual pass to envious gaze. All this thou hast born in silence. Thou canst not come in here." And he fired him.

Some Don'ts.

Don't worry about something that you think may happen tomorrow, because you may die tonight, and tomorrow will find you beyond the reach of worry. Don't worry over a thing that happened yesterday, because yesterday is a hundred years away. If you don't believe it just try to reach after it and bring it back. Don't worry about anything that is happening today, because today will last only 15 or 20 minutes. Don't worry about things you can't help, because then there's no need to worry. Don't worry at all. If you want to be penitent now and then it won't hurt you a bit, it will do you good. But worry, worry, worry, fret, fret, fret,—why, there's neither sorrow, penitence, strength, penance, reformation, hope nor resolution in it. It's mere worry.

The Model Subscriber.

Good morning, sir; Mr. Editor, how are the folks today? I owe you for next year's paper, and I thought I'd come in and pay. And Jones is goin' to take it, and this is his money here, I shut down lendin' it to him and then coaxed him to try it a year. And here is a few little items that happened last week out our way; I thought they'd look good for the paper and so I just jotted 'em down. And here is a basket of apples my wife picked expressly for you, and here is a pumpkin from Jennie—she thought she must send something, too. You're doing the politics bully, as all of our family agree; just keep your old goose quill a-flapyin' and give bad men a good one for me. And now you are chuck full of business, and I won't be takin' your time; I've things of my own I must tend to—good day, sir, I believe I will climb." The editor sat on his hard bottom chair, and brought down his fist with a thump, "God bless that sturdy farmer," he muttered, "he's a regular jolly old trump."

If you want to be worth a million dollars it would cost you just a million dollars to get it. Broken friendships, intellectual starvation, loss of social enjoyment, deprivation of generous impulses, the smothering of many aspirations, a limited wardrobe and a scanty table, a lonely home—because you fear a lovely wife and a handsome home would be expensive—a hatred of the heathen, a dread of the contribution box, a haunting fear of charitable societies a fretful dislike of poor people because they won't keep their misery out of your sight, a little sham benevolence that is worse than none; oh, you can be rich, young man, if you are willing to pay the price.

Any man can get rich who doesn't think it too expensive.

Each of our lives is an open page upon which we are continually making impressions. How cautious should we be that these impressions be beautiful. Let us then at eventide scan the page of our life during the day, discovering all mistakes, and ever afterward strive to avoid a repetition of them.

MOB LYNCHES TWO

White Man and Negro Strung Up at Cairo, Ill.

ONE OF THE BODIES BURNED

Woman Applies Torch to Funeral Pyre of Colored Man.

Cairo, Ill., Nov. 12.—Two men, one a negro, the other a white man, were lynched on the streets of Cairo by an infuriated mob.

Under the glare of 100 electric lights in the center of the business section of the city, Will James, a negro, who is said to have made a confession of his participation in the murder of Miss Anna Pelly, whose dead body was found in an alley last Tuesday morning, was strung up to an immense steel arch that spans Eighth and Commercial streets, the most important corner in the city. In his confession James implicated another negro named Alexander. In his confession James told of his assault on Miss Pelly and declared Alexander had some of the jewelry taken from her.

As soon as the negro finished, a man who had climbed to the top of the arch turned on the electric lights and a rope was thrown to him. He dropped it over the arch and an end fell to the surging crowd. Many women seized the end and tugged with the men.

While the mob was giving vent to its expressions of joy at the fate of the wretch who was swinging from the tall arch the rope around his neck broke. The negro fell to the ground. As he lay writhing there begging for mercy a dozen shots were fired. Most of them found their mark. The negro had been shot to death.

A woman sprang forward and making her voice heard above the tumult she cried: "Burn him."

Negro's Body Is Cremated.

A hundred men seized the rope still attached to the negro's neck and he was dragged through a mile of Cairo's principal streets to the scene of the murder. Here an immense bonfire was built and the body thrown onto the flames.

Here the woman once more was to the front. It was her hand that applied the match to the pyre. The flames lighted up almost in an instant. The mob of men, some women and many boys of tender years, watched and cheered and exulted as they saw the body of the unfortunate negro burned to a crisp.

Then, drunk with the sight of blood and with the realization of its own power, the mob, reinforced by this time, moved again on the jail. Possession was easily gained.

Henry Salzner, a white man, accused of the murder of his wife, was dragged from his cell. He pleaded for mercy and protested his innocence, but the spirit of fury was in the mob.

Salzner was taken to a nearby telegraph pole and hanged.

Soon afterward the local militia was ordered out and with the coming of the soldiers the streets began to clear.

The lynchings in Cairo, horrible and brutal as they were, are the first in the state of Illinois since the race riots in Springfield a year ago last August. Law-abiding citizens are paralyzed at the audacity and the blood thirstiness of the mob. They are doing everything possible to restore order, but the mob is drunk now in more senses than one.

BOY ROBS BANK SECOND TIME

Shoots Himself When Cornered by Pursuing Posse.

Eudora, Kan., Nov. 13.—Driven to bay by an armed mob, Earl Bullock, the seventeen-year-old bandit of Lawrence, Kan., who twice within the past month has robbed the Eudora State bank, murdered a policeman and shot another man, probably fatally wounded himself in an attempt to commit suicide here.

Bullock's attempted suicide followed his second robbery of the bank here and his shooting of Fred Starr, cashier of the Kaw Valley State bank of Eudora, who was in the bank with his day's clearings.

POWDER MILLS BLOW UP

Three Killed and Seven Injured by Explosion.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 11.—With a deafening report and a shock which caused the whole city and much of the surrounding country to tremble a press mill and a grinding mill at the powder works of the Du Pont company west of Wilmington exploded. Three workmen were killed and seven injured.

INDICTED FOR CONSPIRACY

Former Sugar Trust Official Is Under Arrest.

New York, Nov. 13.—James F. Bendernagel, now identified as one of the "men higher up" in the sugar trust scandal and reputed to be the chief of the "big six," was arrested following an indictment accusing him of conspiring to swindle the United States government in connection with the weighing of sugar. He was released on $5,000 bail.

In addition there were other developments as follows:

New indictments by the federal grand jury against Oliver Spitzer, Thomas Kehoe, Gene M. Voelker, Edward A. Boyle, John R. Coyle and Patrick J. Hennessey, all employes of the American Sugar Refining company, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government. These men await trial on another indictment.

The government is about to bring suit against the Arbuckles for $675,000 alleged to be due in sugar duties.

QUAKES ROCK ISLAND

Haiti Also Swept by a Violent Cyclone.

Port Au Prince, Haiti, Nov. 13.—While this whole island has been rocking with earthquake tremors for nearly a week, it has been swept by a violent cyclone and deluged by disastrous floods.

Port de Paix is in ruins. Nineteen dead already have been found in the wreckage.

Gonaives is razed. The work of the wind and rain was completed when a great tremor upheaved the bed of the sea and sent a billow of destruction running across the land as high as a man's head.

Many lie dead at Cape Haitien, drowned by this sea flood, which curled up the custom house there like a leaf and left it a scattered ruin. Death, wreck and ruin are everywhere and the loss of property is incalculable.

The sun has not been seen here in four days. Meanwhile rain has fallen steadily, accompanied by sharp flashes of lightning and heavy thunder, which made the earth quiver.

All communication with the interior of the island has been destroyed.

ATTACKED BY SUFFRAGETTE

Winston Churchill Lashed by Whip In Hands of Woman.

Bristol, Eng., Nov. 13.—A wild eyed suffragette armed with a horsewhip attacked Winston Spencer Churchill here and it was only after a struggle that she was restrained. Churchill and his wife had just arrived by train and were leaving the railroad station when the woman suddenly darted out from the crowd and commenced to belabor the cabinet member with a rawhide. Churchill promptly seized his assailant and succeeded in wrenching the whip from her hands after a sharp struggle, during which the two barely escaped falling from the platform to the tracks below. The trophy is now in the possession of Mrs Churchill.

WINSTON SPENCER CHURCHILL

The militant suffragette was arrested and imprisoned. She refused to give her name.

CHINESE IN BLOODY FEUD

Four Are Dead and Fifth Dying at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Nov. 11.—Special details of police were sent into Chinatown to prevent the continuation of a war between the members of the Yee family and the On Yick Tong, which has already claimed the lives of four Chinese, with a fifth probably dying.

Four victims were claimed in the past twelve hours as the result of the feud. The war followed the elopement of a member of the Yee family with Be Guo, wife of an On Yick Tong member.

DENIED BY COURT OF APPEALS

Application for Stay of Sentence In Labor Cases.

Washington, Nov. 15.—The court of appeals of the District of Columbia denied the application for a stay for Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor, sentenced to jail for contempt.

ALL OF THEM NOW ARE DEAD

No Hope for Several Hundred Men Entombed In Mine at Cherry, Ill.

FOUND BIG PILES OF BODIES

Exploring Parties Unable to Remove Them, as Fire Has Broken Out Anew.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 16.—Nothing lives in the St. Paul mine. The shafts and drifts were partly explored by men wearing oxygen helmets. They met great piles of bodies, but were unable to remove them.

The unsealing of the main entrance, however, caused the fire to flare up again in the miles of soft coal tunnels. The airtight cover again is over the opening and hope is dead even in the breasts of the dazed, praying women who keep alight the front room lamps in the rows of cottages.

Jim Steele, mine superintendent, makes the startling admission that every man may have been alive when the mine was first sealed after the fire and they perished within two hours. A union official charges that the sealing was done without regard to human life.

Carbonic acid gas is to be pumped under high pressure into the mine for the purpose of stifling the flames. For the same reason that fire would cease burning in an atmosphere of carbonic acid gas a human being would suffocate. The people of Cherry know this to be a fact. The proposal to pump the gas into the mine is but one more blow, striking hope that already was prostrate.

Mine a Death Chamber.

And with this practical certainty that the St. Paul mine is one vast death chamber comes the fear that earlier reports of the number of victims may have been too small. It is now regarded at the mine's mouth as probable that the number of dead will exceed 500. This is in the face of the official statements issued that the victims of the disaster numbered 310.

On Saturday night, following the entrapping of the men, it was announced that 484 had been caught in the depths. A house to house canvass resulted in the names of 256 men and boys known to be in the mines being ascertained. But the payrolls show that there were 338 in the mine when death began to riot there and the payrolls contain the names only of day laborers. W. W. Taylor, general superintendent of the mine, admits a fear that the dead may exceed 400 and a high official of the mine, who is in a position to know the facts, told a reporter that there were 585 men of the morning shift in the mine and preparing to quit work when the fire broke out.

Only a few cagefuls were taken up to safety.

ROBBER SHOOTS THREE MEN

Kills One and Badly Wounds the Other Two.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 12.—With a revolver in each hand, a young man who has been identified as T. J. Hall of Louisville, son of a dealer in secondhand furniture, entered the Merchants' National bank at New Albany, Ind., and, after commanding every one to throw up his hands and "get into the vault," began shooting.

J. Hangary Fawcett, cashier of the bank, was shot through the chest and neck and died almost instantly.

John K. Woodward, president of the bank, was shot through the liver and intestines perforated; condition serious.

James R. Tucker, negro chauffeur of Louisville, was shot through the body, probably fatally.

The bandit was identified as Thomas Jefferson Hall, and, according to William J. Hall, his father, he is but seventeen years old.

TUG FINALLY RESCUES CREW

But Steamer Hoyt Will Probably Be a Total Loss.

Duluth, Nov. 16.—After two days of fruitless endeavor to reach the steamer Hoyt, which was driven onto a sunken reef by the storm on Lake Superior off Otter island, the tug Helm finally succeeded in reaching the wreck and took the crew aboard.

The crew suffered terribly. A gale blew from the northeast, accompanied by a blinding snow storm, and waves dashed over the vessel, sometimes six feet above her decks. With the boat in utter darkness and pitching violently about in the breakers and with the billows washing over her the men were exposed to the greatest hardships.

MUCH POULTRY DESTROYED

Eleven Thousand Chickens Perish In Kansas Fire.

Hutchinson, Kan., Nov. 11.—Eleven thousand chickens were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the plant of the United States Packing company here. Loss, $50,000.

SURPRISES THE LABOR LEADERS

Refusal of Court to Grant Stay In Contempt Case.

CONVENTION MAY ADJOURN

Suggested That Delegates to American Federation of Labor Meeting In Toronto Accompany Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison to Washington. Executive Council Holds a Meeting to Consider the Situation.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 16.—Just as the convention of the American Federation of Labor was about to adjourn for the day a telegram was received from Washington announcing that the stay asked for by the attorneys for President Gompers, Vice President Mitchell and Secretary Morrison in the proceedings against them for contempt of court had been denied by the court of appeals of the District of Columbia. President Gompers was plainly surprised, and as he read the message to the convention the delegates sat in silence as though dazed by the court's action.

"That means that the resources of the lawyers have been exhausted, doesn't it?" asked one of the delegates.

"The chair is not in a position to state," replied President Gompers. Then as he read the message stating "the mandate goes down Saturday morning," the faces of himself and his fellow officers betrayed the anxiety under which they were laboring.

A telegram signed by the three defendants was at once dispatched to their counsel in Washington, asking when it would be necessary for them to put in an appearance in order to avoid forfeiting their bail bonds, which amount to $12,000, and stating that they would like to remain in Toronto until the close of the convention Saturday evening.

"I am not certain whether under the law of the District of Columbia we can appeal," said Mr. Gompers after adjournment. "But if we go, the convention must stay here and carry on its proceedings in a dignified and orderly manner."

"We'll charter a train and all go down with you," volunteered one of the delegates. "And even the seceders will join you," added J. J. Reid, president of the seceding faction of the electrical workers.

The suggestion that the convention be adjourned to Washington in the event of the departure of Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison was taken seriously by many of the delegates, and it was said a resolution to that effect might be prepared. Pending the receipt of a reply from Washington, the executive council held a long session at which plans for meeting the situation which confronts the three labor leaders were discussed.

Many of the delegates have expressed disapproval of the plan suggested by the Central Labor Union of Philadelphia that a two week's general strike be ordered as a protest against the contemplated imprisonment.

CASE AGAINST MAE WOOD

Stricken From the Calendar of New York Court.

New York, Nov. 16.—When the case of Mae C. Wood, on trial for bribery and forgery growing out of her unsuccessful divorce suit against former United States Senator Thomas C. Platt was called in the court of general sessions, it was stricken from the calendar.

The assistant district attorney in court explained that Miss Wood is in Colorado and declared she wrote him that she had no money to come to New York for trial, but that if he would send her fare she would gladly come. It is understood that former Senator Platt has intimated that his health is not good enough for him to take the stand against Miss Wood.

Miner Killed by Cavein.

Aurora, Minn., Nov. 16.—Jack Hill, a Finnish miner working at the Meadow mine, was instantly killed by having a cavein of ore fall on him. Hill was working with his partner when, without warning, the cavein took place. His partner escaped, but Hill was caught and, although rescued a moment later, was dead, a heavy piece of ore having struck him on the head.

Loses Life on Hunting Trip.

Carlyle, Sask., Nov. 16.—Homer E. Bruce of Indianapolis was drowned at Stevenson lake, fourteen miles northwest of Carlyle. Bruce had been in the Moose mountain district on a hunting and trapping trip and while crossing from the east shore of the lake to a peninsula broke through the ice when about ten rods from shore and drowned before his companion could save him.

A Rialto View.

"Do you think a little Shakespeare would go as a vaudeville act?" inquired Hamlett Fatt.

"Why not?" responded Yorick Hamm. "Everybody feels that he has got to stand for it if it comes along. No man is going to admit that Shakespeare is over his head."—Washington Herald.

GOVERNORS OF MINNESOTA

Senator Knute Nelson Was a Shrewd Young Financier

COPYRIGHT 1909 BY PAUL THOMPSON

RECENT SNAPSHOT OF SENATOR NELSON.

As a boy Senator Knute Nelson was so assiduous in his reading, so persistent in his investigation, that in early manhood he became known to his fellows as a self educated student of wonderful ability. He had no difficulty in securing a position as schoolteacher, and he kept at it during winter time until the civil war. He enlisted in a Wisconsin regiment and then proceeded to the office of the county treasurer to draw his back salary as a teacher. The custodian of the county's funds at that time was a farmer with whom Nelson was well acquainted. The tax receipts were coming in, and Nelson eyed the collection of wildcat currency with manifest disapproval.

"Look here, Uncle Billy," he called out, "this county owes me something like $300. I'll tell you what you do. Just hand over to me out of that pile of money all of the notes of the State Bank of Wisconsin and then give me your personal note, due in a year, without interest, for the balance that is coming to me."

The county treasurer, knowing something of Nelson's prejudices, laughingly agreed to the proposal.

Mr. Nelson got less than a hundred dollars in the notes of his favorite bank and a personal note from "Uncle Billy" for the balance. He deposited the note with the state bank and went off to the war. He served throughout the four years of that struggle, was wounded a time or two, once taken prisoner and had an excellent and enviable record as a soldier.

Senator Clapp the Architect Of His Own Fortunes

SENATOR CLAPP EN ROUTE TO THE CAPITOL.

At the age of twenty-three, an alumnus of the University of Wisconsin, Moses E. Clapp hung out his shingle in the town of Hudson and at once began to draw largely upon the energy and enthusiasm which have characterized him through all his undertakings. He entered the political field without delay and his gift of oratory made him a welcome addition to his party. He became known as a keen debater, a hard fighter and one of the most invincible of political antagonists. After four years, while he was county attorney, ed by the Minnesota boom, he opened a law office at Fergus Falls and soon began to expand in a remarkable manner. His rise to eminence has been coincident with the growth of the state, and he has kept pace with the gigantic upward strides of the commonwealth.

IN CRASH OF TROLLEY CARS

Fourteen People Are Killed Near Vancouver, B. C.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 11.—A runaway freight car crashed into a crowded passenger car on the British Columbia Electric Railway company's interurban line. Fourteen persons were killed, including the motorman and conductor of the freight car. The passengers were mostly workingmen.

The passenger car left the Vancouver station just behind an electric freight train consisting of a locomotive, box car and flat car, laden with heavy timbers, fifty or sixty feet long and a foot thick.

Three miles out, at the head of a grade which the freight cars had just ascended, the coupling of the lumber car broke and caused the lumber car to start back toward the city. By this time the passenger car, a quarter of a mile behind, was just leaving Lake View station, a short distance beyond the city limits. The runaway lumber car dashed into view at a speed which left Motorman Thoburn no time to move. When the impact occurred the heavy timbers of the flat car slid forward and ripped the passenger car level with the floor.

Jury Renders Verdict in Sensational Murder Case.

Paris, Nov. 14.—Mme. Margherita Steinheil, the tragic widow, was acquitted at an early hour this morning by a jury of the charge of murdering her husband, Adolphe Steinheil, the painter, and her stepmother, Mme. Japy.

The murder of the distinguished painter, Adolph Steinheil, and his mother-in-law on the night of May 31, 1908, caused a sensation in Paris. They were found strangled in the artist's residence in the Rue de Vaugirard. Mme. Steinheil was found gagged and bound to a bed. Mme. Steinheil gave a description of the alleged assassins, who, according to her story, numbered four, including a red-haired woman. Later Mme. Steinheil told many conflicting stories and was herself arrested and charged with the crime. The motive was found in her hatred for her stepmother and a desire to rid herself of her husband in order that she might marry Maurice Borderel, a wealthy merchant, who had become infatuated with her.

COMPROMISE COVERS CASE

Government Cannot Get Money From Sugar Trust.

STIMSON DISCUSSES SUBJECT

Special Prosecutor in the Underweighing Frauds Says Agreement Made Last Spring Prevents the Government From Bringing Further Action for Restitution of Stolen Revenues. Other Federal Officials Reticent.

New York, Nov. 16.—A padlock was clamped on the mouth of everybody in the government service in New York who was even remotely connected with the sugar trust investigation and prosecution, except that of Henry L. Stimson, the government's special prosecutor in the underweighing frauds, and his assistant, Winifred T. Denison.

Even Richard Parr, the treasury agent who unearthed the underweighing steals originally, and who has been talking freely during the past few days, thr w up both hands when approached by reporters and exclaimed: "Never again."

Collector Loeb scooted out the back door of his office while a crowd of newspaper men were awaiting him in the big front room of the custom house. He denied himself to all reporters for the remainder of the day. It is known that soon after he arrived at his office in the morning he held an extended conversation over the long distance telephone with James Burton Reynolds at Washington. Reynolds is the man whom Parr accused of having greatly hampered his work of investigation while Reynolds was assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of the customs division. An hour or two after the long distance telephone conversation Mr. Reynolds issued at Washington a statement in general denial of Parr's open charges.

Deputy Collector Stuart, who, Parr says, received orders by telephone from Assistant Secretary Reynolds at Washington to countermand Parr's seizure of the cargo of raw sugar which he found underweighed in November, 1907, positively declined to say a word on that subject.

In an interview Mr. Stimson stated for the first time specifically and definitely that the compromise agreement he made with the sugar trust lawyers when the civil suit for the recovery of millions of revenue stolen from the government was suddenly stopped in the federal court last spring covered the whole case against the trust so far as the underweighing frauds are concerned, and that the compromise stops the government from bringing further action for restitution of stolen revenues, even should the result of the full investigation disclose thefts exceeding the amount of $2,000,000 for which he compromised the suit.

An Eccentric Russian Doctor.

The famous Russian, the late Dr. Zaharin, was noted for his eccentric methods. When summoned to attend Czar Alexander III. in his last illness, Dr. Zaharin required the same preparation for his visit to the palace as to any of his patients' houses. That is to say, all dogs had to be kept out of the way, all clocks stopped and every door thrown wide open. He left his furs in the hall, his overcoat in the next room, his galoches in the third, and, continuing, arrived at the bedside in ordinary indoor costume. He sat down after walking every few yards and every eight steps in going upstairs. From the patient's relatives and every one else in the house he required absolute silence until he spoke to them, when his questions had to be answered by "Yes" or "No" and nothing more.

Milk on a Stick.

In winter time milk goes to the buyer in a chunk instead of a quart, says a Glasgow paper. The people in Siberia buy their milk frozen, and for convenience it is allowed to freeze about a stick, which comes as a handle to carry it by. The milkman leaves one chunk or two chunks, as the case may be, at the houses of his customers. The children in Irkutsk, instead of crying for a drink of milk, cry for a bite of milk. The people in winter time do not say, "Be careful not to spill the milk," but "Be careful not to break the milk." Broken milk is better than spilled milk, though, because there is an opportunity to save the pieces. A quart of frozen milk on a stick is a very formidable weapon in the hand of an angry man or boy, as it is possible to knock a person down with it. Irkutsk people hang their milk on hooks instead of putting it in pans, though, of course, when warm spring weather comes on they have to use the pans or pails as the milk begins to melt and drop down the hooks.

A Necessity.

"Twenty dollars for retrimming your hat!" exclaimed Mr. Madison. "But we agreed to spend nothing except for things that were positively needed."

"Well, John, this is. You see, my best friend has just had hers retrimmed, and I have promised to go with her to the concert on Friday."

"Oh, all right. But I can't give you more than fifteen this morning, because I broke my meerschaum and must have it mended."

"Can't you smoke your old brierwood?"

"Certainly, dear. And you can wear your old hat."

"John, let's begin to economize next month after we get things all straightened out."

"All right."—New York Herald.

The Word "Wallop."

The origin of the familiar vernacular verb "to wallop" is not generally known. It comes from the family name of the earls of Portsmouth. Sir John Wallop, K. G., was admiral commander in the reign of King Henry VIII. of the fleet which avenged French raids by burning French ships and twenty-one French villages. This was called, in the current parlance of the times, "walloping" them, and the phrase passed into the language and still survives.

A Convenient Topic.

The Mistake He Made.

He sauntered into the central police station and approached the desk sergeant. There was a careworn look on his face. He stood there a moment as if in reverie. Finally as tears coursed down his cheeks he timidly said:

"I want to give myself up."

"What have you done that you should seek a felon's cell?" the sergeant asked.

"I have long been a fugitive from justice. The welfare of society demands that I should be punished."

"But what is it? What heinous offense have you committed?"

"I am a bigamist—yes, a polygamist—and I don't dare think what worse. No longer must I keep it from the world. Lock me up. I am ready to do penance."

"But will you not explain?"

"Yes, if you insist. I thought I married only the daughter, but I have found, to my sorrow, that the whole family was included."—Kansas City Independent.

Steenerson Speaks at Land Congress Convention in Chicago.

While representing his territory at the National Farm and Land Congress held in Chicago last week our Congressman delivered a speech that we might well feel proud of. He declared to the assembly the great productiveness of Minnesota's land and the great opportunities that still lie open to every man who is willing to take hold of them and work out their true value. Mr. Steenerson said in part:

"This arae of more than 12,000,000 acres is still in its infancy so far as settlement and development is concerned. Several millions of acres in the eastern half were until recently embraced in the Indian country, and only in the last few years been opened to occupation and settlement

"Although the settlement of the Red River Valley began with the building of the first railroad through it, in the early seventies, yet these settlements were confined to the country adjacent to the railroad, and is only in the last decade that the whole region has been supplied with railroad facilities sufficient to bring all the land within reasonable distance of the market.

"Although in this territory there has been rapid progress in building up its farms, its towns and villages, with churches and schools, roads and bridges, with telephone lines and daily mail, yet there are many neighborhoods were the farms are still too large and neighbors too far apart, so that more farmers would be very welcome. Of course in these parts, there are no free lands to be had, but good farm land, either improved or unimproved, can be bought at very reasonable prices, say on the average of $25 per acre.

"For those who are not able to purchase farms, there is ample opportunity to rent on shares or buy on the 'crop payment plan,' and if they are good farmers, they can in a very few years own the land they rent. I have known actual instances during the last season when the crop of grain harvested was worth more than the price of the land, and with the phenomenal success of dairy farming in this section in the last few years, it is certain that any of these farms devoted to dairying, and mixed farming, would pay for itself out of the net profits in two or three years.

Tuberculosis in Catte.

Tuberculosis or Consumption in cattle is an infectious and communicable disease known by the formation in the glands and other parts of the body of small bunches called tubercles. It is from these tubercles that the disease receives its name, Tuberculosis. The germs of tuberculosis enter the body by way of the nostrils in the air breathed, or by way of the mouth or digestive tract in feed. As soon as the germs enter the body they begin to multiply, slowly but surely, until the entire body of the animal becomes affected; such animals spread the disease to other animals stabled with them and pigs or calves consuming milk from a tuberculous cow are liable to become affected as are human beings.

All germ diseases, and especially tuberculosis, are more liable to affect animals that are in a run down condition, such as cows afflicted with infectious abortion or retained afterbirth, than those that are in a strong, healthy condition, for the reason that the animal that lacks vitality acts as a hot-bed for the germs of diseases to propagate and multiply in, while the healthy, strong, vigorous animal may ward off the disease to some extent.

Tuberculosis being largely a house or stable disease due to artificial life such as being housed or stabled, every possible precaution should be taken to prevent disease. One tuberculous cow in a close, foul, hot, badly ventilated stable is liable to infect all other cattle in the barn. To prevent and guard against disease, it is necessary to maintain absolute cleanliness.

Dr. David Roberts, Wisconsin State Veterinarian.

KAISER TO BE A CANDIDATE

Bagley Banker in Race for State Treasurer on the Republican Ticket.

—Crookston Times.

Dame Rumor has it that Albert Kaiser, the well known banker of Bagley, is doing some quiet work to land the Republican nomination for state Treasurer and it is said that his friends are not sitting idly by either. Mr. Kaiser is throughly acquainted throughout the 9th district and has many warm personal friends. He has always been active in politics, a decidedly "live wire," and whenever the republicans needed his support he was not backward in taking off his coat and doing some hard work.

Of his candidacy the Minneapolis Tribune has the following.

"Albert Kaiser, of Bagley, is the latest candidate for the republican nomination of state treasurer. Mr. Kaiser comes from the ninth district is a banker in his home town. and stands well in his home district. As his name would indicate, he is a German which would line up well with having that nationality well represented on the ticket."

Install Street Lamps.

The first of the week street lights of the latest approved pattern were received by the village council and set up on the principal corners. The lamps were made by the American Gas Machine Co. of Albert Lee and are the best turned out by that firm. The fuel is generated from gasoline and makes a very bright steady light. The lamps have an automatic shut off which can be set so that they will be extinguished at any given time. This will mean a saving in fuel as there is no neccessity of having the lights lit after the flier has arrived from the south. This is a much needed improvement and will without doubt be appreciated by visitors.

Dance Next Saturday.

There will be a dance given in Carlson's hall next Saturday to which a cordial invitation is extended to all. Good music will be furnished and supper will be served at Hotel Plummer. If you want to enjoy a good time be at the dance next Saturday.

Dislocated Shoulder.

While on the way to town last Tuesday with a load of grain, Fred Bender of the town of Equality had the misfortune to dislocate his shoulder and will not be able to do anything in the line of work for some time to come. He was on the grade just east of town when the sleigh atarted to slip to one side towards the ditch. Mr. Bender thinking to save his load from going into the ditch jumped for the sleigh to try and hold it and slipped and fell with his whole weight comming on his shoulder. Andrew Anderson happened to be comming a short distance behind and was able to assist him in getting to town.

Eclipse of the Moon.

An eclipse of the moon is scheduled to take place in the early morning of Saturday, Nov. 27. The moon will enter penumbra—the faint, encircling shadow—at 1:12 a. m It will enter the darker shadow at 2:11 a. m. The total eclipse will last from 3:14 a. m. to 4:36 a. m. The moon will leave the shadow at 5:38 a. m, and will leavo the penumbra at 6:38 a. m,

In the first hour the moon will grow darker on the upper left hand edge. After it enters the shadow it will gradually lose its shape until the total phase begins at 3:15 A. M. At this time the bright crescent will dissappear and the outline of the moon can be made out. It will have a coppery tint, will be unevenly lighted and the upper part of the disc will be quite dark.

AUSTRIA'S BACHELOR TAX

New Budget Contains Provision Which Is Blow at Race Suicide.

Vienna, Nov. 22.—A blow at "race suicide" is struck by the new Austrian budget, which includes a bachelor tax among other novel imposts proposed to meet the serious deficit in the country's revenue.

This, by the way, is the first time that there has been a balance on the wrong side of Austria's national accounts for twenty years. There is now a deficit of more than $8,000,000.

The "bacheldor" tax is really a super tax on the incomes of persons who have only themselves or one other person to support.

BURN WHILE MOTHER SHOPS

One Baby Is Dead and Another, Tied to Door, Is Rescued.

Indiana Harbor, Ind., Nov. 19.—Neighbors that broke into a burning house found a baby girl dead in her crib and her three-year-old brother, John Koran, unconscious, tied to a door knob. The children's mother had gone shopping and in order to prevent the boy playing with matches she had tied him to the door.

BEARER IS BADLY INJURED

Letter Intended for Baron Rothschild Explodes.

Breslau, Prussia, Nov. 22.—An attempt upon the life of Baron Albert Rothschild of Vienna is reported from Schillersdorf, the Rothschild hunting station in Upper Silesia.

A schoolmaster who was on his way to Schillersdorf was stopped by a man who courteously requested the other to deliver a letter to the baron.

The schoolmaster consented and had continued on his way when the letter exploded, frightfully injuring the bearer.

INJUNCTION HOLDS STATE

Oklahoma Prevented From Interfering With Gas Line.

Muskogee, Okla., Nov. 19.—As a result of an injunction which Federal Judge Campbell granted the Quapaw Oil and Gas company, restraining the state officials from interfering with the piping of gas from Oklahoma to another state, a force of men began to build a gas line from Washington county, Okla., to Joplin, Mo. The product is to be used as fuel for zinc and ore smelters and industrial plants in Joplin.

THOUSANDS TO GO ON STRIKE

Waistmakers Want Shorter Hours and More Pay.

New York, Nov. 23.—After hearing Samuel Gompers speak at Cooper Union 2,000 members of the Ladies' Waistmakers' union voted to go on strike for shorter hours and higher wages. At the same time three other divisions of the union, representing about 15,000 more employes, met in other parts of the city and cast their votes with similar results.

WOMEN ARE WOMEN.

A Rather Roundabout Way to Prove the Proposition.

Men say women are angels; women say women are cats. Let us pause a moment and reason upon this thing.

If women are angels—however, that does not seem to be the proper starting point. Let us try again.

If angels are cats—but, no; that is hardly reasonable, for angels have wings, and cats do not fly. We must begin again.

If women are cats—but that isn't possible, for cats do not talk, and how could a dumb animal express an opinion in words of a woman? Whatever cats may think, they never say a word about a woman, while women—well, women are not cats.

Now let us return to the first proposition.

If women are angels, they wouldn't say women are cats. Angels don't talk that way.

Once upon a time a man married a woman. He said she was an angel; the women said she was a cat. Happy man, not to know the difference between an angel and a cat!

Men say women are angels, and by this token women say angels are cats. Therefore, angels being cats, cats must be angels, and, both being the same, women are women.

Which is precisely what they are.—W. J. Lampton in Lippincott's.

Be patient with the dull child: the bright one has less need of your sympathy.

If you are obliged to wait forsome thing that you want very badly you desire of it seemingly immediate increases.

The prices that are paid at some of our farmer's auction sales this winter certainly indicated that the farmers appreciate a little extra boosting in their behalf.

Every young person should have a small library. Get a few choice books together and call them yours. It helps to tone up one's intellectual life to have books that are his very own.

A new report has been filed by the Public Examiner on the condition of affairs in Red Lake County. Well let the matter be aired and if everything has been done in a proper manner no one needs to fear the consequences.

Congressman Steenerson did some tall work at the Farmer's Congress held at Chicago last week. One thing is certain he could not overdraw the picture of opportunities that offer themselves on every hand in this part of the state.

It is said that the distruction of the three hundred coal miners in Ill. had a very appreciable affect on the price of coal. If dead men have such an influence on prices we may well imagine what a boost might be given by as many living ones.

When you go to doing your Xmas shopping be sure to do it with those who appreciate your business, the advertisers.

Red Lake Falls is to have a corn exhibit next Tuesday. Yes and verily they can have as good a one this year in Red Lake Falls with Red Lake county produce as there will be at Omaha when the entire country is scoured for exhibits only the amount exhibit will be less.

Your Local Paper.

Do you realize the value of your local paper when sharply criticising it, and in a scornful way pronounce it worthless and only a useless thing to be maintained? Would it not be well my brother, to halt a moment and consider whether it is not a medium of more value and good than yourself? Why, bless you, your local paper tells you when to go to county. circuit and probate court and nearly anywhere else you may have to go on this mundane sphere. It tells who is dead and eulogies their lives according to order, who is married, hurt, sick and a thousand other things you want to hear. It calls your attention to all public enterprises, advocates good schools, law and order in your town and country. It rejoices with you in prosperity and sympathizes with you in adversity. It records the marriage of your daughter, and is an index of innumerable souvenirs, the death of your son, the illness of your wife, all free of charge. It booms your town and builds up business whether you patronize it or not. Now ladies and gentlemen, can you not have a faint realization of how much you owe to your town paper? Really are you not grateful and thankful that you have the privilege of maintaining such enterprises? Can you think of anything that after all, brings you more solace and satisfaction than your lively local paper? Yet, they do say, scores and scores of you owe for your subscription, and such being the case, how can you expect ye editor to enjoy a full and free Thanksgiving, and with your conscience softening, how can he be exultant or very thankful.

Successor Of The Old Maid.

The term "girl bachelor" is a new coinage seemingly destined to take the place of the worn-out "old maid", which has long since lost its sting, if indeed, it ever had any. The girl bachelor of today is a well-poised, independent, generally self-supporting young woman, who does not see in matrimony the chief end and aim of feminine existence and who finds in the companion of other women the many opportunities for helpful work all that she needs. Plenty of the most agreeable social life is to be seen at her women's club, which beneficent institutions, like mushrooms, are springing up all over the country. Here she meets dozens of kindly, pleasant, wise, and attractive women, and thus keeps in touch with all matters of interest in the literary artistic, and social world. Her own rooms are also the meeting place of many congenial spirits. Should she wish to travel the world is her own from the north pole to the Pyramids with every modern facility for seeing and observing within her reach. All this does not imply that women are growing averse to matrimony and family cares, but that many who are not so constituted as to find in it their truest happiness are finding other channels for their activities, and are no longer doomed to the loveless contracted life of the old time "old maid."

Origin of Thansgiving.

The earliest recorded Thanksgiving day was observed in this country in 1621, when the first fruits of weary toil were harvested by the Plymouth Colony. Bradford sent out men to get wild fowl to help out the feast, and full of gratitude for their preservation and for the scanty harvest they had wrung from the unwilling stony soil, these brave ancestors of ours lifted up their hearts and voices in Thankfulness to God. Brave men they were, and hopeful, full of endurance, and indomitable force and energy. Food was scanty, perils threatened on every side, and yet these faithful pioneers were ready to praise God for his goodness and mercy.

Thanksgiving is the people's day; the day that stands for home and happiness; for gratitude and benevolence; for plenty and peace.

FAVORS CHANGE IN HOUSE RULES

Representative Martin Opposed to Those of Cannon.

LINDBERGH IN CAPITAL CITY

Minnesota Congressman Full of Fight and Determined to "Insurge" to the Bitter End—Declares That the Rules Will Be Provocative of a Great Deal of Trouble in the House.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Insurgent protests against the rule of Speaker Cannon in the house are coming from unexpected quarters.

Representative Martin of South Dakota and Representative Foster of Vermont, heretofore recognized as staunch supporters of the Cannon organization, declared that they would favor further changes in the house rules if such changes would tend to bring about more representative legislation.

"The changes made in the rules last session," said Mr. Martin, "were very important and I want to see them tried. Any member can now call up his bill for unanimous consent by simply giving notice to the clerk. And any bill on the calendar can be reached for consideration on calendar Wednesday without asking the consent of the speaker. These changes have considerably clipped the wings of the speaker and I would favor going further if necessary in the interest of representative legislation."

Representative Foster bowed assent as Mr. Martin made the remarks quoted.

The South Dakota member was not identified with the insurgent movement at the last session of congress. He voted for the "regular" rules, supported Mr. Cannon for the speakership and stood by the Payne tariff bill. Toward the end of the session he appeared to grow restless and it would not surprise observers here if he espoused the insurgent cause in the event that the Cannon rules are seriously attacked during the coming session.

Full of fight and determined to "insurge" to the bitter end Representative Lindbergh of Minnesota has arrived here for the winter. "Cannonism is an issue that will not down," said Mr. Lindbergh. "It is more alive now than ever. The rules will be provocative of a great deal of trouble in the house this winter and it would not surprise me if the organization was routed."

Would Break the Organization.

In a statement made public here and accredited to an insurgent leader who is not named it is claimed that forty-seven Republicans will back the fight on Mr. Cannon this winter. This would be sufficient to break the organization.

Republicans from fourteen states are classified as insurgents. Included in the list are Messrs. Stevens, Davis, Nye, Lindbergh, Volstead, Miller and Steenerson of Minnesota, all of whom voted against the tariff bill. Representatives Gronna and Hanna of North Dakota are also declared to be affiliated with the insurgent movement.

As strange as it may seem a member of the upper house of congress, Senator Cummins of Iowa, is taking a leading part in denouncing Mr. Cannon and the rules and it is charged that he has recently been in conference with anti-Cannon men in the lower branch, urging them to continue the fight against the grizzled veteran from Danville, Ill. To Senator Cummins is attributed the statement given out bearing on the prospective fight on the rules.

Despite their claim of a preponderance of votes against the house organization the insurgents are not especially hopeful of getting the rules satisfactorily amended.

MAY BE IN SAN JUAN HARBOR

Astor's Yacht Was in the Porto Rican Port.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 23.—Brief wireless communication between Key West and San Juan, Porto Rico, served to complicate rather than to clear the situation surrounding Colonel John Jacob Astor's yacht Nourmahal. But there is nothing to indicate that the yacht is not safe at San Juan, or was at least there Nov. 15, as reported from Willemstad and by the steamship Caracas Sunday and confirmed by that vessel's captain again Monday.

The fact that the wireless operator at San Juan could not state off-hand Monday morning that the yacht was in the harbor gave rise to a report that the vessel was still missing. But this interpretation, according to a statement issued by the operator at Tampa, is unfounded and due solely to the fact that the San Juan operator in his station was not aware of the presence of the yacht in the harbor. Soon after this brief conversation communication was again interrupted.

CHANGES IN THE SHERMAN LAW

President Not in Favor of Radical Ones Being Made.

DECISION IN OIL TRUST CASE

Convinces the Chief Executive That The Anti-Trust Law Will Be Found More Efficacious Than Its Critics Have Been Willing to Concede—Senator Borah In Favor of Strengthening the Statute.

Washington, Nov. 23.—President Taft does not contemplate, it is asserted upon high authority, such radical changes in the Sherman anti-trust law as some of his advisers have insisted were necessary and he himself was believed to have favored. Mr. Taft has been pleased greatly with the decision of the United States circuit court for the district of Missouri in the injunction proceedings against the Standard Oil company. He has told callers that he regards the decision of utmost importance. Although he has been able to read only the newspaper account of Judge Sanborn's findings, the president has said he believed that through it the Sherman act would be found much more efficacious than its critics have been willing to concede.

Ever since his return from his 13,000-mile trip the president has been talking Sherman law amendment to visitors conversant with the subject. Although he continued to refer to the Sherman act, he told several callers that the Standard Oil decision has made a most favorable impression on him. It is likely that Mr. Taft will refer to this decision in his annual message to congress, although before the portion of his message which will deal with that law is framed finally, he will confer with congressional authorities on anti-trust legislation, Attorney General Wickersham and other advisers. Just now Mr. Taft thinks that this decision shows what may be done under the Sherman act, and he will be disinclined to change it unless upon reading the finding in full he discovers that he is wrong in his view.

SENATOR BORAH.

Senator Borah of Idaho, a member of the judiciary committee, was one of the president's callers to whom he expressed his ideas about the modification of the Sherman act. Senator Borah told the president that while he had not read the decision in full either, he believed that it was of such a character to show that it has more uses than merely standing on the statute books.

Senator Borah is in favor of a strengthening of the law, however. He told Mr. Taft that at present there is not enough encouragement given to individuals to sue trusts which drive them out of business. He said that if it were made easier for private parties to bring suit instead of the United States bringing it for him and damages were such as to induce such an individual to do so, the advantages to those who wished to control the trusts would be enormous.

Mgr. Falconio, Papal Delegate, to Be Promoted.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Mgr. Diomede Falconio, papal delegate to the United States, will be the next American cardinal, his appointment to take place at the consistory to be held as soon as the pope's health permits. He will also be made a member of the curia, with headquarters in Rome.

This will be the first time any American will have a seat in the Vatican's board of representatives.

This information has been corroborated at the papal legation.

Archbishop John Farley of New York is reported to be the successor of Mgr. Falconio at Washington, pending his own reported promotion to the cardinalate.

COPYRIGHT BY HARRIS & EWING 1909

MGR. FALCONIO.

By appointing Mgr. Falconio the pope will obtain in his circle of advisers a man who has been in America since 1868, who naturalized himself as an American citizen in time to participate in the election of President Grant and a man who is credited with being better posted on Catholicism in the United States than any other prelate excepting Cardinal Gibbons.

MANY EMPLOYES LET OUT

Wholesale Dismissals In New York Customs Service.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The elimination from the customs service of Acting Deputy Surveyor James F. Vail, the abolition of that office in the New York customs house, the dismissal of 104 men at New York from March 4 up to the present, together with nearly 150 other changes included in Collector Loeb's statement from New York, were announced by Secretary MacVeagh.

There will be no further grants of immunity in the customs investigation at New York. Secretary MacVeagh made this clear, explaining that he received this assurance when he was in New York conferring with Collector Loeb and others. Collector Loeb, the secretary said, assured him that there would be no further occasion for it.

LABOR CHIEFS GET RESPITE

Mandate of Court Is Stayed Until Nov. 29.

Washington. Nov. 18.—The court of appeals of the District of Columbia upon request of counsel for the labor leaders, granted a stay until Nov. 29 in the issuance of the mandate sending President Gompers, Vice President Mitchell and Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor to jail for contempt of the supreme court of the District of Columbia in the Buck Stove and Range case.

Chief Justice Shepard said if by Nov. 29, the day of the reconvening of the United States supreme court, the labor leaders had filed in that court a petition for certiorari a further stay of the mandate would be granted pending action by the higher tribunal.

As a result Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison need not hasten to Washington, as it will not be necessary for them to surrender under their bonds, nor will they need to have recourse to habeas corpus.

DEATH FOLLOWS OPERATION

W. M. Laffan, Publisher of the New York Sun, Passes Away.

New York, Nov. 19.—William M Laffan, publisher of the New York Sun, is dead following an operation for appendicitis performed last Monday.

Mr. Laffan was born in Dublin, Ireland, Jan. 22, 1848, and had been a prominent newspaper man since 1870. At the time of his death he was president, treasurer and manager of the Sun Publishing company, a director of Harper & Bros., and president and director of the Lanston Monotype Machine company.

HIS OWN MEDICINE.

The Dose That Was Handed to the Persistent Agent.

He was a sewing machine agent of the most aggressive type. For twenty minutes the lady of the house had been awaiting an opportunity to say that she already possessed one.

At last he paused, only long enough, however, to thrust a card into the lady's hand.

The bit of pasteboard was certainly a novelty.

"My name is Sellem," it read, "of the firm of Blank & Co., sewing machine manufacturers, and I intend to prove to you that it is madness to defer purchasing one of our unequaled machines."

After a long description of the machine came the following:

"You may plead that you are unable to work a machine. I will remove that objection in fifteen minutes or in three lessons. Will call next Wednesday."

When the agent called again a six foot man opened the door and blandly remarked:

"You're the sewing machine man, I suppose?"

"Yes; I called last week, and"—

"Yes, I know," interrupted the big man. "You don't know me, I suppose. My name's Bury of Bury & Keepem, undertakers, and I intend to prove to you that it is madness to defer purchasing one of our unequaled coffins."

The agent began to edge away.

"You may plead that you are scarcely qualified for a coffin," the big man went on. "I will remove that objection in ten seconds."

But the agent simply tore from the house.—London Tit-Bits.

THE ATMOSPHERE.

Without It There Would Exist a Queer State of Affairs.

Without the atmosphere, besides the inconvenience to breathing, a great many peculiar things would be observed that would seem very extraordinary to us. The sun would rise straight up in the morning into a sky as black as ebony, traverse a black sky and sink down to rest at night into a black bed. No beautiful glories of the sunset and sunrise would appear, no blueness of the heavens be seen, no red sun gradually growing brighter, but one that would rise as a fiery orb and remain thus all day. No twilight and no daybreak could cheer us, for there would be nothing to diffuse the light.

Unless the sun shone directly on a thing we could not see it. Thus our houses would have to be made of some transparent substance or else be artificially lighted in the daytime. No soothing shades would appear in the landscape, but everything would stand out boldly and clearly, every object casting dense black shadows that would render invisible any one entering them. No voice or music could be heard, for there would be no medium to carry it. No birds or insects could flit about in the trees and above us, for there would be nothing to enable them to utilize their wing motion. No clouds would be seen in the intensely black sky, and no thunderstorms or high winds would be possible. No vegetation could exist, and no animal could live. In fact, this old earth would be as dead as Hector as far as activity was concerned.

Yet this is the exact condition of affairs on the moon, which has no atmosphere and consequently suffers every one of these disadvantages.

It is rather interesting to contemplate the successive events on the earth if the atmosphere should be quickly removed. The first thing that would probably happen is that every animal, insect, fish, bird and plant would suffer a violent explosion, for each contains air at a pressure of fifteen pounds to the square inch on the outside, which is balanced by an equal pressure on the inside and would rush outward on the first pressure being removed. This can be shown by placing the hand over an air pump and gradually exhausting the air. The part exposed will gradually swell. Another illustration is when a tornado sweeps round a house, taking the outside air away for an instant. If the house is closed the windows and doors will be blown outward with enormous force, and sometimes the sides themselves of the house are blown in all directions.—Chicago Record-Herald.

ACCIDENTAL NONSENSE.

Things That Amused Lear, the English Artist and Writer.

It is not surprising that the gifted inventor of such classic imaginative nonsense as "The Jumblies" and "The Owl and the Pussy Cat" took a keen delight in the real nonsense of real life whenever he chanced to encounter it. During a doleful stay in a dreary little mining village where it rained all the time and he was not well and could not accomplish the work he had set his heart on doing the late Edward Lear, although a good and decorous churchgoer, found his source of cheer in the parish clerk.

"Oh, beloved clerk!" he wrote gratefully to a friend. "He reads the psalms enough to make you go into fits. He said last Sunday, 'As white as an old salmon,' instead of 'White as snow in Salmon,' 'a lion' for 'alien to my mother's children' and 'they are not guinea pigs' instead of 'guiltless.' Fact, but I grieve to say he's turned out for the same and will never more please my foolish ears."

Even funnier was the erratic English of a foreigner which once enlivened for him the prolonged formalities of an official dinner.

"Sitting next to the captain of an Austrian frigate at Sir H. Sterle's on Thursday evening," he recorded, "the German officer said to a subaltern—the conversation was about the good looks of women—'I do think the Englishwoman conserve her aperient galship (girlhood) longer than all the women, even as far as her antics' (antiquity, age).

"The subaltern withered with confusion till I ventured to interpret, 'The Englishwoman preserves her appearance of youth longer than all women, even if she be old.'"—Youth's Companion.

Enough For Him.

When the physician arrived at the designated house he found that his patient was a decrepit negro, who sat up in bed and inquired:

"How much yo' charge, doctah?"

"Two dollars a visit, which includes my time, experience, advice and the medicine."

"A poor old coon like me don't need all dem extras. Just gib me 10 cents' wo'th o' you' cough med'cine, and dat's enough fo' me."—Judge.

Too Harsh.

"Wretched woman! You took advantage of my hospitality to steal my husband!"

"Pardon me, but is it exactly stealing where a guest, wishing a souvenir of an agreeable visit, carries away with her some trifling thing which her hostess gives every token of caring little for?"—Life.

IN SEARCH FOR MORE SURVIVORS

Squads Work Frantically In Effort to Remove Obstacles From Cherry Mine.

TWENTY SURVIVORS RESCUED

Ninety-two Known to Be Dead and Nearly Two Hundred Still Missing.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 22.—Squads, relieving each other at frequent intervals, are working frantically to remove obstacles obstructing the east workings of the St. Paul mine, for here, if anywhere, it is believed more survivors await deliverance.

This work was begun as soon as the main shaft was opened last Thursday, for experienced miners declared that the missing had their best chance of escape in the east workings.

With the rescue of twenty survivors Saturday in an unexpected quarter efforts to explore the east galleries were redoubled with enthusiasm, which continues unabated. Only men who would be superfluous at this task are spared to care for the dead.

Rain began falling and for the first time since the fire there was no one save newspaper men haunting the scene of the tragedy.

All the long day the vigil endured. At the end of it no living man or boy had been added to the list of the twenty rescued. At night fall the toll stood 20 saved, 92 known dead and 198 missing.

All day long the tolling of church bells resounded in Cherry and Spring Valley. Eighteen bodies were interred in a field south of the town. At the time a dozen coffined victims remained awaiting removal, while a score of caskets were piled near by for those who are to come.

Services for the Dead.

Services for the dead were held outside the churches, into which it was deemed inadvisable that the bodies be taken.

From the yet unfilled graves in which the Roman Catholic dead were placed the pastor hurried to the mine entrance, where, with a second priest, he waited to administer the last rites for the living should his services be needed.

The first ecstacy of joy in Cherry gave way to a strong reaction as succeeding hours added none to the list of saved. Each hour that passes now is looked upon by the watchers as making the chances of escape pitifully less.

The rescuers worked as if this was their belief. The fire in the second level was forced back and early in the afternoon the workers could pass it. The black damp in the east gallery was the obstacle that proved insurmountable to the men.

Through it the bodies of thirty-seven men could be seen. Preparations for the taking out of the bodies visible to the explorers were rushed when the morbid throng about the mine had thinned.

That the bodies might have been taken up earlier was admitted by those in charge of the work, but they thought of the scenes that would have followed.

One Recompense.

"Still, a fellow could have a permanent crease put in his trousers."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

ENJOINED FROM DOING BUSINESS

Standard Oil Company Declared to Be Illegal by Federal Circuit Court.

THREE YEARS IN THE COURTS

Case Has Been Bitterly Fought by Rockefeller and His Associates.

St. Paul, Nov. 20.—Declaring the Standard Oil company a "combination and conspiracy in restraint of, and to monopolize, commerce among the states and with foreign nations," in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law of 1890, the United States circuit court of this district handed down a decision simultaneously at St. Paul and St. Louis granting the government's application for an injunction against the further continuance and operation of the colossal corporation.

The injunction becomes operative thirty days from the time of the filing of the decision, or on Dec. 20, unless suspended by an appeal to the supreme court of the United States.

It was announced at the offices of the Standard Oil company in New York immediately after the news of the decision had been received that an appeal would be entered at once.

The decision constitutes a complete an sweeping victory for the government after a legal battle lasting three years.

The Standard Oil company of New Jersey—the parent corporation—John D. Rockefeller, its founder and chief stockholder, six other high officials and all the subsidiary corporations composing the trust are enjoined from continuing or carrying into effect the "illegal combination" they have formed and also are enjoined from entering into any like combination or conspiracy the effect of which will be to restrain interstate commerce in petroleum or its products. Further than this the decree forbids the defendants from engaging or continuing in interstate commerce until they discontinue their illegal combination.

Effect of the Decision.

Though the company is not put out of existence the powers that enabled it to operate the oil monopoly are taken away. The company can no longer vote the stock of the minor companies. It cannot control their directors or officers and the minor companies cannot pay dividends to the parent concern. Further, the defendants to the original suit are instructed that they must not again form a combination that will be a monopoly of the oil business.

Judge Sanborn of St. Paul, the presiding judge, wrote the opinion and the decree, in which all the judges concur and sent them, with a concurring opinion of Judge Hook, to Judge Adams at St. Louis, who filed them and entered the decree in that city.

The case was argued by Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul and Charles B. Morrison of Chicago for the United States and John G. Milburn of Buffalo, David T. Watson of Pittsburg, Moritz Rosenthal of Chicago and John G. Johnson of Philadelphia on behalf of the defendants.

A Vast Difference.

"Don't I give you all the money you need?" her husband complained.

"Yes," she replied, "but you told me before we were married that you would give me all I wanted."—London Tatler.

An Old Saw Strikes a Nail.

Mr. Scrappington (musingly)—As Lincoln said, a man may fool some of the people all the time and all the people some of the time— Mrs. Scrappington (briskly)—But you can't fool me any of the time!—Puck.

Didn't Take the Bait.

Miss Anciente (insinuatingly)—I dislike my name; it's horrid. Mr Fly (absently)—I fear it's too late to change it now.

Thick silence.—Pittsburg Press.

Pretty Unpopular.

Wigg—Bjones doesn't seem to be very popular. Wagg—I should say not. Why, that fellow is so unpopular he couldn't even get a job as a bill collector.—Philadelphia Record.

Very Different.

It is never embarrassing in a novel for a rich man to find a lot of poor kin. There is always a vacancy in a bank, where the rich man finds a good position for the oldest son, who soon becomes the bank's president. Another child shows a genius for painting, and the rich man sends him to Italy to study. In a month or two the child returns a great artist. But how different in real life! Ah, how vastly different!—Atchison Globe.

1 killed and 1 Wounded in Battle between Yeggmen and Posse.

Swan Johnson a highwayman of Henning was instantly killed and Deputy sheriff Andrew Johnson was seriously wounded in a battle between two yeggmen, who had robbed a store at Puposky and three Beltrami officer who attempted to capture them.

Mr. Laqua owner of the store after exchangiug shots with the robbers telephoned to the officers at Bemidji that the robbers were making for that place on a speeder. The three officers lay in wait for them near the G. N. bridge and had just got placed when the yeggmen showed up. They left the speeder at the bridge and walked directly towards the officers. When they were with in twenty feet deputy Johnson rose and ordered them to throw up their hands; the replied with shots from their revolvers and fled. Putrolman Benner who was stationed at the other end of the bridge with a rifle brought one of them down but the other escaped in the darkness. Andrew Johnson the wounded deputy was brought to Bemidji and altho his wounds are serious hopes are entertained for his recovery.

The dead robber was indentified as Swan Johnson and the other as "Al." Vandecar, also known as Al Leanard under which name he was known to many people around here, having put in the summer of 1907 here during which time he pulled of a couple of small confidence games. He is undoubtedly a desperate character and will put up a fight when taken. He is an old offendea having already served time for the same offence.

The Minnesota Bankers Association on Agriculture development and Education.

The following is a letter addressed, to Hon. John Lind, president of the board of regents of the State University and written by Joseph Chapman, chairman of the agricultural, committee of the Minnesota Bankers association. The letter is selfexplanatory and it is the desire of the association to have it published in all of the papers of the state. It is as follow: At the twentieth annual convention to the Minnesota Banker's Association, representing about eight hundred and fifty-five banks, state and national, located principally within the farming district of Minnesota, the question of the agricultural development of Minnesota and also the question of agricultural education, were very seriously considered. A resolution was passed, unanimously, instructing the executive council to appoint a committee from among its members to look into these matters and take such steps as in their judment might seem most expedient to improve conditions in connection therewith. Subsequently the committee was appointed, and after considerable investigation and research, it has succeeded in obtaining a large amount of information from all sections of the state regarding agricultural conditions and the facilities for obtaining education in scientific agriculture.

The committee learned, among other things, that while in our sister state of Wisconsin, compulsory agricultural education in the rural schools has been in vogue for many years and is admittedly largely responsible for the intelligent interest taken by the people of Wisconsin in agricultural matters, in Minnesota we have no such law, with the result that practically nothing is being done in our rural schools along these lines.

The committee has visited the agricultural College at Madison, and also our own Agricultural School at St. Anthony Park. We were particularly interested in learning, if possible, why the Wisconsin School is reputed to be the best agricultural school in the United States, if not in the world, and we believe that we have found at least three good reasons why it is accredited with such a reputation. The Wisconsin School has a thoroughly competent, intelligent and efficient administrative organization. We found, also, that its extension short course in agriculture for farmers given at Madison, had an attendance last year of something over eight hundred farmers, as against the attendance of a similar course at our own school of one hundred sixty nine. We were also very much impressed with the intelligent and effective handling of many other features of the extension work. We also found in the Wisconsin School a thoroughly organized and effiøient publicity department which not only lesenab the school to keep in close touch with the farmers of the state, but also to thoroughly advertise thruout the world the results, which the school is accomplishing in raising the corn yield per acre in Wisconsin from twenty five to approximately forty two bushels. It is also through the effort of the publicity department of the Wisconsin School that the fact that the best cheese in the United States is made in Wisconsin, has been spread broadcast.

We are satisfied that the plant and equipment of the Minnesota School is superior to that of Wisconsin. We are also satisfied that our teachers in the various departments are competent men and of a caliber as broad if not broader, than those of the Wisconsin School. In view of the fact, however, that it is conceded there is to be a change in the executive head of our Agricultural school, there is more or less disorganization and consequent lowering of the work. There is no incentive to introduce new methods and systems so long as the appointment of a new dean is postponed.

H. H. FINROW, Propr.

PLUMMER, - - MINNESOTA

It is the opinion of our committee that the position of dean of the agricultural school is one of the most important in this state for many reasons. While Minnesota is generally known as an agricultural state, we find that, as a matter of fact, its manufactured products exceed in value its agricultural products by many millions of dollars. We also find that less than one third of the tillable soil of Minnesota is under cultivation. The committee believes that by no other means can the agricultural development of our state be so well assured as by the appointing of the best and most competent man procurable in the United States, regardless of salary, to become executive head of the Agricultural School. We would, therefore, urge that at the next meeting of your honorable board to be held early in December, the matter of the appointment of such a man to fill this most important position, be definitely disposed of without further postponement. The committee under stands that your honorable board has under consideration two men for this position,—namely, Prof. A. F. Woods, of Washington, and Prof. Andrew M. Soule, president of the Agricultural College of Georgia and a graduate of the Guelph School of Ontario. We are satisfied that both of these men are highly accomplished and efficient agriculturists. In addition however, to possessing all the qualifications of Prof. Woods, president Soule has the additional qualification of being a very successful educator. If the members of our association can be of any assistance to you in any way you have only to command us.

Goverment to at Last Take Steps in Regard to White Earth Scandal.

The commissioner of indian affairs Robert G. Valentine has made the statement that a deplorable condition exists in timber transactions on the White Earth reservation and that suits will be instituted by the goverment to determine whether those who sold certain tracts of timber to the lumber companies were realy fullbloods and minors or were mixed bloods and adults who hae a right to sell. The suits will involve lands worth five million dollars. The lumber companies have agreed to cease cutting on the lands where claims are disputed and to give bonds for the full satisfaction of the allottees, of timber lands in case any unauthorized cutting haa been done. The alleged irregularity is in buying timber and timber lands from fullblooded and minor indians who are not autnorized by law to sell this property, not being considered competent to manage their own affairs. The goverment holds their lands in trust the law poviding that the goverment shall take care of the property for a period of twenty five years for the indians and as much longer as the president of the United States shall deem advisable.

With the exception of a few educated breeds the indian has been unmercifully "skinned" by the white sharks that flocked there when they heard of the chance that awaited them. In some cases the breed was hired to help "skin" his more unfortunate tribesman. "Booze" played no small a part in the indians undoing; the first couple of years after he received his allottments it was no uncommon sight to see whole famlies laid out drunk around the railroad stations. Now with its usual celerity the goverment steps in to look after matters having first given the indian time to loose both his money and land.

Had Good Lnck.

D. R. and L. A. Green of Henning and Ralph Green and son Roy of GarneS returned Tuesday from near Little Oak where they pua in a couple of weeks hunting deer. In spite of the inclement weather they were very successful getting four deer and a wolf Mr. Green took two of the deer with him when he returned to Henning Tuesday evening. He stated that he enjoyed the hunt very mudh though it was very hard work getting around especially in the swamps as the heavy fall of snow keht them from freezing. All the hunting had to be done on skees and the game brought out on a hand sled.

Bemidji claims that they are going to have another railroad in the near future; a airline electric road from Detroit to that place to be built by Iowa copitalists.

"Tis hardly treating us fair," just when we were thinking of getting one of those things to take our girl flying, they go and form an airship trust.

With the state breaking the harvester and twine trust for them and produce bringing the best prices ever, the farms of Minnesota are certainly "in clover."

Every week there is a new railroad planned in some newspaper office in the north corner of the state. If they were all built there wouldn't be any room left for farming.

With the Standard Oil Combine and the Sugar Trust getting it "in the neck", Taft will have some great campaign stuff to store away in his cellar for the year 1912. Whether it is like wine and will improve with age, time alone will tell.

One of our exchanges suggests that since State Treasurer Dinehart will not seek re-election that the northern part of the state should have this office. It appears that way to us. We have the material for the office in the person of our representative, G. H. Mattson.—Greenbush Tribune.

The Northwestern corner of the state could not ask for a better man to represent them in the state cabinet and it would undoubtly support Bro. Mattson unanimously.

Adulteration Warning.

Your attention is particularly directed to the provisions of Section 4993, Revised Laws 1905, which section reads in part as follows:

Section 4993.—Adulteration or Imitation of Foods Etc.— Every person who, with the intent that the same may be sold as unadulterated, or undiluted, shall adulterate or dilute wine, milk, distilled spirits, or any drug, medicine, food or drink for man or beast; or shall offer for sale or sell the same as unadulterated or undiluted, or without disclosing to or informing the purchaser that the same has been adulterated or diluted; * * * where special provision has not otherwise been made by statute for its punishment, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by a fine of not less than $25.00, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than thirty days."

Jobbers and Dealers are hereby cautioned against receiving from packers or others, osyters which have been adulerated by the addition of water or ice, and retailers are also cautioned not to dilute oysters with water nor permit ice to come in direct contact therewith.

The trade will be given until January 1, 1910, to so adjust its business as to comply with this law.

Commisioner.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 20th, 1909.

Congress meets next Monday. From then until the national solons see fit to stop their wrangling and fighting there will be continuous warfare at the capitol whether it be merely in the form of clean friendly debates or it goes to the extent of the pitch fork battles. Now there are a few things that we would like to see receive some particular attention and these are most particularly; 1st. We should like to see the amendment changing the election of United States Senators to the popular vote brought to a speedy head. We want to vote for the man we want to represent us in the highest lawmaking body in our land and not to vote for some one whom we will expect to vote for the man we want. 2nd. We would like to see all tariffs removed on lumber, for in our opinion nothing would do more toward the conservation of our forests than would the free admission of finished material from foreign countries. 3rd. We believe that if the government still owns some waterpowers that these should be retained and improved and thus enhance the value not only of the power itself but also that of the surrounding country. 4th. We believe that where coal lands are still held by the government they should be leased on some equitable shares in such a manner as to give the government a reasonable price for the coal and at the same time allow the miners a legitimate compensation for their labor. 5th. We believe generally in the conservation and utilization of our national resources of whatever nature. 6th. We believe in a Great National Postal Savings Bank for in this we see the greatest inducement to savings and the safest depository for the money saver. 7th. We believe in any act that will tend toward the fostering of a feeling that every person should save a part of his earnings for in our opinion the great majority of those suffering from poverty are in this condition because they have not saved rather than because they have not earned. 8th. We believe in a parcel-post system and the extension of the rural delivery as rapidly as this can be done. 9th We believe in the subsiding of the Merchant Marine to such an extent as to make it possible for an American Merchant Marine to be built up and manned by true blue boys sailing under 'Old Glory' but not to the extent that this industry shall also be fattened until it comes into the Monopoly line. 10th. We believe that the government should encourage such important and far-reaching institutions of charity as the International Red Cross Society, for a nation's general character is largely judged by the manner they are represented in the charity work thruout the world and many of our boys may be standed on a foreign shore where the presence of a Red Cross Society may be their only source of relief and safety. 11th. We believe in the restriction and limitation of trust and monopoly power and extension thus placing the producer of a smaller quantity on equal basis with the larger producers in the cost of production. And 12th. We believe that when it is found that a corporation has acted contrary to the rules and regulations of the laws governing the same the officers in charge should be subject to criminal prosecution just as much as if they were acting for themselves personally. We do not consider this a message to Congress but only consider these as a few of the things that might well occupy the minds of our convening congress. — Thief River Press.

INDEPENDENTS TO CHECK WIRE TRUST.

Billion Dollar Merger Said to Threaten $400,000,000 of People's Savings.

New York, Dec. 4th:—Declaring that President Taft and the highest courts in the land will be invoked to check the monopoly of communication that is threatened by the billion-dollar combine, recently announced by the Bell telephone trust, representatives of the independent telephone interests throughout the country are planning in this city today a national fight for the principle of open competition. With $400,000,000 of the savings of the people of almost every locality invested in the independent telephone plants that the new wire trust is determined to rule or ruin, leaders in this movement assert, the interests of the public demand that the government take immediate action against the giant merger. At a convention of the Independent Telephone Association that has been called in Chicago for December 7, representatives of the 12,000 companies, that with 4,000,000 subscribers are to-day competing with the telephone trust, will make a formal protest to Washington against the restraint of trade that they believe will be effected by the absorption of every telegraph interest by the Bell system.

To the Attorney General of every one of the many states in which they assert Wall Street money is now being used to illegally force a Bell monopoly, the independent telephone forces are to-day proposing to appeal for protection. Suits to prevent the acquisition by the telephone trust of important systems built by the people of Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Iowa and Michigan, have already been instituted in St. Louis and Cleveland, and the independent leaders declare every similar move to throttle competition will be fought to the last ditch. Unless the new wire trust is at once prevented from carrying out its schemes to illegally absorb all competitors throughout the continent, the independent telephone men prophesy, the people of the country will soon be forced into the power of a monopoly greater and more arbitrary then that of either the oil, beef or sugar trust.

As a possible rival to the billion dollar communication trust in the telegraph and long distance telephone fields, independent forces are to-day preparing to build a trunk wire system that will reach from the Atlantic seaboard to the Missouri River, for the benefit of the people who use the telephone exchanges they have built independently at home, as well as for general telegraph business. Unlike the Bell system, this enterprise will seek not to kill competition but to foster and increase it, it is declared. Already $50,000,000 have been subscribed towards this plan for preventing the proposed monopoly of the wire trust.

That the cost of both telephone and telegraph service will be increased if the new wire trust obtains a monopoly is proved already by the past history of its promoters, the independent telephone men declare. Exorbitant rates and either poor service or none at all were offered by the Bell combine in all the years of its former monopoly through patent rights, it is pointed out. As these conditions brought about the birth of the independent telephone movement, they must resume on the instant of its death, it is argued.

"We feel that we owe a moral as well as a business obligation to the army of Americans throughout the country who have placed $400,000,000 of their earnings in the home telephone plants, built to rid them of the Bell monopoly," said E. H. Moulton, president of the Independent Telephone Association, in this city to-day. "We shall exert ourselves in every possible way to show the government that it, too, has an obligation to protect these investors as well as the 20,000,000 consumers in independent telephone systems. We shall not stop our fight for the right of competition, even with all the Wall Street capital of this new billion dollar trust arrayed against us; but will push it to the highest courts and administrative authority."

CANNING METHODS BEING IMPROVED

Defects in Pure Food Law to be Remedied at Next Session.

When Congress meets in December one of the questions to be thrashed out will undoubtedly be the revision of the pure food laws to meet the demands of the general body of consumers for still further improvements in the methods in vogue in many food factories.

One of the points overlooked in the original act was the treatment of peaches and apricots in canning plants. It is the practice of many canneries to immerse peaches in a boiling solution of caustic soda and allow the fruit to stew in this chemical until the skins of the fruit are eaten loose. The fruit is then put thru several washings until the skins are washed away. This process is about a cent and half a cheaper than peeling by knife. Those who are calling attention to this chemical treatment say that the use of the lye is not the worst feature of the process, but contend that in order to use this cheap peeling process it is necessary to use green and unripe fruit for canning. Ripe fruit will not stand the lye-process but are discolored and disintegrated in the caustic soda The little flavor which the unripe peaches have is killed by the lye treatment so that the result is a woody, tasteless, canned peach which is added in the canning process.

The way to tell a lye peeled peach is to wash away the syrup and then taste the fruit. If it is tasteless and pulpy the chances are it is a lye peeled peach.

In the several washings to which the peach is subjected after it is peeled by lye, most of the chemical is undoubtedly washed away but if any of it is left the consumer gets it with his fruit.

Congress did not mention this subject in the pure food laws, consequently the canners who use this method are not compelled to state the fact on their labels. The present agitation has for its purpose the enactment of a measure to remedy this defect.

If this movement proves successful every canner will have to state on his label if the peaches that he used were peeled by caustic soda or any other chemical. That of course will put the question right up to the consumer. If they would as soon eat fruit which has been soaked in lye they can do so. Many of course will prefer to have their fruit handled in the good old fashioned kitchen way, by knife-peeling, which also means much for the quality of canned fruit by keeping intact the original fruit flavor.

The last two years have seen a great advance in the methods used in various canneries and with the new law a still further advance in the direction of wholesome production will be assured. When the processes employed in canneries are known to be perfectly wholesome, there will be a greater use of canned fruits and the final result will be profitable for all concerned, including the farmer who will get a greater market for his product.

STATEMENT BY BALLINGER

Intimates His Ideas Are Those of President Taft.

RECOMMENDATIONS IN REPORT

Full Force of the Administration Will Be Brought to Bear Upon Congress to Enact Them Into Legislation—Intended His Report to the President to Be an Answer to the Attacks of His Critics.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Secretary of the Interior Ballinger came into the open with the statement that his policy as outlined to President Taft in his annual report is the real, "practical," conservation policy which the government can safely adopt.

Secretary Ballinger intimated broadly that his ideas are those of President Taft and that the full force of the administration will be brought to bear upon congress at the coming session to enact just such legislation and none other as was outlined in the Ballinger report, which was made public Monday.

In an extended interview which Secretary Ballinger gave to the newspapers at the Congress hotel Secretary Ballinger made it plain that he intended his report to the president to be a full and complete answer to the attacks of his critics. He refused to discuss Gifford Pinchot personally, referring simply to his own recommendations to congress, which, by comparison, have nothing in common with the idea of the chief forester.

"The policies which I advocate," said Secretary Ballinger, "are the principles and policies which I believe are necessary in a broad platform of practical conservation. My recommendations to President Taft are based upon a quarter of a century of life on the Pacific slope and after a personal visit to the bulk of the water power projects in which the government may be consistently interested. It is my answer to those who may be placed in the attitude of criticism toward me and to the policies which I have advocated and which I will continue to advocate in the conduct of the interior department so long as President Taft reposes confidence in me."

The gist of the remarks of the secretary seemed to be that he intended his report to be a formal and unequivocal answer to the repeated attacks which have been made upon him.

Secretary Ballinger defined his course as quite in line with the policies of the Roosevelt administration.

DESTROYS THE TRADITION

James O'Leary Says Cow Did Not Kick Over Lamp.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Mrs. O'Leary's cow did not kick over the lamp that started the fire which destroyed the city of Chicago in 1871.

Blasted is the tradition of the origin of the great fire which swept away many millions of dollars in property and made homeless many thousands of persons.

The denial of the cow's kick came from the son of Mrs. O'Leary, James O'Leary, familiarly known as "Big Jim," of the stock yards district, who denied the oft repeated story following a declaration made Sunday from a Chicago pulpit that the cow had kicked over the lamp when two youths had tried to milk her to procure lacteal food for milk punches.

"I don't care what anybody says about the fire," said O'Leary, in answering the pastor's statement and destroying the Chicago tradition. "My parents are dead and can't defend themselves against this milk punch slander, but I'll speak out and plainly, too.

"That story about the cow kicking over the lamp was the monumental fake of the last century. I know wh[illegible] I'm talking about when I say that the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion in the hayloft."

REVISION OF THE TARIFF

Senator Nelson Says It Will not Be Made This Winter.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Looking as rugged as an oak and more reticent than usual, Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota appeared at the White House.

After a brief wait in the congressional ante-room Senator Nelson was ushered into the executive office and had a conference with President Taft lasting several minutes.

Efforts to draw Mr. Nelson out on the probability of trust legislation for the coming session were futile. He did say, however, that in his opinion, any effort that might be made this winter to revise the tariff would prove a failure.

Grindstone Kills Farmer.

Geddes, S. D., Nov. 30.—Michael Brock, a farmer, who lived in the northern portion of Charles Mix county, was fatally injured by being struck by a piece of grindstone which exploded. He was operating the stone with a gasoline engine and the great speed was more than it could withstand. One of the flying pieces struck him on the head.

PRESIDENT TAFT ATTENDS

Unique Service Held at Catholic Cathedral in Washington.

Washington, Nov. 26.—A unique service—a Pan-American Thanksgiving celebration—at St. Patrick's cathedral, was attended by President Taft, most of the members of the cabinet and a large proportion of the diplomatic corps.

Cardinal Gibbons came over from Baltimore for the service and a number of other high Catholic prelates were in attendance, including the apostolic delegate, Mgr. Falconio. After celebration of mass the president and a number of other distinguished guests were entertained at luncheon by Rev. Father William T. Russell at St. Patrick's rectory.

SIX HUNDRED MARINES SAIL

American Force Starts for Central American Points.

Philadelphia, Nov. 26.—With the Marine band of Washington playing martial airs and in the presence of the secretary of the navy and a staff of distingished officers a battalion of 600 marines from the barracks at the Philadelphia navy yard boarded the transport Prairie and steamed away to some Central American point near enough to Nicaragua to punish President Zelaya for the execution of two Americans.

There was a grand review of all the battalions at the navy yard and the staff of soldiers, including Rear Admiral Harris, commandant of the yard, prior to the sailing.

RAILROADS WIN CASE

Interstate Commission Cannot Fix Switching Charges.

Washington, Nov. 29.—The right of the interstate commerce commission to fix charges made by railroads for terminal facilities was denied by the United States supreme court. The decision was rendered by Justice Brewer in the case brought by the Chicago Great Western and other railroads entering Chicago to prevent the enforcement of a reduction from $2 to $1 for switching stock cars in that city.

JUSTICE BREWER.

About eighteen months ago the stockmen who shipped to Chicago decided that the charge of $2 for switching carloads of stock to the stockyards was unreasonable. They applied to the interstate commerce commission and the body upheld their contention, reducing the charge to $1. The railroads immediately took the question into the courts and won a decision in the lower courts, after which it was appealed to the supreme court.

MRS. STOKES AIDS STRIKERS.

Wife of Millionaire Socialist Helps Shirtwaist Makers.

New York, Nov. 29.—Rose Pastor Stokes, who before her marriage to J. G. Phelps Stokes, the millionaire socialist, was a cigarmaker in Cleveland, reported at the headquarters of the striking shirtwaist makers and announced that she intended to lead the striking women and girls to victory.

Accompanied by half a dozen other women she proceeded to the factory district, where they buttonholed strikebreakers and nonunion workers and attempted to pursuade them to quit.

PANIC OCCURS ON LAUNCH

Small Craft Capsizes and Five Persons Perish.

Muskegon, Mich., Nov. 26.—Five persons drowned in Muskegon lake when the pleasure launch Olga, carrying a party of nine young people, capsized as the result of a panic following a gasoline explosion. Four of those who lost their lives were members of one family. The dead are:

Oscar Carlson, aged twenty-eight; Hulda Carlson, twenty-four; Anna Carlson, twenty; Jennie Carlson, eighteen; Ann Saunders.

Severe Storm Sweeps Kansas.

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 29.—Over a thousand telegraph wires are down on the Western Kansas divisions of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific and Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroads as the result of a rain, sleet and snow storm.

THREATENED BY ZELAYA

American Consul Takes Refuge in Legation.

MAY ENDEAVOR TO ESCAPE

President of Nicaragua May Try to Leave the Country at Night by the Pacific Coast and Anarchy Might Ensue—Persistently Rumored That Irias Will Be Zelaya's Successor.

Washington, Nov. 30.—The United States consul at Managua has been threatened by President Zelaya and has been granted permission to occupy the legation premises, as being more secure.

The Nicaraguan congress will assemble Wednesday, Dec. 1, and it is rumored that President Zelaya will retire and possibly attempt to escape from the country at night by the Pacific coast. Anarchy, it is said, may ensue. Persistent rumors from various quarters indicate that Irias may succeed Zelaya as president of Nicaragua.

This information is embodied in telegrams more or less delayed in transmission which have been received at the state department from the consular representatives of the United States in Nicaragua.

The first telegram, dated Managua, states that Leroy Cannon was captured Oct. 22 and Leonard Groce on Nov. 2. They were executed Nov. 12. No news regarding the execution reached the department until Nov. 17.

Members of the Red Cross arriving from Castillo report that the capture of Cannon and Groce occurred after a battle and while the two were lost on the banks of the San Juan river. The captain of a ship called to Cannon and Groce, promising not to harm them.

Confirmed by Nicaraguan Press.

These allegations were in part confirmed by the Nicaraguan press, which stated that the execution was for an attempt to blow up steamers. The execution caused general indignation, which was shared by the commander-in-chief, the minister general, Irias, it is asserted, having interceded on the ground of humanity. Nicaraguan lawyers maintained that the execution was unlawful. The Nicaraguan captain is in prison for having refused to carry out Zelaya's sentence that the Americans be shot.

A dispatch from Corinto reports that 1,200 troops of the revolutionary army are in Chinandaga and that there is a rumor of a rising in the West in favor of Irias.

A later dispatch from Managua says that much excitement prevails there and that the position of President Zelaya has become precarious. The city of Leon is said to favor Irias for president. Important developments, the consul states, are expected.

A dispatch received from Commander Halstead, in command of the Vicksburg at Corinto, informs the secretary of the navy that there are persistent rumors there that Chinandaga will revolt on Dec. 1 in favor of Irias. Foreigners engaged in business, he says, are apprehensive and reports are in circulation that Zelaya is preparing to leave the country by way of the Pacific coast. Heavy recruiting is going on everywhere.

MAYOR BUSSE INVOLVED

His Name Brought Into Graft Inquiry at Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—The appearance of Joseph Medill Patterson, former commissioner of public works, before the Merriam "graft" investigating commission and the bringing into the inquisition of the name of Mayor Fred A. Busse were features of the day's hearing of the committee.

Mayor Busse's name was mentioned while the purchase of certain castings used by the city was being taken up. William A. Coleman, city purchasing agent, had told how Deputy Commissioner of Public Works Paul Redieske and another man whom he described as superintendent of the water works shop, had requested him to purchase the castings of a certain local company.

When asked if any other city official had requested him to buy castings from that company, Mr. Coleman replied that he thought Mayor Busse had said to him that, other things being equal, he would be pleased to have the castings bought of that firm.

Bridges Washed Away.

Bellingham, Wash., Nov. 30.—Two steel railway bridges and three wagon bridges across the Nooksack river have been carried away in the past twenty-four hours, entailing $100,000 loss. The Bellingham Bay and British Columbia bridge at Everson is said to be undermined.

Willing to Make Up.

New York, Nov. 30.—"If Howard wants to make up, all he has to do is to take me in his arms and I will forgive everything and forget all our troubles," said Mrs. Howard Chandler Christy, wife of the artist, as she discussed the status of the Christy family differences.

TO HIGHEST COURT

Labor Leaders Apply for Writ of Certiorari.

CHANCES ARE AGAINST THEM

Records Show Few Such Applications Successful.

Washington, Nov. 27.—If a "book" were to be made, based on past performances of the supreme court of the United States in similar proceedings, the odds would be about ten to one that Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison, the three labor leaders, will go to jail.

Application has been made to that tribunal for a writ of certiorari on behalf of the officials of the American Federation of Labor to review the recent decision of the appellate court of the District of Columbia, which affirmed the sentences of contempt imposed by Justice Wright of the District supreme court.

A search of the records of the supreme court of the United States shows that about one application in ten for writs of certiorari is granted. The usual practice is to take such applications under advisement for one week.

May Review Entire Case.

Should the court decide to grant the writ this would mean that the entire case, involving the alleged disobedience on the part of the defendants of the injunction against boycotting the Buck Stove and Range company of St. Louis and their sentences for contempt, would be reviewed by the highest court in the land. The final decision of the court, in the event the writ is granted, would probably not be filed for several months.

If the application is denied Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison will be committed to jail forthwith for terms of twelve, nine and six months respectively. In this event there remains one recourse, a writ of habeas corpus.

The suggestion that President Taft might pardon the three labor leaders is entirely eliminated by the reiterated statements of Gompers and his associates that they will make no application for a pardon and will permit none to be made in their behalf.

CANNON PROPOSES TO FIGHT

Makes Fiery Attack on Insurgents at Kansas City.

Kansas City, Nov. 27.—That the insurgents who are fighting Cannon will have a good lively scrap on their hands is the opinion expressed by those who heard the speaker's address before the Knife and Fork club here, in which he sent a few hot shots at the insurgents' camp, attacked their attempt to revise the house rules and upheld the Payne tariff measure.

"The senators and representatives who call themselves insurgents," said Cannon, "and who voted against the Payne bill, voted to increase or maintain the duties on the industries and products of their own states and sections. They are protectionists for their own people, but were opposed to protection for other people in other sections."

Declaring that Cummins, La Follette, Bristow and the other insurgents were making the same sort of attack on the house of representatives that Bryan is making, he added:

"I know of but one way to treat them, and that is to fight them just as we fight Mr. Bryan and his following."

DISPUTE UP TO ARBITRATOR?

Knapp and Neill Hearing Switchmen's Case at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Nov. 29.—Martin A. Knapp chairmen of the interstate commerce commission, and Charles P. Neill, a member of the commission, are in St. Paul to act as meditators in the controversy over wages between the railroads and the switchmen.

The commissioners, in their apartment at the Ryan hotel, met representatives from the switchmen and later conferred with representatives from the railroads.

MARTIN A. KNAPP.

The arbiters will hear only one side at a time and several more conferences with both switchmen and the railroads may be necessary before an agreement can be reached.

ROADS CONSOLIDATED

Hawley Properties Now Under One Management.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Official announcement is made of the consolidation under one management of the Chicago and Alton and the Toledo, St. Louis and Western (Clover Leaf) roads with the Minneapolis and St. Louis and the Iowa Central railroads.

The announcement came in the form of appointments of officers with jurisdiction over all four roads. The appointments announced by Vice Presidents W. L. Ross and George H. Ross, to take effect on Dec. 1, were as follows:

George J. Charlton, passenger traffic manager; Charles A. King, freight traffic manager; B. C. Stevenson, assistant freight traffic manager; S. G. Lutz, general freight agent; R. J. McKay, general passenger agent; A. B. Cutts (now general passenger agent of the Minneapolis and St. Louis), assistant general passenger agent.

The headquarters of all the officers, except Mr. Cutts, will be in Chicago. The consolidation of the four roads makes a system of 2,727 miles.

IN TANGLED MASS

Hundred and Sixty-eight More Bodies Found at Cherry, Ill.

APPARENTLY DIED DAYS AGO

All But Twenty of the Force Now Accounted For.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 24.—Practically all the bodies of those who perished in the Cherry disaster have been found on a staircase at the mouth of the third or lower level. One hundred and sixty-eight bodies were found, leaving a little more than a score to be accounted for.

The miners evidently had died in the first rush for safety in the explosion and fire on Nov. 13. The bodies were in a great tangled mass, completely blocking the staircase leading from the third to the second vein, and were scattered along the vein where they had dropped before reaching the stairway.

Black damp was the cause of death, all means of escape having been blocked by debris falling and covering the top of the staircase. The men had died as they tried to push through the obstructions or in waiting vainly for rescuers.

Two rude wooden ventilating fans, fashioned in the same manner as those found two days ago with the dead in the second gallery, were affixed to the shaft wall and stairway. The men had turned these by hand in their frantic struggle for air in the hopeless effort to brush back the black damp. One of the dead miner's hands was found firmly gripped about the fan as he had died. The fans were made of pieces of wood, hastily nailed together and whirled about the handles of the miners' picks. The dinner pails of scores of the men were found in the mass. Many of them were partly filled.

The best figures regarding the mine disaster are as follows:

Total number of men in the mine at time of fire, 527; men who escaped when fire broke out, 217; dead bodies recovered, identified and buried, 101; men rescued alive from the mine, seven days after the fire, 20; rescue party burned in cage, 10; bodies in third vein, 169; total death list, 310.

Fifteen Thousand Dollar Loss in Fire of J. C. Schmitz & Co.

Building With Entire Stock Destroyed. Hard Fight To Save Remaining Business Portion on Account of High Wind.

The general merchandise store of J. C. Schmitz & Co. together with the belongings of the people residing in the apartments over the store were destroyed by fire, started by the gasoline lighting plant, last Sunday afternoon about five o'clock. The fire spread so quickly that it was impossible to save anything in the building and in the high wind that was blowing it was only by the hardest efforts of the volunteer fire deparpment that the remainder of the business houses in the block were saved.

The fire started when Mr. Schmitz attempted to light the gasoline lights, a job he had not attempted before the clerk having previously attended to it. He had turned on too much gasoline in the start and when he intended to cut off the flow made a mistake and turned it wide open. The explosion that followed scattered the fire over the rear of the store and on account of the quanity of highly imflamable goods that were on display it was put a fraction of a second untill the whole interior of the store was ablaze.

Mr. Schmitz had been working on the books and managed to save the ledger. The rest of the books were in the safe and were also saved tho they were badly scorched. On returning to see if he could save anything else he was over come by the smoke and those first arriving on the scene were just in time to assist him in getting out. Mr. and Mrs Oscar Carlson who were living over the store barely had time to escape and were not able to save anything. Their loss will amount to about eight hundred dollars with no insurance. The Misses Kolstoe, Medchell and Hagen were also living above the store tho there were not any of them home at the time of the fire. They lost every thing they had there including quite a sum of money.

The stock of the store was valued at about $13,000 with $7.000 insurance As they expected to carry a lighter stock after the holiday season was over they had just allowed two thousand dollars in insurance to lapse. The building which belonged to Chas. H. Foy of Cedar Rapids, Iowa was valued at two thousand dollors and carried eight hundred in insurance. This brings the total loss of the fire to about seventeen thousand dollars of which seven thousand eight hundred was covered by insurance. Mr. Schmitz had just recently located here having bought out A. Alrick & Co. about a month ago. The lads who fought the fire are deserving of great commendation and thanks as without their help the whole business part of town would have gone.

MISCELLANEOUS

Equal to the Occasion.

The author of "Across England in a Dogcart" once stopped to examine a church in the little village of Enstone:

The day was warm, and on leaving the church I rested for awhile in the grateful shade of the building and for the sake of the coolness still kept my hat in my hand. While standing there I overheard one workman ask of another:

"Why do 'e keep 'is 'at off like that out of doors, mate?"

"'Cause 'e's a Quaker, o' course," replied the mate. "Quakers allus do in churchyards."

Here was an opportunity not to be lost. "No," said I, "I am not a Quaker. I am an Episcopalian."

There was a short, awkward pause. Then the first workman, evidently of an inquiring turn of mind, said to his fellow mason, who seemed to be considered an authority:

"A E-piscopale one, 'e says 'e is. Wot's that, Bill?"

"Oh," replied the learned Bill, quite equal to the occasion, "that's one of them fancy foreign religions, sure!"

The Emperor's Orderly.

Frenchmen of every rank and class dearly love titles. The manager of a Paris insurance company was decorated with the Legion of Honor a few days ago, and the clerks in the employ of the company presented him with a piece of plate to which their visiting cards were attached. On looking over these he was a good deal puzzled and amused by the visiting card of the office "boy," an old soldier from the Invalides, who was employed to open the office doors from 9 to 4. Under the man's name was the title "the emperor's orderly." He sent for the old soldier, who stumped in and saluted.

"Of what emperor are you the orderly, and how?" he asked. The old Invalide drew himself up to attention.

"I am the orderly of the emperor," he said, "Napoleon, le Petit Corporal."

"But he is dead. He has been dead some time," answered the puzzled manager.

"I dust his tomb for him," growled the old soldier.—London Express.

Sardou's Quip.

"Victorien Sardou hated shams," said a New York theatrical manager. "If you tried to impose on him he would call you down.

"At the Ambigu during a rehearsal he said he doubted an actor's statement that he had given forty hours of study to his lines.

"'You doubt me?' said the actor hotly. 'I assure you, M. Sardou, I have never lied but twice in my life.'

"Sardou smiled dryly.

"'Then this makes thrice, eh?' said he."

Coarsely Defined.

"What is the distinguishing quality of the problem play?"

"It makes you think. The first half keeps you wondering what the question is, and the second half keeps you guessing what's the answer."—Washington Star.

Fire losses in Minnesota for October were $210,000 as compared with $295,000 for the same month in 1908.

Roused His Suspicions.

A naval officer was speaking of the extortions of innkeepers in out of the way parts of the globe.

"In Montenegro once," he said, "I asked for my bill after having slept overnight at a certain inn, and as soon as the document was handed to me I took out my purse to settle it. I did not bother to verify the various items. What would have been the use?

"But my readiness to pay amazed the landlord. He thought a moment, and then he said uneasily:

"'Will you let me have another look at that bill, sir? I think I have omitted something.'"

Will Rebuild in Spring.

Business men who are interested have received assurance from Charles H. Foy of Cedar Rapids, Iowa who owned the building occupied by J. C. Schmitz & Co. that he would rebuild as soon as possible in the spring The new building will have a fifty foot front two stories high making it just twice the size of the former building. Mr. Schmitz has not made his plans for the future as yet tho he does not figure on going into business here again, yet he likes the outlook here and there is a possiblity of his being the occupant of the new building.

Since the Rose creamery commenced business there has been a great change in the appearance of Spruce Hill. The farms have a different aspect. They have taken on a thrifty look. Previous to the advent of the creamery good farm houses and large farms were an exception; now they are the rule. The creamery in Spruce Hill has proven not only to be a "mortgage lifter," but a home maker. This condition of affairs the farmer of that township owe to a few men who "got behind and pushed,"—Alexandria Post, from the Dairy Record.

Hard Milkers.

(Bp David Roberts Wisconsin State Veterinarian.)

This trouble is do to an abnormal contraction of the sphincter muscles at the paint of the teat and oftentimes reduces the value of what might have otherwise been a valuable cow as no one wishes to purchase or own what is a termed as a hard milker but if stock owners knew how easily this trouble could be overcome they would never think of disposing of a hard milker at a sacrifice that is now being done by many.

The mere fait that a cow is a hard milker does not indicate that she is not a good milker but owning to the fact that she is not a hard milker she is sometimes neglected at milking time by a discusted milker who leaves a large quanity of milk in her udder that should have been drawn out.

Stockmen who know how to handle such cases oftentimes buo valuable cows owing to the fact that they are hard milkers and by the use of a teat plug and a few treatments for hard milking, cause them to become splendid, easy milkers, thereby increaseing their value many more times the cost of the treatment. A Milking Tube should never be used in such cases as there is too much danger of infection and the results are not as good as from the use of a Teat Plug.

Seven Indians and Special Agent Camping on Trail of Saloon Men.

It was learned today on reliable authority that during the past week seven indians have been touring points on the Soo line in former indian territory, playing the saloons whereever possible, with the idea of getting the saloon men in trouble for selling to indians.

They were followed by a special agent and it is understood that there will be several raids by special agent Johnson who has already done several stunts in that line at Mahnomen Cass Lake and other points.

Just where the government intends to stop is not known, but the saloon men throughout the northern part of the state are being warned to be very careful to whom they sell liquor.—Friday's Crookston Times.

The Judge Speaks Up.

At the opening of the term of court last week, Judge Grindeland in his charge to the grand jury called attention to the importance of enforcing the laws that are placed on the statute book for the protection of property, whether from theft, fire or ruination of farms by permitting noxious weeds to go to seed and scatter over our fertile lands, impairing their productiveness.

The judge said in part: "There are road officers, who are negligent of their duties in permitting noxious weeds to go to seed along our public highways and thus they become spread over our lands, bestroying otherwise valuable farming lands. I want to call your attention to the chapter of our statute relating to noxious weeds and their destruction and I call your attention to this law as it is a notorious fact that in a large measure the law is entirely ignored throughout the whole country."

The judge then read the entire statute governing the eradication of noxious weeds. By thus publicly calling attention to the seriousness of all weed problems, the judge shows that he has an eye to the public welfare. Many good farms in this valley have been ruined, temporarily at least, by foul weeds. Let Judge Grindeland,s timely warning be heeded in this and all other counties in the state.—Warren Sheaf.

Will Return to Crookston.

Chas. W. Latta one of the old-time Crookston newspaper men, who for the past several years has been located at Plummer where for a number of years he was editor and publisher of the Plummer Pioneer, is spending a few days in the city. He states that after returning to look after a few matters of business he expects to return to Crookston where he will spend the winter at least and may decide to make Crookston his future home. However, he has not decided on anything permanent as yet. Mr. Latta has a great many friends here who would be very much pleased to have him again cast his lot with the people of Crookston.

—Crookston Times.

Believes Twenty Acres Enough.

A Nebraska farmer has 20 acres of land from which he is now caring for his family and saving $1000 a year. Ten years ago he came from Switzrland and landed without money. He workeb out three years, saved up $275, bought 20 acres of land on which he still resides, and is now worth several thousand dollars, all of which he has made on this little farm. He believes in intense farming, and makes the ground produce two or more crops, where most farmers cannot even rise one good one. He says that to have 320 acres is a misfortune, and to have 640 acres is acalamity. This may be true in a sense. It is not so much the nvmber of acres put in but the size of the yield that counts. One man got 30 bushels from two acres, and another man may get 30 bushels from one acre of the same kind of land by proper fertilization and cultivation. Why should one man have a nice field of grain and his neighbor across the road have a poor crop? It cannot be that the soil is altogether to blame.—Exchange.

Conservation Congress.

Plans for the state conservation congress have been delegated to a state commission headed by President D. N. Neill of the Federation of Commercial clubs, and in February will be held the greatest meeting Minnesota has ever seen, to determine what the resources of this state are, how they may be best developed, and how present and possible waste in the development process may be stopped. Governor Eberhart has decided opinions on this broad subject and the congress will sift from the mass of conservation ideas presented by many different men, the ideas which are sound and practical and for the benefit of the state, and see what can be done to put them into effect. The laborious work of organizing for a congress at which there will be 2,000 and 3,000 delegates and of handling the immense amount of incidental detail will be handled by the Federation of Commercial Clubs, acting with the governor and the commission.

Ideas of conservation for Minnesota are somewhat vague in spots, but with the vague and the visionary are many exceedingly practical ideas.

Something must be done to break up the big speculative holdings of land and get the land upon the market for settlers to occupy. Several sections of the state are annually in danger from either surplus moisture or flood, making agriculture an exceedingly precarious pursuit. This condition must be more effectively met. Minnesota abounds in water-power for the benefit so far of a favored few and the trust. Something must be done to give the people the cheap and adequate power, which they now own, and which they should be permitted to enjoy. Minnesota has rivers suitable to the building up of a considerable commerce, competitive with the railways and able to force down railway rates, and they are not utilized. These are some of the practical conservation matters suggested by Governor Eberhart, which this congress will consider.

Auction Sale Postponed.

The Auction sale that was to be held Friday was postponed until next Friday, Dec. 17th. Mr. Seiff was unable to get his two carload of horses here on account of the strike on the railroads which has affected traffic in general throught the country. Mr. Seiff will have a good bunch of Western horses, and also some fine heavy horses.

We have not heard as yet whether William J. Calhoun the new minster to China is to be gagged until he can be shipped over to his new post. Secretary Knox had better lock him up in a safety deposit vault until he is wanted.

According to the paper verdict the switchmen have lost out on their strike. The railroads know full well the value of public opinion and in an occurence of this kind they use lots of printers ink in the different organs they control to try and sway the same in their favor.

A great many country editors seem to think that Frank B. Kellogg will be able to use his record in the Standard Oil case as a stepping stone to Clapp's job, he having for some time past thrown longing glances at the "Black Eagles" seat in the U. S. Senate. We have our doubts tho, as the people are well satisfied with the present incumbent.

Wonder if the man, who at political gatherings gets up and with a "ringing" voice announces that he be longs to such and such a party and that his father had always voted with that party, and he had always voted with that party and would continue to vote with that party, ever stopped to think how my plainly he is telling all the sensible people within hearing what different kinds of an unthinking fool he is political parties will alway be and are necessary to a democracy but the independent voter and thinker is also necessary to the successful continuation of the democracy. In the history of this Republic while the parties may not have changed their names they have several times exchanged platforms when according to their leaders way of thinking the people needed or demanded certain things.

Johnson's Memorial Fund.

Saint Paul, Minn., Dec. 9th.—The Governor Johnson memorial fund is practically complete and before the end of another week the entire $25,000 will be in the hands of the state commission which is to determine what kind of a memorial shall be erected and where it will be placed. Saint Peter has already made strong arguments for the location of the monument, the general feeling seems to be that a monument is the best form the memorial can take should be located in the home town of the late executive. From other portions of the state come arguments that the memorial should be located either upon the capitol grounds, or as a statue, within the building where the late governor did his best work. The commission will have a difficult task in determining what is best to be done, but that the memorial will be built and that it will be a fitting tribute is already guaranteed by the $25,000 each dollar of which has come from some friend of Albert Johnson.

The state board of control and Warden Wolfer have fixed the prices for binder twine to be sold to farmers next season, the output will be about 18,000,000 pounds. Prices and grades are as follows: Standard 500 feet to the pound, 6¾ cents; sisal 500 feet to the pound 6¾ cents; standard manilla, 550 feet to the pound 8 cents; pure manilla 650 feet to the pound, 9¼ cents: all f. o. b., Stillwater, Minn. These prices range one-fourth cent a pound below last year's prices on the three best grades viz: pure manila, 600 foot manila, and standard manila. The prices on standard and sisal are the same as last year, notwithstanding the high price of sisal fiber. These low prices have been made possible, because of favorable fiber contracts.

UNCLE SAM'S MOST PROSPEROUS YEAR

Crops of this Year Exceed all Record, Says Secretary of Agriculture.

Secretary Wilson last week made public his thirteenth annual report concerning the work of the Departments of Agriculture and the conditions of the industry with which that department deals, throughout the United States, and it contains figures that are almost fabulous.

"Most prosperous of all years is the place to which 1909 is entitled in agriculture," he says. "The yield has been bountiful while most crops and prices have been high. Advantageously situated as he is in most respects, the farmer is less and less generally compelled to dump his crops on the market at the time of harvest. He does not need to work for his board and clothes as he did often in former times, when prices were so low as to be unprofitable.

"The agricultural production of 1909 must add to the prosperity of the farmers. The example is unexampled in wealth produced and tells of abundance in quantity. Year by year the farmer is better and better prepared to provide the capital and make the expenditures needed to improve his agriculture and educate his children for farm life and work."

In these mild phrases Secretary Wilson restrains his enthusiasm over unprecedented conditions of volume and price which have brought the farmers of the United States a revenue of $8,760,000,000 for the current year. It is true, as the secretary says, that the value of farm products is so incomprehensibly large that it has become a row of figures. Ten years ago the total value of all the farm crops produced in the United States was little more than onehalf of their value this year. The compensation of the farmers for their labor has more than doubled since James Wilson began to make these reports. This year it is $8,760,000,000. The gain over 1908 is $869,000,000, and during the last eleven years the total has been $70,000,000,000.

No wonder Secretary Wilson says. "It has paid off morgages; it has established banks; It has helped to make the farmer a citizen of the world; it has provided him with means for improving the soil and making it more productive."

Prices of all kinds of produce from the field, from the pasture, from the garden, from the barnyard and the poultry-house are advancing steadily. The more the farmer produces the higher the price he receives for it, which is a reversal of the ordinary law that have hitherto governed trade and industry.

No country in the world, no period in the history of mankind, ever saw such a prolonged or remarkable prosperity as the farmers of the United States have enjoyed. They are the only class of the population whose advance in wealth has been without interruption for a period of thirteen years.

The census of the United States for 1900 reports 5,939,657 farms, which have undoubtedly increased 10 per cent in number during the interval of nine years, and today there are probably 6300,000 productive farms in the country. On this basis the average production was about $1,400 per farm.

Secretary Wilson gives some interesting details. "The most striking facts in the history of the world's agriculture," he says, "is the value of the corn crop in this country, which amounts to about $1720,000,000."

"This corn." he says, "came up from the soil and out of the air in 120 days—$14,000,000 a day for one crop—nearly enough for two dreadnoughts daily, for peace or war. It nearly equals the value of the clothing and adornments of 76,000,000 people, according to the census of 1900. The gold and silver coin and bullion of the United States is not of greater value.

"The value of the corn crop is the highest on record, and it is greater than the average of the five preceding years by 36 per cent, while the farm price per bushel is greater by 32 per cent. The price per bushel on Nov. 1st, which was 62.7 cents, has been exceeded only once in the records of the Department of Agriculture, beginning with 1866, and that was in 1881, when it was 63.6 cents.

"In quantity of production this year's corn crop stands second with 2,767,000,000 bushels, being exceeded by the crop of 1906, but it is greater than the average crop of the five preceding years by 3.5 per cent.

GIVEN PASSPORTS

Nicaraguan Representative at Washington Dismissed.

NEAR TO STATUS OF WAR

Dispute Perilously Close to the Stage of Hostilities.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Secretary of State Knox has returned the passports of Felipe Rodriguez, charge d'affaires of the Nicaraguan legation, with a letter scathingly denouncing the Zelaya administration of the government of Nicaragua.

The letter is definitely declared to represent the views of President Taft and is about as plain spoken as anything emanating from the state department in many years.

The extraordinary feature of the letter is that it seems to evidence an intention on the part of the United States to hold President Zelaya personally responsible for the alleged torture and execution of the Americans, Cannon and Groce, and exhibits the unique situation of one government holding the chief executive of another practically as a common malefactor.

Zelaya is branded as a violator of solemn international conventions, a disturber of the national and international peace, a tyrant whose administration has been a blot upon the name of good government.

Secretary Knox virtually announces the recognition of the Nicaraguan revolutionists, declares it to be the conviction of the United States that the revolution represents the sentiments of a majority of the Nicaraguan people and that there is evidently no responsible government with which the United States can deal. He therefore announced that all parties will be held accountable for their actions as affecting the interests of Americans and the peace of Central America.

He further informs Senor Rodriguez that, while he has lost his diplomatic quality, he may still serve as an "unofficial" channel of communication with the faction which he is regarded as representing.

This brings the crisis as near to the status of war as it could be brought by executive action without a definite declaration by both houses of congress, which will convene next Monday.

DEMONSTRATION IS LIKELY

United States Concentrating Fleet in Nicaraguan Waters.

Washington, Dec. 2.—That there will be an immediate and vigorous military demonstration by the United States against President Zelaya of Nicaragua and what is left of his government is practically certain. Eight hundred marines at League Island navy yard at Philadelphia have been ordered to sail on the cruiser Prairie at once. In addition the Prairie will carry two 3-inch field pieces, 1,800,000 rounds of ammunition, tents, camp stoves and other field supplies. At Panama the Buffalo is ready to leave for Nicaragua with the 400 marines who have been doing duty on the canal zone. Later in the day the protected cruiser Albany and the gunboat Yorktown were ordered to proceed at full speed from Magdalena bay to Corinto, on the Pacific coast of Nicaragua. The gunboat Vicksburg already is riding the waters in the harbor at Corinto and the gunboat Princeton is on her way from the Bremerton navyyard for the same port.

TO BE HELD IN CALIFORNIA

Fight Between Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson.

New York, Dec. 3.—The fight for the heavyweight championship of the world between James J. Jeffries and Jack Johnson will be held in California, in the vicinity of San Francisco, on July 4, 1910, and will be staged by "Tex" Rickard of Nevada and John J. Gleason of San Francisco. Their bid of $101,000 and two-thirds of the moving picture privileges to the contestants was formally accepted during a stormy meeting at Hoboken, N. J., and the final articles will be drawn up and signed there. It is believed the fight will represent more cash than any other fight in the history of the prize ring.

NEGRO BURNED AT STAKE

Captured by Mob, Bound With Chains and Fired.

Cochran, Ga., Dec. 2.—John Harvard, a negro preacher, who shot and fatally injured Will D. Booth two miles from this place, was captured by a mob of enraged citizens five miles from there and burned at a stake, more than a carload of light wood, it is said, being heaped about the body.

Harvard was given an opportunity to pray, after which he was securely bound with chains to an improvised stake. The fuel was piled high above his head and the torch applied.

Immense Smelter Closes.

Helena, Mont., Dec. 2.—The immense smelter of the Boston and Montana company has closed down, throwing 2,000 men out of work at Great Falls, because of the inability to secure ore shipments from Butte.

Some fellows touched off twenty-five pounds of dyamite in Mr. Cannon's town the other night—close to Mr. Cannon's house. It made a tremendous report, all right, but it didn't scare half as many people as the report which Uncle Joe periodically makes of his committee appointments in the house.–Princeton Union.

A Truthful Assertion.

The worst habit that boys can fall into is that of loafing around on the streets at night. It is then they cast their lot in slippery places when at any moment they are likely to fall from grace. All good and noble lessons taught them by their mothers are there counteracted and nulified. They learn nothing that is good—but everything bad. The boys who spend their evenings in the sacred presincts of home with good books for their companions are the future heroes of this republic they will fill our legislature and congressional halls, and sit in judgment upon men and measures, while the boys who run the streets will fill our penitentiaries, almshouses and lunatic asylums. Parents who are responsible for these broken laws of decency will have broken hearts and bowed down heads in the awakening years that will inevitably follow.

SEATTLE YARDS CONGESTED

Some Freight Moves but General Traffic Is Tied Up.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 4.—The strike situation in the Pacific Northwest continues interesting. Both the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railways have several switching crews at work here and also have a number of green men under instruction.

Although there has been some movement of freight the congestion in the yards has not been entirely relieved and the embargo against the receipt of freight from shippers has not been removed.

The action of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen in ordering its membership back to work in the passenger service has enabled the roads to get their transcontinental flyer out on time.

FOR FIRST TIME ON RECORD

Not a Carload of Wheat Arrives in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Dec. 4.—For the first time in the grain history of Minneapolis not a carload of wheat was received in the terminals. No barley, rye or flax was shipped in, the lone arrivals being two cars of corn and one of oats, much delayed by the strike.

More Engines Work at Superior.

Superior, Wis., Dec. 4.—The roads here are gradually improving the situation locally. Two more engines were added to the half dozen previously out and the roads are accepting all freight, previous restrictions being removed. The roads are gradually getting more trains in motion.

COMMONS CENSURES LORDS

Resolution Adopted Regarding Rejection of Budget.

London, Dec. 2.—Premier Asquith's resolution declaring that the house of lord's rejection of the budget constituted a breach of the constitution and a usurpation of the rights of the house of commons was carried by a vote of 349 to 134. Tremendous cheering greeted the result. After the vote was announced the house adjourned.

Prior to this action Premier Asquith announced that the government had advised King Edward to dissolve parliament, and that his majesty had accepted the invitation.

The premier added that if the Liberals were returned to power the first act of the government would be the re-enactment of all the taxes for which provision was made in the budget rejected by the house of lords.

Why She Stayed at the Foot.

Being upbraided by her mother for being the lowest in her class, little Mabel exclaimed in tones of injured innocence: "It ain't my fault. The girl who has always been foot left school."—Delineator.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

STRIKE SITUATION

Little Freight Moving in the Affected District.

FEARED TROUBLE MAY SPREAD

Said Other Railway Employes Want Increase in Wages.

St. Paul, Dec. 4.—Despite the assurances of railroad officials the switchmen's strike appears not to be broken The Minnesota Transfer is receiving no freight for shipment.

President Hawley says he has received assurances of support from the Federation of Labor, by order of Samuel Gompers, through Secretary Frank Morrison.

Governor Eberhart will appoint a state board of arbitration under an old act, of which W. H. Goetzinger of St. Paul probably will be one of three members, a second to be recommended by employers and the third to be appointed after consultation with these two. The governor is taking no part in the trouble, but his tender of friendly offices is open.

Vice President Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen denounces the strike as having been called illegally, without constitutional vote. President Hawley denies this and says Whitney's statement is "a lame and contemptible excuse for men he wants to go back as scabs."

Sixty Switch Engines Working.

Railroad officials assert that sixty switch engines are working in all principal yards and 50 per cent of freight is moving; this the strikers deny on reports from their pickets.

President Hawley declares that if the railroads try to crush the Switchmen's union there will be a general strike of other railroad employes and it will be "a costly experiment." He says that other sections are only awaiting the word from him to strike.

The public affairs committee members of the Commercial club roundly scored the mayor of St. Paul for acting as strikers' counsel while holding what should be an office on neutral ground, for the whole people.

Two hundred additional strikebreakers arrived, all said to be real switchmen, who will be distributed to clear the yards.

Superintendent M. J. Dooley of the Minnesota Transfer reports absolute respect for company property and law-abiding, quiet attitude of strikers. Everywhere the orderliness of the strikers is a matter of comment.

GREAT STRIKE IS PROBABLE

Various Railroad Unions Want an Increase in Wages.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—The Tribune says: The United States is threatened with the greatest railroad strike in the history of the nation.

Practically every railroad line in the country, East and West, is in imminent danger of being completely tied up - a walkout on the part of large numbers of its operating employes this month.

Officers of the organizations of engineers, firemen, trainmen and switchmen have agreed upon a uniform demand of a 10 per cent wage increase, without deviation or compromise.

That the crisis is approaching rapidly was indicated by the announcement at New York by officers of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen that they would present their demands

TWO HUNDRED DIE IN STORM

Many Vessels Wrecked on the Coast of Great Britain.

London, Dec. 4.—Shipping circles are alarmed over the constantly growing list of wrecks from the storm that has been whipping the British coast for three days. The storm is slightly abated, but is still raging in a manner that promises to send still more vessels to the bottom.

It is now believed the number of drownings will run over 200, seventy-two of which were from the steamers Thistlemore and Ellen Vannin, both of which were sunk. Nine cargo steamers have been either lost or greatly damaged, several are missing and it is feared they have gone down and at least 100 sailboats are lost or missing.

LABOR MEN GET WRIT

Federal Supreme Court Will Review Contempt Case.

Washington, Dec. 7.—The supreme court of the United States granted the petition for a writ of certiorari in the contempt cases of Samuel Gompers, Frank Morrison and John Mitchell, officers of the American Federation of Labor. The effect of the decision will be to bring the entire record in the Buck Stove and Range company case against these men to the supreme court for review.

Before the supreme court attorneys for the federation will ask to have dismissed the original anti-boycott injunction issued by Judge Gould in the Buck Stove and Range company case. Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, the officers of the federation, who are now under a contempt of court sentence for violating the injunction, are also parties to the appeal.

This move, in short, puts it up to the supreme court of the United States to decide if the American Federation of Labor's boycott of the Buck Stove and Range company in its official organ, the Federationist, was a lawful procedure. The court of appeals of the District of Columbia has held that it was not and with some modifications has sustained Judge Gould's injunction.

Sight of Blood Proves Fatal.

Cleveland, Dec. 7.—Fainting at the sight of blood, Hary T. Simmons, janitor in Western Reserve Medical college, fell to the floor in a hospital clinic sustained a facture of the skull and died on the operating table, at which a few moments before he had been an assistant. Simmons was assisting Dr. Frederick C. Herrick in a minor operation.

TAFT MASTER OF SITUATION

Republican Leaders Look to Him for Guidance.

WHAT PRESIDENT DEMANDS

Will Be Enacted by the Congress Now in Session—Enthusiasm of the Progressives in the Senate and the Insurgents in the House Has Not Waned Since Congress Adjourned Last August.

Washington, Dec. 7.—With the Republican party in control of both branches, but divided into two militant factions, congress entered upon a session that may be epoch making in a political sense, though possibly devoid of accomplishment, so far as legislation is concerned. President Taft is master of the situation. To him the Republican leaders are looking for guidance in the formation of a legislative programme and they will enact whatever he is pleased to demand. It is up to the president to outline a plan of action. The leaders say they are waiting to hear from him and until they do they refrain from prophecy as to what is likely to happen during the life of the session.

The enthusiasm of the progressives in the senate and the insurgents in the house has not waned since congress adjourned in August. They are bitterly opposed to the continuance in power of Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island and Joseph G. Cannon of Illinois and they will fight these two leaders to the limit. Each faction is counting on the support of the administration, although the leaders of the progressive-insurgent movement are not as hopeful as the men who control the destinies of the regular organizations.

Will Bide Their Time.

Soon after the senate adjourned the Western progressives got together for a council of war. They decided to lay low, biding the time when an opportunity would present itself to strike at the men who are now in control of the senate. A like policy has been adopted by the house insurgents. They have held a number of informal conferences, but have not laid down the lines along which their campaign of opposition will be waged.

It is known in a general way just what President Taft expects of congress this winter. He will recommend the passage of a law to guide the executive in conserving the natural resources of the country; also important amendments to the railroad rate law. He will urge the creation of a postal savings bank, the passage of a ship subsidy act and bring home to congress the urgent necessity of retrenching in the matter of public expenditures.

The president may not ask for any changes in the Sherman anti-trust law at this session. It all depends upon whether the supreme court hands down a decision in the Standard Oil case before congress adjourns. Until that suit has been passed upon by the highest tribunal Mr. Taft thinks that it would be unwise for congress to make any changes in the anti-trust law.

Congress will enact the president's legislative programme without modifying it in any important particular, if he insists upon it.

STEVENS TO PRESENT BILL

Will Provide for Disposal of Water Power Sites.

Washington, Dec. 7.—A conservation estimate policy that it is believed will be written into the laws of the United States was outlined in a bill that will soon be introduced by Representative Frederick C. Stevens of St. Paul. The measure provides for the disposal of water power sites under conditions that will prevent monopolization or any tendency to monopolization. The Stevens bill authorizes the construction of dams and other works incident to water powers under a franchise system, the franchise to run for a period of fifty years and to be terminated by the government at the end of the time if the government so elects. No charge or rental is to be made for the water powers, but the bill provides that the government shall be paid a sum sufficient to remove dams or other obstructions at the expiration of the fifty years' lease if the same is not renewed or in the event that the government for any reason refuses to renew it.

The Stevens bill was prepared by the St. Paul member and other members of the house committee on water, interstate and foreign commerce. It is the direct outcome of recommendations made by President Roosevelt following his veto of the Rainy river dam bill.

Severe Storm in Kansas.

Topeka, Kan., Dec. 7.—A drifting snow storm that is sweeping over Kansas is causing much suffering among unsheltered stock. Between Hutchinson and Dodge City all wire connections are lost. No attempt is being made to run trains on schedule time. Street car service here is badly demoralized.

IN FIGHT WITH THE MOROS

Several of the Constabulary and Score of Tribesmen Killed.

Manila, Dec. 4.—Fanatical Moros and Sananos forced a fight upon a detachment of constabulary under Lieutenant Elarts near Mount Malindang, Mindanao islands. Six members of the constabulary, four porters and one policeman were killed and one of the constabulary was wounded. The aggressors left twenty of their number dead when they finally scattered.

Some 4,000 fanatics gathered in the vicinity of the mountain two weeks ago and Governor Pershing anticipated disorders. Constabulary reinforcements have been sent to the scene of the fight, but no further trouble is expected, as the tribesmen are reported to be returning to their homes.

NAMED MINISTER TO CHINA

William J. Calhoun of Chicago Accepts Post.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Announcement of the appointment of William J. Calhoun of Chicago as minister to China was made at the state department. Mr. Calhoun has accepted the appointment. The Chinese government has indicated its pleasure in receiving him.

In appointing Mr. Calhoun to the Chinese mission President Taft has selected a man of wide experience and one well qualified to fill that very important post, which requires a statesman combining both business and diplomatic qualifications. Mr. Calhoun is a well known corporation lawyer of Chicago.

REHEARING IS DENIED

John R. Walsh, Aged Banker, Nearer Prison Doors.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—John R. Walsh, the aged banker, has taken another long step toward the federal prison for misapplying the funds of the Chicago National bank.

The United States circuit court of appeals deprived him of his personal liberty and committed him to the custody of the United States marshal, as it had denied the motion of his attorneys for a rehearing of his appeal from the sentence of District Judge Anderson.

JOHN R. WALSH.

Simultaneously the court announced that Walsh would be held by the marshal until such time as his attorneys shall file with the court a motion for a writ of certiorari, specifying Jan. 1 as the last day on which this action could be taken. Walsh was turned over to Marshal Hoy in the courtroom and walked out a crushed and dejected man.

The opinion denying a rehearing was delivered by Judge Grosscup and was concurred in by Judges Seaman and Baker. It was oral, merely denying the rehearing motion

EIGHTY-SEVEN MET DEATH

Scores of Others Injured During the Hunting Season.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—The hunting season was marked by more fatal accidents than usual, the number of dead reaching eighty-seven and the injured sixty-eight. In the previous year fifty-seven were slain; eighty-two in 1907, and seventy-four in 1906. Wisconsin and Upper Michigan continue to furnish the greatest number of victims.

FIRST SESSIONS ARE BRIEF

Sixty-first Congress Convenes at the National Capital.

Washington, Dec. 6. — The two houses of congress convened today for the first regular session of the Sixty-first congress, but the day's proceedings were in great part of a social nature and practically no business was transacted. The house session continued forty minutes, but the senate adjourned after thirteen minutes.

ON NICARAGUAN SITUATION

Mission of Mexican Diplomat Believed to Be Connected With the Trouble in Central America—Mexican Government in Full Accord With Views and Purposes of the United States

City of Mexico, Dec. 7.—Enrique C Creel, formerly Mexican ambassador to the United States and now governor of Chihauhau, will leave City of Mexico at once for Washington where he goes on a special mission for the Mexican government. This was admitted at the foreign office There is no doubt that Senor Creel goes on an errand directly connected with the Nicaraguan situation.

It is known that the Mexican government has received a reply to the letter sent by Foreign Minister Mariscal to the United States government in which he outlined a plan for the peaceful settlement of the Nicaraguan problem, but the foreign office refused to divulge its contents, as it did in reference to the Mariscal note.

VIEWS OF UNITED STATES

Mexican Government in Full Accord With Them.

Washington, Dec. 7.—No official notification has reached here that Mr Creel comes to Washington to make "certain representations" to the department concerning the Nicaraguan situation.

His reported mission, it is believed, is to co-operate with Dr. Luis Anderson, former minister of foreign affairs of the Costa Rica government. It is said at the state department that Mr. Anderson's only mission in Washington is in connection with the boundary dispute between Costa Rica and Panama. Announcement is officially made that Chief Justice Fuller of the United States supreme court has consented to act as arbitrator in that dispute. His decision, it is understood, will be final and will be binding upon both parties.

The statement is authoritatively made that the Mexican government is in full accord with the views and purposes of the United States with respect to Nicaragua and that she will sustain this government in carrying out those policies.

Prominent members of the senate committee on foreign relations found in the Nicaraguan situation an interesting subject for discussion when they met on the floor of the senate. The Democrats inclined to the opinion that Secretary Knox may have acted hastily in holding President Zelaya personally responsible for the execution of the Americans, Cannon and Groce.

Will Withhold Judgment.

At the same time the Democrats said they would withhold judgment until they had had an opportunity to consult with officials of the state department or receive a message from President Taft concerning the serious phases of the relations of the United States with the Central American ruler.

Representative Sulzer of New York introduced a resolution in the house directing the president of the United States to use the army and the navy of the country to restore order, maintain peace and protect life and property in Nicaragua.

The resolution recites that the United States demands the arrest, trial and punishment of President Zelaya of Nicaragua for the wilful murder of citizens, an ample apology from Nicaragua and reparation.

The presence of nine warships in Hampton Roads and the hurry orders given to several others in northern navyyards to join the fleet under Admiral Schroeder, says the navy department, has nothing to do with developments in Nicaragua. As soon as the fleet is assembled it will proceed to the southern drill grounds off the Chesapeake capes.

A message from the United States consulate at Managua, dated Dec. 4, says it is reported President Zelaya is sending troops and artillery eastward. Rumors are revived that he intends to leave Nicaragua.

Acquitted of Murder Charge.

Rock Rapids, Ia., Dec. 7.—John E. McCormick, who has been on trial here for ten days, charged with the murder of Sam Ellis of Larchwood, late last summer, was found not guilty by the jury. Ellis was killed during a drunken spree.

No General Railroad Strike.

Chicago, Dec. 7.—William G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, sent from here a telegram to President Taft assuring the chief executive that sensational reports concerning a general railroad strike were without foundation.

Blizzard in Texas.

Amarillo, Tex., Dec. 7.—A blizzard is sweeping the Texas Panhandle. There is a driving snow and the temperature is 10 below zero. Train schedules are demoralized.

THE PRIME MINISTER.

A Foreign Sovereign Responsible For This English Official.

So long as the sovereign himself presided at the meetings of the cabinet there was no obvious necessity for giving any member of it precedence over the others. But from the accession of the house of Hanover the king ceased to take part in the deliberations of the cabinet. It has been said, indeed, by a modern statesman that, "with a doubtful exception in the time of George III., no sovereign has been present at a meeting of the cabinet since Anne."

The change, like so many other modifications which have been introduced into the British constitution, was the result of a purely accidental circumstance. George I. could not speak the English language. It was clearly useless for a monarch to be present at the meetings of his councilors when he did not understand the language in which their deliberations were carried on. But when the sovereign was thus necessarily and habitually absent from the cabinet it became requisite that some minister should be chosen who should preside at the meetings and report its decisions to the king. Thus the accession of a foreigner who could not converse in English led to one of the most momentous changes in the constitution. The act of settlement had given England a foreign sovereign; the presence of a foreign sovereign gave England a prime minister.—From "Essays Political and Biographical," by Sir Spencer Walpole.

Sally's Iron.

In describing some of her associates of the stage, Ellen Terry, in McClure's Magazine, tells of her dresser, Sarah Holland. She had an extraordinarily open mind, writes Miss Terry, and was ready to grasp each new play as it came along as a separate and entirely different field of operations.

She was extremely methodical and only got flurried once in a blue moon. When we went to America and made the acquaintance of that dreadful thing, a "one night stand," she was as fussy and particular about having everything nice and in order for me as if we were going to stay in the town a month. Down went my neat square of white drugget. All the lights in my dressing room were arranged as I wished. Everything was unpacked and ironed.

One day when I came into some American theater to dress I found Sally nearly in tears.

"What's the matter with you, Sally?" I asked.

"I 'aven't 'ad a morsel to heat all day, dear, and I can't 'eat my iron."

"Eat your iron, Sally! What do you mean?"

"'Ow am I to iron all this, dear?" wailed my faithful Sally, picking up my Nance Oldfield apron and a few other trifles. "It won't get 'ot!"

Until then I really thought that Sally was being sardonic about an iron as a substitute for victuals.

How Erastus Found Light.

Voting is something of a hazard at times if we do not happen to have the plain guidance of the old darky janitor in Princeton. Erastus, being asked how he had voted, replied: "In the mahnin', sah, I was inclined to de Republican cause, for they gave me $3, but in the afternoon de Democrats gave me $2. So, sah, I voted de Democrat ticket straight, because dey was de leas' corrup', sah—de leas' corrup', sah!"—Success Magazine.

LOVE FOR TITLES.

The Way the Average German Burger Lengthens His Name.

The average German burgher's love of titles is a source of never ending fun to the rest of the German population and of continual ridicule to the rest of the world. Any one caring to see how far some people of the fatherland will go in this direction need only have a look at a hotel register at a summer resort. He will see added to the name of the guest the most curious combinations of appellations drawn together to form a title. He will, for instance, find:

A "Technischen Provinzialfeuersozietatsinspector" (a technical provincial fire insurance inspector).

A "Geheimen Expedierenden Sekretar im Ministerium der Offentlichen Arbeiten" (meaning a special sort of secretary at the ministry of public works).

A—to continue in English as well as possible—"cashier president of the Royal Saxon railway," a "royal railroad subsecretary."

The ladies are not better. "Frau Verwittwetoberstenercontrolleurin" is quite usual and means "Mrs. Widowed Supertax Collector." Then there are the "Mrs. Secretary and Calculator" and "Mrs. Widowed General Agent." The best of all, however, is a title which a lady entered in the register of a hotel at which I recently stayed. It read, "Mrs. Prison Warder and Children."—Pall Mall Gazette.

TAMING A BIRD.

Teaching a Feathered Pet to Trust You Is Not Difficult.

No creature is more jealous or sensitive than a bird. It is easy, however, to win the heart of almost any bird, and that without starving him or making him think he has mastered you. Simply talk to him a good deal.

Place his cage near you on your desk or work table, and retain his choicest dainty to give to him with your own fingers. Let him know that he can never have that particular thing unless he takes it from you, and he will soon learn, if you are patient and do not disconcert him by fixing your eyes upon him.

After this he will more readily take it from your lips, and then when you let him out of his cage, after the first excitement is over, he will come to you, especially if you have a call to which you have accustomed him, and accept the dainty from you while free.

As soon as he becomes really convinced that you will not hurt him or try to catch him or interfere in any way with his liberty he will give way to his boundless curiosity about you. He will pull your hair, pick at your eyes and give you as much of his company as you desire.—New York Press.

STRATEGY WITH GOOD RESULTS.

By SUMNER CHILDS.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

"A love story in my life?" said the ex-stage driver. "You bet. It happened on the last drive I made, and that drive was between Virginia City and Sacramento. At that time there was frequent stage robberies o' the Wells Fargo express treasure owin' to the fact that some one connected with the company was passin' word to the road agents wherever a large amount o' gold dust was to be shipped.

"Well, one day a lot o' treasure boxes was hoisted aboard the stage and the inside was full o' passengers when a little schoolma'am from New England came a-trippin' along from the tavern, makin' straight for us. When she come up I was on the box and told her the coach was full and she'd better take the next one. She looked awful disappointed and said she was due at one of the stations on the road the next day and there wouldn't be another coach goin' for three days. The passengers was all men, and they poked their heads out o' the winders, starin' at the gal, but not one of 'em offered to git outside and give her his seat. She looked mighty astonished at this, for she'd been travelin' in coaches in the west and knew what deference was usually shown to women.

"What'd the little gal do but climb right up beside me. The express agent who was superintendin' the loadin' o' the boxes told her she couldn't go on that coach. She asked why, and he said the coach might be attacked by road agents. She answered him by sayin' that the road agents was welcome to all she had. I tipped the leaders on the ear, and we were off.

"I was a young man then, and I didn't let slip a chance to say soft things to the little schoolma'am. I told her that if we was attacked she mustn't be frightened, for road agents wouldn't hurt such a tender little thing as she. But I noticed she snuggled pretty close to me. We'd gone past the second relay when suddenly, on makin' a turn around a bluff, a man stepped out and said good naturedly:

"'I'll take your Wells Fargo freight, if you please.'

"'You'll find it in the boot,' I remarked, pullin' in.

"The feller had no rifle, but I knew that his pals was coverin' me from behind the bushes. He went to the boot, unstrapped the cover, and one by one his backers joined him and helped him off with the boxes. One o' the men come up front and said he'd take the mail bag if I didn't mind. I reached under my seat, pulled it out and dropped it down to him.

"'Goodness gracious,' exclaimed the little schoolma'am, 'what a lonely place for a postoffice!'

"Poor little innocent! She never mistrusted that she was sittin' on a volcano. And I didn't want her to. I told her the bag would be taken to a town off the road where the postoffice was located.

"By this time the boxes was unloaded on the grass beside the coach. The robbers was tryin' to git off the covers by rippin' 'em up with their big knives when all of a sudden there was a crackin' o' rifles from within the coach. Four road agents toppled over, one tried to crawl into the bushes, and three ran for their lives. The little schoolma'am threw her arms around me and buried her face in my whiskers.

"You see, the company had sent the coach out for a decoy. A few days before they had let it leak out that on that date they would send $50,000 worth o' dust over the road. Of course this was reported to the band, who lay in wait to relieve us o' the treasure. The boxes were filled with sand, and in every seat inside the coach sat a man with a concealed gun. They had a leader, who watched till the agents got careless, when he gave the word to fire and scooped the party.

"Well, I left the little schoolma'am with her arms around my neck, and I was in no hurry to unwind 'em. The men in the coach got out, examined the dead, took in the only man left and signaled me to drive on.

"'I was very much mortified,' I said to the gal, 'at what appeared the bad manners o' the men in the coach not makin' way for you when you got on. But, you see, to have had a woman in that party would have spoiled the game. The express agent knew what was a-goin' to happen and tried to stop you goin' with us, but when you climbed up here so confident-like I hadn't the heart to make you git down. I'm glad you come, though.'

"'Why?'

"Well, I found it mighty nice to feel your'—

"She blushed red as a rooster's comb and moved as far as she could get on the other end o' the seat.

"I dropped her off at her station. When I got back to Virginia City the Wells Fargo superintendent asked me why I consented to let a gal go on such an expedition. 'To throw the road agents off their guard,' I told him. 'They'd never suspect danger with a little chick like that perched on the box.' The idea struck him all o' a heap, and when the wounded robber said that's what finished 'em the superintendent drew me a check for $1,000 as a reward for my foresight.

"I entered a quarter section, bought [illegible] with the money and married the schoolma'am."

No Morals In Dreamland.

If, as many writers have suggested, it is the soul itself that guides the imagery of dreams, how are we to explain the fact that in this chaos of ideas and feelings there is so little distinction between right and wrong that when dreaming we commit acts for which we should weep tears of blood were they as real as they seem to be.

As Professor Hoffman has said, "The familiar check of waking hours, 'I must not do it because it would be unjust or unkind,' never once seems to arrest us in the satisfaction of any whim which may blow about our wayward fancies."

From all of which we must conclude that the dream realm is a world that is entirely oblivious to any moral sense and that, though it may be true that a troubled conscience may produce or affect our dreams, the dreams themselves are never burdened with a conscience.—Bohemian Magazine.

Going Some.

Being pursued by a farmer and his three sons after being caught in the chicken yard, a young colored person had just made up his mind that he was not eluding his followers as quickly as might be when a long eared jack rabbit jumped up from the roadside and started down the road ahead of him. The would be chicken-thief had run a few hundred feet farther when the farmer and his boys were astonished to hear the negro shout in a voice that quivered with fright, though unrestrained, "Say, for de Lord sake, you rabbit, get out ob de way and let some one run who can run."—Argonaut.

A Doleful Mood.

The propietor of a Paris cafe noticed that after he had refused to give his pianist an increase of salary the number of his customers dwindled rapidly. It was only when all but one diner had deserted him that he discovered that the pianist had been inflicting Chopin's "Funeral March" on the audience nightly. The pianist, who was proceeded against in the law courts and was fined 50 francs, pleaded that he played according to the mood he felt in after his request had been refused.

HOTEL SCOTLAND CHANGES HANDS

New Proprietor took charge Thursday. Experienced Hotel Man.

A deal was closed Thursday whereby the building occuppied by the Hotel Scotland, owned by Erick Iverssn and the fixtures, patronage and other parphernalia usually connected with a hotel owned by E. L. Wichterman were transferred to Nic Lillimoe of Erskine, the consideration being in the neighborhood of twenty five hundred dollars.

The new proprietor is an experienced hotel man and intends to run a first class place. The place will be remodeled and cleaned thruout and run as a two dollar a day house catering especially to transient trade. Mrs. Lillimoe is an expert cook and will have charge of the culinary department thus assuring execellent service in that line.

Mr. Wichterman the retireing proprietor will coutinue to conduct his livery business and is making additions to his equibment so as to be ready for the rush of business that will undoubtedly occur in the spring.

Halstad has Bad Fire.

Early Saturday morning Halstad was visited by the most disastrous fire in the history of that village. The fire originated in the rear of the general store of Natwick and Lee, proprietors of the bargin store, and when discovered at two fourty-five o'clock in the morning that portion of the building was enveloped in flames. The fire department responded to the alarm promptly but the fire spread so rapidly that the energies of the fire department were directed towards savieg the adjoining buildings. By the united efforts of the fire department and the citizens of the town the fire was confined to the Onsgaard building on the west and G. J. Gilbert store on the east. the Onsgaard building, which was unoccupied was burned to the ground. But a portion of the walls of the drug store remain and the building is considered a total loss. Only a small portion of the stock and fixtures were saved.

The loss will be heavy on all concerned. The Onsgaard building was vacant and there was no insurance on this structure. Mr. Gilbert carried instrance but not sufficient to cover his loss. The heaviest losers are Natwick and Lee proprietors of the bargin store They had on hand a twelve thousand dollar stock of goods and carried only $6,500 insurance. They will not resume business.

Lead Poisoning.

Lead poisoning in cattle usually takes place during the remodeling of buildings, painting of water-tanks, fences and etc or even while painting houses, painters thoughtlessly scrape out the the old paint pots and dump it out into the barnyard where cattle have access to, the result being that with in a short time one or more animals are noticed to have a loss of appetite, shortage of milk, a depressed look, and later excited condition,

If permitted to run loose they are apt to go around in a circle, moan, press the head against fences or walls indicating that that the brain is affected, grate their teeth and act as if they were mad.

While the treatment for lead po'sion is very unsatisfactory, it would be advisable to keep lead and paints out of the reach of cattle, rather than to permit them to come in contact with it and expect to save cattle thus afflicted. By Dr. David Roberts Wisconsin State Veterinarian.

SOME SALOONS WILL RUN

Special Agent Johnson Will Allow a Few of the Good Ones to Run.

Special agent Wm. E. Johnson has retracted somewhat from his sweeping order issued a couple of weeks ago whereby five northern Minnesota counties were to go dry this month. He now proposes to allow a few of the good ones, in some of the larger towns to continue in business under certain conditions.

He says that in all probability four out of the twelve soloons in Detroit will be allowed to remain open, three out of nine in Frazee, two out of eight in Deer River and two out of eight in Park Rapids. This concession is made only with the guaranty that the city authorities will keep an eye on the saloons and see that the provisians of the indian treaties are not violated. Before making this decision Mr. Johnson confered with committies from the different towns repiresenting both sides of the case and with W. G. Calderwood secretary of the state plohibition committee. Those favoring the removal of the lid claimed that Park Rapids, Deer River Frazee and Detroit were being discriminated agrinst inasmuch as the authorities allowed saloons to run at Cass Lake and Bemidji.

The guaranty on the part of the town authorities will relieve the goverment service from keeping several agents in the territory to watch the saloon keepers. It does not mean however that all of the goverment men will be removed but their number will be greatly decreased

New Years Eve Ball.

The Presciption Scheme.

The Secretary of Agriculture, in his annual report, jus published, calls attention to the fact that since the passage of the Food and Drugs Act the "prescription scheme" has arisen. Under this plan of selling proprietary medicines, a prescription is sent through the mails or published in news-papers in the guise of an editorial article telling how to cure some common ailment. The prescription will contain several well-known medical agents, but also a coined name of some unknown product. To fill the prescription the recipient must purchase at a drug store the agent sold under the coined name. Analyses of these products have shown that they usually consist of the cheapest and commonest of ingredients, though advertised as panaceas for various diseases and sold at high prices. Such remedies are plainly fraudulent, since they have no curative properties for the diseases for which they are recommended.

His Vocabulary.

He was an only child. They were very particular about his manner of speech, constantly correcting him so that he would use beautiful English. He, however, was allowed now and then to associate with other children. He played with a neighbor boy a long while one day, and when he came home there was an ecstatic smile on his face.

"I like that boy, mother," he said. "I like him very much. He swears beautifully. He knows every word."—New York Press.

BIRDS' NECKS.

It's the Number of Bones In Them That Makes Them Flexible.

The flamingoes were making their afternoon toilets in the big flying cage at the Bronx zoo the other afternoon, says a writer in a New York paper. A crowd of children and grown people were looking on and exclaiming with admiring wonder at the way these birds were twisting their long necks about into all sorts of corkscrews and curves when one of the ornithological experts came along and stopped to watch the performance.

"It's the larger number of bones in a bird's neck, not the length, that make it so flexible," he remarked. "There are twenty-three bones in the neck of a swan, for example, and a few more in that of the flamingo. It seems that the smaller the animal organism the larger the number of neck bones. The giraffe, for instance, has only seven bones in his long neck, which has a reach of nearly twenty feet from the ground. That little white throated sparrow over there is only three inches high, but he has fourteen bones in his neck and can almost scratch the back of his head with his bill. The swan has twenty-three neck bones and swings his head about with even greater freedom than a snake."

THE PLEBEIANS.

Their Secession From Rome and Their Rise to Power.

Plebeians were the commons of Rome, who were originally forbidden all political rights. They were for the most part poor and were not allowed to intermarry with the patricians. They served in the army without pay and were sold into slavery for debt and could even be cut into pieces for distribution among their creditors.

Finding their condition intolerable, the plebeians in 497 B. C. seceded to Mons Sacer, near Rome, where they resolved to build a new city. But this step so alarmed the privileged classes that they granted to the commons the right of annually choosing from their own numbers two magistrates, called tribunes, with power to protect them against the aggressions of the patricians.

After the lapse of about 200 years the disabilities of the plebeians were almost entirely removed, and between the years 350-300 B. C. they secured the dictatorship, the censorship and the praetorship as well as the right to be pontiff and augur. Thus the Roman republic, after two centuries of existence, finally secured a democratic form of government. — New York American.

Telephone Manners.

Do telephones lead to politeness or otherwise? When they first came into use the answer to this question would have been emphatically in the negative, but now that they are almost universally prevalent an era of good manners and "thank you's" seems to be in full swing. In some communities it is not even possible to quarrel over the telephone, although the two women who took part in the following conversation came near it:

"Hello! Is this Mrs. Weston?"

"Yes."

"This is your next door neighbor, Mrs. Lawrence. I thought you might be interested to know that at the present moment your son Thomas is sitting on one of the sheets which are bleaching on my lawn and is building a large pile of mud on it."

"Oh, thank you, Mrs. Lawrence!" exclaimed the mother. "And may I return the favor by informing you that your setter Rab has just rooted up my two new rosebushes and that he seems to be chewing the buds!"

"Oh, indeed! Thank you! Goodby!"

"Not at all. Thank you! Goodby!"

Scorched Table Linen.

When the three men sat down the leader of the trio began a minute inspection of the tablecloth. Presently he put his finger on several little scorched spots.

"See this?" he said to the waiter.

"Yes, sir."

"Well," said the man, "just bear in mind, won't you, that these holes were here when we came in? And when we get through don't tack a dollar on to our bill to pay for burned table linen."

"That's all right," said the waiter. "I'll look out for that."

The order having been given, the cautious diner elucidated his remarks still further. "That is a trick those fellows have," he said. "Somebody burns the tablecloth with sparks from a cigar and gets away before the damage is discovered, and the next comer, if he happens to be a smoker, is blamed for his predecessor's sins and is charged with the cost of the linen. I have had to pay well for other people's carelessness, so nowdays I make it a point to examine tablecloths at the beginning of a meal."—New York Press.

A Royal Romance.

The second son of Prince Oscar II. fell in love with a Miss Ebba Munck while at Bournemouth. She was one of the ladies in waiting to the Swedish crown princess, and King Oscar wished his son to make an alliance with one of the royal houses of Europe. The difficulty seemed one to be met only by drastic steps on the part of the lovers, but Queen Sophie's heart was won, and she it was who obtained the king's consent. She was very ill, and a dangerous operation was the only chance of saving her life. "If I undergo it and it is successful, will you allow Oscar and Ebba to be married?" she asked the king, and of course the king promised. A year later the queen was quite well again. The lovers were in her room when the king approached. At the door he stood and listened. Miss Munck was singing to the queen, and he waited until it was over. Then he advanced, held out one hand to his son and gave his other to Miss Munck, and so his pledge was fulfilled and the couple came into their happiness.

The proposition of the get-together-feast, some time during the slack season that naturally follows the holiday rush of business, has been proposed by a couple of our business men. The idea is good, let "push" be the watchword. It will also be an excellent chance to start the proposed Commercial Club.

How would you like to have some rich uncle present you with a few blocks of Wells-Fargo Express Company's Stock? They have just declared a dividend of only 300 per cent of their Capital Stock not more than 80 per cent of which is water. What has that representative of yours done towards the founding of a parcel-post-system in connection with the postal department? Wonder what proportion of their annual expense account is changed to the legislative department. Our friend Halvor might make good campaign stuff of the above.

It is natural for the people to make comparisons and Governor Eberhart may feel proud of the fact that the comparison can not be unfavorable. But in machine politics things do not always go the way the people desire, and the Republican politicians may pull off the stunt best illustrated by the homely saying "cutting off his nose to save his face." The independent votes. with the balance of power, is without doubt in Minnesota to stay and it is neither the republican or democratic nominee who is going to be elected, but the best man.

The different politicians who aspire to make the run on the Republican side of the fence for the Gubernatorial Chair next year grow more fearful of their chances of being the chosen one as time progresses. The present Governor is making a good record, everything considered, and is the logical nominee for re-election according to the aspect of the political horizon at present. He started under trying circumstances, having attained his present position through chance and succeeding one of the most brilliant public men it has been the good fortune of the West to raise.

Colonel Henry Watterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal has challenged Joseph Pulitzer of the New York world to the wager of the price of a "Swell-feed" to be held at Washington two years hence on the the following proposition as stated in Watterson's inimitable style— Our esteemed contemporary accepts the wager of a dinner for a dozen on a side—"four and twenty blackbirds all in a row"—including the chief justice, the vice president and the speaker of the house as makeweights and referees, tendered it by the Courier-Journal, to be given in the city of Washington, District of Columbia, on or immediately before the first Monday of December, 1911, the gage being that then and there or thereabouts the president that was—in other words, Theodore Roosevelt—and the president that is in other words, William Howard Taft—will be reaching after one another's vitals, tearing one another's hair and otherwise disfiguring one another's personal and political record, the Courier-Journal taking the affirmative, the World the negative, of that interesting proposal.

There is more truth in the following editorial taken from the Saturday Evvning Post than the casual observer would think for:—

The Department of Agriculture takes note of the interesting fact that selling gold bricks to farmers is a decaying industry, and the balance of trade between city and country in that line has been reversed. The farmer who would pay a hundred dollars to an engaging stranger for warranty deed to the Flatiron Building has become so rare that it is not worth J. Rufus Wallingford's time to hunt for him. The suckers are more plentiful in the opposite direction—namely, those to the Flatiron Building born. If you wish to swindle, nowadays, don't look for hayseeds, but insert in the Sunday edition of your favorite yellow newspaper something like this:

"Back to the Land! Raise Gooseberries! Gooseberries are sure to bring you a hundred dollars per acre, net, with only light, healthful labor. Choice gooseberry land, with the crop all ready to pick, may be had at ten dollars an acre, two dollars down, balance in a hundred years. Live close to Nature; avoid flats, street cars and taxes. Send your application with initial payment to Fake & Co., 13 Gull Street.'

Vast tracts of bare sand; innumerable "choice locations" in the midst of marshes; lands incapable of producing anything except weeds and malaria are offered to the innocent city clerk who yearns for the simple life.

It is really crueler than the original gold brick game, for it takes base advantage of a natural, wholesome and poetic desire. But out in the country the farmers can't help grinning a little over it.

Higher Public Standards.

It is an encouraging thing that the ethical standards of public life in America are appreciably higher than they were a quarter of a century ago. Practices that were thought allowable then are considered now on the border line or beyond it.

The rule in the courts has long been that no judge or juror could pass upon a question in which he was personally interested. The broad principle here involved has of late years, however, been pushed into new fields. Alderman are forbidden by law to let contracts to themselves or to sell goods to the city. Senator Borah, of Idaho, has proposed that Congress incorporate the principle into the law governing Senators and Representatives, forbidding that they shall represent as attorneys or otherwise any interest subject to regulation by Congress.

This would be a perfectly just provision of law, and one really demanded by the modern ethies of public life. No man who is personally and and pecuniarily interested in a subject for legislation can be sure that in voting upon it his personal interest has not warped his public judgement. Senator La Follette showed praiseworthy delicacy of feeling in such a matter, when he declined to vote upon the lead schedule in the recent tariff debate, on the ground that he had an interest in certain mines that would be affected by the tariff.

Unfortunately, some of Senator La Follette's colleagues are not so thin-skinned. Senator Depew, for instance despite his close connection with the Vanderbilt railroad interests, does not scruple to vote on railroad legislation. It is said that a recent census of the Senate disclosed the fact that among its members are twenty-seven who represent corporations as attorneys, many of them being corporations subject to public supervision. There are twenty-one owners of bank stock, nineteen holders of railroad stock, nine with great lumber interests, six with large steamship investments, and so on, Yet banking laws, railroad legislation, lumber schedules, ship subsidies and the like are passed on in the senate without and qualms of conscience of the part of these public servants.

It would be neither practicable nor right to demand that when a man enters the Senate he must give up all his business interests and investments.

But it is practicable to demand that he give his time to the public and that he do not act as attorney for any interest upon which he is likely to be called on to legislate.

Let him be either Senator or attorney, but not both. And the example of La Follette shows what a high-minded Senator will do when a subject in which he is personally concerned is up for action.—Minneapolis Journal.

WIRE TRUST SECRET SCHEMES.

Federal Officers to Take a Hand Independents to Fight Monopoly.

New York, Dec. 14— Following united action taken by representatives of 12,000 independent companies in the convention of the Independent Telephone Association at Chicago last week, plans to prevent the communication monopoly that is threatened by the new billion dollar wire trust were perfected in this city to-day. Declaring that court record in Cleveland now showed that the Bell combination had already attempted to stifle competition by absorbing the long distance wires that the independents had built up for their subscribers in Ohio, Indiana, and Missouri. Leaders in this movement are confident that state and federal authorities will at once take steps to halt all such schemes of the wire trust, as being in restraint of trade. The claims of the three million people who depend on independent telephone service in this country, as well as the rights of those who have $400,000,000 of their savings invested in their home exchanges, will be urged upon the public prosecutors in every locality where the telephone trust is threatening to absorb its rivals, it is promised.

To follow down to their sources in Wall Street the recent attempts of the wire trust to trade money for monopoly, is the immediate plan of investigators who are looking out for the independent interest. Backed by a billion dollars and schooled in schemes for acquistion through financial manouvers, it is believed that the heads of the new wire merger are now preparing to grasp by secret purchase all independent systems which might interfere with their practical control of all the telephone and telegraph wires in the country. Evidence of all such dealing thru the big financial houses of Wall street will be sought for immediate presentation to the government authorities in the localities affected.

Vested with all the powers and authority of the Supreme Court of Missouri, a commissioner has been appointed by the court at the request of Attorney General Major to take testimony in this probing of Wall Street's connection with the recent activities of the telephone trust.

Within the next few weeks it is predicted that thru this and other procedures, which are now impending, the officers and backers of the new wire trust will be subjected to as interesting a grilling as was witnessed here when Hadley came from Missouri to begin the fight against the oil trust.

"The many million of Americans, who have built up and are using the independent telephone exchange to afford some competition against the telephone trust, may be assured that every effort will be made to protect their interests", said E. H. Moulton, president of the Independent Telephone Association, in this city to-day "We believe the law of our land can and will be invoked to guard competing companies from being secretly assimilated by a monopolistic interest with a billion dollars at its back, Thru our association, which is made up of the independent home companies scattered over the country, we propose to fight this subtle aggression by the wire trust, which is ready to offer money for the monopoly it would gain over every telephone and telegraph user in this country."

This will be especially good news to all the farmers and independent lines thruout the northern part of Minnesota in as much as they are all vitally interested in the ownership of their connections.

FIFTY-NINE PERISH

Heavy Loss of Life in Recent Storm on Lake Erie.

FOUR STEAMERS WRECKED

Property Damage Will Aggregate More Than a Million.

Cleveland, Dec. 11.—The terrible storm which passed over Lake Erie Wednesday night and Thursday reaped a deadly harvest and laid waste more than $1,000,000 worth of vessel property.

Late reports show that fifty-nine lives were lost, that twenty sailors were rescued, that four boats were destroyed and that one is aground heavily damaged. The summary shows:

Steamer Clarion, burned, fifteen lives lost, six saved.

Steamer W. C. Richardson, sunk, five drowned, fourteen saved.

Car ferry Marquette and Bessemer No. 2, wrecked, thirty-eight lives lost.

Steamer Josiah G. Munro, aground, attempting to rescue sailors from the Clarion.

Sailor from Richardson, crazed by exposure, commits suicide.

No one now considers that there is any chance that any of the thirteen members of the crew of the Clarion have survived. Two of the crew are known to have perished. Neither is any hope now held out for any of the members of the crew of thirty-eight of the car ferry Marquette and Bessemer No. 2, who have been missing for four days.

At Conneaut, O., where all of the members of the crew lived, their friends and relatives are crowding the docks for scraps of news, but there is not a crumb of comfort.

SEARCH LAKE FOR VICTIMS

Bodies of Nine Shipwrecked Sailors Found in a Yawl.

Erie, Pa., Dec. 13.—Every available craft here has put out to aid in the search for possible survivors of the Marquette and Bessemer car ferry No. 2, which has probably foundered in the middle of Lake Erie. Nine of the crew of the vessel were brought here frozen to death in a small ten-man yawl in tow of the state fisheries boat, Commander Perry.

The bodies recovered were shipped to Conneaut, O., accompanied by more than a hundred mourners.

ASQUITH OUTLINES POLICY

Self-Government for Ireland Promised by Liberal Leader.

London, Dec. 11.—At a manster meeting in Albert hall Herbert Henry Asquith, the British prime minister, laid down the policy on which the Liberal government is appealing to the country. He repeated what had been said by other ministers—that if it were returned to power the government would demand the limitation of the power of the house of lords—and then went a step farther and pledged that the Liberal party would grant self-government to Ireland.

The meeting was marked by the greatest enthusiasm of an audience which filled the vast hall and which was composed entirely of men, women having been denied admission in the fear that there might be a counter demonstration by suffragettes. Every corner of the hall had been searched during the day for women and a small band of them was routed out, but they managed to get two male supporters into the meeting, who interrupted Mr. Asquith momentarily with cries of "Votes for women!" Then they were promptly ejected.

NET EXPORTS ARE SMALLER

Eleven Months of This Year Show Falling Off of $51,000,000.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Exports of domestic products during November show an increase of $17,000,000 over the corresponding month in 1908, according to a statement issued by the department of commerce and labor. A decrease of $51,000,000, however, is shown for the eleven months of 1909.

For the month of November exports of wheat, corn and mineral oil show the leading increases. Wheat, flour, meat, dairy products, cattle, hogs and sheep show slight decreases.

SIX OF THE CREW DROWNED

Dredge Sinks in Harbor at Port Arthur, Ont.

Port Arthur, Ont., Dec. 10.—Six men, John Fradenburg, Peter McDonald, Neil Cameron, J. Phalen, Jack Wilson and J. Smith, employed by the Great Lakes Dredging company, were drowned in the harbor. They were on a dredge being towed into the harbor, when it suddenly sprung aleak and sank. There was a crew of fifteen men on the dredge, but nine escaped by jumping on a scow.

Eight Passengers Injured.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 13.—The Denver-Chicago eastbound express on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road was derailed at Exeter, fifty miles west of Lincoln. Two passenger cars, the engine, baggage and mail cars left the track and toppled on their sides. Eight passengers were injured, only one severely.

GARDNER ABANDONS FIGHT

Will Net Try to Change House Rules This Session.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Representative Gardner of Massachusetts has practically abandoned during this congress any further effort for change in the rules or speakership. Mr. Gardner still believes that in the next congress there should be a change in the rules of the house or a change in the speakership, perhaps in both. For the present session, the question was settled when in March last the insurgents were outvoted, Mr. Gardner said.

PARKER PRAISES LURTON

Says Tennessee Judge Is Fitted for High Position.

New York, Dec. 14.—Alton B. Parker, who was mentioned from time to time as likely to receive the supreme court appointment which now goes to Horace H. Lurton of Tennessee, said:

"I know Judge Lurton, both socially and personally, and, in my judgment, none better equipped for service in that greatest of all courts—the supreme court of the United States—could be found. The country is to be congratulated."

RUNESTONE HELD TO BE AUTHENTIC

Shows Norwegians Visited This Country in 1362.

St. Paul, Dec. 14.—The authenticity of the Kensington runestone was upheld before the Minnesota State Historical society at the old capitol. Hjalmar R. Holand of Ephraim, Wis., who deciphered and translated the inscription, read : exhaustive paper, in which he told the circumstances of the discovery of the stone at Kensington, Douglas county, Minn. He went into the early history of Scandinavian exploration, which lent plausibility to the claim that this country was visited by Norwegians in the Fourteenth century. Mr. Holand took up all the arguments which had been advanced against the genuineness of the stone and answered each in detail.

The Kensington runestone was discovered by a farmer named Ohman while grubbing stumps on his farm in 1898. It bears an inscription, which Mr. Holand has translated as follows:

"Eight Goths and twenty-two Norwegians upon an exploring journey from Vinland, very far west. We had camp by two skerries, one day's journey north from this stone. We were fishing one day. When we returned home we found ten men red with blood and dead. A. V. M. (Ave Maria), save us from the evil. (We) have ten men by the sea to look after our vessel forty-one days' journey from this island. Year 1362."

HAD A VIVID IMAGINATION

Man Who Wrote Story About Cannon Going to Retire.

Washington, Dec. 14.—"Laugh and the world laughs with you; I'm laughing; I'm not weeping," smilingly remarked Speaker Cannon in characterizing as a bit of imagination a published report that he purposes to retire from the speakership at the close of the present congress and positively not again run for a seat in the house.

"A man may retire from politics; a man may resign from the house; a man may decline the speakership; a man may retire from anything," he said.

"The man who wrote that story had a vivid imagination. I am not crossing a bridge before I come to it."

INDICTMENT STILL STANDS

That Against Mrs. Ben Teal Not Dismissed.

New York, Dec. 14.—Judge Foster of the court of general sessions has announced he had not dismissed the indictment for subornation of perjury against Mrs. Ben Teal, wife of the theatrical manager.

"I have not yet dismissed it, and won't until after reading the decision of the court of appeals reversing me," said Judge Foster.

The upper court stood four to three.

COLONY THROWN INTO A FRENZY

Central Americans in Washington Excited.

ZELAYA PLAYED SMOOTH GAME

Had One of His Agents in the United States Purchase Arms and Ammunition for the Insurgents and the Supposed Rebel Representative Sent Cartridges That Would Not Fit the Guns.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Because of the renewed activities of the so called agents of Zelaya in the United States the Central American colony here was thrown into a frenzy of excitement. These agents, they declared, have managed to prevent a decisive victory for the revolutionists.

The principal one of the Zelaya agents is said to be here, but if he is he is keeping himself out of the way.

"This man," said one of the Nicaraguans, in discussing the agent's alleged arrival, "had been in this country some time when he was intrusted with funds by the insurgents with which to purchase the arms shipped on the Norwegian steamer Ulrich. He did so. His good intentions were not doubted until the arms arrived in Nicaragua, when it was found that the rifles and rapid firing guns were useless, because ammunition that would not fit their bores had been sent along.

"When the discovery was made a second shipment of arms and ammunition was forwarded, the munitions of war in this case being carefully selected and the arms being of the latest pattern."

Nothing further has been heard from Nicaragua either by the state department or the Estrada adherents. A report that the bluejackets from the cruiser Des Moines had been fired upon by the Zelayan forces is generally discredited.

SEVERE FIGHT NEAR RAMA

Engagement Results in Heavy Loss of Fife.

Managua, Dec. 14.—The report is current here that there has been a severe engagement near Rama between the government troops, commanded by General Vasquez, and the revolutionists, with heavy loss of life. There has also been a report that Rama has been captured by the Zelayan forces, but this is not confirmed. According to the dispatches the revolutionists claim that they were attacked in violation of the armistice, but this is not believed. The armistice which was arranged between General Vasquez and General Estrada ended at 3 a. m. Friday. General Vasquez sought its prolongation for two additional days, but Estrada refused.

During the armistice the question of the acceptability of Dr. Jose Madriz as Zelaya's successor was submitted to the Estrada followers, and the armistice was brought to a close by a flat refusal to consider him for that position.

MARINES ARE DRIVEN BACK

Fired Upon When Attempting to Land at Bluefields.

New Orleans, Dec. 14.—A wireless dispatch from Colon just received here says that the marines who attempted to land at Bluefields were fired upon, but does not say what soldiers made the attack. It is inferred from the dispatch that the marines were driven back, and Nicaraguans here say that Estrada has been captured and that Zelaya's forces have taken Bluefields, the seat of the revolution.

ALLEGED THEFT OF JEWELS

Detectives Declare It Is an Arabian Nights Mystery.

New York, Dec. 14.—Skeptical and analytically inclined detectives, after a day of investigation, style as an "Arabian Nights mystery" the reported jewel theft from the Hotel Lorraine in this city in which Mrs. John Williams Jenkins of Chicago at first appeared as the loser of gems valued at $300,000. This value was later cut in half, while subsequent inquiry brought from Inspector McCafferty of the detective bureau the announcement that "we are making a thorough and rigid investigation into the case, but not along the lines of a robbery."

Mrs. Jenkins remains in seclusion in her apartments. Her husband, it is said, is out of the city.

If stolen the jewels were taken from her rooms during her absence on Saturday afternoon last. A description of them has been sent to pawnshops and it is understood that part of the consignment has been traced to three different shops. The police are reticent about this feature, although it is understood that the articles were pawned several days before the robbery was reported.

Insane Girl a Suicide.

Cedar Falls, Ia., Dec. 14.—Mrs. Siever Kellogg, aged seventeen, committed suicide by shooting herself in the right temple. An unhappy life caused temporary insanity and the fatal shot.

INVENTED THE GRAIN BINDER

Charles B. Withington Dead at Janesville, Wis.

Janesville, Wis., Dec. 13.—Charles B. Withington, inventor of the first automatic grain binder and known as the "father of the grain binding industry," is dead at his home here. He was born in Middlebury (now Akron), O., in 1830 and settled in Janesville sixty-two years ago.

Withington began to experiment in the early sixties along the line of an improved grain binder. In 1870 he obtained a patent for an invention which revolutionized the agricultural industry. In 1874 he sold the patent to Cyrus H. McCormick of Chicago. From that time until 1894 he was associated in business with the McCormicks and he did special experimental work for the McCormick interests in his shop at Janesville during the ten years following.

SCORE KILLED IN CRASH

Twentieth Century Limited Is Wrecked in Pennsylvania.

Erie, Pa., Dec. 14.—The Twentieth Century limited, the New York Central fast train en route from Chicago to New York, collided with the rear end of passenger train No. 10 on the Lake Shore railroad at Northeast, Pa., sixteen miles east of here. At the time of the collision the Twentieth Century was easily making sixty-two miles an hour. Six bodies have already been taken from the wreck and it is believed there will be many more fatalities.

Advices received by the railroad officials at Cleveland, O., stated that train No. 10 broke down and that a second section of the Twentieth Century ran into it. Twenty are reported dead. The engine of No. 26 reared up, turned over and fell upon the coaches following.

KING LEOPOLD NEAR DEATH

Aged Belgian Monarch Making Desperate Fight for Life.

Brussels, Dec. 14.—Leopold II., king of the Belgians, is making a desperate fight with death, and the odds are strongly against the aged monarch. As a last resort the surgeon's knife will be tried. If the operation is successful King Leopold may live. If it fails the end is inevitable. All will depend upon the king's strength and vitality, which are fast ebbing.

Rheumatism has already attacked the aged and wasted frame. Dropsy has developed, and an obstruction of the intestine, which must be removed, has greatly aggravated his condition.

The general opinion is that the king will not survive the operation. Indeed, he may die at any moment. The monarch himself is rather optimistic, and exclaimed to his physicians, "Operate, and the sooner the better." But he added with a wan, wistful smile, "Perhaps, doctor, the long, long journey is at hand."

RANSDELL AGAIN IS CHOSEN

Louisiana Man Is President of Rivers and Harbors Congress.

Washington, Dec. 11.—What is declared by its officers to have been the most successful convention of its kind ever held came to an end when the National Rivers and Harbors congress adjourned after a three days' session. Representative Joseph E. Ransdell of Louisiana was re-elected president and Captain J. F. Ellison of Cincinnati was returned to office as secretary and treasurer. Vice presidents to represent the states were also named.

LURTON IS NAMED

Tennessee Jurist Goes on the Supreme Bench.

NOMINATION SENT TO SENATE

Appointment Made Over Protest of Organized Labor.

Washington, Dec. 13.—The nomination of Judge Horace H. Lurton, circuit judge of the Sixth judicial circuit at Nashville, Tenn., to be associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, vice Justice Peckham, deceased, was sent to the senate by President Taft.

Judge Horace Harmon Lurton was born in Kentucky in 1844 and graduated from Cumberland university in 1867. He studied law and practiced until he went on the bench. He was chancellor of the courts of the Sixth division in Tennessee from 1875 to 1878 and from 1886 until 1893 he was a justice of the supreme court of Tennessee. In 1893 he went on the federal bench. His home is at Nashville.

President Taft was himself a judge of the Sixth circuit at the time he was appointed governor of the Philippines in 1898 and it was association with Judge Lurton that gave him such a high opinion of the legal qualifications of the Tennessee jurist.

Organized Labor Opposed Lurton.

Judge Lurton's appointment was made over the protests of organized labor presented by President Gompers and officials of the Federation of Labor, who charged Lurton with having pro-corporation leanings. It was Judge Lurton who declared the employers' liability act unconstitutional.

The president nominated George A. Carpenter of Illinois for United States district judge for the Northern district of Illinois, to succeed the late Judge Solomon Bethea.

Judge Carpenter is forty-two years old and was born in Chicago. He is at present a member of the superior bench, having served in that capacity for three years.

When Judge Carpenter's name was first mentioned for the federal bench the labor unions of Chicago sent a protest to President Taft against his appointment. They expressed dissatisfaction with some of his decisions involving labor disputes.

WOULD COMPEL PUBLICITY

Secretary Nagel's Recommendation Regarding Corporations.

Washington, Dec. 13.—Legislation to create a department of the government which would do for the whole country what the bureau of corporations has been doing in specific instances and compel complete publicity in the management of interstate corporations is one of the leading recommendaions contained in the annual report of Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel. Newer and tighter laws to stamp out the white slave trade, which the secretary says is an organized and extensive business, is the other.

FIVE ARE BURNED TO DEATH

Mother and Four Children Perish Following Stove Explosion.

Concordia, Kan., Dec. 10. — At Wayne, a village fourteen miles north of this place, Mrs. Frank Hicks and four children, two girls and two boys, aged from three to ten years, were burned to death. An oil stove exploded, setting fire to the house.

Mrs. Hicks carried her baby into the yard unharmed and went back into the house for the other children, who were in bed, but was overcome by the smoke and flames before she could arouse them.

LOSS ABOUT ONE MILLION

All Night Fire Sweeps City of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 9.—One life was lost, many firemen were overcome by smoke, 300 hotel guests were driven, half clad, into the icy streets and property valued at approximately $1,000,000 was destroyed by a fire here which was extinguished only after an all night struggle by the combined fire fighting forces of Kalamazoo, Battle Creek and Grand Rapids.

The Exception.

"From 5 to 8 for all except the committee."

"Why the exception?"

"Because rule 5 says, 'The committee is at liberty at any time to fill any vacancy in their body.'" — Boston Transcript.

Egyptian Embalming.

The modern embalmer is still ignorant of the secret that was so well known to the men of ancient Egypt. The process followed by the Egyptian embalmers is known only in part, the main part being still a mystery. As to the cost of becoming a mummy, Herodotus and Diodorus tell of three modes of embalming prevalent in Egypt, the first very costly, answering to about $2,000 of our money, the second $60 and the third within the reach of all.—New York American.

CUMMINS OPENS RATE FIGHT

Proposes Amendments to Interstate Commerce Law.

Washington, Dec. 10.—A controversy over railroad legislation will be precipitated in congress this winter, which in intensity of interest and gravity of importance, promises to surpass the legislation conflict over railroad rates four years ago. The first gun was fired by Senator Cummins of Iowa introducing a bill proposing radical changes in the interstate commerce act. In a large sense the Cummins' measure is a practical substitute for the present interstate commerce act.

In brief the Cummins bill requires the interstate commerce commission to promulgate a uniform classification of freight and to prepare a plan for the statement of freight rates which shall hereafter be made in a uniform way. The carriers are required to adopt this classification.

PLANS TO INVESTIGATE

Minnesota Executive Will Look Into Strike Situation.

St. Paul, Dec. 14.—Governor A. O. Eberhart said that as soon as he returns from the meeting of the regents at the state university he will begin an investigation of the strike conditions to learn what the real situation is. If he finds that freight traffic generally is tied up and that the public is suffering to any great extent he will at once make overtures to both the switchmen and the railroads and see if there is not some way in which they can arbitrate the points in controversy and end the strike.

On the other hand, if it is true, as the railroads claim, that most of the freight is being moved, that the strike is practically broken and that the public is not suffering materially, he does not believe that anything can or will be done. In that case it would be only natural that the railroads would refuse to arbitrate, in view of the fact that they offered to arbitrate under the Erdman act and the switchmen refused to do so.

FRANK T. HAWLEY.

President Frank T. Hawley of the Switchmen's Union of North America said that there will be developments in a few days which will have an important bearing on the strike situation in the Northwest. He would not divulge their nature, but they hang on some understanding which Mr. Hawley had with President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor at Cincinnati last week.

IMMENSE PLANT DESTROYED

Fire at Racine, Wis., Causes Loss of $650,000

Racine, Wis., Dec. 13.—The big plant of the Racine Manufacturing company, manufacturers of automobile tops and piano stools, together with the Dania Brotherhood hall, the Mitchell-Lewis wagon works and several residences, was destroyed by fire, entailing a loss estimated at $650,000, of which all but $50,000 is borne by the Racine Manufacturing company's plant. The latter concern carried $250,000 insurance. The origin of the fire is not known.

Millet and "The Angelus."

It was only after long years of struggle and dire poverty, through which Millet was consoled and supported by his wife, that the peasant painter was able to take the three roomed cottage at Barbizon and "try to do something really good." It was then that he began to paint that most beautiful "poem of poverty," "The Angelus," which is today one of the most valuable pictures in the world. Again and again he threw aside the picture in despair of ever finishing it to his satisfaction, and as often his wife replaced it on the easel and induced him to continue.

On one occasion he was so incensed at not being able to produce a certain effect that he seized a knife and would have destroyed the canvas and ended the matter once for all had not his wife fortunately seized his hand and induced him to give the picture another trial. Thus it was that at last "The Angelus" found a place on the walls of the Louvre. The success it won encouraged Millet to paint many more pictures and thus place himself among the immortals in art.

THIEF-RIVER-FALLS--MINNESOTA

A small gathering of Plummer people enjoyed an impromptu dance in Carlsons hall last Saturday evening There was afterward some sort of argument as to who had put up the best exhibition in the dancing line on which subject we could see no room for an argument as we found that the opinion concured to by an almost unanimous majority was that no other couple on the floor had the fine points of this art down as did Mrs. Alrick and Mr. Riley.

A Narrow Escape.

An old circus man tells this incident as one of the narrow escapes he had in the show business. He had trained lions, zebras, leopards, rhino—you know—and all sorts of beasts of prey, but this, he says, was his narrowest escape. It was when he was running a dime museum in Milwaukee.

One day a mild mannered Russian came out of the railway station with a valise in his hand. He was a heavily bearded man and with shaggy hands and arms like George Esau. He hunted up a cabman and inquired modestly, "Where is the dime museum?"

The cabman told him and then asked, "Want to ride up?"

"Yes," the bearded stranger told him quietly, almost bashfully. "I'm to be employed up there. I'm the wild man."

"The narrow escape," says the ex-circus man, "lay in the fact that no newspaper man heard the man's remark and that the cabman was an Englishman, with no sense of humor, who never thought to repeat it."—Exchange.

Sense and Sensibility.

For some days the dining room had been disturbed by the invasion of the new boarder. She was fat, fifty and very sentimental, and her tender nature led her to whisper so many rapturous confidences in her neighbor's ear that all the rest of the table felt uncomfortable, so uncomfortable that one day after a harassed breakfast the neighbor determined to make a struggle for liberty and general conversation. Her opportunity came that night at dinner.

"Sweet flowers of spring!" murmured the sentimentalist, apostrophizing the nodding daffodil centerpiece. "Aren't they dear? So full of poesy! And don't you think that we ought always to call them daffadowndillies instead of daffodils?" she whispered.

"No, I don't," answered the neighbor uncompromisingly and quite out loud. "Just think how awkward it would have been for Wordsworth if he'd had to write:

"And then my heart with pleasure fillies
And dances with the daffadowndillies!"

For once the sentimentalist was silenced.—Youth's Companion.

Facts About Hailstones.

If it was not for the countless trillions of dust particles that float separately, invisible in the atmosphere, there could be no raindrops, snow crystals or hailstones. From a perfectly dustless atmosphere the moisture would descend in ceaseless rain without drops. The dust particles serve as nuclei about which vapor gathers. The snow crystal is the most beautiful creation of the aerial moisture, and the hailstone is the most extraordinary. The heart of every hailstone is a tiny speck of dust. Such a speck, with a little moisture condensed about it, is the germ from which may be formed a hailstone capable of felling a man or smashing a window. But first it must be caught up by a current of air and carried to the level of the lofty cirrus clouds five or six or even ten miles high. Then, continually growing by fresh accessions of moisture, it begins its long plunge to the earth, spinning through the cloud and flashing in the sun like a diamond bolt shot from a rainbow.—New York Tribune.

The Thunder Sounding Smoke.

The Victoria falls, the native name for which is Mosi-oa-Tounya, or the Thunder Sounding Smoke, have rightly been called the most beautiful gem in the whole of the earth's scenery. No pen picture or photograph can give the faintest idea of the marvelous grandeur and beauty of the scene. The majesty and mystery of the gigantic gorges, the foaming torrents, the wonderful atmospheric effects—all come upon one with a force and power as though nothing had ever before been read or heard in connection with them. The falls by moonlight are a truly fascinating spectacle. The roaring clouds of spray, the somber rain forest, the stream of the Zambezi shimmering far above the trembling earth, the lunar rainbow, combine to make an inimitable picture.

Where the Zambezi takes its mighty plunge of a sheer 400 feet the river is over a mile wide, or, to be exact, 5,808 feet.—Rand Mail.

THE CONCIERGE.

Tyrant Rule of the Autocrat of the Parisian Flat House.

The "concierge" is considered to be the bane of the Parisian flat dweller's existence. His functions are supposed to be the following:

The first and most important is to collect the rent on quarter day; after that he must see that the tenants do not surreptitiously remove. The latter precaution seems to be somewhat unnecessary, as rents in Paris are always paid in advance.

He should also bring up your letters at least twice a day, but as the concierge is generally a stout, middle aged woman who has a decided objection to climbing stairs the latter regulation remains somewhat of a dead letter.

In Paris the front door of most houses is generally closed at 10 o'clock After that time admittance can only be obtained by ringing a bell. The concierge is obliged to open the door, and she does this, as soon as she is awake, by pulling a rope which hangs by her bedside.

If she is a sound sleeper and you are accustomed to come home late at night, the best thing to do is to look for another flat, as the concierge will put you down as a "bad tenant" and make things as unpleasant for you as possible.

If you never stop out late at night, receive very few friends and fee her heavily at Christmas, the concierge will consider you as a "good tenant" until you give notice to leave, when her interest in you suddenly vanishes.

As there is nothing more to be expected from you and the incoming tenant is obliged to give a substantial tip, called a "denier a Dieu," she is anxious to "speed the parting guest" as much as possible.

The concierge does sometimes make a final effort to extract something more from you by attempting to make you pay a franc for every nail knocked in the walls of your flat, but this has been decided to be illegal and may be safely resisted.

But the Parisian concierge is really unpopular because she represents a landlord.—London Mail.

A DELAYED LETTER.

And What Happened When the Missive Was Finally Recovered.

The vagaries of the postal service are sometimes beyond the understanding of the layman. In March of last year a man in New York received a letter from a friend in England, written when on the point of sailing for Philadelphia, urgently requesting him to return a loan of $10. The man who wrote the letter needed funds and would the debtor kindly send the money to him, care of the steamship line at Philadelphia? The man in New York saw that his friend would reach Philadelphia within a day or two, so he promptly clapped a ten dollar bill in an envelope and addressed and mailed it. A week later he was apprised by mail that the money had not arrived. Both men made a diligent search for the missing letter. But it could not be found. So the debtor gave his friend a check and forgot about his $10, setting down its loss to the dishonesty of some intermediary who had handled the envelope.

Imagine his surprise when one day eight months later he received his letter from the dead letter office in Washington. It was covered with postmarks and much battered, for it had traveled many thousands of miles, back to England, around the United Kingdom and to America again, but the money was safe inside.

Chuckling, he met his friend a few minutes later and showed him the ten dollar bill.

"How's that for luck?" he queried.

"Great," replied his friend. "Say, old man, you couldn't lend me that for a day or two, could you? It's like picking money up in the street for you, and I could make use of it just now."

Sadly the bill was handed over. "What's the use of such wonderful occurrences?" ruminated the "lucky" man.—New York Post.

The Best Laid Plan.

Husband (who is going to the theater with his wife)—There; I took time by the forelock tonight. Here I am an hour beforehand, with my evening clothes all on and everything ready. Now I'll go downstairs and have a quiet smoke while you get ready.

"What's the matter now?"

"Why, the cook tells me the furnace fire went out this afternoon, as the furnace man failed to come. The baby has a cold, you know. Would you mind going down in the cellar and making it over? You've just got time, love."—New York Herald.

Successful Ugly Women.

Successful women were not always of irreproachable beauty or modeling. Thus the Princess d'Evoli of Louis XV.'s time was one eyed; the slit of Montespan's month reached her ears; Mme. de Maintenon was thin, meager, yellowish; La Valliere lame, Gabrielle d'Estrees one armed, Anne Boleyn six fingered.—Hindustan Review.

Balloon Talk of 1806.

Robertson, the celebrated aeronaut who ascended from Petersburg last year, is endeavoring to obtain the necessary assistance at that place for the construction of an air balloon on a very large scale. He proposes that it shall be 722 feet in diameter, which he calculates will carry up thirty-seven tons and which he supposes, therefore will easily support fifty people and all necessary accommodation for them. It is to have attached to it a vessel furnished with masts, sails and every other article required for navigating the sea in case of accidents and provided with a cabin for the aeronauts properly fitted up, gallery for cooking, proper stores for stowing provisions and several other conveniences To render the ascent more safe, it is to take up another smaller balloon within it and a parachute, which will render the descent perfectly gentle if the outer balloon bursts. From its construction it will be calculated to remain in the air several weeks.—From Hudson (N. Y.) Balance and Columbian Repository of July 15, 1806.

Dalton's Experiment.

The English chemist Dalton was a schoolteacher. He worked without a laboratory and with crude apparatus, mostly made by himself from simple materials. Here is an example described in his own words:

"Took an ale glass of a conical figure, two and a half inches in diameter and three inches deep; filled it with water that had been standing in the room and consequently of the temperature of the air nearly; put the bulb of the thermometer to the bottom of the glass, the scale being out of the water. Then, having marked the temperature, I put the redhot tip of the poker half an inch deep in the water, holding it there steadily for half a minute, and as soon as it was withdrawn I dipped the bulb of a sensible thermometer into the water, when it rose in a few seconds to 180 degrees."

He then determined the temperature of the water at the bottom after five minutes, after twenty minutes and after an hour and found that it rose gradually from 47 to 52 degrees. This simple experiment proved that water has the power to conduct heat, which had been denied by no less an authority than Rumford.—Youth's Companion.

MORE REPORTS FROM THE WEST

Wm. Loretzson, the Buttermaker Returns from Nine Month's Trip.

Wm Loretzson, formerly buttermaker at Plummer, and during the season of 1908 buttermaker at Highlanding, who departed last March for points in the West, retuned yesterday morning well satisfied to remain in Minnesota. Mr. Lorentzson says that he went west with the full determination that he would not, under any circumstances, return to Minnesota, but for the fact that he had said to his friends here that he would not return, he would have been satisfied to have come after a brief stay in the West of four weeks. He is, however, glad that he remained long enough so that he is now able to state authoritatively what one season in the West means.

Mr. Loretzson said in part: "Personally I have no complaint to make fairly good money during my short stay in Spokane. I was absent from here for just nine months and of this time, I succeeded to put in five months of works. This is far more than the average man gets who goes West. I saw hundreds of men, and not of the hobo class either, all willing to work, wander about the streets of the large cities for days and even weeks seeking in vain for labor, even though they were willing to accept the most menial kind of a position. The weather of the West which is generally so much cracked up is anything but desireable. During summer the middle of the day is so hot as to make work almost unbearable, yet the nights are so cold that a man dressed in his ordinary Minnesota winter array, will find himself shivering all the time. Since the first of November until my departure on the 19th day of December, we saw the sun less than two days during the entire period. This is what is generally know as the climate of Sunny Spokane.

I took great interest in visiting the rural districts surrounding particularly Spokane and north Yakima and saw some of the tracts that have sold for as high as $3000,00 per acre and I was extremely astonished to see how the landmen of the West are able to draw the wool over the people's eyes and get their money for land for from 2 to 6 times their true value. I would sooner own any of the land out here on the Indian Reservation opened in 1904, than be in possession of almost any land in the West sold during the last year at $50 an acre.

I would sincerely advise every poor man and particularly every farmer not to think of going West. If you have money enough so that he does not have to farm any longer you can live in the healthy, exhilirating climate of Minnesota just as well and just as happily as you could in the extremely changeable climate in the state of Washington, and if you do not have money, you certainly do not wish to go to a place where lands are selling at from two to six times their actual value, and where jobs are almost at a premium, if they can be had at all, and where living expenses are two to three times as great as they are back here in Minnesota.

I have given the West a fair test. I have come back better satisfied with the East and still more satisfied with the central part of the United States, and I must say that in all my travels, covering a period of many years, have found no place where opportunities are greater and where chance are surer then they are in Northern Minnesota.

Found.

Came to my place some time ago three stray calves. Owner can have same by paying all charges and claiming property. Swan Olson, Garnes.

To Open Department Store.

If his present plans mature Mr. O. O. Gullingsrud in conjunction with his son Otto will, shortly after the first of the year, open up a first class department store. The new store will carry a complete line of Groceries drygoods, hardware, furniture and the other lines commonly carried by the department stores you find in the larger towns and cities. That Plummer could easily support such a store there is no doubt as it has one of the largest and best territories in the state to draw from. Mr. Otto Gullingsrud is at present traveling salesman for a Minneapolis hardware firm but if he should decide to go into business here he would retire from the place and give his entire attention to the store.

Sublets Contract.

Mr. L. T. Berg, the Mayfield ditch contractor has sublet the contract he held for ditch no. 31 in Mayfield township to A. M. Arpin of Thief River Falls. Mr. Arpin has other contracts in the near vicinity so will be able to do the work at a considerable saving as the moving of machinery is one of the big items of expense to the ditcher.

Notice of Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Clearwater Farmers Telephone Co. will be held in the village of Plummer County of Red Lake and state of Minnesota on the 11th. day of January, 1910 between the hours of 1:00 P. M and 5:00 P. M. for the purpose of electing Directors for the ensuing year and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

Married at Grand Forks.

Thursday afternoon of last week Miss Randi Gullingsrud and Hans Haaven were united in marriage by Rev. A. J. Hulting at his residence in Grand Forks. The groom was attended by George Aaker and Miss Bella Gullingstud acted as bridesmaid The news of the marriage came as a surprise to their many friends here. After a few days visit at the home of the brides parents in Gary they returned here Thursday and will make their future home east of town where Mr. Haven has one of the finest farms in the north half of the state. The Pioneer joins their many friends in congratulation.

Babies by express.

The Christmas spirit must certainly reign in the home of 'father' Kankel of Terrebonne when in spite of a family of their own they are willing to undertake the bringing up of three little orphans. The following letter is taken from Tuesday's Minneapolis Journal:

Dear Sir:

I read about the little Orphant babies in the Minneapolis Journal And I just fell in love with them one of my little brothers died last fall.

I have another little sister and brother, I am ten years old. So we want Three of them the ones we picked out were these Master Paul and Bessie and Katherine. My Mother and Father said that they would meet them at Red Lake Falls Minn. Send them with express.

Fire at Red Lake Falls.

Anderson and Wander's furniture store at Red Lake Falls was burned to the ground last Saturday morning at an early hour. The second floor of the building was used as an opera house. We have not learned the loss on the stock but the building was well by covered insurance carrying five thousand dollars.

Merry Christmas!

We have just received a line of Edison Phonographs and all the latest records and have them on exhibition. Come in and hear the latest in music.

Marketing Farm Products.

(Notes furnished by the Minnesota) Farmers Institute.

Proper marketing of farm products has quite as much to do with the profits of the farm as has the proper growing of grain and live stock. During the past year, most farm products have been very good, but the fact remains nevertheless, that many have taken less for their products than they rightly should, considering the prices paid for them by the consumer. It is true also that some large farmers are getting more for their products than the average. It is to make plain some of the reasons for this that this article is written.

A farmer in the Red River Valley who raises several hundred acres of potatoes each year has been able to develope a market for them largely for seed purposes, and he consequently gets a better price He does not raise a superior quality of potatoes but he has a great many carloads of the same variety. Any group of farmers who will get together and agree on some one or at the most, two or three varieeies of potatoes to grow, and then leave it to some one man to sell the whole product so that carloads of one variety may be sold, can get as good prices for their potatoes as does this large farmer If it cost 25c per bushel to grow potatoes, and they are selling at 30c a bushel, there is a net profit of five cent a bushel. If small lots of mixed potatoes ace selling at 30c, car lots of a straight and stanard variety will easily bring 35c. This will donble the net profit, and the second 5c. profit is much more easily earned than the first. There are large possibilities for increased profit on our farms by paying closer attention to the business side.

Any business man can afford to and will make a closer figure on a large deal than on a small one, whether buying supplies or selling some product. The man who comes to the business man with a large deal gets a better price than he could afford to make on a smaller amount. Farmers may get the benifit of doing business on a large scale by clubbing together in buying and selling. We do not mean the organization of a large farmer's trust to arbitrarily regulate prices, but simply the cooperation of a few farmers in a neigeborhood so that products may be sold and supplis purchased in a business like way.

The most excellent results obtained with the cooperative creamery should be duplicated in many other branches of the farming industry. That means that several farmers will get together and so operate their farms and market their products as to be able to offer for sale a large and constant supply of a uniformly good product.

Foul Play Suspected.

The whereabouts of one, Andrew P. Erickson, whose home is at Hazel is a question of much concern to his wife and five children. Mr. Erickson left Hazel last fall to go threshing at Milestone, Saskatoon, Canada. While there he worked for Olaus Omoth, formerly of Wyandotte Twp. After having finished the work of the season on November 13th, he was paid off with the sum of $215 60.

He went to Regina on the 15th to attend to some land business but returned on Nov. 17th to Millestone, and on the 18th he left there supposedly to return to his home at Hazel by way of Minot, but he never arrived and his family being left in poor circumstances on the old homestead, are anxiously awaiting some word from the missing man.

Andrew P. Erickson was 43 years of age, 5 feet, 7 inches tall, weighed 160 pounds, has black hair, baldheaded, grey eyes, left eye being bloodshot, and wore a sandy mustache.

Any information regarding his present where abouts would be gladly received either by Mrs. Erickson at Hazel or by Attorney Wilhelm Michelet of this city.

Grave doubts are entertained lest foul play to secure the money which he carried has been practised and that he has been put out of the way in order to secure his pretty purse.

Steel Pen Helps Forgers.

The crime of forgery has been facilitated and increased by the modern introduction of metallic pens, gold and steel, says a writer in the Indianapolis News. The old fashioned quill pen was smooth and pleasant to write with, though it sometimes balked and sputtered, but it did not lend itself to skillful imitations as easily as the metallic pen does. The crime of forgery doubtless has been promoted by the almost universal education of modern times. In an age when everybody writes and when many are skillful penmen forgeries are much more frequent than they were centuries ago, when the person who could handle a pen was an exception. Many modern criminals make a living by committing forgeries, victimizing hotels, banks, capitalists and business men generally.

The man who sits down to wait for something to turn up will need a cushion on his seat.

Cheer up! the shortest day in the year has passed and from now on through the winter it will take a little less kerosene each day.

Poor Cook's goose seems to be cooked alright. We hardly think however that he will enjoy the above mentioned goose for his Christmas dinner.

If the differeut trusts would pay up all they owe the government, all the government officials had ought to be able to take a few weeks pleasure trip at Uncle Sam's expense.

Physicians say that the new woman is becoming round shouldered by wearing suspenders to support heavy skirts. We are of the opinion that it is caused by supporting good-for-nothing husbands.

Gift giving at Christmas time is, or ought to be, nothing more than a manifestation of the Christmas spirit, which is unselfish, seeking only to make others happy. Every one who has been moved by this spirit has realized the truth of the saying, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

W. G. Calderwood secretary of the state probition committee claims that the saloon element in the northern part of the state who have been forced out of business on account of the government treaty in respect to introducing liquor into Indian territory will try and have the act repealed by forcing the government to enforee it strictly to the letter. This would mean that almost the entire state would be dry and they then expect public sentiment to become so strong against it that the act will have to be repealed, there is no doubt but what it is best for all concerned that liquor be kept away from the Redmen and the liquor interests had best be careful that they do not fiddle around until they have jumped from the frying pan into the fire.

When the agricultural class once gets out of its head the foolish idea that a city is a sort of earthly paradise, our civilization will have made a great stride for the better. Not that cities are unnecessary, for that we dare not claim, but so many innocent rural youths are sent at large without a word of warning against the temptations which they are sure to meet that a word of advice is timely. Some parents consider it an honor to be able to say that a child of theirs is in this or that city, while if they knew the actual fact they would rather have him or her in the grave. McClure's Magazine for November has some startling statements of New York and its terrible taffic in vice. Parents should see to it that their girls are kept at home, and, if necessity forces you to send them to a city, select the nearest one so that you can at all times learn of their conduct and association.

UNCLE SAM TO PROTECT BIRDS.

Sportsmen And Farmers Join Audubon Workers To Urge Weeks Bill.

New York, Dec. :—Asking Uncle Sam to act as guardian to all the birds that flock thru his various states and territories, sportsmen, ornithologists and agricultural authorities thruout this country have today joined the National Association of Audubon Societies in urging congress to provide federal protection for the nation's rapidly dying races of migratory birds. Unless these helpless wanderers who wing their way over the continent are speedily guarded by federal law at every point in their travels, many valuable bird species will soon become extinct, as several have already, it was declared here today by leaders of this new movement.

As a measure providing for the proper care of its bird wards by the national government, the sportsmen's and Audubon organizations announced today that they would unite to support the Weeks bill, which was introduced at Washington last May and is now in the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives. This bill provides for the custody of all migratory birds to be assumed by the federal government and authorizes the Department of Agriculture to determine and fix closed seasons in all the territory travelled by the birds that undertake inter-state flights. Without interfering with the state law for strictly resident birds, this proposed federal legislation is designed to insure protection of the migratory flocks in the interests of the people of every section of the country.

Reciting the practical difficulties of obtaining uniform state legislation to protect this important class of birds, resolutions have just been passed by the American Ornitholgists' Union, in convention in this city endorsing the Weeks bill and expressing the belief that "all birds which do not remain permently within the borders of any state or territory are logically the wards of the nation." By the New York Association for the Protection of Game, as well as other bodies and sportsmen in every section of this country, similar endorsement has been given to this movement. From Minnesota, Oklahoma and many other states it is reported that public sentiment has already insured the active support of this measure in congress.

That not only the healthy recreation of the sportsmen but the nation's health and agricultural prosperity as well are seriously threatened by the lack of federal protection of migratory birds, is shown by recent records of the investigations of government authorities. Hosts of insects that harm the crops and carry deadly germs are now known to be consumed by these very birds that the nation is asked to guard from wholesale slaughter. If the lack of uniform protection of these birds by the states which they must cross is allowed to menace the interests of the American people any longer, it is pointed out that the consequences will be serious.

"Farmers, ranchmen, planters and lumbermen, as well as sportsmen and bird lovers, in all parts of the country are offering us their support in this campaign to place Uncle Sam on guard over the nation's migratory birds", said William Dutcher, president of the National Association of Audubon Societies at its headquarters, 141 Broadway, today. "Twenty-five years of constant and aggressive effort for uniform bird protective laws has resulted in some progress; but a century of effort would not accomplish what this weeks bill will, if it is made law. If every American who cares for the continued existence of his country's birds will come to our aid, however, I believe that we shall soon see the national government placed in control of this serious situation."

Use a little judgment in buying Christmas presents. Don't give your girl a pair of No. 8 boots, or purchase a looking-glass for a blind aunt.

The store clerk who gets seven dollars a week and spends twenty dollars for a Christmas present for his girl should be classed among "Christmas greens."

ASKS FOR BABIES BY EXPRESS

Little Girl Volunteers to Take Three Homeless Children.

This from Terrebonne, Minn.:

Dear Sir:

I read about the little Orphant babies in the Minneapolis Journal. And I just fell in love with them, one of my little brothers died last fall.

I have another little sister and brother, I am ten years old. So we want three of them the ones we picked out were these Master Paul, Bessie and Katherine. My Mother and Father said that they would meet them at Red Lake Falls, Minn. Send them with express.

Yours Friendly

ZELAYAN FORCES BADLY DEFEATED

Forward Movement of the revolutionists soon Proves Affective.

Bluefields, Nicaragua, Dec. 21.—The revolutionists under command of General Estrada have completely routed the Zelayan forces near Rama after a fierce battle lasting several hours. Estrada has captured Rocreo, Vasquez's strongest position, and he has been victorious all along the line, which stretches for a distance of eight miles.

Yesterday the forward movement began, detachments being sent out under Generals Luis Mena, Fordnos Diaz, Alfredo Diaz, Chamorro and Matuty. It was General Mena's task to outflank Gonzales, who directed the defense of the great body of the government troops.

These in large numbers were well entrenched, but Estrada's followers were armed with the latest equipment and machine guns were brought into play to clear the trenches. The casualties on the government side were high, the greatest execution being done at Recreo, which the revolutionists finally took by assault.

Among those in the revolutionary ranks was Capt. Godfrey Fowler, formerly of the Thirty-third infantry U. S. A., who was in command of military on the firing line.

The Christmas Atmosphere.

Getting ready for Christmas makes these weeks in December full of pleasant labors and anticipations. The majority of people are not millionaires. They do not have full purses with which they can go to the shops and buy their Christmas present without regard to cost. They have a little money, and it requires a good deal of planning, of invention and loving thought, to make it go around. Often times the money is only enough to buy the raw materials from which patient and skillful fingers will fashion the gifts. If we could look into many a home we should see the children planing some surprise on Christmas morning for fathers and mothers, and the parents in turn consulting how to manage to give the boys and girls what they want. It is this mutual thoughtfulness for others that imparts to these December days a peculiar atmosphere. It will soften the heart of the crustiest old bachelor to go into the Christmas shops and overhear the consultations among purchasers as to what they shall get. Even as you walk along the streets you observe a peculiar light in the eyes of the women shoppers. They do not have it at any other season of the year, except perchance when they are making ready for a wedding.

The Kentucky wool growers are organizing a society for the purpose of getting the best possible price for their wool. If the grain-growers of Minnesota and North Dakota would unite along these lines the price of grain would not fluctuate the moment a bushel of their produce appears on the market. We believe that the organizing of the producers is the only true way of getting their just dues for their produce.

Better Agricultural Work

At the School of Agriculture, University Farm, St. Paul, the short course for farmers has been arranged this year to commence January 14th and continue four weeks. This course will enable any farmer or his son in a comparatively short time to gain a comprehensive idea of all the latest developments in any line connected with practical farming. The course includes instruction and demonstrations in agriculture, horticulture, live stock, farm botany, dairying, poultry, entomology, rope-tying good roads, farm chemistry, farm drainage, veterinary science, farm and power machinery, etc. Special instruction in judging soils, grains and live stock will be given during the month.

Excursions to large mills, Chamber of Commerce, state capitol, stock yards and other places of interest in and about the Twin Cities will be conducted by members of the faculty. The enrollment fee for the entire course is $5.00. Board and room may be obtained at low rates.

A very pleasant and profitable month can be spent attending the short course.

Send to University Farm, St. Paul for bulletin giving full information.

The Commercial-Normal School

Also Known As

extends to you its best wishes for a happy Christmas and a still happier New Year. It invites you into its school family after the Holiday festivities are over. Its faculty and its students will welcome you with open arms, will make you feel right at home from the first day to the last, will exert themselves to make your stay the most pleasant time of your life, will endeavor to help you whenever you need assistance, and best of all, train your brain in all the good and useful things. To make sure of a happy year come to the Commercial-Normal, January 3rd, 1910.

Prof. O. A. Naplin, President of the Commercial-Normal, is well known in this county and in fact all over the state. He has been a resident of Red Lake County since 1882 and is somewhat of a pioneer.

Mr. Naplin has spent many years in study; first at Crookston, then at Bethany College, Lindsborg, Kansas, and Gustavus Adolphus College from which he was graduated with honors in 1905. Since his graduation Mr. Naplin has spent most of his time teaching. He was Principal of the Harris High School one year and held a similar position at Scanlon three years ago. As Professor of Mathematics and the Physical Sciences at The Lutheran Ladies' Seminary at Red Wing he made a signal success.

Prof. Naplin is now completing his Law Studies at the U of N. D. and will receive his Bachelor of Law degree in the spring. He will then be in a position to devote all his time to the upbuilding of the Commercial-Normal School.

To Whom It May Concern:—

I am a student at the Commercial Normal School. I find a faculty of competent, practical teachers;

Courses designed to develop skillful bookkeepers and stenographers; but also—WHAT'S WORTH MUCH MORE—to stimulate quick, correct, independent thinking power.

This school does not make its students MACHINES; it aims to put a THINKING CAP on every student's head.

There are schools and schools, but if you want the best—well, need I say the rest?

Yours for Success,
Julius C. Olson.
Thief River Falls.

To Whom It May Concern:—

I am glad to have the opportunity to say a good word for the Commercial Normal School which I have attended for a couple of months.

The "Actual Business" method used in the Bookkeeping Department of this College is certainly one of the best adoptions by a business institution for the progress of the students and this institution needs no modernizing in any respect.

The instructors are competent and indefatigable and leave nothing undone to make you competent in whatever course you may pursue. "Good teachers make a good school," and I do not know that there can be a faculty of more competent instructors than that of this School.

I am confident in saying that anyone contemplating taking a business course makes no mistake in entering this institution.

With the best wishes for the future success of the Commercial Normal, I am,

Yours truly,
Theo. Sollom.
Newfolden, Minn.

These figures are taken from the latest catalogues of these schools and are correct.

Advanced Bookkeeping and Corporation Accounting.

During the winter months this school will offer a course in advanced bookkeeping for those who already are somewhat versed in ordinary bookkeeping.

The course will be given evenings and will include higher modern mercantile and corporation accounting. A course in Commercial Law is included as these subjects are very closely allied.

This will be a feature and every young man who desires to better himself mentally and financially can not afford to miss it.

Tuition for 3months is $18.

Mr. G. T. Almen, Principal of the Commercial Normal has been engaged in educational and commercial work since his graduation from Gustavus Adolphus College several years ago.

In the fall of 1904 he was elected assistant principal of the school of Commerce, the Commercial department of Gustavus Adolphus College, easily the highest grade school of its kind in this state. Leaving there, he went to the Mesaba Range to take charge of the books in the Supply Department of the Oliver Iron Mining Company. As foreman there, he had charge of six assistant bookkeepers, a score of yard men and business often figuring up to $200,000 a month.

Last year Mr. Almen was principal of a Commercial School in Grand Forks, N. D.

Mr. Almen is not only well versed in business knowledge, but is a scholar at home in the Languages and Literatures of England, Germany, France, Spain and Scandinavia as well as in Mathematics and Sciences.

Does Education Pay?

There are many people even in our enlightened age who believe that expending money in securing an education is a very poor investment. Various reasons are given, none of which seem to have the slighest foundation on fact. You hear some good father say that he will not educate his boy, because all that these educated fellows do, is to use their knowledge in cheating a living out of the hard working and ignorant class. Others say that all rascals are educated. Many more equally ridiculous contentions could be enumerated. The trouble with the persons that speak in this way is that they themselves are lacking the broadening influence of a good education. They look at the world from one side. Their vision of human activities is confined to extremely narrow limits, due to their lack of knowledge of things beyond the confines of their own activities. Education has much to do with the moral standard of a nation, but none but a bigot or extreme pessimist would say that education lowers the standard. The foundation of a nation's morals is the home. It is the parents' teaching which after all has most to do with the question whether a boy or girl is going to lead an upright and model life.

Look but at the other side and see what a glorious tribute history pays to the lives of educated men. Even its printed pages are testimony to the work of an educated man who thot out the characters by which it is now possible for every one to secure reading matter in abundance. A thing should never be condemned because it is not perfect. It is our duty to point out the imperfections and remedy them if possible. No one would say that the church should be abolished because it has failed to make all men honest. It would be equally ridiculous to expect the educational product to be perfect in every instance. We must look at the result as a whole. In every struggle for the advancement of the human race we find educated men in the lead. It was a Professor at Wittenberg who sounded the death knell to religious despotism. The Greek philosophers first announced the doctrine of equal right and educated Americans have now brought the doctrine to its closest fulfillment since man was created. The leaders in every walk of life are men with some learning. We can form no just estimate of their influence on the development of our present complex and high state of civilsation. That it is great no one disputes, even if not reducible to a money value.

It is difficult for a large class of people to see the good of any undertaking unless the result can be reckoned in dollars and cents. How fortunate for the world's progress that these are not in the majority; for then churches, schools, hospitals, asylums, poorhouses, in fact all charitable institutions were an impossibility. It is just these institutions that mark the difference between us and the lower classes of civilized people. We can, therefore, not expect to reduce every activity to a money value. We are not machines that our value should be reckoned in the Wall Street yardstick of dollars. That would be an extremely low estimate of life. There is something higher and nobler which also must be cultivated.

As far as a practical education is concerned it can safely stand the dollar test of the sordid materialist. Statistics secured thru extended investigation conclusively prove educated men's superiority. Of the great captains of industry who have been asked to give their opinion, nine out of ten are in favor of the educated man. Facts show that the average educated man gets a salary of $1200 per year. He works forty years, making a total of $48,000 in a life time. The average day laborer gets $1.75 per day, 300 days in the year or $525. He works forty years and earns $22,000. The difference, or $26,000 equals the value of an education. To acquire this earning capacity requires twelve years at school of 180 days each, or 2160 days in all. Divide $26,000, the value of an education, by 2160, number of days required in getting it, we find that each day in school is worth a little more than $12 to the pupil.

Parents and guardians should bear this in mind when taking children out of school because they can earn a few paltry cents at some employment. Think of what you are robbing your boy or girl by not giving him or her an education. A few dollars invested in securing them a little training while they are young will repay itself twelve times even in dollars, besides the inestimable value of the indirect benefits received. If you give your boy an education you have provided him with the means by which his future is secure. It is far better than leaving him a few thousand dollars when you die. He may not know how to use the money. It may even cause his destruction. The world is demanding more and more that we know how to do things. Education is the watchword of our day. Be abreast of the times and not a laggard behind.

Fakes.

Have you seen the advertisements of Business Colleges offering:

Free books.
Free diploma,
Free position (guaranteed,)
Free room,
Free board,
Free railroad fare (?)

What do you think of such a school? It must be conducted by charitable persons, or it must be a FAKE.

Exactly.

Put this above your door where you can see it. Where a person who has no interest in you offers you something valuable for nothing, then Beware.

No one runs a business to lose by it. A Business College is supported by the students it has. Reliable schools offer nothing free. They tell you their rates and expect you to pay them. The Commercial Normal gives you nothing for nothing, but it gives you better instruction for less money than any other reliable Commercial School in the State. For a comparison of costs at the Commercial Normal and at other schools read the table given elsewhere on this page

Prof. P. O. Myhrum who is at the head of the Bookkeeping Department is especially well fitted for his responsible work. Prof. Myhrum, after finishing High School, graduated from the North Dakota University and afterwards took an advanced course in a first class Commercial and Technical School. He has had much experience in teaching and also in actual business work.

To Whom It May Concern:—

Whatever a young man's or a young woman's aim in life may be, a good business education is absolutely necessary.

I have attended the Commercial-Normal School during the fall and I am so well pleased with it that I feel it my duty to tell everybody about it.

Before coming here I carefully compared expenses and courses of all the well-known schools in this part of the country, and I found the Commercial-Normal the STRONGEST in courses and the LOWEST in price. I found that by coming to the Commercial-Normal I would save more than $50 during the year besides getting better instruction.

Very truly,
George O. Lee,

Dear Sir:–

I am very much gratified to note the success which you and Mr. Naplin are making in your school, and hope it will grow in pace with the enterprising town in which it was established. You are certainly deserving of the highest degree of success in your undertaking, and if at any time I can be of any service to you I hope you will feel free to call upon me.

Very truly yours,
A. O. Eberhart,
Governor.

To Whom It May Concern:—

Being a student of the Commercial Normal of Thief River Falls, I wish to state my views concerning it. I cannot too greatly recommend it as a place of instruction in practical Business, for young women and men.

I am much pleased with the instructors and their method of teaching.

Rose Marie Beaudry.

To Whom it May Concern;—

Having been a student of the Commercial Normal School of Thief River Falls for several months I am pleased to say that it is strong, thorough and practical. The teachers are conscientious and painstaking, the equipments are of first quality and the expenses are from $50 to $75 less a year than at other schools

I would advise any one contemplating a business course to come to the Commercial Normal.

Very truly
Elmer Thompson,
Kennedy, Minn.

Thief River Falls, Minn.
Dec. 11, 1909.

To All Fellow New-Comers:

I want to tell all you young men and women who have just come over from the old country that if you want to learn to read and write English this school is the place for you to come to.

I came here a little over two months ago and could not read or write a word in English and I could not speak many words either. And now what do you think? I can read nearly everything and I have written this letter with my own hand.

I should like to see anyone going faster in such a short time.

This is a good school and it has good teachers. The teachers work all the time with the students, so you have to learn if you want to or do not want to.

Yours truly,
Julius Loberg

EXPLOSIVES.

Best Way to Destroy Gunpowder and Nitroglycerin.

The best way to destroy ordinary black gunpowder is to throw it into a stream under conditions that prevent any harm coming to human beings or animals through the dissolving of the saltpeter. If no suitable stream is available, the gunpowder may be stirred with water in tubs, or the dry gunpowder may be poured out on the ground in a long thin line and ignited with a fuse at one end.

To destroy dynamite cartridges the paper wrappings should be carefully removed, the bare cartridges laid in a row with their ends in contact and the first cartridge ignited with a fuse without a cap. Even with these precautions a simultaneous explosion of the entire mass may occur, so that it is wise to retire to a safe distance. The row of cartridges should be laid parallel with the wind and ignited at the leeward end, so that the flame will be driven away from the mass.

Frozen dynamite should be handled with special care, as its combustion is peculiarly liable to assume an explosive character. A small quantity of dynamite may be destroyed by throwing it in very small bits into an open fire, or the cartridges may be exploded one by one in the open air with fuses and caps.

Dynamite should never be thrown into water, as the nitroglycerin which it contains remains undissolved and capable of doing mischief. Other explosives which contain nitroglycerin should be treated in the same way as dynamite.

Ammonium nitrate explosives may be thrown in small fragments into an open fire or if they do not contain nitroglycerin may be destroyed by means of water. Explosive caps should be exploded singly with pieces of fuse.—Scientific American.

YOUR BRAIN.

Keep It Plastic by Not Overeating as You Grow Old.

Up to a certain age the brain remains plastic enough so that if an injury occurs to the thought brain the person can begin over again and create new knowledge centers in the other hemisphere.

This has happened in many cases where young people have lost certain powers or faculties by cerebral lesions and have afterward recovered these faculties by developing new centers in the other brain. It rarely happens after the age of forty-five, and the reason is because most persons after passing that age soon clog their brains with calcareous matter by overeating and destroy the plasticity of their brains by filling them with food waste.

If all people past the age of forty-five would live on twelve ounces or less of solid food per day we should soon find that one may receive new ideas as readily at seventy-five as at fifteen. You cannot do it, however, if your brain is a hardened mass of waste matter. If you overeat you will be "sot" in your ways and a has-been at fifty. Keep your phonograph records soft and receptive.—Nautilus.

A STAGE VILLAIN.

His Reputation Clung to Him Outside the Theater.

An actor in a small company was unable one night to get accommodation at the only hotel in an English town, it is said, because its proprietor, a remarkably slow going person for such a place, recognized him as the villain in the melodrama who had stoken a cash box, set fire to a house, killed a detective, damaged a race horse and betrayed the hero's sister.

But something like this really did happen to George Scott, manager of the Alhambra in London. In his younger days Mr. Scott was a stage villain of the deepest dye, and one of his favorite parts was that of the wicked Levison in "East Lynne."

After playing the character a few nights in Blackpool he had occasion for wishing to change his lodgings and, knocking at the door of a house in the next street, was greeted by the good lady who opened it with a shriek and the subsequent exclamation:

"What! It's Levison, the dirty villain. Ye can't 'ave rooms in my 'ouse! Get out or I'll call the perlice!"—London M. A. P.

One Advantage.

"Well, doctor: boy or girl?"

"Girl."

"That's good. My wife won't take my best clothes to cut down for her."—New York Press.

Sweat and Perspire.

It is possible to tell almost exactly when the more elegant "perspire" drove out the vulgar "sweat." According to a writer in the London Gentleman's Magazine in 1791, "for some time past neither man, woman nor child in Great Britain and Ireland of any rank or fashion has been subject to the gross form of exudation which was formerly known as 'sweat.' Now every mortal, except carters, coal heavers and chairmen, merely 'perspires.' For these twenty years past the word 'sweat' has been gradually becoming more and more odious."

Before 1770 or so "perspiration" commonly meant an insensible process, "sweating" the grosser variety thereof. In one of his sermons Wesley remarked that "during a night's sleep a healthy man perspires one part in four less when he sweats than when he does not." That would be meaningless today.

Queer Sort of Borrow.

He was displaying with much pride a silver dollar "pocket piece."

"One of my best friends," he said, patting it fondly. "Have had it ten years, and during that time have been dead broke half a hundred times and in actual need of food and a bed quite often."

"What!" a listener exclaimed. "Keep a dollar from sentiment and go hungry and sleepless?"

"I didn't say so," the other replied. "I never went that far. You see, when I'm so hard pressed I use the coin as collateral. I borrow another dollar and give this one as security—to be held till called for. Queer sort of borrow, isn't it? But the coin's too good a friend to desert."—New York Globe.

Identified Her.

A story of lovely woman's ability to rise superior to those petty details which so often hamper, limit and nullify the operations of any mere man is told of a Harrison woman who tried to have a check cashed at a bank where she was not known, says the Newark Call. The usual remarks were made by the cashier concerning the need of identification, to which the woman immediately replied: "Oh, well, that's easy. I can always be identified by this mole on my cheek."

A Mistaken Cure.

"Jennie!" yelled the composer.

"Yes, dear," called back the gentle wife.

"Why in thunder don't you keep that k ' quiet? What ails it?"

"I can't think, dear. I'm singing one of your lullabies to the poor little darling!"—Lippincott's.

A Potential Difference.

"Pa, what's the difference between idealism and realism?"

"Idealism, my son, is the contemplation of marriage; realism is being married."—Boston Transcript.

Railroads Present Their Side of Argument.

Willing to Settle on Terms of Plan Proposed by Governor. Can Not See Way Clear to Discharge Present Employes.

The following letter was sent to Governor Eberhart by railroads of the Twin Cities.

St. Paul, Minn., Dec 27th, 1909.

The Hon. Adolph O. Eberhart, State Capitol, St. Paul.

My Dear Sir!

In reponse to the invitation from your Excellency, representatives of the thirteen Twin City lines, whose switchmen are now on strike, attended a meeting at the Captol building on Thursday, December 23rd.

In opening the morning, your Excellency recommended to the representatives of the railways and to the representatives of the switchmen, a basis of settlement as follows: That it had been brought to your attention that a conference between representatives of certain raiways in Chicago, and representatives of their switchmen was now being held to consider proposals for increases in wages and changes in working conditions, and that the matters under consideration there were similar to those presented to the representatives of the Twin City lines, and that in the opinion of your Excellency, if the representatives of the Twin City lines would agree to apply the provisions of whatever settlement might be reached through the Chicago conference to the switchmen employed upon the Twin City lines and re-employ as far as possible the men, who left the services of these lines on November 30th, such a settlement would be fair and equitable.

The representatives of the railways then withdrew to consider your Excellency's proposal, and accepted them in a written statement, which was handed to you, and which is here quoted: "A conference between representatives of the railways in the Chicago district and representatives of their switchmen is now in progress for the purpose of determining a scale of wages in the establishment of working conditions for that district The rates of wages in the Chicago district and in the Minnesota cities for switchmen have been identical and the working conditions similar.

The representatives of the Twin City lines, in conference this date, have confirmed, by a majority vote, the report to your Excellency, that those roads represented will agree to re-employ such of their former yard employes as the roads may have places for, at the rates of pay and under the working conditions in effect November 1st, 1909, and that, at the termination of the Chicago conference, the lines here represented will meet any additions that my be granted by the Chicago lines to their switchmen and that, as heretofore announced, the differential of two cents per hour in the wages of switchmen will apply in the territory, Billings and west, on the Northern Pacific railroad, and in the territory Havre and west, on the Great Northern railway".

It is the understanding of the representatives of the Twin City lines that the matter of re-employing the switchmen, who voluntarily left the services of the Twin city lines on November 30th, requires futher explanation.

With every wish to meet any suggestions made by your Excellency, and with the natural desire of employers to help worthy men, who gave up positions and who should be at work for the support of their families and themselves, the representatives of the Twin City lines submit that no hardships should be imposed, nor any injustice permitted, to the large number of present imployes in yard service, who are in no way responsible for the present situation.

When the former yard employes of the railways voluntarily gave up their positions on November 30th, after refusing the offer of the railroads to arbitrate and be bound by the arbitration award without appeal, the refusal being made in the following language in a letter signed by Mr. Hawley, and dated November 23rd: "The committee begs leave to state that it will not submit to arbitration under any circumstances", it became necessary for the railroads to promote many of the men, who remain in the services, to transfer some from other branches and to employ many new men in order to perform their duty to the public, to the other employes an to the owners of the properties.

As large employers of labor under wage agreements, the Twin City lines would not be justified in reducing in rank those employes who have been promoted since Nov. 30th. in retuning to their former employment those who have left positions in other branches of the service, or in dismissing without cause the competent men who have been employed to fill the other vacancies.

It is, however, certain that upon the basis of re-employment suggested by your Excellency, many of the old switchmen can be given employment and probably a large number would be restored to their old positions.

With the growth of business, it is reasonable to expect that considerable increase in force will be required which will enable the Twin City lines to provide employment in the aggregate for more men than were employed previous to Nov. 30th.

The representatives of the Twin City lines believe that they have accepted your Excellency's suggestions without reservations. They have done so with the sincere desire of avoiding and further inconvenience to the public, and the loss to their employes which will result from a continuance of the present conditions.

In conclusion, the representatives of the Twin City lines are under the necessity of advising your Excellency that their offer can not remain open indefinitely, and that if not previously accepted, it will be considered withdrawn at 12, noon, Wednesday, December 29th.

With many thanks for your interest in behalf of the railways and their employes, and with appreciation of the manner in which your Excellency has handled these difficult negotiations, we beg to subscribe ourselves;

Very respectfully yours,

WHAT ARE SOO'S PLANS FOR FUTURE

Neighboring Towns Much Interested in Roads Future Moves.

Three Red Lake county towns at namely, Plummer, Thief River Falls, and Red Lake Falls are much interested in, and would very much like to know what future campaign plans the Soo Line has up its sleeve to put into play upon the completion of its Brooten-Plummer line in the spring. Of course they each expect to be benifited by the next more of this progressive road but it looks as if Plummer would received the bulk of the benifit what ever the future plans happen to be. Thief River Falls is expecting them to lay double track from here to that place and they thus expect to derive what benifit proceeds from the new line while Red Lake Falls claim they have good hopes of the new line being extended to that place and may be thru to GrandForks. If either of these plans or both are follow out it still looks as if the roads officials had picked Plummer to be the recipient of the "plum" as far as real benifit is concerned.

The hopes of Plummer people rest upon the following facts. That since the road decided upon Plummer as the connecting point for the new line they have acquires considerable additional land laying to the east of the orginal townsite? That they have made extensive surveys for the laying out of new yards more so than they would require for their material yards and what switching facilities they would need if they were considering this only as a connecting point? And that they have recently withdrawn the remaining portion of the of the organinal townsite from sale until further notice. And also to make our arguments stronger, they will need extensive yards and more round house room, and why should they buy land at Thief River Falls that will cost them $200 or better per acre when they have plenty of land here and when it would be just as handy if not more so to have the yards and round house here. As to the extension of the line west to Red Lake Falls, at the present time it seems neither plausible or probable but a line northeast of here within the next year or two to connect with the Canadian Northern seems both probable and plansible and is something we will undoubtedly see materialise.

Auction Sale.

There will be an auction sale held at the home of Erick Craft by the Ladies Swidish Mission Society, in the town of Gervis, next Friday Jan. 7th. Free Supper will be served and everybody is cordially invited to attend.

School Opens Monday.

The Plummer School will open next Monday with Miss Nannie Swanson as principle and Miss Laura Halseth substituting for Miss Emma Witchterman as instructor for the lower grades. The school closed for the winter vacation a week earlier than usual on account of the illness of Miss Witchterman, the mid winter vacation usually starting with Christmas week and continueing until a week after New Years. Miss Swanson spent her vacation at the home of her parents south west of town. Miss Wichterman has been ill with typhoid fever and is at present at the hospital at Thief River Falls, for a while her recovery was dispaired of but during the last few days there has been a change for the better and her many friends hope soon to see her around again in her usual good health and spirits.

Toupin To Get Place.

A. P. Toupin has received a telegram from Washington informing him that his appointment as register of the United States land office at Crookston has been confirmed by the senate. Mr. Toupin will take the oath of office about January 1. The new register is a man well qualified from business experience and natural ability for the place, and his many friends are offering congratulations upon his good future. Mr. Toupin's family will continue to reside in Red Lake Falls for some time at least.

Judge R. J. Montague, the present register, tendered his resignation some months ago, owing to the fact that he preferred to devote his extensive legal practice, which he had to neglect almost entirely, while holding the position of Register of the Land Office.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

WILL NOT ACCEPT LIQUOR

Railroads and Express Companies Will Not Accept Shipments for Closed Territory.

Agent Bell, of the Great Northern here, Agent H. E. Newland, of the Great Northern Express Co., and agent Handy, of the Great Pacific, have received stringent notices regarding the stopping of all shipments of beer, whiskey and all ardent spirits on land formerly included in Indian reservations territory, even though it has since been ceded back to the Government by the Indians. The orders are being strictly adhered to by the agents and the result is that many of the towns are exceedingly dry and the residents thereof who are in the habit of drinking beer when they like a very much enraged over this latest order, and the refusal of the railroads to ship liquor of and kind to their towns.

The order send by the Great Northern officials includes all of Hubbard and Becker counties, Itasca county west of range 46 and south of township 147; all of Mahnomen county; Polk county, east of range 45 and south of township 148; and Clearwater county; south of township 148.

The towns on the Great Northern tributary to Crookston which is order affects are as follow:

Clearwater county—Lengby, Bagley, Slevlin, Ebro:

Itasca county—Ballclub, Nushka, Bena, Schley, Sandiega, Cuba, Cass Lake:

Mahnomen county—Waubun, Mahnomen, Callaway, Ogemah.

The points near Crookston which are affected on the Northern Pacific are as follow:

Audubon, Benedict, Detroit, Dugdale, Flaming, Firtile Frazee, Gray, Guthrie, Aelberg, Lake Park, Laporte, Leis, McHugh, Mary, Syre, Twin Valley.—Crookston Times.

Age of Sheep.

Notes furnished by Minnesota farmers' Institute.

Ages sheep are good. –Fine wool sheep live longer than medium or coarse wool sheep. The former have been used successfully as breeders from one to eight years, and the latter from one to six years and more rarely seven years. This indicates the extreme period of usefulness in the flock. The prime of life probably extends from one to five or six years. The Lamb has a short and small head as opposed to the head of the mature sheep. Its teeth are smaller in every way. They are usally smooth and white as opposed to a corrugated and darkened surface in the old sheep The age of sheep is told by the four pair of incisors which are found only on the lower front jaw. These are all present by the time the lamb is six weeks old.

The Yearling. –The central pair of small incisor teeth are replaced with a large pair when the lamb is ten to fourteen months old. They are almost twice as wide and much longer than those at either side.

The Two Year old. –Gets a second pair of large teeth. Two pair of large teeth mean a two year old.

The Three Year Old. –Gets a third pair of large teeth when about three years old. It would then have three pair of large teeth and one pair of small or lamb teeth.

The Four Year Old. –Has a full mouth of four pairs of large teeth. The outer ones are never as large as those in the centre.

Five Years Old and Over. – After the sheep is four years old it is difficult to tell the exact age. With age the teeth usually grow longer and narrower. They begin at six years to resemble shoe pegs. Sheep that are pasturing on short pasturage and get sand with their grass wear their teeth short even in old age. This is unusual in Minnesota. When sheep get long, peg-like or broken teeth it is time to dispose of them.

A duck who stuck faithfully to business during the summer and laid several dozen large fawn colored eggs complained that she wasn't appreciated. "See that hen over there," said the duck; "She hasn,t laid as many eggs as I have, nor as big, but she has books written about her and verses composed in her honor, while nobody is saying a word about me."

"The trouble with you" said the wise old rooster that was standing near, "is, that you don't tell the public what you have done. You lay a egg and waddle off without saying a word, but that sister of mine never lays an egg without letting every one in the neighborhood know about it. If you want to cut any ice in this community you must learn to advertise.—Ex.

It is too bad that each new year must enter the race burdened with "the same old set" of good resolutions.

Mexico must be in fine shape internally when she can stand the dose Nicaragua has just unloaded onto her.

We again suggest that any time the other two towns of the county get tired of scrapping we are ready to take the court house off their hands and thus settle the controversy for "good and all the time to come."

An exchange suggests that the interests of the people be considered in connection with a quick settlement of the present railroad strike. Fie, it sounds foolish. The people have always footed the expense generally attached to these little stunts pulled off by combinations of capital and labor organizations and why change the old order of things? You can hardly expect the participants to foot the bill when they furnish the amusement.

"1910"

THE PIONEER wishes herewith to thank all its subscribers, readers and advertisers for the support they have given it the past year, and to wish them a happy and prosperous New Year, for which the prospect is very bright indeed. The past year has been a notable one in a great many different ways; much has been achieved in the furtherance of the sciences, many valuable inventions have been perfected and a period of moral uplift and purification of things political seems to have set in. In fact we are on the eve of a second Renaissance and it is up to the people in general to see to it that the good is accomplished that ought to be before the wave loses its impetus. Before the new year has exhausted the spool allotted to it great changes seem probable, more so than any single year yet passed.

The poor New York milk trust has shown Special Deputy Attorney General Coleman who is investigating their case that they must really get 9c per quart for their milk to get what they consider a reasonable return on their investment. Last year at 8c, they only were able to pay 8 per cent on their preferred stock and 10 per cent on the common, when it is shown that their actual investment is only one-fourth of their capitalization, gives them a measly profit of only 40 to 50 per cent per year, and yet some people wonder how millionaires are made. The recipe is easy. Take an unscrupulous man with a little money, a so-called "sharp" politician who controls a few poor but ambtious statesmen, a field in trade, public utilities or some public resource where the same kind of a combination has not been there first. Mix well and set back out of sight and in a short time you will have one or more up-to-date millionaires.

Taft has now declared himself in favor of a congressional investigation of the rumored frauds and irregularities, charged against the interior department in general and Ballinger in particular. This is the only course open to the present administration but it will be hard for us simple people in the back woods who do not understand all the intricate points in the game to be sure whether we are getting the real thing or only a vividly painted imitation. Our only course seems to be, for us to depend on Collier's Weekly, which appears to be the chief backer of the public interests in the game, to keep us imformed whether we are getting the real thing in the investigation line or not. There must really be something to the accusations as Collier's does not seem to be a bit backward about giving names and facts and even includes several of the "people's worthy representatives" in the game of whom our sister state of North Dakota seems to have furnished a majority. Collier's is undoubtedly right when she claims that it will take a ducedly lot of white washing to overcome the stench of the whole affair.

MYSTEROUS SHIP SEEN HIGH IN AIR

Aerial Craft Cuts Circles Over Worchester, Mass., Searchlight Playing on the City.

WORCESTER, Mass., Dec. 22.—Flying at a speed of from 30 to 40 miles an hour, a mysterious airship tonight appeared over Worcester, hovered over the city a few minutes, disappeared for about two hours and then returned to cut four circles above the gaping city, meanwhile using a searchlight of tremendous power. Thousands of persons thronged the streets to watch the awesome visitor.

The airship remained over the city for about 15 minutes all the time at about 2,000 feet, too far to enable even its shape to be seen. The glaring rays of its great searchlight, however, were sharply defined by reflection against the light snow fall which covers the city. A dark mass of the ship could be dimly seen behind the light.

After a time it disappeared in the direction of Marlboro, only to return later.

At the time of the airship's visit, Walace E. Tillinghast, the Worcester man who recently claimed to have invented a marvelous areoplane in which he said he had journeyed to New York and return by way of Boston, was absent from his home and could not be located.

The visitor was first sighted over Marlboro at 5.20. The 16 miles between this city and Marlboro it covered in 20 minutes.

Coming up from the southwest the sky voyager veered to the west, remained in sight a few moments and then disappeared to the northwest. In five minutes the searchlight was again seen glowing in the distance like a monster star and the ship came up, hovered over the city a short time and disappeared to the southeast.

Two hours later an eager shout from the waiting crowds announced its return. Slowly, its light sweeping the heavens, it circled four times above the city and then disappeared, finally heading first southerly and then to the east.

---

The days, weeks and years slip away like water in a running stream. Time's great clock never loses a moment. Relentlessly, surely the moments pass, and our eager hands are not able to detain them. We cannot keep back the flying years, but we can and should keep the blessings they bring. Hold fast to the lessons they have taught. Keep the memory of their joys. Enrich every day of life with the garnered wealth of the days behind. The years pass, but they leave their treasure with us, if our hands and heart are open to receive them, so, as with one hand we shake farewell to 1909 let us stretch out the other hand to warmly greet and welcome 1910.

WARROAD OR BAUDETTE

Soo Surveyors Looking Over Route For a Short-Cut From T. R. Falls

The scouts of the Soo Line, who are looking up a route for the possible construction of a branch of the Soo line northeastward from Thief River Falls, are at present somewhere in eastern Marshall or Beltrami County.

We understand the intention of the Soo line directors—if they do anything in the line of building in this direction—is to extend it northward to a junction with the Canadian Pacific, and that the question of which side of the Lake of the Woods will be chosen for the road is yet to be decided. It may come through to Warroad and go directly north, joining the C. P. R. west of Keewatin, or it may go through Baudette and join the Canadian line Klondike or Raleigh. If built through Baudette the road will be much longer than if built north through Warroad, and it is doubtful whether a route can be found through the swamps in Beltrami County, unless considerable money is first spent in drainage.

The route along the entire way between Thief River and Warroad is passable and fairly well settled, so it really looks as though the advantage would lay with us, but they sometimes build more for the future than the present, and no one can tell just what they may decide upon.

Of course there is no certainty that either of the lines will be built, but the board of directors of the road is having a preliminery survey made in order to discuss the matter at their annual meeting. —Warroad Plaindealer.

Wheat and Civilization.

The first wheat raised in the United States was sown by Gosnold in 1602 on some of the small islands near the southern coast of Massachusetts. It was first extensively cultivated in this country by the Virgina colonists writes Dora Bacheller in an article on "The Story of Wheat, Flour, and Bread," in The Housekeeper for January. The missionaries took wheat, together with a crude mill, to California in 1769, and six years after that California made its first export shipment of wheat and flour to Siberia. Near the end of the eighteenth century it was first grown in Canada and in the early part of the nineteenth century it was cultivated in Cuba. The people of Jamaica and the Bahama Islands made their first successful experiment in wheat growing in 1834.

Wheat was grown in this country from the time the first immigrants came to the colonies and its production has increased relatively with the industrial and commercial development of the country. When the country emerged from the colonies into these United States, wheat growing gradually crept out into the Mississippi Valley. At one time Ohio was the banner wheat-growing state in this country. When the pioneer pushed farther west, to the southwest and the northwest, he laid the foundation for a substantial and diversified as well as permanent agricultural empire. In practically every section of our country where the pioneer has gone, if the soil and climate admitted of the raising of wheat, with vast fields of this growing grain he has blazed the trail for the coming generations. The wheat growing pioneer of this country leaves behind him prosperous farming communities and towns and cities which grow into big distributing and manufacturing centers. Wheat does for every new country that is opened up to immigration what it has done for the United States. It is wheat that has opened up the great Canadian Northwest. The Argentine Republic and Australia are just beginning to learn of the uncounted wealth hidden away in their soil, and wheat is the golden key which has unlocked the treasure.

Wherever the pioneer plants wheat following close behind is the railroad builder and a steady stream of commerce. Before means of transport were in a measure perfected, each separate nation raised enough food for its own maintenance. The crops were stored either in a common storehouse or were distributed among the several families. This state of affairs still existe among primitive peoples. In any part of the world where people depend intirely upon the soil, which they cultivate for the products with which to sustain life, primitive methods prevail. It is only where there is an interchange of commerce that the highest development of the human race in obtained.

What to Forget.

If you would increase your happiness and prolong your life, forget your neighbor's faults. Forget all the slander you have every heard. Forget the temptations. Forget the fault finding, and give a little thought to the cause which provoked it. Forget the peculiarities of your friends, and only remember the good points which makes you fond of them. Forget all personal quarrels or histories you may have heard by accident, and which, if repeated, would seem a thousand times worse than they are. Blot out as far as possible all the disagreeables of life; they will come, but will not grow larger when you remember them and the constant thought of meanness, or, worse still, malice, will only tend to make you more familiar with them. Obliterate everything disagreeable from yesterday, start out with a clean sheet today and write upon it for sweet memory's sake only those things which are lovely and loveable.

New Years's calls will never go out of fashion while there are bill-collectors to make them.

Do not carry a cane; some of the ladies on whom you call may consider one stick at a call sufficient.

Don't enter the parlor with muddy boots; you may be taken for a carpet-cleaner anxious for work.

THE GREEN DOOR.

A Bold Adventurer Finds a Romance In Solving a Mystery.

By O. HENRY.

[Copyright, 1906, by McClure, Phillips & Co.]

Suppose you should be walking down Broadway after dinner, with ten minutes allotted to the consummation of your cigar while you are choosing between a diverting tragedy and something serious in the way of vaudeville. Suddenly a hand is laid upon your arm. You turn to look into the thrilling eyes of a beautiful woman wonderful in diamonds and Russian sables. She thrusts hurriedly into your hand an extremely hot buttered roll, flashes out a tiny pair of scissors, snips off the second button of your overcoat, meaningly ejaculates the one word "parallelogram" and swiftly flies down a cross street, looking back fearfully over her shoulder.

That would be pure adventure. Would you accept it? Not you. You would flush with embarrassment. You would sheepishly drop the roll and continue down Broadway, fumbling feebly for the missing button. This you would do unless you are one of the blessed few in whom the pure spirit of adventure is not dead.

ON THE OTHER WERE WRITTEN THREE WORDS, "THE GREEN DOOR."

In the big city the twin spirits, Romance and Adventure, are always abroad seeking worthy wooers. As we roam the streets they slyly peep at us and challenge us in twenty different guises.

Rudolf Steiner was a true adventurer. Few were the evenings on which he did not go forth from his hall bedchamber in search of the unexpected and the egregious. The most interesting thing in life seemed to him to be what might lie just around the next corner. Sometimes his willingness to tempt fate led him into strange paths. Twice he had spent the night in a station house. Again and again he had found himself the dupe of ingenious and mercenary tricksters. His watch and money had been the price of one flattering allurement. But with undiminished ardor he picked up every glove cast before him into the merry lists of adventure.

One evening Rudolf was strolling along a cross town street in the older central part of the city. Two streams of people filled the sidewalks, the home hurrying and that restless contingent that abandons home for the specious welcome of the thousand candle power table d'hote.

The young adventurer was of pleasing presence and moved serenely and watchfully. By daylight he was a salesman in a piano store. He wore his tie drawn through a topaz ring instead of fastened with a stickpin, and once he had written to the editor of a magazine that "Junie's Love Test," by Miss Libbey, had been the book that had most influenced his life.

During his walk a violent chattering of teeth in a glass case on the sidewalk seemed at first to draw his attention (with a qualm) to a restaurant before which it was set, but a second glance revealed the electric letters of a dentist's sign high above the next door. A giant negro fantastically dressed in a red embroidered coat, yellow trousers and a military cap discreetly distributed cards to those of the passing crowd who consented to take them.

This mode of dentistic advertising was a common sight to Rudolf. Usually he passed the dispenser of the dentist's cards without reducing his store, but tonight the African slipped one into his hand so deftly that he retained it there, smiling a little at the successful feat.

When he had traveled a few yards farther he glanced at the card indifferently. Surprised, he turned it over and looked again with interest. One side of the card was blank; on the other were written in ink three words, "The Green Door." And then Rudolf saw three steps in front of him a man throw down the card the negro had given him as he passed. Rudolf picked it up. It was printed with the dentist's name and address and the usual schedule of "plate work" and "bridge work" and "crowns" and specious promises of "painless" operations.

The adventurous piano salesman halted at the corner and considered. Then he crossed the street, walked down a block, recrossed and joined the upward current of people again. Without seeming to notice the negro as he passed the second time he carelessly took the card that was handed him. Ten steps away he inspected it. In the same handwriting that appeared on the first card "The Green Door" was inscribed upon it. Three or four cards were tossed to the pavement by pedestrians both following and leading him. These fell blank side up. Rudolf turned them over. Every one bore the printed legend of the dental "parlors."

Rarely did the arch sprite adventure need to beckon twice to Rudolf Steiner, his true follower. But twice it had been done, and the quest was on.

Rudolf walked slowly back to where the giant negro stood by the case of rattling teeth. This time as he passed he received no card. In spite of his gaudy and ridiculous garb the Ethiopian displayed a natural barbaric dignity as he stood, offering the cards suavely to some, allowing others to pass unmolested. Every half minute he chanted a harsh, unintelligible phrase akin to the jabber of car conductors and grand opera. And not only did he withhold a card this time, but it seemed to Rudolf that he received from the shining and massive black countenance a look of cold, almost contemptuous, disdain.

The look stung the adventurer. He read in it a silent accusation that he had been found wanting. Whatever the mysterious written words on the cards might mean, the black had selected him twice from the throng for their recipient and now seemed to have condemned him as deficient in the wit and spirit to engage the enigma.

Standing aside from the rush, the young man made a rapid estimate of the building in which he conceived that his adventure must lie. Five stories high it rose. A small restaurant occupied the basement.

The first floor, now closed, seemed to house millinery or furs. The second floor, by the winking electric letters, was the dentist's. Above this a polyglot babel of signs struggled to indicate the abodes of palmists, dressmakers, musicians and doctors. Still higher up draped curtains and milk bottles white on the window sills proclaimed the regions of domesticity.

After concluding his survey Rudolf walked briskly up the high flight of stone steps into the house. Up two flights of the carpeted stairway he continued and at its top paused. The hallway there was dimly lighted by two pale jets of gas, one far to his right, the other nearer to his left. He looked toward the nearer light and saw within its wan halo a green door. For one moment he hesitated; then he seemed to see the contumelious sneer of the African juggler of cards, and then he walked straight to the green door and knocked against it.

Moments like those that passed before his knock was answered measure the quick breath of true adventure. What might not be behind those green panels! Gamesters at play, cunning rogues baiting their traps with subtle skill, beauty in love with courage and thus planning to be sought by it, danger, death, love, disappointment, ridicule—any of these might respond to that temerarious rap.

A faint rustle was heard inside, and the door slowly opened. A girl not yet twenty stood there white faced and tottering. She loosed the knob and swayed weakly, groping with one hand. Rudolf caught her and laid her on a faded couch that stood against the wall. He closed the door and took a swift glance around the room by the light of a flickering gas jet. Neat but extreme poverty was the story that he read.

The girl lay still as if in a faint. Rudolf looked around the room excitedly for a barrel. People must be rolled upon a barrel who—no, no; that was for drowned persons. He began to fan her with his hat. That was successful, for he struck her nose with the brim of his derby, and she opened her eyes. And then the young man saw that hers, indeed, was the one missing face from his heart's gallery of intimate portraits. The frank gray eyes, the little nose, turning pertly outward; the chestnut hair, curling like the tendrils of a pea vine, seemed the right end and reward of all his wonderful adventures. But the face was woefully thin and pale.

The girl looked at him calmly and then smiled.

"Fainted, didn't I?" she asked weakly. "Well, who wouldn't? You try going without anything to eat for three days and see!"

"Himmel!" exclaimed Rudolf, jumping up. "Wait till I come back."

He dashed out the green door and down the stairs. In twenty minutes he was back again, kicking at the door with his toe for her to open it. With both arms he hugged an array of wares from the grocery and the restaurant. On the table he laid them—bread and butter, cold meats, cakes, pies, pickles, oysters, a roasted chicken, a bottle of milk and one of redhot tea.

"This is ridiculous," said Rudolf blusteringly, "to go without eating. You must quit making election bets of this kind. Supper is ready." He helped her to a chair at the table and asked, "Is there a cup for the tea?" "On the shelf by the window," she answered. When he turned again with the cup he saw her, with eyes shining rapturously, beginning upon a huge dill pickle that she had rooted out from the paper bags with a woman's unerring instinct. He took it from her laughingly and poured the cup full of milk. "Drink that first," he ordered, "and then you shall have some tea and then a chicken wing if you are very good you shall have a pickle tomorrow. And now, if you'll allow me to be your guest, we'll have supper."

He drew up the other chair. The tea brightened the girl's eyes and brought back some of her color. She began to eat with a sort of dainty ferocity like some starved animal. She seemed to regard the young man and the aid he had rendered her as a natural thing—not as though she undervalued the conventions, but as one whose great stress gave her the right to put aside the artificial for the human. But gradually with the return of strength and comfort came also a sense of the little conventions that belong, and she began to tell him her little story. It was one of a thousand such as the city yawns at every day—the shopgirl's story of insufficient wages, further reduced by "fines" that go to swell the store's profits; of time lost through illness and then of lost positions, lost hope and—the knock of the adventurer upon the green door.

But to Rudolf the history sounded as big as the Iliad or the crisis in "Junie's Love Test."

"To think of you going through all that!" he exclaimed.

"It was something fierce," said the girl solemnly.

"And you have no relatives or friends in the city?"

"None whatever."

"I am all alone in the world, too," said Rudolf after a pause.

"I am glad of that," said the girl promptly, and somehow it pleased the young man to hear that she approved of his bereft condition.

Very suddenly her eyelids dropped, and she sighed deeply.

"I am awfully sleepy," she said, "and I feel so good."

Rudolf rose and took his hat.

"Then I'll say good night. A long night's sleep will be fine for you."

He held out his hand, and she took it and said "Good night." But her eyes asked a question so eloquently, so frankly and pathetically that he answered it with words.

"Oh, I'm coming back tomorrow to see how you are getting along. You can't get rid of me so easily."

Then at the door, as though the way of his coming had been so much less important than the fact that he had come, she asked, "How did you come to knock at my door?"

He looked at her for a moment, remembering the cards, and felt a sudden jealous pain. What if they had fallen into other hands as adventurous as his? Quickly he decided that she must never know the truth. He would never let her know that he was aware of the strange expedient to which she had been driven by her great distress.

"One of our piano tuners lives in this house," he said. "I knocked at your door by mistake."

The last thing he saw in the room before the green door closed was her smile.

At the head of the stairway he paused and looked curiously about him. And then he went along the hallway to its other end and, coming back, ascended to the floor above and continued his puzzled explorations. Every door that he found in the house was painted green.

Wondering, he descended to the sidewalk. The fantastic African was still there. Rudolf confronted him with his two cards in his hand.

"Will you tell me why you gave me these cards and what they mean?" he asked.

In a broad, good natured grin the negro exhibited a splendid advertisement of his master's profession.

"Dar it is, boss," he said, pointing down the street. "But I 'spect you is a little late for de fust act."

Looking the way he pointed, Rudolf saw above the entrance to a theater the blazing electric sign of its new play, "The Green Door."

"I'm informed dat it's a fust rate show, sah," said the negro. "De agent what represents it pussented me with a dollar, sah, to distribute a few of his cards along with de doctah's. May I offer you one of de doctah's cards, sah?"

AN ARRAY OF WARES FROM THE GROCERY AND THE RESTAURANT.

At the corner of the block in which he lived Rudolf stopped for a glass of beer and a cigar. When he had come out with his lighted weed he buttoned his coat, pushed back his hat and said stoutly to the lamppost on the corner:

"All the same, I believe it was the hand of fate that doped out the way for me to find her."

Which conclusion, under the circumstances, certainly admits Rudolf Steiner to the ranks of the true followers of Romance and Adventure.

STRIKE CONTINUES

Switchmen Reject Offer of Railroad Companies.

LATTER PRESENT ULTIMATUM

Refuse to Reinstate All Old Employes at Once.

St. Paul, Dec. 27.—All hope of bringing the railroads and striking switchmen together was abandoned when the railway department council of the American Federation of Labor refused to accept a proposition made by the railroads of the Twin Cities after a conference with Governor Eberhart in the governor's office at the capitol.

The fight of the railroads is said to be against Frank T. Hawley, president of the Switchmen's union; that with Mr. Hawley eliminated the strike would have been settled before this.

The railroad officials representing the thirteen lines running into the Twin Cities first went into conference with Governor Eberhart. They prepared a statement which was their ultimatum. The members of the federation council were then ushered into the governor's office and the statement was read to them and, through its counsel, the federation refused to accept the terms of the railroads.

Every possible argument was brought to modify the disagreement; but nothing that was said had the slightest effect on the railroad position and the federationists, who complained bitterly that they had conceded everything and that the railroads had conceded nothing, refused to consider the terms further.

Position of the Strikers.

After the railroad officials left it was stated by one of the federation conferees that "nothing would be accepted from the railroad side of the argument that did not include an immediate or reasonably soon reinstatement of the men in their old positions, the question of wage scale and hours to be settled on the Chicago basis."

The railroad officials, in their ultimatum, declare that they believe they have met the governor's recommendation in full by agreeing to abide by the terms of the Chicago conference settlement, together with the reinstatement of striking switchmen as there may be places vacated for them.

The officials refused, however, to reinstate any strikers at the expense of others who have done the work since the strike was declared on Nov. 30.

The railroads also refuse to reduce in rank those employes who have been promoted to fill places vacated by strikers.

The railroad officials say that many of the old employes can be given their old positions, but they refuse to offer any guarantee or to state any time within which all or any number of the strikers may be returned to work.

WARPED BY FALSE REPORTS

Zelaya Expresses His Opinion of Knox's Judgment.

Salina Cruz, Mex., Dec. 28.—Declaring that the attitude of Secretary Knox toward him could not fail to be disapproved by all fair minded people, and that he believed the secretary's judgment was warped by false reports of conditions in Nicaragua, made by the American vice consul at Managua, to whom he attributed much of his woe, former President Jose Santos Zelaya endeavored, in an interview to justify his treatment of the Americans, Cannon and Groce, as an act which any one in his position would have committed.

Zelaya debarked from the Mexican gunboat General Guerrero and left soon afterward for Mexico City in a private car attached to the regular passenger train.

"I am going to Mexico City to remain for six months," he said. "If the climate agrees with me, I will send or go for my family. If it does not agree with me I will go to some place in Europe. I am going to Mexico City to thank President Diaz and the Mexican officials for their kindness to me."

WOLVES ATTACK A FARMER

Illinois Man Has Narrow Escape From Death.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—A pack of eight timber wolves attacked Henry Lund and his horses while he was driving through the woods near Montgomery, Ill.

The wolves first attacked the horses, severely biting them, and then attempted to leap into the sleigh. Lund fought desperately with a heavy whip and his horses, bleeding and exhausted from a long gallop through the heavy roads, managed to reach a clearing, where the wolves were frightened off.

Farmers have organized a band to find the lair of the wolves.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS ROCK ISLAND DEAL

New York Exchange to Make an Investigation.

New York, Dec. 28.—The New York Stock Exchange has an investigation on its hands. Common stock of the Rock Island company rose 31¾ points almost immediately after the opening, then even more suddenly dropped to 50. Thereby hangs a mystery or a fiasco or something that the governors of the stock exchange, with characteristic dispatch, will sift to the bottom.

With the close of the day's session, the governors quickly held a conference, and it was announced that a special investigation had been instituted. Francis L. Eames, former president of the exchange; J. T. Atterbury and Ernest Groesbeck were appointed a committee to conduct the investigation. Conservative members of the exchange are much exercised over the episode, and a rigid and searching inquiry is demanded with summary punishment of the offenders if their guilt is established.

Disclaim Responsibility.

Officers of the Rock Island disclaim any responsibility for the movement. At the office of Daniel G. Reid, who with ex-Judge W. H. Moore is the acknowledged leader of the Rock Island group, it was said that Mr. Reid was indisposed. Another report said that he was entertaining a house praty at his country home near here. Judge Moore arrived in the city from Chicago and said that personally he knew nothing of the excitement until told of it upon his arrival in New York.

So much mystery and confusion surround the movement that anything like a clear explanation seems well nigh impossible. During the brief session, which the governors of the exchange held several members who figured in the buying and selling were called before the committee, but no details regarding the preliminary investigation were made public. Those brokers credited with executing the orders declined to throw any light on the subject They will be called to testify later.

Stories purporting to explain the situation are numerous and conflicting. One theory was that an attempt at manipulation in the stocks had miscarried.

The day's operations in Rock Island common totaled approximately 218,000 shares, or more than 25 per cent of the whole.

Homesteader Shot on His Claim.

Mandan, N. D., Dec. 28.—Attacked by would-be murderers while alone in his claim shack near Flasher, Ike Barton was shot in the head and now lies in a Flasher hospital in a critical condition. The shot at Barton was taken by men whose names are known to the authorities, Barton having been able to identify his assailants. No reason is known for the crime.

GAMBLING ON FARM PRODUCTS

President Taft Would Prohibit It by Legislation.

HURTS LEGITIMATE INDUSTRY

Chief Executive Believes the Gullible Public Should Be Protected From This Form of Speculation—Leading Lawyers of the Administration Have Been Consulted on the Subject.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Gambling in wheat, corn, cotton and other products of the farm will be prohibited hereafter if a recommendation soon to be made to congress by President Taft is enacted into law. The president is convinced that legitimate industry suffers from the gambling in the futures and he believes the gullible public should be protected from this form of speculation. Accordingly, he has decided to urge congress to adopt a law that will be as effective in dealing with produce gambling as were the laws aimed at the sale of lottery tickets and the great concerns that were engaged in the business.

The evil of such gambling will form the subject of a conference soon to be held at the White House. The president is deeply interested and will make known his views on the question either in a special message or in a report on a bill soon to be introduced by Representative Scott of Kansas, chairman of the house committee on agriculture.

Consulted With Lawyers.

The leading lawyers of the administration have been consulted by President Taft in his consideration of the evil of such gambling. He believes that the problem should be approached with the greatest care and a measure framed that will solve it without in any way interfering with the exchange, transfer and sale of grain by legitimate bodies. It was learned that the president has invited a number of officers to confer with him on the subject, among them Secretary of State Knox, Attorney General Wickersham, Representative Scott, Representative Lovering of Massachusetts and Commissioner of Corporations Herbert Knox Smith.

The government has already given some attention to the question of produce gambling. The cotton exchange in New York and like bodies in other cities have been subjected to a close inquiry by the commissioner of corporations. Incidentally the authorities have made inquiries as to gambling in futures as a general proposition, with the result that a decision has been reached that the federal government should deal with this question so far as lies within its power and authority.

ON COOK'S POLAR RECORDS

Copenhagen Committee May Make a Second Report.

Copenhagen, Dec. 28.—The special committee of Copenhagen university, which investigated Dr. Frederick A. Cook's polar records, is now considering whether or not it will publish a second report, giving further details of the work. If the committee should decide to do so, it will issue the report about the middle of January.

A member of the committee said that some of the details of Cook's narrative of his expedition were fabricated and his papers showed that he had used calculations furnished by Captain Loose. The second report, he added, would present evidence to that effect.

New Warships to Join the Navy.

Washington, Dec. 28.—The navy department plans to place in commission by the end of the calendar year 1910 the battleships Michigan about Jan. 1, the South Carolina later and the Delaware and North Dakota in the spring. There will be placed in commission in that period about twelve destroyers, two submarines and two colliers.

Paid for Committing Crime.

Sandusky, O., Dec. 28.—Mystery surrounding the killing of Agosta Dema, a leader in the large Italian colony here, was cleared up by Frank Benah, who said he had committed the murder for $400. This sum, he said, was paid him by Jim Primer, another Italian, who, Benah explained, wanted to marry the victim's wife.

Montana Legislature Meets.

Helena, Mont., Dec. 28.—The legislature met in special session here to consider a proposed increase in the appropriation for an addition to the capitol building so as to make possible the use of Montana construction material. The legislature will also consider an appropriation for state publicity work in 1910.

Cashier and Money Gone.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—A sum said to amount to $20,000 and George A. Capron, cashier of the United States Express company, at the Englewood branch office in his city, disappeared Christmas eve. Detectives of the company all over the country are searching for Capron and for trace of the missing money.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Finrow, family and Olaf Lien drove out to Ralph Greens place to attend a gathering of the Modern Woodmen Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Con Short entertained a number of her friends at her home at Lillo last Thursday evening. Dancing was induldged in and all present reported a most enjoyable time.

The editor of a newspaper is often accused of leaving out certain items of news purposely, because of a disliked of the person to be mentioned, or from prejudice or other cause, This is all bosh, frankly asserts the Stanely, N. D., Sun. The editor has something like a million different things to think of in one connection with the issue of one paper and it is not surprising if he he misses one item occasionally or sometimes forgets one which has been called to his attention. Nine out of ten peoples you ask for new items will tell you they can't think of any. But in most cases they expect the editor to think of them all and criticise him if he fails in a single item. The best way it to give the editor credit for what he does find and mention, and for something that he finds and doesn't mention.

STORM IN EAST

Many Lives Lost and Property Damage Immense.

CHELSEA, MASS., IS FLOODED

Tidal Wave Sweeps Town, Rendering Many Homeless.

Boston, Dec. 27.—News dribbling into Boston makes it certain that at least a dozen lives are lost and a million in property damage occasioned by the huge fall of snow and the terrific winds which prevailed in the New England towns.

In Chelsea, where a tidal wave swept the town, making 2,000 homeless, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Harkins were drowned in their beds and Michael Callahan, an aged man, died of shock while being taken from the second story of his flooded home. Half a dozen people are still missing and it is feared some of them have perished.

Never in the history of Massachusetts has a more severe storm swept the coast. The gale in most places was only about forty-four miles an hour, but along Cape Cod it raged at an eighty-four-mile speed and huge waves were swept before it, carrying death to any vessel out of shelter. What the total loss along the coast will be no one at present can estimate. From Portland, Me., down the whole coast to Rhode Island, each and every village and town has its tale of ruin. Hundreds of people have lost their homes and the damage is so widespread that any attempt to particularize would be in vain. Nowhere, however, was there such great damage as in Chelsea and in the other towns along the shores of Massachusetts bay.

The total damage in Chelsea will reach more than $250,000.

In Boston proper there was less suffering, but the damage will be heavy.

THOUSANDS CLEAN STREETS

Immense Force of Men at Work in New York City.

New York, Dec. 27.—With 10,000 men aiding the regular force of 3,700 "white wings" in cleaning up the streets and sidewalks New York is rapidly recovering from the blizzard and snow storm.

Commissioner "Bill" Edwards, who is in charge of the street cleaning department, declared he could not get within 10,000 of the number of men he needed to make the "hurry up" job of cleaning up.

He estimated that it will cost the city $200,000 to clean up.

As a result of the blizzard it is announced by the police that fourteen lives were lost in New York alone while great suffering was entailed, occasioned by the tying up of traffic and the impossibility of carrying food and clothing to the needy poor.

No trains are arriving in New York on time except the short haul commuter ones.

Trains from the east, west and south are from one to five hours late.

Ocean liners and freight steamers which are putting into port are covered with ice.

Storm at National Capital.

Washington, Dec. 27.—Not since last inauguration day has the national capital been the victim of so severe a climatic disturbance as raged here during the past forty-eight hours. The city was practically cut off from communication with the North. The blizzard put both the telegraph and telephone wires out of business.

KOREAN PREMIER NOT DEAD

Official Attacked by Assassin May Recover From Wounds.

Seoul, Korea, Dec. 23.—Yi Wan Yung, Korean premier, who was reported dead from the wounds inflicted by a would-be assassin, Li Tsai Ming, an Americanized Christian Korean, is lying in a state of coma, with chances favorable for his recovery. He is suffering from knife thrusts in the right lung and abdomen.

Li, who is still in jail, expressed regret that his attack on the premier had not proved fatal. Further than to say that Yi's administration was inimical to Korean integrity he would not explain the motive of his attack.

FIRE IS FATAL TO EIGHT

Christmas Tree Starts Blaze at Hillsville, Pa.

New Castle, Pa., Dec. 24.—The first of local fatalities due to Christmas tree fires wiped out the family of Santano Cierbo and took the lives of three of his boarders. Cierbo, his wife and three children and the boarders were burned to death in their home at Hillsville village, when the decorations on the tree took fire. Two other boarders escaped.

NO HOPE FOR HIS RECOVERY

Death of Cardinal Satolli Expected Within Few Hours.

Rome, Dec. 27.—The condition of Cardinal Satolli shows a slight improvement, but the doctors say there is no hope of his recovery and that death is likely to ensue within the next forty-eight hours. The cardinal has few conscious moments.

ANNUAL MEETING OF COMMISSIONERS

Transact Annual Business. County Priuting Let to Highest Bidder. Citizens Pay.

Last Tuesday at about one o'clock p. m. the board of County Commissioners met in their first regular session of the year and in opening, elected C. A. Lindquist Chairman for the ensuing year and W. L. C. Demann Vice Chairman. The Jury lists were drawn and other routine business during the afternoon and evening.

On Wednesday morning the matter of letting the County printing was taken before the Board. There were three bids for consideration. One by the Red Lake Falls Gazette guaranteeing supplement published in the St. Hilaire Spectator and offering to do the official printing of the County for sixty cents per folio for the first insertion and thirty cents per folio for the second insertion, and to publish the delinquent tax-list at eight cents per description.

The second bid was that of the Thief River Press and the Plummer Pioneer offering to do the same work for twenty-nine cents per folio for the first insertion, fourteen cents per folio for each subsequent instertion, and six cents per description for deliquent tax-lists. The third was the bid of the Thief River Falls News offering to make the same publications for twenty-five cents per folio for the first insertion, fifteen cents per folio for the second insertion and seven cents per description for delinquent tax lists also offering to supply supplements to all the papers in Red Lake County.

These bids were all read and considered by the County Board after which a motion was made by Mr Demann, seconded by Mr. Pigeon that the bid of the Red Lake Falls Gazette and St. Hilaire Spectator be accepted. A vote was taken and the motion declared carried. Of course, as usual, Commissioners Aubol and Johnson were true blue to the best intersts of the tax-payer of Red Lake County and voted in this matter while Commissioners Demann, Pigeon and Lindquist turned the matter over with a high hand.

Thus again history has repeated itself.

The Commissioners have once more decided to give the county printing as they were selling them at public auction to the highest bidder.

To those who do not know the inside of affairs in the county, it may be somewhat hard to estimate just what the total cost of the County printing for the coming year. Judging by past records and by the fact that there will be a large number of advertisements and publications for County ditches, bids, and so forth in addition to the customary amount it is safe to say that that the amount paid for publications by the County Board during the year 1910 will agregate in the neighborhood of $1500. By a comparison of the above bids it will be seen than had the Commissoners chosen to designate as the official papers of the county either the Thief River Falls Falls News or the Thief River Press and Plummer Pioneer the cost to the County would have been about one-half of what it will be under the present contract.

That it was not a matter of service which was taken into consideration is self-evident from the fact that the services offered by the Thief Rives Press and Plummer Pioneer in the matter of circulation is greater than that offered by the Red Lake Falls Gazette and St. Hilaire Spectator. At no time was there any question raised as to the quality of services or the amount of circulation It was cut and dried and everybody that knows anything about the manner in which County affairs are running in this County at present knew full well before the bids were opened who was to receive the County printing.

A large number of bills were also allowed and is notable that the honorable board saw fit to reduce the drain on the county treasury and yet they allowed a bill of $562 for leagel services to Chas. E. Boughton and contracted to pay from $600 to $800 more for the county printing during the coming year than was necessary.

Any further comment is useless and unnecessary. If the tax-payers in Red Lake County are willing to submit to such treatment as this we have no complaints to make; if they are not willing to submit to this form of high handed monarchy we believe it is their duty to speak up, and with a loud voice declare themselves outright opposed to any admiustrations that will encourage graft and boodling at every turn of the road.

Saloon Men Organiz to Test Johnson's Closing Order.

It is understood that a meeting is to be held in Crookston within a week or ten days of representatives of all the the cities and village located on what is known as reservation territory, and in which saloons have been closed by ordes of Johnson, and to which all railroads companies have issued orders to agents to refuse shipments of liquor of any kind, and to which other agents of the road have been ordered not to consign such shipments, with the object in view of raising a big fund and carrying the fight to the court of last resort.

They will receive substantial aid from the wholesale liquor houses and breweries which ship to the territory affected and the fight will be a bitter one in which the towns will be represented by the best legal talent obtainable in the United States.

It is understood that some advice from high authorities has already been received and the opinion given that the stand taken by the government court of the United States. The first stepts decided upon will be watched with intense interest throughout this section.–Crookson Times.

The Aiken Age Says Soo Will Be Built To Moorhead.

Upon good authority the story comes from Duluth, that the plans of the Soo road are to continue the Cayuna division now built through here, to the Rabbit Lake mines, on to Fargo and Moorhead, and ftom another source it is reported that the south branch of this line crossing the Northern Pacific at Deerwood will be extended to Brainered. The reports are not officially confirmed, says the Aithen Age, but there are good reasons to believe that they are authentic. It is also stated that the contract has been let to Foley Brothers for the grading as far as Detaoit.

No one has presumed that the mines were to be the terminus of the new road, but what the plans were has been entirely a matter of speculation until recently. It is altogether probable that the Soo and its connections will play an important part in the transportation business of the north country, and being in no way allied with the old companies in the field, competition and a desire to win the favor of the puplic may be expected. Eventually through business to the coast will be maintained by connecting with the Canadian Pacfic.

Calf Cholera.

Calf cholera is characterized by an unnatural increased action of the bowels, the trouble usually originating from some derangement of the digestive organs. Indigestion often results from inactivity of the bowles, improper feeding, or from being improperly housed.

The Activity of the digestive organs can be greatly increased by properly exercising the animals and giving them plenty of fresh air and sunlight

When the digestive organs cease to do their natural duty the calf is subject to diarrhoea or scours, which at this stage is not infectious but later on the germs may propogate and multiply, causing the animal to become afflicted with an infectious disease, which is commonly called scours in calves but properly called Calf Cholera

Calf Cholera differs from diarrhoea in the full grown animal, taking the form of an infectious, intestinal catarrah which is of a far more serious nature than diarrhoea, usually appearing suddenly in young calves and in many instances causing death.

Owing to the fact that this a germ disease, it is very important that the calf has none of the germs in its system before it is born and for this reason proper care and attention should be given the mother while she is pregnant.

When an animal is afflicted with the germs of this disease the rest of the herd should be protected against the same by moving the healthy animals into new quarters and carefully disinfecting the stables wherein they were housed and giving each animal a laxitave to rid the bowels of the irritating contents, after which it should be given calf cholera medicine. The roots of tail, and hind quarters should be thoroughly washed with a disinfectant.

Brings Suit Against Steenerson.

Postmaster Eli Steenerson of Crookston has been made defendant in a suit for $10,000 instituted by Sever Peterson, a former rurtl mail carrier out of Crookston.

The plaintiff alleges that he was dismissed from the postal service, Dec. 11 last, and that it was due to allege false reports regarding his conduct sent to Washington by the defendant. Steenerson, so far, has declined to make a statement of his position. The plaintiff Peterson claims that Postmaster Steenerson has practically demanded servile obeisance from him since he was named as postmaster and some of the other charges it is alleged will create a sensation when the case comes up for trial at the June term of the district court at Crookston. Postmaster Steenerson is a brother of Congressman Halvor Steenersen.

Basket Social.

There will be a Basket Sosial given at Fred Anderson's place two milles north west of town next Wednesday evening. The proceeds of the social will be used for the benifit of Rev. Palm who sustained the loss of all his property by fire at St. Hilaire a short time ago. There will be plenty of rigs so all who care to, can go. A cordial invation is extended to all and everybody should plan to attend.

Asks Aid in Taking Census.

George Welch, commissioner of immigration, is is sending circular letters to the cemmerical clubs, agricultural societies and farmers' clubs urging them to assist the census supervisors in obtaining complete statistics of farm yields. The immigration authorities of Minnesota, he explains, have been hampered in preparing advertising matter to promote the welfare of the state by lack of authentic statistics of the crops. Sometimes the census officials are suspected of being assessors or that their figures will form the basis of assessments and the farmer becomes too conservative.

The census reports are valuable for comparison with the crop yields in other states, and Minnesota can make a fine showing if correct information is obtained.

Masquerade Ball.

There will be a Grand Masquerade Ball given in Carlson Hall at Plummer January 22nd. The best of music has been secured and a record crowd is expected. Supper will be served at Hotel Plummer. Admission to masquerade or those desirering to dance will be $1.00, Spectators 25 cents. Those not masked will not be allowed on the floor until the dancers have unmasked.

Would Remove Two County Officials.

Public Examiner Charges Commissioner and Auditor with Malfeasance.

STEP IN COUNTY SEAT FIGHT

Officers Illegally Paid Money for New Courthouse From Wrong Fund So It's Alleged.

The Red Lake county seat fight broke out in a new spot to-day when Public Examiner Anton Schaefer preferred charges of malfeasance in office against C. A. Lindquist and A. A. Latendresse, commissioner and auditor, respectively, of Red Lake county.

The charges were filed with Gov. A. O. Eberhart, and immediately on their receipt the executive named Peter Matson of Ada to take testimony. Mr. Matson is a former law partner of J. O. Preus, the executive clerk.

The charges made against Lindquist, who is chairman of the board of county commissioners, is that he put and declared carried a motion transferring $35.000 from the county ditch fund to the county revenue fund, and that he approved the payment from the same fund of money for the purchase of a site for a new court house. The law says the full board shall concur in such actions, and Mr. Schaefer declares that only three commissioners voted in the affirmative.

The charge against the county auditor is that he made record of three illegal acts and gave sanction to them to the extent of making the transfer complained of and also paid the warrants authorized by the board.

The fight for the county seat, between Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls, has been on for years. The supreme court recently, in a decision, settled a point in dispute in favor of Red Lake Falls. The fight has been a bitter one and administration after administration has sidestepped it.—St. Paul Dispatch.

The directors and officers of the Red Lrke County Agricultural association held their annual meeting at Thief River Falls last week, and the business of the society for the year 1909 was closed, and steps were taken to inaugurate the coutny exhibition of 1910. It was decided to hold the fair for this year on August 5th to 7th

Joe Wahwun' who lives out near White Earth Lake, was in great luck the first of the week when he shot a silver-grey fox. He brought the fur to Detroit and sold it to Davis, the fur man for the neat sum of $450. The silver-gray fox is a rarity and Joe is to be congratulated upon his good fortune. —Wauban Fortm.

Grand Forks and Thief River Falls intend to combine for the purpose of futhering the campaign that has been put under way for the securing of larger appropriations for the goverment work in the Red and Red Lake rivers Both cities have the same end in view that of bettering their rivers far navigation purposes, and it is belived that if they get together their efforts will have more weight with the officials of the war department with whom rests to a great extent the disposition of the matter.

The man with the flying machine may be no more a wonder at the close of the present decade than the man with the horseless carriage was at the end of the last.

With flax selling at $1.99 per bushel it is almost enough to make even a dub printer wish that he were a farmer. Every farmer should certainly make some effort to take advantage of the present high prices of farm produce in every line.

Now Pinchot has declared that Secretary of the Interior Ballinger is altogether blameless in the late controversy and the blame is all laid at the door of L. R. Davis and considering the language he uses one would think that he is possibly looking for more trouble.

Of all persons we meet, we like the rustler the best, and we can readily forgive the few errors in his politics or religion, for he rustles. He encourages and enthuses and hurries along the slowgoing. Industrial prosperity follows in his trail and mental development is his. He goes from strength to strength He is the salt of the earth.

Now it would seem that with the supreme court deciding in favor of Red Lake Falls and with the executive department going after the chairman of the board of county commissioners and the county auditor there will be some real fun in the county seat war. Last week Red Lake Falls seemed to think that the war was over, now they may soon realize that it has just begun in earnest.

Before you become a kicker, consider if you cannot become something better. One thing is certain; if you can do nothing good for a community you can make a great deal of trouble by abusing those who do. Agitate your liver, take a dose of ground glass and remove the bile, cleanse your conscience, cultivate faith in your fellow men then go to work to help somebody. But don't be a kicker.

Senator Nelson, though he is one of the old men in the senior body of United States' law-makers, is yet one with an active and creative brain. His last idea of importance he has formulated into a bill which he has introduced into congress and which if it becomes a law will do away with considerable of the timber and land grabbing as well as of the cornering of waterpowers and coal fields. This is certainly the right move, let it go on.

People who have warm friends are healthier and happier than those who have none. A single real friend is a treasure worth more than gold or precious stones. Money can buy many things, good and evil. All the wealth of the world could not buy a friend, or pay you for the loss of one, and we are the weakest and worst of spendthrifts if we let a friend drop off through Inattention, or let one push away another, or if we hold aloof from one for petty jealousy or needless slight. One good friend is not to be weighed against all the jewels of earth.

We had occassion to attend some business matters in Red Lake Falls the first of the week and while there watched and overheard many of the pretty political manouvers of the political bunch at the county seat. Well some of them realimagine that they are "great big toads in the puddle and the only possible reason that we can see for their feeling so is the fact that the puddle is so small. We can really see no other reason for anyone's feeling big under the circumstances. Of course the boast of their going to build a court house and a few other things but every time that we visit the city we miss some of the landmarks that were there before we saw the place and if our estimate of its size is good we would say that the puddle is continually growing smaller.—Thief River Press.

The Success Of Failure.

By Dr. Madison C. Peters.

As there is success which is failure, so there is a failure which is success. Was Columbus a failure because he was neglected and starved? Did Cromwell fail, though his bleached bones were buried among the outcasts? Was Mozark a failure because he died penniless and sleeps in an unknown grave? Was Milton a failure because he sat in his blindness and because of his poverty was obliged to take $50 for his immortal epic? There is no failure for the good and wise. No man fails who lives for the glory of God and the betterment of man. No man can call his life a success who has not felt, and acted accordingly, that his life belongs to the race, and that which God has given him, He gave for the good of all.

A distinguished writer has recently said: "The great problem which the present century will have to take in hand seriously and finally solve is this: Are rich men likely to be of any social use, or will it be better to abolish the institution?"

If we believe in Darwinism it will not be hard to trace the pedigree of those who spend millions on the costliest food, finest clothes, most expensive jewelry, palatial mansions fastest horses, and rarest wines and then leave millions more than is safe or just to their children, while millions of the poor are shivering in the cold, perishing with hunger, having not a burial place—millions suffering in ignorance and sin, all over the world, for the lack of that very money.

Money-making is not the highest success. The soul coined into dollars is one in which every holy emotion is strangled and every noble aspiration stifled. I do not wonder we have so many dishonest bankrupts, fraudulent clerks, defaulting cashiers and absconding partners; the wonder is that there are so few when even good men regard poverty as a crime. We seem to have no standard to measure men except by the length of their purses.

Success in public life, especially in politics, is often purchased at a dear cost—the loss of manhood, utter subservience to veniality and corruption. It is purchased even in church life, too, by a compromise with evil.

Then there is a success in society—how is it gained? Often by the loss of all that makes life really worth living, but in most cases it is solely measured by the gold standard, and virtue, honor and truth and all that adorns character and elevates the species, are left out of consideration.

If a woman has the means to wear an extra string of pearls or a tiara of diamonds, she is voted a queen of society; thousands fawn upon her and her doings are chronicled in the fashionable journals; if a man has just sense enough to make a fool of himself by fads and fancies, by putting on airs and aping the dress and manners of an effete royalty, he is hailed as a king of society; but are such a vain queen and such a foolish king a success?

What is this so-called society? Compared with the whole, it is made up of a few silly headed individuals who have been born with golden spoons in their mouths, or to whom fate or chance has given some windfall in the shape of money. Neither brains nor merit, only a golden key can open its portals. Its members, however, are merely the parasites of humanity—they suck the blood and give nothing in return.

Thank God society is exclusive, that there are only "400" drones to waste the honey made by the working bees; if there were more, they would destroy all the honey and the world would die of starvation, yet it is into this "society" that many of our millionaires are trying to enter in order to attract attention to themselves and squander their money, or rather other people's money, on foolishness and frivolity, and very often, sin. If money cannot be made to serve a more useful end, can the life that has been spent in accumulating it be called a success?

Capital is not what a man has, but what a man is. Character is capitrl. The value of character is the standard of human progress. Wherever character is made a secondary object, sensualism will prevail. He who lives for anything less than character is not worthy of being called a man. Better be a man than merely a millionaire.

Win success bravely, but do not exaggerate its worth. Seek wealth, not as a means for the larger gratification of your lower instincts, but, maintaining the supremacy of your noblest nature, seek riches that you may thereby make the world better and happier and thus make your "life, death and that vast forever, one grand sweet song."

Rabies in Cattle.

By Dr. David Roberts
Wisconsin State Veterinarian, 1908-7-8.

Rabies is a germ disease, usually attacking dogs but all warm blooded animals, including man, are susceptible to the malady, which is always communicated through bites from a preceding case.

The disease first manifests itself in cattles by a loss of appetite, a rumination and sopping of the secretion of milk, great restlessness, anxiety, manifestation of fear, in fact the entire disposition of the animal is changed.

This stage is followed in a day or two by the stage of excitement and madness which is indicated by increased restlessness, bellowing in a peculiar manner, owing to the partial paralysis of the throat, violent bunting, pawing the ground, and a great tendency to attack other animals, although the desire is not so marked in cattle as in other animals.

A constant symptom is the increased secretion of saliva or froth at the mouth. Constipation is usually present, owing to a partial paralysis of the bowels and there is a continual desire to defecate but the animal is usually unable owing to the paralysis mentioned.

If an animal is permitted to live, about the fourth day it becomes more quiet. They get stiff, unsteady and swaying gait, owing to the general partial paralysis of the body. The loss of flesh is extremely noticeable owing to the fact that the animal does not eat or drink to speak of. This is due to an inability to swallow. If the disease is permitted to run its course, the animal usually dies from the fourth to the sixth day and as there is no treatment which can successfully control this disease, it is advisable to distroy the animal in the early stages of the disease, but it is exceedingly important to be positive that it is rabies as some of these symptoms may appear in other ailments such as lead poisoning.

School Management.

The most powerful agency in school management is kindness. There is no force on earth so potent as love. When it has possession of the human heart it is all prevading and overpowering, and especially if brought to bear upon sympathetic childhood and youth. The teacher must rule by kindness, have a uniformity of good will, earnest sympathy, and hearty generosity habitually exercised toward his pupils. The teacher alone who loves his pupils has power to gain their love and confidence, which should be their chief reliance in school management. An affectionate pupil will confide in a teacher's judgement, respect his authority and fear his displeasure. If you show him by your personal attention and kindness that you are his true friend, and that all your efforts are designed to secure his best good, and make him believe it, you hold him as by the power of enchantment, having no need of physical force to keep him in subjection. He is held by another and higher law, which induces him to gratify your wishes and seek the best good of the school. But this kindness, which is an essential element in every true system of government, is not, and cannot be, a substitute for authority or an obstacle to severity, when the good of the individual or school demands it. The teacher must cherish an abiding love for his pupils, and that love is never more truly exercised than in the infliction of necessary punishment in the management of public affairs.

Our Town.

Patronize home where your interests are and help maintain and support these interests—your interests, your neighbor's interests. Get that selfishness out of your heart that is envious of every success; that wants to pull down every interest that seems to reach beyond yours, and is in reality an advantage to it and the town. Neither imagine when a few shekels accumulate in your wallet you must necessarily go out of town to spend it, thinking it would never do to distribute a little cash to your home merchants' since you can stand them off for six months or a year. Mistaken idea. They'll appreciate the cash and give you just as good bargains as any merchant in neighboring town or city that may get your cash. Encourage home dealers and manufacturers in everything, not only by your patronage but by words of encouragement and commendation. This is the way to build up a town and make business lively; and be sure you patronize your home paper when you see it stands by your interests, lauds every ligitimate enterprise, and wafts to the world doings, transactions, picturing advantages, holding out inducements, and in a thousand ways building up your interests. If it deserves not your hearty and liberal support, pray, what does? Don't keep it down then floundering for an existence and gasping for breath. It is a mighty poor rule that won't work both ways. Stand by your town and support all its interests.

What the harvest will be will depend mainly on what we plant and sow.

A happy home is within the reach of every family if they only choose to make it so.

Interesting pictures should adorn the walls of every home; they are loop holes of escape to the soul, leading to other scenes; they are books, histories and sermons that may be read without turning leaves.

"Love is not easily provoked." What a panacea for every irritation of home life. How it wards off those hasty impulses and prevents the escape of harsh rebuke. How it bends low the heart until the steam passes, and then how much brighter is the sun's glow when the mist has cleared away, Let this love illuminate your home and you will behold in it the counterpart of heaven."

BURIED UNDER FALLING WALL

Four Firemen Killed While Fighting Blaze at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Jan. 4.—Fire in the local plant of the American Bridge company caused the death of four firemen, who were buried under a falling wall, and a financial loss of about $250,000. The firemen who were killed were:

John J. Hennessey, captain engine company No. 4; skull crushed.

Dominic O'Connell, lieutenant truck No. 4; skull fractured.

William Foley, truckman, engine No 4; skull fractured.

Joseph Sullivan, truckman.

The engine company which suffered all the casualties was first to arrive and took its station under the main wall of the factory, a long two-story brick structure. Without warning, the wall tottered and fell upon the men and it was thought by the spectators that all of the members of the company met death.

Two bodies of injured men were soon recovered, Foley and Sullivan and then came Captain Hennessey and Lieutenant O'Donnell. Hennessey and O'Donnell were dead when found, but Foley and Sullivan lived for nearly two hours.

Her Cab.

Mary Ann of Lancaster Gate, basement, was having a week off and had arrived back at her little native village in all her metropolitan paint and feathers.

It was a very little native village, and Mary Ann, after her many months' service in town, didn't think so very much of it. Even James, the station porter and her old sweetheart, seemed hopelessly insignificant, and instead of staggering him with the kiss that he expected she looked him up and down, comparing him with a certain gentleman whose acquaintance she had recently made and who wore plush breeches and silk stockings.

"Porter," she said grandly, "do you know if there is a cab here to convey me and my luggage home?"

"Well, I don't know about a cab," responded the staggered yokel, "but there's yer mother outside wi' a barrer!"—London Scraps.

A Strong Prescription.

Menelik, emperor of Abyssinia, often dabbled in medicine. Some years ago Mme. Stevenin, the wife of a prominent member of the French colony at Addis Abeba, was laid up with fever. Menelik inquired what treatment she was undergoing and expressed disapproval when he learned that she was being dosed with quinine. The following day a messenger called with a large pot of very rancid butter, accompanied by a letter from one of the emperor's secretaries stating that his royal master hoped that madame would take three glasses daily of the butter sent, which had been stored for two years and would be found an infallible remedy. The present was gratefully acknowledged and promptly buried, and when madame recovered Menelik took to himself the credit of her cure.

Effects of Drugs.

Persons employed in india rubber factories sometimes inhale bisulphide of carbon and suffer from frightful dreams of being murdered or of falling over precipices. Opium stimulates imagination; alcohol in excess excites dread and suspicion; hasheesh, from which the word assassin was derived, produces homicidal mania. These drugs have a distinct effect upon the moral sense. Sometimes, as from alcohol, a coarse and stupid brutality is stimulated, or, as from morphia, a gloomy and morose temper, or, as from cocaine, while the manner remains gentle, the victim develops thieving and lying habits.

Blind Justice.

We meet our philosophical friend and observe that he is smiling contentedly.

"What has gone wrong now?" we ask.

"Nothing has gone wrong," he explains. "Something went right. Spriggans owed Hennett $10,000 and put his property in his wife's name so that Hennett couldn't collect."

"But that isn't anything unusual."

"And last night Mrs. Spriggans eloped with Hennett!"—Life.

Uncertainty.

"I am always horribly nervous when I buy a suit of clothes from a strange tailor."

"Yes; a person you don't know is hard to stand off."—Houston Post.

A Modest Judge.

A certain prominent English jurist was transferred from the chancery court to the admiralty court rather unexpectedly. While conversant with English law to a surprising degree, this gentleman had spent little time in marine law and was rather dubious as to his ability to cope with the duties of his new office. His colleagues, in recognition of the occasion, gave him a dinner, after which he was called upon for an address. He made a long and serious speech, which embraced about everything from free trade to England's foreign policy. Then, pausing a moment, he glanced round the crowded room and said:

"Gentlemen, in closing I can think of no better words than the lines of Tennyson:

"And may there be no moaning of the bar
When I put out to sea."

BY PASS FRAUDS

Northwestern Roads Mulcted of Big Sums Annually.

SCHEME WAS EASILY WORKED

Employment Agents Alleged to Be Leaders in Plot.

St. Paul, Dec. 31.—That nearly every railroad running through the Northwestern states has suffered from frauds perpetrated by the employment agents to the same extent as the Great Northern is the belief of those interested in the investigations being conducted under the personal direction of President L. W. Hill of the latter road. Special Agent Al Ray has discovered that office collusion on the part of a Great Northern employe made the plots of the labor agents easy to carry out on that road, but it is understood that the other companies have suffered to a great extent for lack of investigation.

Estimates of the amount of money said to have been lost to the Northwestern railroads through the manipulations of certain employment agents in all parts of the country run as high as $500,000 annually. The past three or four years have seen much new railroad construction in the Dakotas, Montana, Idaho and Washington. In addition to the new work several million dollars have been spent by the companies in improving the track beds, laying new rails, straightening curves and other similar work. The demand for laborers has exceeded the supply at all times and every applicant who appeared at a local employment office was given transportation to some point in the Northwest.

Wholesale arrests along the line of the Great Northern as far west as Spokane are expected. False pretenses and violations of the federal anti-pass laws will be the charges laid.

Plan of Employment Agents.

The plan under which the employment agents are said to have worked was to secure a contract with the railroad companies by which the agent agrees to furnish so many laborers, usually for track work, which requires only common labor. The agent does not have to make an examination of the man; anybody will do to work on a railroad grade. That makes it easy for him to accept any person who enters the office.

A man who desires to go to Montana for any reason can go to the employment agent and tell his troubles. The nearest railroad work is selected and the man is ostensibly hired to work for the company at that place. He is given a pass by the agent, which takes him to the point designated. After he arrives there he forgets to appear at the railroad office and goes to the point for which he started. All he paid for his trip was the office fee of the employment agent, which varied with the applicant.

The roads which are the principal sufferers in the Northwest are the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Soo and the St. Paul. Each of these lines enters the grain fields of Western Minnesota and the Dakotas. The farm laborers annually imported to harvest the crops are hauled by the railroads and it is estimated that less than 10 per cent of the laborers pay even the reduced rate put into effect by the transportation companies.

MAY SOON GO TO BELGIUM

Zelaya Not Likely to Linger Long in Mexico.

City of Mexico, Dec. 30.—"I am president of Nicaragua," said Jose Santos Zelaya, who arrived here after turning the government of Nicaragua over to Dr. Madriz and fleeing from Nicaragua. "I turned the government over to Madriz, as the constitution provides. Madriz is only an ad interim official."

Zelaya was frank in his statements about the attitude toward his country of Mexico and the United States, but complained he had been misjudged in interviews sent out while he was on his way to Mexico City from Salina Cruz. "I will not be held a prisoner by Mexico," he continued. "I am free to come and go as I please." He did not say where he would go, although it is generally believed his stay in Mexico will be short and he will go to Belgium in a few weeks. Several members of his family are already there.

THREE PERISH IN WRECK

More Than Two Score Others Sustain Injuries

Trenton, Mo., Jan. 1.—Three people, two of whom are women, were killed and at least forty-three injured when the Rock Island passenger train No. 3, the "California Special," was wrecked two miles north of here.

The cause of the wreck is not known. The engine suddenly jumped the track, and, plowing through the roadbed, landed upside down.

When the chair car, the tourist and the first of the Pullman sleepers reached a point opposite the disabled engine they left the track and piled up. The cars at once caught fire from the engine. The second standard sleeper and the observation car were practically undamaged.

VOTE AGAINST THE SWITCHMEN

Smeltermen Want Shipping of Ore Resumed.

TO FILL PLACES OF STRIKERS

Montana Organization Will Take Steps Looking to the Resumption of Work at the Smelters and Mines—May Also Furnish Guards to Enable the Strikebreakers to Work.

Great Falls, Mont., Jan. 4.—The Great Falls smeltermen voted upon and carried by 582 to 37 a referendum measure in the nature of a resolution that developed following the conference in Butte between miners and smeltermen of Butte, Great Falls and Anaconda. This action is taken to mean that the organizations will take steps to fill the places of the striking switchmen and allow resumption of work at the mines and smelters.

The resolution declared that the switching of ore and other smelter supplies can and should be immediately resumed to the ultimate benefit of all the labor organizations concerned.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 4.—Because of the decision of the Butte Miners' union to lay on the table a report of a conference committee of the Western Federation of Miners which favored ending the strike of the Great Northern switchmen at Great Falls, as the result of which the Boston and Montana smelter at that place and that company's mines in Butte have been forced to suspend, an order was issued by the Amalgamated Copper company ordering all Amalgamated mines in Butte to close. The order was withdrawn upon request from the smeltermen at Great Falls to delay the suspension of the mines, because of the fact that the smeltermen would take a vote upon ending the strike of the switchmen.

The scheme of the conference committee was for the Great Falls smeltermen to furnish guards to enable the strikebreakers to work. Great Falls is the only point in the Northwest where the striking switchmen control the situation, as the result of which 4,000 men employed in the Boston and Montana properties in Great Falls and Butte are idle.

The Boston and Montana company is a subsidiary of the Amalgamated Copper company and its mines and smelters were closed about five weeks ago by the switchmen's strike.

NOW A CLOSED INCIDENT

Railroad Manager So Refers to Strike in the Northwest.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—Officials of the Chicago railroads stated that a conclusion in the negotiations with the switchmen regarding a wage increase will not be reached until the latter part of the week.

Another conference was held, the railway officials continuing the presentation of their side of the case. O. L. Dickson, spokesman of the railroad general managers, declared that "so far as the Northwestern railroads are concerned the strike is a closed incident."

Four hundred nonunion switchmen have been sent to the Northwest during the past few days, he declares, adding that the places of practically all the strikers have been filled.

The double holiday enabled the affected roads to "catch up" and traffic is now moving as rapidly as ever, Dickson said.

TOWNS ARE SHORT OF COAL

Supply Will Not Last More Than a Week.

Mitchell, S. D., Jan. 4.—The country west of Mitchell is short of coal. At Plankinton, Mount Vernon, Oacoma, Vivian, Presho and Draper there is not coal to last more than a week and it is being given out in small quantities

Mitchell dealers have from 75 to 100 cars of coal each on the way from the East, but can receive no assurance from the railroads when it can be delivered.

The fuel situation in Mitchell is embarrassing the electric light plant, which has been short of coal for three weeks and has to depend upon the local supply. This has run short and the company has been forced to shut down on the day service to save its fuel for furnishing lights at night. The company has seven cars on the way, but in three weeks they have been moved only fifty miles by the railroads.

Situation Unchanged.

St. Paul, Jan. 4.—General Manager J. M. Gruber of the Great Northern said that he had not heard anything from any government official at Washington regarding the switchmen's strike and the situation continued the same, as far as the railroads were concerned.

Fake Race Promoter Sentenced.

Denver, Jan. 4.—Ernest L. Powers, the former Denver university student, who was found guilty recently of defrauding a Denver man out of $13,700 through a "fake" foot race at Council Bluffs, Ia., was sentenced to from two to seven years in the penitentiary.

MRS. TRIPP'S CHINA TEA SET.

How It Brought Discord Among Rival Inheritants.

By FRANK H. SWEET.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

When good old Mr. and Mrs. Tripp died within a week of each other there was, I regret to say, an immediate disagreement among their heirs over the small property left by the old people.

Such disagreements are so shamefully common now that this one might not have excited any particular interest had it not been for the somewhat peculiar nature of the article over which the cupidity of the various heirs had asserted itself.

Few indeed were the possessions Mr. and Mrs. Tripp left behind them. They did not own even the humble little brown house in which they had lived for the past ten years, and when their funeral expenses had been paid there was not a dollar left of the sum found in an old pewter teapot on the top shelf of the red cupboard in the kitchen. Frugal as they had been, it was evident that this sum represented the sum total of their savings of many years

But Mr. and Mrs. Tripp had not always been so poor as they were at the last, and there was one of Mrs. Tripp's possessions which she had always exhibited with pride as a relic of her better days and as undeniable proof of the fact that there had been a time when she "had had a-plenty."

Over this her relatives now disputed. What was it? Only a white china tea set, each piece of which had a broad gold band around the rim.

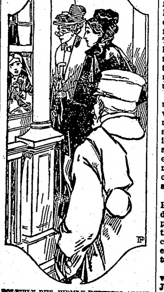
"It's pure chany," Mrs. Tripp would often say, with a thrill of pride, as she held a saucer or a plate before the eyes of her visitors. "See how thin it is. You kin look right through it. Solomon give it to me on our tenth wedding day. He was in the grocery business then an' doin' well, an' he'd gone to New York to buy goods, an' when he come home he brung this, all packed so carefully in straw that they wa'n't a piece broke, but one of the sass dishes was cracked a little, an' I never used it none, so it ain't never broke either. I think the world an' all of my chany."

The dearly prized "chany" had for years graced an old fashioned whatnot in a corner of Mrs. Tripp's best room. There was nothing else on the whatnot but two big "chany" dogs, one a reddish brown and the other a dark blue, which looked as though they felt themselves responsible for the safety of the dishes and intended being faithful to their trust.

Mr. and Mrs. Tripp had no children, but they had some relatives—cousins and second cousins and more remote connections. These relatives were numerous, however. Just how numerous they were was made manifest when it came to dividing the few personal belongings of the old people.

The "heirs" met at the house on their way home from the funeral. Hardly were they assembled when Nancy Johnson, own cousin to Mrs. Tripp, said:

"Of course you all know that my father an' Betty Tripp's mother was own brother an' sister, an' that made me an' Betty own cousins. So it seems only fair that I should at least have my choice of her things, speshly when I might claim 'em all. But I ain't one to act selfish, an' I'm willin' you should all have your sheer of what's left after I've packed up Betty's chany tea set an'"—



POLITELY BUT FIRMLY REFUSING ADMITTANCE.

"I knowed that was what you was goin' to say," interrupted Mrs. Cephas King, "an' I can tell you that Solomon Tripp was my own cousin, an' the tea things was as much his as they was Betty's, an' I've as much right to 'em as you have!"

A thin, sharp voice came from a corner of the room.

"Betty Tripp told me ag'in an' ag'in," it said, "that she wanted me to have them dishes when she was done with 'em. She said"—

"She told me the same thing," interposed Mrs. Cyrus Masterson, who was only a third cousin.

"I took more care of her endurin' her last sickness than anybody else!" interrupted Second Cousin Beulah Hovey, "an' one day we was talkin' 'bout the chany, an' Betty says, says she, 'Beulah,' says she, ''bout that chany tea set,' says she, 'I'd as leave you had it as any one an' a little leaver.'"

"Them's the very words she said to my wife," put in Mr. Ezra Simmons, a little old man with a feminine face and voice. "An' Betty was a own cousin of mine."

"An' of mine!" said a tall woman in rusty black near the whatnot on which the coveted china stood.

So the strife continued until there was no possibility of an amicable adjustment of the claims of the various claimants. They finally left the house and the china in possession of Miss Selina Sharpe, a lady of about fifty years, who, although an own cousin of Mr. Tripp, had put forward no claim to the china, declaring that she had no wish to claim it.

"But there's one thing certain," said Miss Sharpe as she closed the door behind the last of the "heirs," "there shan't one of 'em step their foot into this house again to touch the chany or anything else until it's settled by law who has a right to 'em. I've rented the house myself of its owner, an' I won't have my doors darkened by any of them."

Miss Sharpe adhered to this resolution, politely but firmly refusing admittance to several of the claimants who called during the following week "to talk it over" with her and possibly to carry the china home in triumph.

Besides the china, there was nothing among Mr. and Mrs. Tripp's few poor belongings that the relatives coveted, all of the furniture of any value having been sold or given in payment of a few bills that came in after the funeral.

Accordingly Miss Sharpe was soon left in undisturbed possession of what was left, and the china, guarded by the faithful dogs, still rested on the old walnut whatnot three weeks after the old couple to whom it had given pleasure had been laid away in the little cemetery behind the village church.

Mrs. Cephas King and Nancy Johnson had been next door neighbors and very warm friends up to the time the dispute over the china arose, but now, alas, they scornfully passed by without a word or smile of recognition when they met, and the King children were forbidden to have anything at all to do with the Johnson children.

Mrs. Cyrus Masterson lived directly across the street from Beulah Hovey, and so frequent had been the friendly, pleasant little calls the ladies had made upon each other that a smoothly worn path led from one house to the other. Now all was changed. The path was wholly disused, and Mrs. Masterson carefully gathered up her skirts when she met Mrs. Hovey on the street lest they should suffer contamination by coming into contact with those of her once beloved neighbor.

Mrs. Ezra Simmons returned a certain basque pattern she had borrowed of Selina Sharpe with a note stating that "in consequence of the course you have seen fit to pursoo in relations to my husband's own dear dead cuzzen's chiny tea things, which now rightfully belongs to me, I return the inclosed bask pattern an' would thank you for my cup cake reseet an' my polynay pattern, not desiring that anything of yours should remain in my possession, an' visa versy, an' that we do not speak to each other from this date."

So it was that there were discord and enmity where there had once been peace and harmony. Not one of the contending claimants condescended to speak to any of her rivals to the inheritance.

A month had passed and the bad feeling was at its height when Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Simmons one evening concluded to spend an hour with their friends Mr. and Mrs. Deacon Drewe. The deacon and his wife were not at home when Mr. and Mrs. Simmons arrived, but Sally, the maidservant, said that she was expecting them every moment and invited the callers to wait until their return.

They had waited in the parlor a few moments when the bell rang and Sally was heard to tell other callers that her master and mistress would be in very soon and to invite them also to come in and wait. Directly afterward Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Masterson were ushered in. Seeing the Simmonses, the newcomers haughtily withdrew to a corner of the parlor and sat down in silence.

A third ring of the bell and Mrs. Beulah Hovey appeared at the parlor door. She gave the previous occupants of the parlor a stony stare and then went to sit stiffly erect in the center of a sofa, where she seemed engaged in studying intently the pattern of the paper on the wall.

Perfect silence ensued for a moment when the bell again rang and Nancy Johnson's voice was heard at the door. When Mr. and Mrs. Drewe followed all these callers into the parlor, strange as it may seem, they had with them Mrs. Cephas King, who was too courageous a woman to be in the least daunted by what she beheld. She calmly seated herself in a comfortable rocking chair and composedly returned Mrs. Nancy Johnson's stare.

While Mr. and Mrs. Drewe were vainly endeavoring to start a general conversation the village fire bell rang for the first time in many months. The fire company consisted of those who could be first in getting to a small room in the rear of the postoffice, where there were six fire extinguishers and a hand reel and hose.

The entire population of the village was in the street in less than five minutes after the first sounding of the bell, and it was soon known that the fire was in the little brown house lately occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Tripp, but now in the possession of Miss Selina Sharpe.

The first comers found the present tenant of the cottage flying wildly around, throwing her few belongings into the street and screaming "Fire!" at the top of her voice.

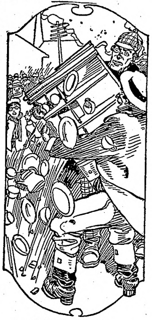
When the occupants of Mr. Drewe's parlor reached the cottage they found the roof in flames and smoke pouring from the windows, while the fire company was still in the distance.

"Has my chany been got out yet?" shrieked Nancy Johnson.

"Your chany?" said Cyrilla Mills, who was only a fourth cousin.

"I'd say 'my chany,'" said Beulah Hovey.

"It won't be anybody's if it ain't got out o' there right off!" shrieked Ezra Simmons.



DOWN WITH A CRASH.

At that instant the men appeared in the smoking doorway trying to balance the whatnot and its contents between them. The blue dog toppled over and fell to pieces on the stone step as they reached the door. The brown one threatened to do the same, and the cups and other dishes were swaying unsteadily from side to side.

"Be careful of my dishes!" cried Mrs. Mills.

"Your—oh!"

"Oh!"

"O-o-o-h!"

"If that ain't too bad!"

One of the men had stepped off the little porch sooner than the other, thus tilting the whatnot forward and sending every piece of the cherished china down with a crash on the brick walk before the door.

The several heirs looked at each other in silence for a moment. Then Beulah Hovey suddenly cried out, with a hysterical little laugh, "Well, what geese we be!"

"So we air, Beuly—so we air!" acquiesced Ezra Simmons. "I'd never have made any fuss about the old chany only for Emmeline making me do it."

This frank confession of the ascendency of Mrs. Simmons created a laugh, in which every one joined.

There were several waggish fellows in the crowd who turned the occasion into one of such merriment that even grim Mrs. Johnson was found chuckling half aloud, while Thyrza Masterson and Mrs. Simmons, being at heart good natured and keenly susceptible to even poor wit, laughed louder than any one else and walked home together side by side in the most amicable manner. That was the end of all ill feeling over the china as well as the end of the china itself.

An Australian Blowhole.

A great natural curiosity is the "blowhole" on the Australian coast near Klama, in the colony of New South Wales. It may be found in the middle of a rocky headland running out into the sea. With each successive breaker the ocean spray is sent shooting up into the air, sometimes from 300 to 400 feet, accompanied by a rumbling noise as of distant thunder, which can be heard for miles. This "blowhole" consists of a perpendicular cavity, nearly circular, with a diameter of about ten yards, and has the appearance of being a crater of an extinct volcano. It is connected with the ocean by a cave about a hundred yards in length. Into this cave waves rush during stormy weather, and as the cave extends some distance farther into the rock than the "blowhole" on the entrance of each wave this hole becomes full of compressed air, which, when the tension becomes too great, blows the water with great force up the perpendicular opening.—London Standard.

The Giraffe's Timidity.

A giraffe is very timid on hearing slight sounds, but is indifferent to loud ones. A writer in the Leisure Hour says: "Noisy sounds, like a man walking by with hobnail boots, it does not notice, but a lady coming in with hardly more sound than the rustling of her dress makes it start, with pricked ears and eyes distended. We remember well, after a terrible explosion of gunpowder on a barge on the canal, asking the keeper of the giraffes of that day how they had taken it, and he said he was surprised how very little notice they took. They jumped to their feet, but almost at once lay down again when they found nothing happened. "But," he added, "if I were at nighttime to creep along that gallery in my socks they would be so scared that I believe they would dash themselves to bits. They fear the lurking foe."

Peculiar Optical Effects.

If one places a pinhead up close to the eye and directly in front of it the head of the pin appears transparent and things may be seen as easily through it as through a sheet of isinglass, the head appearing simply as a large round cloud. If it is placed somewhat closer no pin or head can be seen at all.

If one goes into a very dark room and puts a lighted candle near the side of one eye very pretty and peculiar effects are observed. A tracery, forming a regular network, can be easily detected, and this is merely the shadow thrown by the candle on the retina of the eye of the small capillary blood vessels between the retina and the candle.

If one looks to the side of a dim star in the heavens the star appears a great deal brighter than direct vision makes it appear. This is because the light in the indirect view falls on what is known as the "yellow spot" or point of keenest vision. As this is not put directly behind the front of the eye the side glance is necessary. Some people can see stars that way that they cannot perceive at all on direct vision.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Sacred Bath.

The number of queer things the various peoples do in the name of religion are legion, but no sight is more odd than that which may be witnessed on Badrinath, a peak of the Himalayan range in northwestern India. The peak looms 22,901 feet above the sea, and at an altitude of 10,400 feet there is built a shrine of Vishnu overhanging a great tank fed by water from the sacred thermal spring. Annually about 15,000 pilgrims climb the weary path to the shrine, and every twelfth year, when the Kumbh Melah is celebrated, the number increases to at least 50,000. Arriving at the shrine, the pilgrims adore the great idol, liberally fee the Brahman priests and bathe in the sacred tank. This latter performance is slightly startling, as men and women, absolutely nude, plunge into the water with cries of joy until the entire tank is a seething mass of humanity, resembling very much the familiar "wiggletails" of an infrequently emptied rain barrel.—New York Times.

Latest Developments of the Switchmen's Strike.

PERHAM VISITS WASHINGTON

Fails to Induce Federal Mediators to Interfere.

St. Paul, Jan. 3.—Chairman H. B Perham of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor is quoted in a dispatch from Washington as saying:

"The only developments in the situation are the increased likelihood of a further spread of the strike and the rapidly growing desire of the people of St. Paul and Minneapolis to see the thing ended.

"Yet, I am hopeful of an amicable settlement. Of course, my actions are dictated entirely by the minds of the switchmen. I am all for peace now, but in a few days I may be fighting for all that is in me.

"There does not seem any probability of the matter being taken directly to the president."

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was in conference with Chairman Perham over developments in the switchmen's strike. This was announced in a telegram received from Mr. Perham by President Hawley of the Switchmen's union.

The formal conference between Chairman Perham and Mediators Neill and Knapp looking to a reopening of arbitration with the railroad officials has not been concluded.

A dispatch from Washington indicates that at least one of the parties in the conference believes there is no likelihood of the affiliated bodies in the Federation of Labor going out on strike. When this statement was read to President Hawley he said:

"If any one believes that it must be either Mr. Neill or Mr. Knapp and the opinion of either must be based purely on information—not on knowledge of what the federation will do. I know Mr. Perham has not made any such statement. In his telegram to me he said that everything looked hopeful."

LAMPHERE DIES IN PRISON

Alleged Slayer of Mrs. Gunness a Victim of Consumption.

Laporte, Ind., Dec. 31.—Ray Lamphere, thirty-eight years old, slayer of Mrs. Belle Gunness and her children, died in the Michigan City penitentiary, where he was serving an indeterminate term for arson. Lamphere on April 28, 1908, set fire to the Gunness home near Laporte and incinerated the family. He had formerly been employed by Mrs. Gunness as a workman on her farm. Following the fire the bodies of several persons who had been murdered by Mrs. Gunness were unearthed in the farmyard.

Lamphere was convicted of burning the house and sentenced on Nov. 26, 1908, to serve from two to fourteen years in prison. Lamphere always contended that he was innocent of the arson. It was shown, however, that Lamphere was probably cognizant of some of Mrs. Gunness' crimes and that he was angered at her.

SPENCER TRASK IS KILLED

Prominent Financier Victim of Railroad Collision.

New York, Dec. 31.—Spencer Trask, one of the leading financiers of the United States, was killed by a freight train running into the rear of the New York Central passenger train on which he occupied the drawing room section at the rear end of the last car.

The accident occurred near Croton, N. Y. One other passenger was seriously injured and the negro porter of the sleeping car was also severely hurt.

Mr. Trask, who was coming into the city from his home at Saratoga, was dressing in his compartment when the freight train plowed into the heavy passenger train, which is known as the Montreal express. When his torn body was removed from the wreckage it was found that he had only partly dressed himself.

AFTER YEARS OF WORK

Tesla Said to Have Invented Wireless Electric Light.

New York, Dec. 30.—Nikola Tesla, who has been at work on "wireless electric light" for twenty years, has announced that he has brought it to a state of perfection. He says a plant for its production is now nearing completion at his laboratory on Long Island

"It would be possible by my wireless transmitter of great power," said Mr. Tesla, "to light the entire United States. The current would pass into the air and, spreading in all directions, produce the effect of a strong aurora borealis. It would be a soft light, but sufficient to distinguish objects.

"Some day soon my idea will be carried out. I would like nothing better than to undertake to illuminate first the harbor of New York for a distance of, say, 100 miles around.

"My present plan is to distribute this light from a central station, which is the most economical and also the best method of obtaining light of highest quality. My lamps will last forever, there being nothing to them to burn out. They are simple tubes or bulbs of glass hermetically sealed and containing nothing but rarified gas."

Des Moines, Dec. 30.—William Foster, a pioneer Des Moines architect and theatrical man, and Louis Bemis of Spencer, Ia., aged seventeen, who was a guest at the Foster home on Grand avenue, were found dead from asphyxiation in adjoining bedrooms at the Foster residence. A leaking gas stove in the bathroom, into which both bedrooms opened, was the cause of the deaths.

Mr. Foster was the owner of the two largest theaters in Des Moines Young Bemis is a grandson of George W. Bemis, formerly state treasurer of Iowa.

Shooting Stars.

When a shooting star breaks into flame in our atmosphere the residuum of the combustion remains in the air and can be found in what is known as atmospheric dust. The virgin snow of the polar regions was often seen to be spotted with traces of dust which contained particles of iron. Like particles are found on church towers and elsewhere. Among the minute bodies that dance in the sun's rays there are certainly particles of shooting stars.

How Peter Engelstad Makes His Money

A Report of One Months Business on a Red Lake County Dairy-farm. Other Men Have Equal Opportunities.

In the table below will be found some of the most interesting figures that could possibly be published in this county at present. They are [illegible] by Peter Engelstad of the town of Rocksbary showing the amount of production of his dairy herd, consisting of 24 cows, during the month of December. He also shows the actual expenditure in producing this quantity of dairy product. The name of each cow is given and is assigned a number, and the time of her freshening is also given so that an accurate estimate can be ascertained from these figures.

In speaking with Mr. Engelstad in regard to this matter, the Editor asked this question "What do you consider the most important part of your report?" Mr. Engelstad modestly replied: "I do not consider any part of the report important. It's only importance lies in the fact that Mr. Johnson, Mr. Nelson, Mr. Hanson and almost anybody else could show a report equally as good as this if the y would keep a record of what their cows were doing, and keep a strict book account with each cow."

This is only showing what can be done in dairying in Red Lake County by any man who has a quarter-section of land, and enough energy to use it.

| Liago, | 24 | December, 19, 1909 | 237 | 4.0 | 9.5 |
| | | | 15148 | 4.14 | 628 2 |

Now, what does it cost to produce this amount of milk for that particular month? Let us see.

| | |
|---|---|
| These 24 cows consume on an average of about 45 lbs. of Silage per day each estimated at $1.75 per ton, | $29.29 |
| Estimated 10 lbs. of hay per day, each at $6.00 per ton, | 22.32 |
| Grain fed at the rate of 1 to 3 lbs. of milk, | 60.00 |
| Makes a total for grain and roughage | $111.61 |

According to the value of butterfat at local Creamery, those 24 cows gave an average return of $2.13 for each one dollar's worth of feed for butterfat alone. Cows are kept in the barn all the time with the exception that they are turned out for watering once a day. A heater is kept in the tank to take the chill out of the water. When taken into consideration that quite a few of those cows are shippers having calfed in March and April, the average return is good. Of course more is realized from selling milk and cream for retail which I have done in the past by hauling butterfat to creamery, but nevertheless my check at creamery would have been some over $200.00, if it had been brought there. My actual sales of milk and cream from the farm for the month of December is $277.10. Of this amount $252.59 goes to Knox Dairy, $18.00 to Creamery and balance to parties in city. The above publication is simply a reply to some parties who ask me if dairing does pay in this locality where winters are so long. The above demonstration shows that it does pay.

P. ENGELSTAD.

HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Stockholders of Plummer Creamery Meet. In Prosperous Condition.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Emardville Creamery Association was held in Carlsons Hall last Monday afternoon. The regular annual business was transacted and the officers elected for the ensuing year. The new officers are A. J. Hemstad president, Olaf Tande vice president and P. S. Medchell Sec. and Treas. The directors are Olaf Tande Anton Lee, Oscar Anderson, John Froiland and A. J. Hemstad. The chief change, made by the stockholders, in the plan of conduct'ng the creamery, was in relation to the amount put aside each year to form a sinking fund, in explanation of which a patron has written an article which you will find elsewhere. The shareholders seem to be willing to give the non shareholders the best end of it for by their new ruling they take what before they realy put into their own pocket, for every addition to the sinking fund added to the value of their creamery stock, and divide it among all the patrons alike, while at the same time they make it to their advantage to join the association.

But there is a question whether or not those who have not already put their shoulder to the wheel and helped to make the creamery a success would be of any use to the creamery? Would they not belong to the good for nothing class and be a drag on a association of live, hustling business plan farmers such as the Plummer Creamery Association? You will generally find that the man who hangs back when there is a movement on foot that is for the benefit of the community in general is of the no account kind.

The association is now in the most prosperous circumstances and one of the leaders in this part of the state. It paid the patrons $10,000.00 more this year than last and with the cooperation of every body interested and business methods applied to the farming or dairying end there is no reason why it should not become second to none in the state for there is no other section where they any advantage in natural adabtability to this class of farming.

You will find in another column an exceedingly good article, written by a local man on "Pratical Dairying" but hundreds of these articles will not be of any use unless you apply what you learn from them. You will hear some farmers declare that "these high toned notions of farming do not pay." You can see by Mr Engelstads article whether he thinks up to date methods pay or not. Red Lake county should and will be one of the richest farming counties in the state, but the day of haphazard methods on the farm is gone and if you want to keep your place in the race you will have to get down to up-to-date business methods.

EDUCATOR DIES IN SLEEPER BERTH

Superintendent of Agricultural School at Crookston Expires on Way to Convention.

William Robertson, superintendent of the state agricultural school at Crookston, died suddenly today on a Great Northern train going from Crookston to St. Paul. His lifeless body was found by the porter on a sleeping car who went to Mr. Robertson's berth to call him. Death was due to heart trouble.

Mr. Robertson was one of the best know educators in the state. He formerly lived in Fillmore county. Four years ago he assumed charge of the Crookston school. The school has grown greatly under his management. Mr. Robertson was a lecturer at the state agricultural college in St. Anthony Park.

Yesterday Mr. Robertson left Crookston for St. Paul, as a delegate to the meeting of the state Agrilutural society. With him was Thomas R. Brown, a Crookston Newspaper man Mr. Brown and Mr. Robertson sat up until midnight and Mr. Robertson sat up until midnight and Mr. Robertson appeared to be in his usual health.

Mr. Robertson is survived by his wife and three children. He was 55 years old. The body is held in St Paul pending funeral arrangements. —Minneapolis Journal.—Jan. 12th.

Masquerade Ball.

Admission to masquerade or those desirering to dance will be $1.00, Spectators 25 cents. Those not masked will not be allowed on the floor until the dancers have unmasked.

Telephone Meeting.

The Clearwater Telephone Co. held their annual stockholders meeting last Tuesday afternoon. The following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year; Charles G. Sall held over as president for another year; H. H. Finrow Secratary: H. J. Enderle; was reelected as treasurer. Directors Olaf Tande, Sam Lovass and Ole Lee

An assessment of $5 per share was levied to pay off the old indebitedness and to cover the expense of overhauling and fixing up the line. A committee of two, consisting of Olaf Tande and H. J. Enderle, was appointed to go to Fertile and inspect the system there so as to get a pratical system on which to run things. The Garden Valley Cooperative Telephone Company there have made a success of their venture and are extending their lines thru the surrounding country.

Pratical Dairying.

The pursuit of dairy farming depents for its success upon certain fundamental conditions. First the owner of the business must have a natural fondness for animals with good judgment in selection, breeding and care. Second, the cattle must be good, of their kind and of a variety suited to the work. They must be truely dairy cows. Third, the farm should be especially adapted to dairying. Fourth a good marked for dairy products.

We will in the following give a few of the dssential points for improving the dairy herd and a few suggertions for breeding and care.

There are three main points for improving the dairy herd: First, the selection of the individual cow, that is a good producer. Second, by using a dairy bred sire of known dairy quality. Third, the way of improving the herd is through better feed and care.

The selection of a cow, that is a good producer, can be done only thru keeping a record of the milk and butter produced by each cow. The only apparatus needed for this work is a spring scale for weighing the milk, record sheet and a Babcock tester. The milk is weighed 3 times a month, morning and evening tested and the amount of butterfat compared. It will then be found at the end of the year that some cows are bringing in big money, while others, and perhaps which he considers among his best, are being kept at his loss Then by weeding out the poorer cows and better feed and care of the good ones, the cost of producing the butter fat can be materially reduced. Every farmer with a herd of five cows or more, should be owner of a Babcock tester, or better still be a member of a cow testing association.

The second essential part in improving the herd is using a dairy sire thrt will transmit this quality to his heifers. To get a sire that will make improvements in his heifer, over the common cow it isgenerally necessary to got outside the neighboshood in which you live. unfortunately, pure breed dairy herds are scarce. The cost of a pure bred sire is generally from $75 to $100, a price that the average farmer fells that he cannot afford to pay. By 8 or 10 farmers clubbing together, the amount for each one to pay would not be as much as tne cost of a scrub animal, and one sire will do for 8 or 10 of the average herds as well as for one. In other words every dairy farmer should be a member of a cooperative breeding association. The third essential of improving the herd is good feeding and care. A good warm barn with plenty light. ## Creamery Patron Explains New Rule.

Editor Plummer Pioneer:

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Plummer Creamery on the 10th. day of January 1910 it was decided to reduce the sinking fund, and as I heard that several parties thought that this action would be misunderstood by some of the nonshare-holding patrons, I will ask you for space for an explanation hoping that it may prevent any such misunderstanding, which would injure the business of the creamry.

I think that almost every patron knows that according to the old rule one cent was deducted for each pound of butter fat and held in reserve to form a sinking fund. Now according to the new rule there will be a deduction of one cent a pound for the non share holders and of a half cent per pound for the share holders. This will as before go into the sinking fund Now you must bear in mind that the sinking fund is of absolutely no benefit to the non shareholding patrons whatsoever, therefor it must be plain to every fair minded person that this change is a benefit and thus good news to the non shareholding patron for this reason, that one half cent per pound of butter fat of the share holding patron, formerly paid into the sinking fund is by the new plan added to the amount paid to the patrons for butter fat each month and, consequently it will increase the price to all paid by the creamery for butter fat and that is what we all want.

But, while this change, is a benefit to non shareholding patrons it is also an inducement to them to become shareholders, because each additional shareholder means so much less into the sinking fund and so much more into the fund from which the patrons receive their money which simply means that you will receive that much more for your butter fat.

Shares can be bought from the association at any time so let all of us buy a share who have not already taken one and make it a co-operative creamery in the full sense of the word and try to make the Plummer Creamery one of the leading creameries in the state.

I am sure the present butter-maker is doing his very best in that line and you should help to do the same.

Yours for co-operation and the upbuilding of the Plummer Creamery;

A Patron.

The public appears to be having as hard a time to locate Dr. Cook as it had in the first place to locate the pole.

The Republican party seemingly intends to commit suicide by allowing Cannon and Aldrich to remain in control.

The trusts seem to be having almost as uncomfortable a time of it as when Teddy kept things on the jump in the presidential palace.

William Jennings Bryan is touring Central America. He might show Nicaragua a little real excitement by getting up a presidential election while down there.

After trying the straddling game until the distance between became too great to longer maintain that position, President Taft took sides in the controversy by relieving Gifford Pinchot of his job, as a public servant, or, as it sometimes seems to the poor unknowing public, a servant of the Interests.

Red Lake Falls papers and their supporters have in the past been putting up a big howl about the expense of the present County Seat fight on the tax-payers, and not without some reason, but let us look into things from both sides of the question. The Pioneer has not taken sides in the question but we consider that we now have some howl coming ourselves, meaning our subscribers who support the Pioneer, and therefore to a certain extent are stock-holders in the corporation, which every newspaper really is.

If Red Lake Falls really had the interest of the tax-payer at heart, why not have let the County Seat question come to a vote, in the first place, let the majority of citizens decide where they want their county seat located and thus settle ihe controversy and stop the expense. And why oppose the redistrictihg of the county which would give the east half their rightful share in saying how the county business should be conducted. That is the way the old questions look to us.

The new one in which the Pioneer acknowledges it is selfishly interested, is, why did the majority of the Commissioners, meaning the "three" who on account of not having the county districted fairly, are elected by a minority of the people, at their annual meeting on Tuesday of last week let the county printed to the highest bidder when "better service" was offered at a considerable lower price.

Would you conduct your private business that way?

Why then the business of your commonwealth? Think it over and then remember it.

Washington, D. C. and Doings of Congress.

The Tense Situation Created by Forester Pinchot's Letter of Defence, and the Struggle for Supremacy in Congress.

Washington' D. C., Jan. 12.—Pinchot has been summarily dismissed by the President; Speaker Cannon has received a severe blow at the hands of the Insurgents in the House; and the great fight within the Republican party is on.

These two events mean that hereafter the man who has led the fight for the conservation of national resources and made the Bureau of Forestry famous will direct the opposition to Secretary of the Interior Ballinger from his home on Rhode Island Avenue, untrammeled by an official position with the Administration, and that the House members of the joint committee selected to investigate the charges against Ballinger will not de unfavorable to Pinchot.

It is conceded by most of the legislators and executive officials that the President took the only course left open to him by the public defense of his subordinates in the Forestry Bureau by Pinchot and by his open attack upon Ballinger, but it is also conceded as quite likely that the Forester felt sure of what the outcome would be when he wrote the letter which was read by Senator Dolliver in the Senate.

The method of Pinchot's going is immaterial. Whether he is an insubordinate official who does not agree with his chief, the President of the United States, or a martyr to the cause he represents makes no difference. The fundamental fact is that he is out and will openly fight the Administration from now on. The conservation problem has become a national issue and from now on will be well to the front on the national stage. Congress will fight over it. Party conventions will take sides in it. The ballot may be called upon to ssttle it.

The crisis has come as a surprise to everybody and therefore has caused a tremendous sensation in the Capital, becanse it was not thought by anybody that Pinchot would precipitate it so early. He has had the advantage of his official position in directing his campaign against Ballinger, who is now regarded as his enemy. It was not considered possible that the President would call for his resignation, because of the advantage it would give the Forester in public opinion. But Pinchot decided to act with great aggressiveness and through a letter which strongly presented his side of the case and will be widely read everywhere. The President retaliated with a crushing rebuke and abrupt dismissal. Neither action changed the situation so far as the actual controversy is concerned. It is simply more intense and dramatic. The lines are more sharply drawn.

Pinchot has great wealth. He has devoted his life to the study of the forestry problem and to the promotion of the idea that the natural resources of the nation should be conserved for the benefit of all the people. Perhaps no man living knows better all the technical and general aspects of the subject. He has been honored by Roosevelt and Taft and in the course of his work has met with approval throughout the country. He is a man of energy and ability and has the additional force of intense conviction. He will prove no mean antagonist.

Ballinger is for the time being a silent figure in the drama. Charges having been made against him, he says nothing and awaits trial. Hence, the center of the fight shifts from the White House to the Capitol where that trial will take place. Hence, also, the significance of the selection of the judges. Will they be imbued with the idea that the Administration should be upheld, or will they be entirely unprejudiced in their work?

The public is assured of thoroughness in the investigation and of open hearings. The question of whether the members of the joint committee selected to represent the House shall be appointed by the Speaker or elected by that body is not vital so far as the action of the committee is concerned. The Speaker's appointees would now endeavor to prove that their appointment did not mean a whitewash. But the question is vital in that its solution will determine whether the Insurgents have made a combination of real power with the Democrats. Thev have answered this in the affirmative. Their majority was only three votes, but it was a majority. It has encouraged them and increased their prestige, not only in the House of Representatives but throughout the country. If when the resolution again comes up, after having been amended by the Senate so as to provide for appointment by the Speaker, and the organization whips have gathered in all the absentees, they succeed in gaining a majority, their strength will be confirmed and permanent.

Since Cannon has been Speaker, the ruling organization in the House has been defeated on test votes, but only on particular measures under consideration, such as the ship subsidy bill. The Insurgents are fighting against the Speaker himself, —agsinst his power as exemplified in what they term "Cannonism,"—and against the present rules of the House. They claim that their fight is entirely within the party. They hope often during the session to take a firm stand against the organization so as to gain support throughout the country and make it necessary for members seeking re-election next fall to pledge themselves to vote against Cannon and the present rules in the next Congress. The vote of this week gives them additional hope that they will accomplish this. In the Senate they are making a fight against Aldrich and the ruling powers. There they will confine their efforts to speeches and dilatory tactics. They do not believe that the next House will be Democratic, but that it will be composed of Republicans who are pledged to their ideas.

Pinchot's contentions have been contrary to those of the Administration. Those of the Insurgents comprise much more than a fight on the power of the Speaker. They opposed the tariff indorsed by the President, and hence they are classed against the Administration. Therefore, the interests of Pinchot and the Insurgents were joined in the test vote in the House, and this week is considered here to mark the beginning of a general attack on the Administration. What interests both sides just now is whether Roosevelt will join this opposition when he returns next summer. If he does, no prophet in Washington is wise enough to predict the outcome.

That the Administration will deal with the Insurgents with a firm hand was made evident during the week, when the Postmaster-General notified Representative Miller, of Minnesota, that in the future the recommendations of himself and his fellow-insurgents for postmasters in their respective districts would not be acted upon until the President was notified they would not oppose his announced policies. This is considered by the Insurgents to be a practical carrying out of the President's intention, expressed in the now famous Winona speech, of reading them out of the party.

Meanwhile a movement is going on beneath the surface of things at the Capital which should not be lost sight of. The Administration is quietly organizing for whatever political battles it may have to fight in the immediate and far future.

This has been made particularly evident during the past week by the perfection of an arrangement between the President and Senator Dick of Ohio, under which the latter will be left practically in charge of the forces of the Republican party in that state, so far as the President may influence them by patronage and prestige of his position.

In a larger field Hitchcock is tho't by his opponents to bring no strength to the Administration with the people of the country. But he is conceded to be the greatest organizer and the most powerful man, purely as a politician, in the party at the present time. He was formerly with Roosevelt, who finally criticised him severely during the campaign. Taft was also opposed to him for a time and seriously considered the advisability of leaving him out of his cabinet. But the President is thought to have desired time to give to the great policies of his administration and to leave the detail to another. Hence, Hitchcock in the saddle and preparing at every turn the defenses for the Roosevelt onslaught, which is heard approaching in the distance.

It will be seen, therefore, that the mechanical side of the Taft administration is ready for business. Dick is a good political mechanic. He was Hanna's principal lieutenant and the partner of Foraker in his effort to retain supremacy in the Buckeye state. He is not by any means considered one of the powerful men in the Senate, but no man knows better the ins and outs of building a practical, working, businesslike political machine. Neither is Hitchcock one of the leaders of the thought of the nation, but as Cortelyou, under whom he served, said long ago, he is a born organizer.

COMMITTEE DID NOT SEND IT OUT

Chairman and Secretary Issued the Statement.

PROSPECTS OF A LIVELY ROW

Regular Republicans Inclined to Be Critical of the Pronouncement Made Public by the Two Officers of the Congressional Committee, in Which Insurgents Were Read Out of the Party.

Washington, Jan. 11.—There may be the liveliest kind of a row among the regular Republicans of the house over a statement given out at the headquarters of the Republican congressional committee, and purporting to come from that organization, in which notice was given that the insurgents were little better than Democrats, and that their recent activities placed them outside the pale of the party.

It became known that the statement, which kicked up a lot of excitement at the Capitol, was not authorized by the Republican congressional committee, as represented, but was given out for publication by direction of William B. McKinley of Illinois and Henry C. Loudenslager of New Jersey, chairman and secretary respectively of the campaign organization.

The first intimation that the statement which has so aroused the insurgents was not authorized by the committee itself, but by some of its officers, came from Vice Chairman James A. Tawney of Minnesota.

"The statement that appeared in the newspapers purporting to come from the Republican congressional committee never came under my eye until I saw it in print," said Representative Tawney. That is all Mr. Tawney would say on the subject. He refused to say whether he approved of the sentiments expressed or whether he regarded the action of Chairman McKinley and Secretary Loudenslager as improper in view of the fact that they were empowered to act for the committee in this instance.

COPYRIGHT BY CLINEDINST, WASH D.C.

REPRESENTATIVE M'KINLEY.

Representative McKinley admitted there was virtually no committee in existence now, but he himself assumed responsibility for the letter. It was sent out, he said, under his guidance from the Republican headquarters in this city as part of the "regular week's news letter."

Little Evidence to Support Assertion.

Following the publican of the statement came reports that it had been approved by President Taft. There is little or no evidence in support of the assertion that President Taft approved the ukase in which the insurgents were read out of the party, although it is believed that he saw the statement before it was given to the public.

Representative Tawney, the former whip of the Republicans in the house, and Representative Dwight of New York, present whip, had a brief conference with President Taft and the matter of "insurgency" was one of the subjects discussed.

Mr. Dwight, it was said, had informed the president he had dropped all of the insurgents from his list of "Republicans" to be notified of caucuses dealing with party subjects. What effect this will have upon certain held-up patronage remains to be seen.

A caucus of the Republicans will be held on Wednesday night to ratify the selections of the various state delegations of their nominees to the Republican congressional committee. The insurgents will take advantage of the oportunity to say some sharp things about Chairman McKinley and Secretary Loudenslager, and the affair may wind up in a fight. Regular Republicans are inclined to be critical of the pronouncement made public by the two officers of the congressional committee, although they are not voicing it in loud tones.

An effort undoubtedly will be made by the insurgents to ascertain whether the sentiments expressed in the document bearing the label of the Republican congressional committee are entertained by President Taft.

RECEIVERSHIP MAY BE ASKED

Sugar Trust to Get Same Treatment as Tobacco Combine.

New York, Jan. 6.—As a possible new tack in the prosecution of the American Sugar Refining company and others the government may ask for a federal receivership similar to the action taken in the tobacco case, according to the Tribune. It is said that the ground work for proceedings along this line already has been laid. No witnesses from the sugar men themselves will be called in such an investigation, thus barring an immunity plea in other prosecutions.

DEATH OF CARDINAL SATOLLI

Was First Apostolic Delegate to the United States.

Rome, Jan. 8.—Francesco Satolli, one of the papal bishops of the Catholic church, is dead after a three weeks' illness of nephritis.

Cardinal Satolli was seventy-one years old and was raised to the cardinalate in 1885. He was professor of congregational studies at the time of his death.

CARDINAL SATOLLI.

For more than two weeks the cardinal's death had been expected.

Cardinal Satolli was the first apostolic delegate from the Vatican to the United States.

INSURGENTS WINNERS

Administer Body Blow to Cannon Organization.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Speaker Cannon and his organization in the house were administered a body blow when the Republican insurgents amended the resolution providing for an investigation into the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy by providing that the committee of inquiry shall be named by the house itself instead of by the speaker.

The attack on the organization was led by Representative Norris of Nebraska, and all of the insurgents rallied to his support with the exception of Representative Steenerson of Minnesota. The Norris amendment denying the speaker the authority to name the house personnel of the committee on inquiry was carried by a vote of 149 to 146. The result staggered the house organization. The leaders are in conference to map out a plan of action with a view to checking the rising tide of "insurgency."

The Western insurgents who voted against the organization were:

Minnesota—Davis, Lingbergh, Miller and Volstead. North Dakota—Gronna, Wisconsin—Cooper, Kopp, Nelson, Lenroot and Morse. Iowa—Haugen, Hubbard, Kendall, Pickett, Woods and Goode.

TO CHANGE LAWS

President Suggests Amendments in Message to Congress.

FAVORS A COMMERCE COURT

Also Recommends Federal Charters for Corporations.

Washington, Jan. 7.—President Taft's special message dealing with amendments to the interstate commerce laws looking to a more effective federal supervision of railroads and conveying his recommendations for the passage of a federal incorporation act was transmitted to congress and read in the house, the senate not being in session.

Mr. Taft suggests no changes in the Sherman anti-trust law at this time. The anti-trust feature of the message deals solely with the subject of federal charters. The president thinks that an opportunity should be given the big industrial combinations to bring their business once more into the "zone of lawfulness" by taking out a federal charter under certain prescribed conditions before it becomes necessary to proceed against every corporation about which there is a breath of suspicion.

"It is the duty and the purpose of the executive," says the message, "to direct an investigation by the department of justice, through the grand jury or otherwise, into the history, organization and purpose of all the industrial companies with respect to which there is any reasonable ground for suspicion that they have been organized for a purpose and are conducting business on a plan which is in violation of the anti-trust law."

Such a wholesale investigation and possible prosecutions, the president points out, however, would result in serious disturbances and "produce a halt in our present prosperity that will cause suffering and strained circumstances among the innocent many for the faults of the guilty few.

"The question which I wish in this message to bring clearly to the consideration and discussion of the congress is whether, in order to avoid such a possible business danger, something cannot be done by which these business combinations may be offered a means, without great financial disturbance, of changing the character, organization and extent of their business into one within the lines of the law under federal control and supervision, securing compliance with the anti-trust statutes."

The conditions upon which federal charters are to be granted under the president's recommendations are these:

Method of Incorporation.

The issue of stock to be to an amount equal only to the cash paid in on the stock, or, if stock be issued for property, then at a fair valuation, ascertained under approval and supervision of federal authority, after a full and complete disclosure of all the facts appertaining to the value of the property and the interest in it of the persons to whom the stock is to be issued.

Corporations taking federal charters are to be prohibited from acquiring and holding stock in other corporations except for special reasons, upon approval by the proper federal authorities. Full reports of operations are to be made to the department of commerce and labor at regular intervals. The federal incorporation is to be voluntary, but the president feels that most of the corporations will be glad of the opportunity to reform their business methods if given this opportunity. Otherwise the department of justice will investigate them. Nothing in the federal charter is to exempt any corporation from prosecution for violations of the anti-trust law.

In that portion of his message dealing with changes in the interstate commerce law the president recommends:

The establishment of a United States court of commerce of five judges to hear and determine appeals from the interstate commerce commission, the only appeal from this court lying in the United States supreme court.

The commission is to be relieved of prosecuting cases in the courts, this duty being placed in the department of justice.

Pooling arrangements as to rates to be allowed under direct supervision of the commission.

The commission to be empowered to pass upon freight classifications.

The commission to be empowered to hold up new rates or classifications by railroads until an inquiry can be made as to their reasonableness. If found to be unreasonable the commission may forbid the increase.

From and after the passage of the amendments it is provided that no railroad shall acquire any stock or interest in a competing line, except that where a road already owns 50 per cent or more of the stock of another road it may complete the purchase of all the stock. Also in cases where one road is operating another under a lease of more than twenty-five years' duration it shall have a right to acquire the demised road. Allowing these acquisitions of stock does not exempt any road from prosecution under the anti-trust law.

PINCHOT IS OUSTED

Chief Forester Removed From the Service.

INSUBORDINATION THE CHARGE

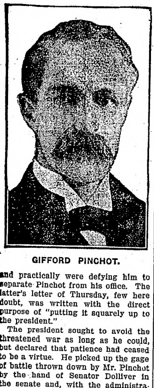
Two Other Members of Bureau Also Let Out.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Gifford Pinchot, chief forester and intimate friend of Theodore Roosevelt, was dismissed from the service of the United States by President Taft for insubordination. Associate Forester Overton W. Price and Assistant Law Officer Alexander C. Shaw, Pinchot's immediate assistants in the forestry bureau, followed their chief out of the government employ.

Thoroughly indignant over the action of Mr. Pinchot in inducing Senator Dolliver to read a letter from him in the senate, President Taft would listen to no advice that the forester's violation of executive orders be overlooked pending the inquiry soon to be undertaken by congress. He declared the dignity of the office he had been chosen by the people to fill was being attacked and he would be unfaithful to his trust if he submitted longer.

Mr. Taft undoubtedly realizes fully what the dismissal of Forester Pinchot means in a political way. He has been convinced for some time that the so called "insurgents" and other critics of his administration had enlisted the services of Mr. Pinchot and practically were defying him to separate Pinchot from his office. The latter's letter of Thursday, few here doubt, was written with the direct purpose of "putting it squarely up to the president."



GIFFORD PINCHOT.

The president sought to avoid the threatened war as long as he could, but declared that patience had ceased to be a virtue. He picked up the gage of battle thrown down by Mr. Pinchot by the hand of Senator Dolliver in the senate and, with the administration supporters, is ready for the fray which is certain to ensue.

Political observers in Washington declare that the situation created by recent developments is the most tense of many years. What the outcome will be no one is willing to prophesy.

In the house of representatives Speaker Cannon lost his first fight to the "insurgents," who, combining with the Democrats, took from the speaker the power to appoint the house members of the joint special committee of investigation. The margin of victory was a narrow one, but the "insurgents" and Democrats alike are jubilant. The dismissal of Pinchot has lent fuel to the flame of their celebration and they are venturing all manner of predictions as to what is to happen in the future.

SUPPORTS GLAVIS' CHARGES

Chief Forester Pinchot Sends Letter to Senator Dolliver.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The Ballinger-Pinchot controversy was made doubly intense by the reading in the senate of a letter addressed by Mr. Pinchot to Senator Dolliver, in which the course adopted by L. R. Glavis, with the assistance of Messrs. Price and Shaw of the bureau of forestry, was warmly approved. The chief forester not only upheld the criticisms of Secretary Ballinger, but suggested that the president himself had been mistaken in the facts when he removed Mr. Glavis from the public service.

Mr. Pinchot's letter called Senator Hale to his feet with a severe rebuke to the chief forester for having ignored a recent order by the president directing that no subordinate officer should give information concerning affairs of the government except to his superior officers. He also suggested that the adoption of this course tended to forestall and prejudice public opinion.

Cat Causes Destructive Fire.

Plainfield, Wis., Jan. 8.—The large farmhouse of Robert Rathermel, five miles west, was destroyed by fire. The house was occupied by Harley Ellis and wife and caught fire by a cat tipping over a lighted lantern into shavings in a woodshed.

GIVEN A YEAR IN PRISON

Employes of Sugar Trust Convicted of Weighing Frauds.

New York, Jan. 10.—In the United States circuit court Judge Martin sentenced Thomas Kehoe, Patrick J. Hennessey, John R. Boyle and Edward A. Coyle, former checkers on the Williamsburg docks of the sugar trust, who were convicted of manipulating scales whereby false weights of imports of sugar were recorded and the government defrauded of duties, to one year in the Blackwells island penitentiary.

Oliver Spitzer, convicted with the above four and who was declared by the prosecution to have been the head and front of the conspiracy through his position as dock superintendent, will be sentenced on Feb. 1. He is now in the hospital suffering from a surgical operation recently performed.

FOUND DEAD IN A RESORT

Son of James H. Moore, Head of Extensive Interests.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Heir to the vast estate of his father, James Hobart Moore, who, with his brother, W. H. Moore, controls the great Rock Island railroad system, the Diamond Match company and other extensive corporations, Nathaniel Ford Moore, twenty-six years old and only three years a bridegroom, lies dead, having been found lifeless at a levee resort.

He apparently died of heart disease and the young woman inmate who discovered the body, as well as Victoria Shaw, owner of the resort, were not arrested. But the house was closed forthwith.

WILL FIGHT TO FINISH

Railroads Refuse to Arbitrate With Switchmen.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The managers of the railroads in the Northwest will make no terms with the striking switchmen. They are determined to fight to the finish. Unless they change their minds on the subject the railway managers will not agree to mediate or arbitrate.

While Chairman Knapp of the interstate commerce commission and Labor Commissioner Neill, who have been in conference here since Friday of last week with H. B. Perham, representing the railway department of the American Federation of Labor, will make no comment on the present situation, it may be stated upon authority that the negotiations with Mr. Perham were abruptly terminated upon receipt of information that the railway managers would consent to no arrangements looking to mediation or arbitration of the strike trouble.

Messrs. Knapp and Neill will act under the Erdman law if the parties to the controversy ask them to do so. But in the face of the refusal of the railway managers to meet the representatives of the strikers with a view to compromise, there was nothing for the federal officials to do but suspend the conference with Mr. Perham.

GOVERNMENT WINS VICTORY

Supreme Court Upholds Powers of Interstate Commerce Commission.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The supreme court of the United States decided the case of the United States vs. the Illinois Central and other railroad companies doing business in the Illinois mining district in favor of the government.

The case involved the right of the interstate commerce commission to direct the distribution of coal cars in the interest of independent coal companies and the power of the interstate commerce commission was upheld in a sweeping decision which was delivered by Justice White.

In effect the court held that the fuel cars of other companies were to be counted in the quota of each particular mine.

The decision is regarded by the government as most important, in that it upholds the powers of the commission, and it is expected to have an important bearing upon the rate cases still to be heard by the court.

HUNDREDS DYING IN SPAIN

Unprecedented Cold Follows Recent Flood.

Madrid, Jan. 6.—Hundreds of persons in Northwestern Spain, made homeless by the recent floods, are dying from exposure to the unprecedented cold weather that has now gripped the flooded territory. The situation is desperate and all attempts to furnish adequate relief have proved unavailing. Even the harbors are icebound. Unless the cold spell abates soon an enormous death roll will result.

STUDENTS ESCAPE SAFELY

Military Academy at Cornwall, N. Y., Destroyed by Fire.

Newburgh, N. Y., Jan. 10.—The New York Military academy at Cornwall, N. Y., caught fire and was destroyed. Bard hall, used by the younger students, escaped. Nobody was hurt.

When the fire was discovered the cadets, with military precision, marched out, most of them in pajamas and bath robes. They lost all their personal effects. There were about 150 students in the academy.

WOULD SETTLE OUT OF COURT

Representatives of Harriman Lines Open Negotiations.

CONFERENCE AT WHITE HOUSE

Granted by President Taft at the Solicitation of the Railroad Officials. No Decision of Any Sort Reached at the Meeting, Which Concerned Suit Against Alleged Combine of the Railroads.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Negotiations have begun looking to a settlement "out of court" of the government's suit for the dissolution of the merger of the so called Harriman lines, brought under the Sherman anti-trust law.

Rumors of such negotiations have been current for some time past. They took concrete form at a conference at the White House granted by President Taft at the solicitation of the railroad officials. It can be stated authoritatively that no decision of any sort was reached.

It was said that the conference was the first of a series of meetings which are to be held for the purpose of determining upon what ground, if any, the representatives of the Harriman lines and the government can meet for an adjustment of the situation.

President Taft has given no intimation as to what his attitude will be and his final determination in the matter, it is stated, will depend largely upon the proposition the railroads have to make looking to the compliance with the anti-trust law.

Case Will Not Be Dropped.

The case will not be dropped, it is said, except upon such terms as will look to a correction of the evils complained of in the government suit, or unless the government can be shown to be completely in error.

The conference was attended by Judge Robert S. Lovett, president of the Union Pacific and allied lines; Attorney General Wickersham, Frank B. Kellogg, "trust buster" and special attorney for the United States in the case against the railroads, and former Senator John C. Spooner and Maxwell Evarts of New York, attorneys for the Harriman lines. None of the members of the railroad party would discuss the matter in any way.

Attorney General Wickersham has taken no definite position in the matter as yet. He went into the conference open minded, for up to this time he has not been called upon to deal with the suit in any way.

No time was fixed for a resumption of the conference, but it probably will be within a few days.

The suit for the dissolution of the combination of railroads was brought in Salt Lake City and is pending in the courts there. Testimony has been taken in a number of cities already.

DEMAND THEIR BENEFITS

Strikers Will Return to Work Unless Money Is Sent.

Missoula, Mont., Jan. 11.—The striking Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen have submitted an imperative demand to President Hawley of the Switchmen's union for their benefits.

Hawley wired that everything was exceptionally favorable and that conditions were better than ever for the strikers. He said that the men could not afford to go back to work now and promised that victory would be perched on the banner of the strikers in a few more days.

He promised the men that the benefit checks would be mailed from St. Paul at once. The married men among the strikers are to receive $40 per month and the single men $25 as long as the strike continues.

Should the money not be forthcoming fifteen men will report for work.

WILL GO TO WASHINGTON

Glavis Expects to Be Summoned Before Committee.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 11.—C. R. Glavis, former chief of the field division of the general land office, who has been hunting in the White Salmon country, has arrived here.

Mr. Glavis refused to make any statement regarding the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy or the dismissal of Mr. Pinchot.

Mr. Glavis said that, as he fully expected to be summoned before the congressional committee, he had decided to anticipate formal service by presenting himself at Washington. He will leave for Washington at once.

Watching Fuel Situation.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Commissioner Lane of the interstate commerce commission said that the commission was keeping a close watch on the fuel situation in the West, but up to this time there had been no appeal from any section for action on their part.

Quarry Superintendent Killed.

Green Bay, Wis., Jan. 11.—James Torgeson, aged fifty-one, superintendent of the Greenleaf stone quarry, was instantly killed while repairing machinery.

GIFTED LUNATICS.

One Faculty Strongly Developed In Many Insane Persons.

One of the most peculiar features of insanity is that occasionally one faculty, either sight, hearing, smell, taste or touch, is extraordinarily acute. Certain insane persons, insensible to every other impression, have a pronounced taste for music and can repeat with accuracy an air which they may have heard but once. Others have a recollection of form and color and display an aptitude for drawing, while more frequently one may meet with an inmate of an asylum who has a special memory for figures, dates, proper names and words generally.

There is a case on record, for instance, of an imbecile who at twenty-seven had such an extraordinary memory that he could solve the most difficult problems in arithmetic and algebra and repeat word for word long poems after once hearing them. In another case a boy of fourteen, with a defective brain, who had the greatest difficulty in learning to read, could, if allowed two or three minutes to run over a page printed in a foreign language or treating of questions of which he was ignorant, repeat the words from memory as correctly as if the book had been lying before him.

Very curious was the case of another man, a devout churchgoer, who could remember the day when every person had been buried in the parish for thirty-five years and could repeat, with unvarying accuracy, the name and age of the deceased and mourners at the funeral. And yet he was a complete fool, and outside of the line of burials he had not one idea and could not give an intelligent reply to a single question or even be trusted to feed himself.

At Earlswood asylum, England, they have records of imbeciles who could not only repeat accurately a page or more of any book which had been read years before, even though it was a book they did not understand in the least, but also of an insane person who could repeat backward what he had just read.

Another curious case is that of an imbecile who, in the first place, never failed to go to church and who on reaching home could repeat the sermon word by word, saying, "Here the minister coughed; here he stopped to blow his nose," and so on.

In another case an imbecile knew the Bible so perfectly that if you asked him where such and such a verse was to be found he could tell without hesitation and repeat the chapter.

All these instances are well authenticated, and others equally amazing and true could be added. And just as there is one sense which is sometimes wonderfully acute in persons of weak intellect, so in the case of blind people the sense of smell or hearing is often very keen.

One of the most remarkable cases on record was that of Julia Brace, a female deaf and blind mute who could distinguish brothers and sisters by smell and who recognized anybody she had met before by the same means.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Rhymed Task Master.

In the studio of an artist on Madison avenue there is a sign that would seem suited for almost any place where there is work to do. Of course it is exceptionally well adapted to the needs of dreaming artists. It reads:

Whene'er a task is put to you
Don't idly sit and view it
Nor be content and wish it done—
Begin at once and do it.

In this studio it was of course artistically printed and framed. Within view of the motto every one was hard at work, and the man who sat nearest said it never gave him a moment's rest. He could not look at an unfinished job without seeing or hearing the jingle of the rhyme.—New York Press.

Why He Didn't Rise.

It was married men's night at the revival meeting. "Let all you husbands who have troubles on your minds stand up!" shouted the emotional preacher at the height of his spasm.

Instantly every man in the church rose to his feet except one.

"Aha!" exclaimed the preacher, peering out at this lone sitter, who occupied a chair near the door and apart from the others. "You are the one in a million."

"It ain't that," piped back this one helplessly as the rest of the congregation turned to gaze suspiciously at him. "I can't get up. I'm paralyzed!"

The Chief's Error.

Goron was chief of the Paris police when the following incident took place: Lombroso had written a book in 1888 on criminality among women, so runs the story, and when it was finished wrote to Goron to send him "forthwith" some portraits of Parisian woman criminals. Anxious to please the writer, the package was made up and started on its tour to Italy. When the book came out Lombroso sent a copy, handsomely bound, to Goron, who saw his gift acknowledged on the first page. "It was a scholarly book," said the chief, "and would have had a large sale but for an error on my part. The pictures came out of the wrong drawer of my desk. They were not criminals at all, but women who had applied for hucksters' licenses, and a new edition had to be printed to make good a police mistake."

A Righteous Judge.

One Sunday morning a minister's wife saw her son chasing the hens with a stick. She went to the door to investigate and heard him say, "I'll teach you to lay eggs in a minister's family on Sunday morning!"—Delineator.

There Was No Duel.

Colonel Crisp when in the Missouri legislature was one of the central figures in a scene which promised bloodshed, which ended in a hearty laugh and which was the cause of an astounding remark from Hon. John W. Farriss, the then speaker, said Champ Clark. Crisp and another member got into a debate which grew into a quarrel. They shook their fists at each other and roared like a pair of Numidian lions. Everybody expected and many hoped to see a regular old fashioned knockdown and dragout fight, which expectation and hope were frustrated and dashed to the ground by Speaker Farriss remarking:

"If you gentlemen do not quit fussing and take your seats I will order the chaplain to take you into custody," which so amazed the bellicose legislators that they stood in a state of lingual paralysis, while the spectators laughed till they were red in the face. Humor saved the day.

How He Helped the Blind.

"Please help a blind man," said a fellow with green goggles as he held a tin cup toward the line of people issuing from the Union depot. "I always help the blind," said one of two young men who were passing, and he stopped and took out a five dollar bill. "Can you get a quarter out of this?" "I guess so," said the blind man, fishing out a handful of change and counting out $4.75. "Well, John," said the benevolent young man's companion as they walked on, "you're a bigger fool than I took you to be." "Am I?" said John. "Yes, you are. That fellow's no more blind than I am. How could he tell that was a five dollar bill?" "Blamed if I know," said John innocently, "but he must be mighty near sighted not to see that it was a counterfeit."—Chicago News.

"Why Should Calamity Be Full of Words?"

The mere saying of words is easy, and some men devote their whole lives to it. They talk rather than act. The calamity howlers in any community are of this kind.

While the unsuccessful business man is talking the successful man is acting. When he speaks he uses words, but he tells facts. He seldom, however, depends upon his own voice.

He brings to his aid the trumpet tongued voice of the press.

He purchases space in the advertising columns of his local paper, and he uses it to good advantage.

Emma Julia Wichterman.

One of the saddest duties that has ever fallen to the lot of the Pioneer is that of chronicling the death of Miss Emma Wichterman. Blessed with a beauideal disposition, always lighthearted and cheerful with a smile and pleasant greeting for everybody the number of her friends was limited, only by that of her acquaintances, to whom her taking away has left a sense of vacuity that will be felt far into the future.

Out of respect to the memory of the deceased the Plummer school, in which up to the time of her being taken sick she was an instructor, were closed the Friday of her death and the following Monday when the funeral services were held. A beautiful and touching addition to the funeral services was the Magnificent contributation of flowers by a few of the more intimate friends; the school childern together with the teachers, Misses Swanson and Halseth contributed a beautiful floral design while Mr. and Mrs. Giles, Miss Maggie Short and Messrs. A. Mcdougal, James Alrick, Robert Clark, Alcid Morrieette, Henry Enderle and Jack Phalen contributed an assortment of cut flowers To accomadate the many Plummer people that wished to attend the funeral the Soo Line sent down an extra coach which was taken up in the morning and brought back in the afternoon. Nearly a hundred people took advantage of this to attend the services at Thief River Falls.

Emma Julia Wichterman the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wichterman died in the early morning of Friday, January the fourteenth at the Bertheny Hospital after being ill about three weeks with typhoid fever. The deceased would have been twenty years old January the twenty second being born on that day in 1890 in the town of Lambert. She attended school at McIntosh and Fosston and when the family removed to Plummer she accepted a position as teacher in the local school which position she held when she was taken sick. The funeral services were held in the M. E. Church at Thief River Falls conducted by Rev. Smith. Interment in the Greenwood cemetery at that place.

When a year ago we gathered
Joy was in her bright blue eyes;
But the golden cord is severed,
And our hopes in ruin lies:

We shall meet but we shall miss her;
There will be one vacant chair;
We will linger to caress her
When we breathe our evening prayer.

$500 REWARD IS OFFERED

State Offers Reward For Arrest and Conviction of Puposky Robber.

—(Bemidji Pioneer) St. Paul Jan. 13th. Governor Eberhart has caused to be issued a proclamation offering a reward for the arrest and conviction of the man who assisted in robbing the post office and general store of O. J. Laqua, at Puposky, the night of November 25, and who participated in the bloody battle at the bridge west of Bemidji and made his escape:

"STATE OF MINNESOTA
"Executive department
"PROCLAMATION.

"WHEREAS, It has been made to the twenty-sixth day of November, 1909, at two-thirty o'clock in the morning, the store building of O. J. Lauqua, at the Village of Puposky, in the County of Beltrami, State of Minnesota, which store building is also the postoffice of Puposky, was entered by two men, who blew the safe and stole over one hundred dollars and other property, and.

"WHEREAS, Swan Johnson, one of the robbers, was shot and instantly killed, and the other escaped; and

"WHEREAS, Andrew Johnson deputy sheriff, attempting to capture the robber, was shot and seriously injured; and

"WHEREAS, one of the perpetrators of the said crime has not been arrested, and the public safety requires his capture, conviction and punishment for the said offense.

"NOW THEREFORE, I, Adolph O. Eberhart, Governor of the state of Minneasota, will cause to be paid out of the treasury of said state the sum of FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($500.) for the arrest and conviction of the aforesaid criminal.

"IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF. I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be hereto affixed at the Capitol in the City of St. Paul, this twelfth day of Jan. A. D. 1910.

Adolph O. Eberhat,
"Governor.

"Attest: Julius Schmahl,
"Secretary of State."

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to the many friends who so kindly assisted us during our late bereavement. There help and kindness will always be a sweet memory to us. Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wichterman and Family.

Governor Eberhart Calls Cons. Congress

Invites Entire State to Partake In Deliberations at St. Paul Next March.---Agriculture Most Important Feature.

That an era of new and complex development is opening in Minnesota there is no doubt. The soil and climate ot the state are second to none. There exists within the borders of this state untold opportunities for the development of farms, mines, forests, waterpower, reclamation of swamp lands and construcion of country roads as well as the necessity for more railroad lines.

To determine by a congress of representative men, interested in all lines of business and social endeavor what the resources of this state are and how the rapid and intelligent development of Minnesota may be best assisted, will contribute greatly to the advancement of this commonwealth to the front rank of the states.

The development of unused lands; conservation of soil fertility of lands now under cultivation; increase of production per acre on the farms; careful handling of mineral resources to eliminate waste: preservation and prepetuation of the forests; scientific drainage of swamp lands; improvement of public roads: extension of industrial and agriculural education; study of the practicability of waterpower and the continuance of the best sanitary conditions to insure public health; are all subjects which must be considered, and agitated in order to give force to a state wide movement for the development of Minnesota.

The time has come for a new era of pioneering. Men and women are coming into the West and Northwest as in the days of old, but they must come and expect to come without facing the hardships endured by the first pioneers. They will open the virgin regions of Minnesota, creating new wealth and at once contributing to public maintainance. How to assist these people to the advantages enjoyed by the older and more highly developed regions, giving them good roads, educational institutions, transportation facilities mail routes, healthful surroundings, telephone lines and markets in which to buy and sell, is one of the problems which citizens of Minnesota may well consider in a meeting of representative men and women.

For many years parts of the state have been severely subjected to single cropping. Thousands of farms have been compelled to yield year after year the same crop until the soil is wearing out, the profits have undoubtedly been reduced. These soils must be given back the elements of plant life or they will cease to pay dividends at the increased valuations.

While the state of Minnesota has vast timber and boundless mineral resources, agricultural is a condition to control in a large measure the industrial activity of the people in towns and cities. Only a little more than one third of the land in the state suitable for agricultural purposes is now under cultivation. These lands should be opened and handled so as to insure the best results to the tiller of the soil.

Another demand has followed this. The farmers should be given every possible opportunity to secure the knowledge of practical, scientific agriculture, the profits to be gained by crop rotation; the increase possible by creative and selective breeding of plants and animals. These things generally known and applied will result in immense improvements in production.

To develop and extend the dairy industry necessitates more general discussion and knowledge of stock breeding. Great progress has already been made in this state and if the work is encouraged and extended, Minnesota will have in ten years, a profitable market in other states and abroad for high priced cattle which combine milk and beef.

Good roads must be built to enable Minnesota producers to meet the competition of other producers in states having better transportation facilities, nearer markets and improved country roads. The cost of hauling our products from the farm to the market is excessive in comparison with the railroad charge for hauling similar products and will remain in excess of the cost of wagon hauling in other states unless we improve our roads. Practical, intelligent work on the highways of the state will reduce the cost from a half to two thirds, broaden the scope of the farmer's market and add to the profits.

The source of many rivers, with countless lakes scattered over its broad domain, Minnesota has unquestioned opportunities for the development of water power. Discussion of these unharnessed streams and their possibilities by practical engineers is to be desired that the people may realize that it rests with them whether they shall have cheap power and at the same time conserve the fuel resources of the state.

At once one of the most healthy regions in the United States, the natural advantage undoubtedly needs guarding in the cities in the homes and school houses. How best the public health may be preserved and improved is a question for wide discussion which will have for a result general education of the people to desire and secure the most healthful coditions every where

The impractical idea of taking a boy from the farm to teach him farming is now overcome by incorporation in the course of the rural schools, the elements of practical, scientific agriculture and with the study goes industrial training for the boys and domestic science and art for the girls of the farm. The extension of these studies and how the system can be best fostered by consolidation of these schools, is a subject of the most vital importance and worthy the most earnest consideration.

Experience has shown that farmers institutes, the so called "short courses" and similiar meetings have had a wide influence, adding not only millions to the value of production, but improving the conditions of life. That the citizens of Minnesota should join in such a movement for conservation and agricultural development seems fitting when the governments of earth have come to deem expenditures of time and money for research, discussion agitation, looking toward the creations of a strong public sentiment for better living, more important than any other line of work.

Taking into account, therefore, these vital considerations of the welfare of the state, I hereby proclaim the holding of the Minnesota Conservation and Agricultural Development Congress, in the municipal auditorium in the city of St. Paul on March 16, 17, 18 and 19, 1910, earnestly invite the entire citizenship of the state to participate in and co-operate in carrying out the plans for this gathering that its purposes may be fully realized.

Adolph O. Eberhart,
Governor.

THE GOLD SHIP IS NO MORE

Arctanders High Finance Scheme Brings no Returns To the Shareholders.

Break the news gently to mother! Arctander's gold ship is not worth as much as a birch bark canoe. If you bought stock in the company kiss your money good-bye. If you had visions of getting rich from these investments, it is time wake up. But if we must break the news, let us make the blows as light as possible. Last week the Norman county stockholders (in the Gold Ship company the stock of which was floated by John W. Arctander (mind you we say stock, not the ship) received a lengthy letter from him stating that all the money they had invested was lost and instead of pumping up gold they found nothing but mud—and he did not say whether it is good mud or not. That Mr. Arctander should take such a mean advantage of his countrymen is almost beyond belief, but we have his word for it that the Colorado River Dredging Co. is down and out financially. Mr. Arctander letter is written in the Norwegian language and we have our puzzle editor at work on it and hope to have it translated in time to give it to our readers in full next week.

Let us briefly state that the principle reason for the faliure is due to an oily substance that is found in the river, which washes the fine particles of gold baek into the river faster than the dredge can pump it up. We believe it. That is just the very reason we would give if it was our company and we wonld expect our share holders to believe it, too. Mr. Archtander says that he is very sorry it happened the way it did, and hopes that the balance of the share holders will leave him alone with his conscience—to think up some other get rich quick scheme.

It is a sad story; one that shows how this life is one succession of pitfalls, mistaken ideas, blasted hopes and gold ships that do not offer one chance in sixteen for a fair shake.

Let us forget it.—Norman County Herald.

New General Merchandise Store.

N. B. Nelson of Kennedy Minn., spent the first of the week here making arrangments to open a general merchandise store next month. He has make arrangments with Mr. Carlson to rent his building and will put in a complete and up-to-date stock to the amount of about $15,000. The deal was made so that later on in the spring he can buy the building which is one of the best in town. Mr. Carlson will conduct his feed business in the rear of the building until later, when he will build on the corner he owns, just across the street west of his present location. Mr. Nelson has been running a general store at Kennedy for several years but picked Plummer as a better location so disposed of his business there.

If "Cannonism" prevails there is little doubt that the next President and Congress will be elected by the Democratic party.

And we hear that they are still of the opinion in the southern part of the State and in Iowa, that they raise corn down there. It is evident that a large proportion of the population down that way has never visited Red Lake County.

A window cleaner in Chicago recently drew seventy-five days for appropriating seven pennies that did not belong to him. If he had been a good business man he would have found out whether he could not have received special rates on larger amounts.

What volumes our faces say! Some speak of love and kindness, some of anger and hatred, others of pride and rebellion, and others still of selfishness. We can't help our faces talking but we can make them say pleasant things; and all should try to have them do so.

The action of the County dads in letting the county printing shows that they have no intention of trying to serve the people and tax payers, but it was to hl with the people we are running the business. Well that's what old king George said but he got put out of business on July 4th 1776.—Sunbeam.

Taft is now trying to have the insurgents and regulars patch up a peace so that he can make some showing, in a legislative way, on which to go before the people and ask for re-eleetion in 1912. If he would ask for Ballinger's resignation, and to oust Cannon and Aldrich, he would not find it very difficult to get all the Republicans pulling together once more.

How is your three week's-old resolution, does it stick? Now if you happen to slip, jump up instead of giving up. Be on the "try" instead of on the "yield" and the end of the year will find you stronger, better, of lighter heart and some what more perfect, than if you "declare there's no use." and fall completely back in the old way thick with the bogs of "bad habits."

The people who have so much sympathy for those who have gone beyond all earthly help, might use a little of it in everyday life to a good and excellent purpose. The idea of kicking people when alive and then weeping over their graves when they are dead is what too many of us do and is one reason why the world is no better today. Speak your kinds words to the living, and when you are dead you need not care what is said of you.

Red Lake County advertised for bids for the county printing, the same as is customary in other counties, but evidently the advertising was merely a blind, as the Red Lake Falls Gazette got the contract at 60 cents and 30 cents, while the Thief River Falls News offered to do the same work for 25 cents and 15 cents. Must be something wrong in Red Lake county.—Bemidji Sentinel.

Also the combined bid of the Thief River Falls Press and the Pioneer on which bid the commissioners could not have any possible excuse, such as poorer service to the taxpayer.

The manner in which the county printing was let this year would lead the average citizen to think that there is something rotten, not "in Denmark," but in Red Lake Falls.

For the best and deepest enjoyments that come to us, little we realize how much is due to smiles. Savages do not smile; coarse, brutal, cruel men may laugh, but they seldom smile. The affluence, the benediction, the radiance, which—"Fills the silence like a speech" is the smile of a full appreciative heart. The face that grows finer as it listens, and then breaks into sunshine instead of words, has a subtle, charming influence universally felt, though very seldom understood.

WEEK'S DOINGS AT WASHINGTON

Insurgents Join Democrats in Fighting Old Ring and Cannonism.

Wash., D. C., Jan. 19th. Out of the electrically surcharged atmosphere of the National Capital during the past week have come fresh indications of a fight to the finish between Speaker Cannon and the Insurgents.

They are short-sighted who contend that because temporarily warring factions within the Republican party in the last few years have buried their differences and presented a united front in the elections, they will do so in this instance. They over look the fact that differences here-tofore have been more or less superficial and that the basis of the present great contest is fundamental. It can not be terminated without final defeat for "Cannonism" or the Insurgents.

This is demonstrated by the announcement of the Speaker that he is in the fight to stay. "I am not going to quit," he is quoted as saying. "If I quit public life I should be not only a coward but a poltroon."

This put an end, for the present at least, to the hopes of those opponents of the Speaker who had an idea that the storm of party dissension might be overcome by a statement from him that he would not seek re-election to his present position of power, second only to that of the President. Another indication that the regular forces of the House are closing up their ranks and preparing for a general attack is the declaration of Representative Dwight, of New York, the Republican whip, that hereafer the system of pairing, in vogue for years, by which absent members were automatically paired and thus recorded by the clerks as voting, will be discontinued. No courtesies will be shown. All must be in their seats and ready for an emergency. Still another straw which shows the way the wind is blowing is the statement sent out by the Republican Congressional Committee, which has charge of the work of electing a majority of the next House favorable to their party, to the effect that the Insurgents would not be aided in their campaign for reelection in their respective districts.

When the caucus of the House Republicans was held for the purpose of nominating members from the various states who will serve on the new Congressional Committee, it was apparent that neither side was as yet ready to show its hand. The regular organization men, who are, of course, in the big majority, made no move against the Insurgents. And the Insurgents showed no disposition to raise a rumpus. The election of members of the joint committee to investigate the Ballinger charges did not come up. The Speaker had announced earlier that he did not wish the Senate to amend the House resolution so as to again provide for the appointment of the House members by him.

So much for the development of the week on thesurface. The Speaker and his lieutenants are defiant. They so express themselves. But under the surface the trend of things is against them. At a meeting of the thirteen Republican representatives from the Ohio districts, nine declared their determination to fight Cannon and Cannonism. This followed closely upon the announcement of Representative Taylor to his constituents that he would openly make the fight despite the fact that he had been given a pleasant birth as a member of the much sougt committee on appropriations. From the Pennsylvania delegation, which has been pleased with Cannon because of his standpatism, comes a report of serious defection. Even the dyed-in-the-wool-New York Tribune has gently hinted to the Speaker that it might be well for him to retire in the interests of party success.

The Administration, so far as it is represented at the White House, has not openly stated that it is engaged in the war against the Insurgents in this immediate instance. But it has leaked out that the permission to release the letter defining the attitude of the Congressional Committee toward the Insurgents was given from the White House. The fact of the matter is that the President is silently working with the regular forces in the House and Senate in order to insure the enactment into law of the measures which embody his policies, which makes it necessary for him and the House and Senate leaders to take a stand against those who present any obstacles to their enactment. It is predicted by many at the Capital that the President will soon be forced to take a more decided stand openly against the Insurgents. If he not does it will put him in the position of an opponent of Cannonism.

As an aftermath of the ejection from the government service of Gifford Pinchot comes the statement of James R. Garfield, of Ohio, former Secretary of the Interior and member of the Roosevelt tennis cabinet, indicating that the action against him is also against Roosevelt and his policies. Probably no event during the past week has caused so much inside comment as the interview which appeared in a few papers throughout the country. Meanwhile the President has appointed a successor to Pinchot as head of the Bureau of Forestry. He is Henry S. Graves, directors of the Yale Forest School aud for two years assistant chief of the old division of forestry under Pinchot. Simultaneously with the announcement of the appointment of Mr. Graves came an interview with President Hines, of the American Lumbermen's Association, saying that it was entirely satis factory to him and the organization he represents. Next to Gifford Pinchot and the assistants who were dissmissed with him, it is considered here that Graves is the best qualified man in the country for the place.

By the time the actual investigation of the Ballinger charges are under way it is likely that all the forces for and against the Adiminstration, including Speaker Cannon and Senantor Aldrich, will be well lined up. Within the next fortnight it is anticipated that the joint committee will have been appointed and the actual probe begun. Pinchot meanwhile is preparing for the presentation of the opposition side of the case.

Within a short time the resolution for the change of the date of the inauguration of the President of the United States from March 4th to the ast Thursday in April will pass both houses of Congress and be submitted to the legislatures of the states as an amendment to the constitution. So much has been said on the subject, accentuated by the severe weather conditions at the last inauguration, when the President was sworn in and delivered the inaugural address in the Senate chamber for the first time since Andrew Jackson assumed the office of chief executive, that it seems more than likely that there will be little opposition to ratification by the states. If the amendment becomes a part of the law of the land, President Taft and Vice-President Sherman will enjoy the unique distinction of serving longer than any of their predecessors or successors. Senators and Representatives who close their terms with the next Congress will likewise be distinguished. On the 4th day of March the chances are always against good weather. Late in April the chances are always in favor of it.

November Fire Losses in The State.

The fire losses in Minnesota for November were $125,000 as compared with $260,000 in the same month of 1908. The losses in the United States amounted to $12,815,000, as compared with $13,215,000 in November of last year

Fire Horse Gets Pension.

Having rounded out twenty-five years of service in the Brookline, Massachusetts, fire department, "Dick," a handsome white horse, was retired with honors and a pension on Christmas day, which also marked his thirtieth birthday. His retirment was ordered not because of any infirmity, for he is still sound and mettlesome, but because he had earned a rest and also because the fire chief has decided to ride to fires for a time in an automobile.

Dick's pension is a guarantee for life of a soft litter, needful exercise, and three square meals a day—Our Dumb Animals.

"My! so nise vaddar," "Yes I vill say dat too." But, he didn't.

WILL NOT USE PATRONAGE CLUB

President Taft Confers With Minnesota Men.

NOT WORRYING ABOUT CANNON

But Chief Executive Is Deeply Interested in the Welfare of the Republican Party and in the Enactment of Laws That Will Redeem the Platform Pledges of 1908—Representative Miller Is Satisfied With the Conference.

Washington, Jan. 18.—President Taft made it plain to three prominent Minnesotans that he is not using nor will he use the patronage club to force Republican insurgents into line for Speaker Cannon or the house rules. The president is not worrying about the speaker or the rules, but he is deeply interested in the welfare of the Republican party and in the enactment of laws that will redeem the platform pledges of 1908. Mr. Taft emphasized his position at a luncheon at which Representative Miller of Duluth and Frank B. Kellogg and C. A. Severance of St. Paul were his guests.

Mr. Miller is the insurgent through whom it was first made known that postoffice appointments and other patronage was being withheld temporarily from Republicans while the administration sized up the situation in congress.

Mr. Miller left the White House in a happy frame of mind. "I think I may say that no Republican member who gives his honest and earnest support to the legislation redeeming the promises of the Republican national platform will have occasion to complain of the treatment that is accorded him on questions of patronage," he said. "By that I understand that when it comes to patronage the Republicanism of a member is not to be measured by attitude toward the speaker or the house rules."

Patronage Not Discussed.

The subject of patronage was not under discussion at the White House, but it is believed a distinct idea as to the president's position toward congress was secured. He wants legislation, he wants the country to have the laws the people have a right to expect after they elected a Republican president and a Republican congress last year; he wants the pledges of the Chicago platform made good. Naturally he seeks and expects the co-operation of all Republican members, whether they are insurgents or regulars, when other matters are at issue in the house or in the party caucus.

The president made it clear to his Minnesota callers just what legislation he wants congress to enact at this session. While the Minnesotans did not say so in terms it is known that he is primarily interested in four measures at this time, namely, the postal savings bank bill, the bill limiting the use of injunctions in labor disputes, the bill giving statehood to Arizona and New Mexico and the bill amendatory of the interstate commerce act.

ONE MAN INSTANTLY KILLED

Dry House of Wisconsin Mine Is Dynamited.

Hurley, Wis., Jan. 18.—The dry house at No. 1 shaft of the Windsor mine, which is operated by the Odanah Iron company, one mile west of Hurley, was dynamited. The motive is unknown. The building was badly wrecked.

A man named Davis, in charge of the dry house, was killed instantly.

Henry Groves, mine boss, suffered a fracture of one leg and the loss of an eye. Superintendent Camellio's leg was broken. Three or four Polish miners were also more or less seriously injured.

Fourteen sticks of dynamite, with a fuse partly burned, were found under the opposite corner of the building.

Had the explosion occurred ten minutes earlier it would have caught 100 men in the building.

Ten sticks of dynamite were found lodged in a shaft at the second level, with the fuse partly burned. Had this exploded it would have closed the only exit of the mine.

COSTLY FIRE IN ST. PAUL

Building Occupied by Furniture Company Burned.

St. Paul, Jan. 18.—Fire partially destroyed the four-story brick building at 22 East Seventh street, occupied by the American Housefurnishing company, with a stock of goods valued at $80,000 The salvage was uncertain, but Louis A. Weidenborner, president of the company, estimated the loss at $70,000, with $60,000 insurance. The loss on the building probably will reach $20,000, fully covered by insurance.

The fire is supposed to have been caused by crossed electric wires.

Held for Wisconsin Officers.

Medora, N. D., Jan. 18.—Dewey Butler, wanted at Shawano, Wis., on a burglary charge, is held in jail here for the Wisconsin officials.

TRUST OFFICIAL IS INDICTED

One of the Men "Higher Up" Chargeo With Sugar Frauds.

New York, Jan. 15.—One of the men "higher up" has at last been named by the federal grand jury investigating the sugar frauds. Charles R. Heike, secretary and treasurer of the American Sugar Refining company, was indicted on charges of conspiracy to defraud and of making false entries.

Harry W. Walker, assistant superintendent of the Williamsburg docks of the American Sugar Refining company, was also indicted, together with other employes of the company, against whom indictments have previously been found.

In the new indictments Heike and Walker are accused, with Ernest W. Gerbracht, former general superintendent of the Williamsburg refinery; James F. Bendernagel, former cashier; Jean M. Voelker and James F. Halligen, checkers, of making false entries regarding four cargoes of sugar at the custom house.

The defendants are further accused of having conspired with Oliver Spitzer and the four checkers recently sentenced to Blackwells island to defraud the government by the underweighing of sugar.

MUST SERVE SENTENCE

Highest Court Refuses to Interfere in Walsh Case.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The supreme court of the United States has denied the petition for a writ of certiorari filed recently by John R. Walsh of Chicago, the banker convicted of financial irregularities and sentenced to serve five years in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan.

The supreme court declined to review the case and United States District Attorney Sims will at once ask the United States circuit court of appeals for a mandate committing the banker.

Walsh is ready. Following the receipt by him of vague rumors from Washington offering little hope he spent all of Sunday arranging his affairs. All day long, with two deputy United States marshals standing near, he sat at his desk signing papers and settling up financial matters in connection with the failure of his three banks in 1905.

Since Jan. 18, 1908, Walsh has employed every legal weapon in a bitter struggle to avoid a prison term. He was convicted on fifty-four counts of an indictment involving nine series of transactions, the loaning of the money of three Walsh enterprises—the Chicago National bank, Home Savings bank and Equitable Trust company—on memorandum notes and the purchase of bonds of the Illinois Southern and Wisconsin and Michigan railroads.

RICHARD OLNEY IN HOSPITAL

Condition Said to Be Improving Following Operation.

Boston, Jan. 15.—Richard Olney, who, as secretary of state in the late President Grover Cleveland's administration, wrote the famous Venezuelan message, has been for several days in a hospital in Brookline.

SEVERE STORM IN NEW YORK

Nine Lives Lost and Six Persons Injured.

New York, Jan. 17.—Nine lives were lost and six persons injured in one of the worst storms that ever visited New York city. The total snowfall when the skies cleared, was 14½ inches, second only to the blizzards of 1899, when 15½ inches fell, and of 1888, in which Senator Roscoe Conklin lost his life, when 20.9 inches fell. Eighteen thousand men are clearing the streets of snow, and the cost will exceed $800,000.

MICHIGAN MEN ARE IN REVOLT

Hope That Speaker Cannon Will Retire.

PENNSYLVANIA MEN RESTLESS

Delegation From the Keystone State Is Thinking of Supporting a Man to Succeed Uncle Joe In the Chair—Dalzell Has Been Mentioned, But Is Not Likely to Be in the Race If There Is a Race.

Washington, Jan. 18.—There were some developments in the Cannon speakership-insurgent-rules situation in the house of representatives. A poll of the Michigan delegation revealed that Congressmen Townsend, McLaughlin and Hamilton are decidedly anti-Cannon; that Loud hopes to heaven Uncle Joe will quit without being pushed; that Diekema has announced himself as a candidate for the job and that Denby, Fordney and McMerran think that the present speaker is all right and will vote that way until the cows come home. Smith, Gardner, Dodds and Young are still sitting on the fence.

It became known that the Pennsylvania delegation is thinking of supporting a man to succeed Mr. Cannon in the house. Dalzell has been mentioned, but is not likely to be in the race if there is a race. On the other hand it is thought that if any Eastern man has a look in, Congressman Olmsted, who knows a good deal about parliamentary law and practice, would be as strong or stronger than anybody else.

JOHN DALZELL.

Some members of the Pennsylvania delegation are growling because in their opinion Uncle Joe hasn't treated them fairly or treated the Atlantic seaboard fairly with respect to membership on the rivers and harbors committee and the waterways commission. There will be no announcement from this delegation now, but it was understood that if it becomes apparent that Mr. Cannon is bound to go down and out as far as the speakership is concerned Olmsted will be pushed to the front.

Anti-Cannon Majority.

The Minnesota delegation, while having made no announcement for publication, is known to have an anti-Cannon majority.

The insurgent situation in the house of representatives and there a bit of a situation, despite the recent harmony agreement, is all tangled up with Representative "Red" Hayes' whiskers.

Mr. Hayes has been insurging violently for some time. He was the spokesman during the recent conference at the White House of those members who had jumped the reservation and allied themselves with the Democrats in a successful attempt to take from Speaker Cannon the power to name the six house members of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation committee.

In pursuance of the victory so won the Democrats caucused last Saturday evening and selected Congressmen Ollie James of Kentucky and Rainey of Illinois as minority members. Mr. Hayes' bronze wind registers waved wildly in the breeze as he said unkind and uncomplimentary things about Messrs. James and Rainey. Tears were in his eyes as he told a group of newspaper men that in his opinion the Republicans of the house should stand together and prevent the election to the investigation committee of these two unanimously selected in caucus of Democrats.

New York, Jan. 18.—Mrs. Elsie Sigel, widow of General Franz Sigel of Civil war fame and grandmother of the Elsie Sigel who was murdered last August by a Chinaman, is dead. She never had been told of her granddaughter's death.

A Bernard Shaw Criticism.

Before fame came to him Bernard Shaw wrote dramatic criticisms for the London Saturday Review. The following sample is characteristic of the man:

"I am in a somewhat foolish position concerning a play at the Opera Comique, whither I was bidden this day week. For some reason I was not supplied with a program, so that I never learned the name of the play. At the end of the second act the play had advanced about as far as an ordinary dramatist would have brought it five minutes after the first rising of the curtain or, say, as far as Ibsen would have brought it ten years before that event. Taking advantage of the second interval to stroll out into the Strand for a little exercise, I unfortunately forgot all about my business and actually reached home before it occurred to me that I had not seen the end of the play. Under these circumstances it would ill become me to dogmatize on the merits of the work or its performance. I can only offer the management my apologies." — Everybody's.

Bloodhounds to Halt an Uprising.

Storm swept Jamaica was in 1738 the scene of a rising of the negro plantation slaves. At first there were brushes between the soldiers of the island garrison and the insurgents, and lives were lost on both sides. Then the commander, General Walpole, bethought him of having 100 dogs trained to track slaves brought from Cuba. These powerful and savage brutes, misnamed bloodhounds, were really of the mastiff tribe, says the London Chronicle. After being muzzled they were led to the position taken up by the malcontents. General Walpole sent a message to the slaves threatening to unmuzzle and unleash the animals if they did not surrender. The negroes, who had shown themselves to be by no means afraid of the bullets of the military, were now mad with terror. They threw down their arms and gave in. Remarks a contemporary historian of Jamaica, "It is pleasing to observe that not a drop of blood was spilled after the dogs arrived in the island."

Finding His Bride.

In one part of the canton of Ticino, in Switzerland, a very quaint marriage ceremony prevails. The bridegroom dresses in his "Sunday best" and, accompanied by as many friends and relatives as he can muster for the fete, goes to claim his bride. Finding the door locked, he demands admittance. The inmates ask him his business, and in reply he solicits the hand of his chosen maiden. If his answer be deemed satisfactory he is successively introduced to a number of matrons and maids, some perhaps deformed and others old and ugly. Then he is presented to some large dolls, all of which he rejects with scorn, amid general merriment. The bewildered bridegroom, whose impetuosity and temper are now sorely tried, is then informed that his ladylove is absent and invited in to see for himself. He rushes into the house and searches from room to room until he finds her in her bridal dress ready to go to church. Then are his troubles over and his state as a benedict assured.

The Code of Hammurabi.

The so called "code of Hammurabi" was brought to light during the excavations on the site of Babylon and is looked upon as being one of the very oldest if not the oldest of all known records. It is believed to be at least 1,000 years older than the Mosaic law. King Hammurabi reigned over Babylon about the year 2300 B. C., and the laws he inscribed on the clay tablets for the most part no doubt long antedate that time. The Mosaic law is supposed to have been given to Israel about 1200 B. C., and it would appear, therefore, that the Hammurabi code has the much greater antiquity.—New York American.

Witness My Hand.

In the early days only a few scholars knew how to write. It was then customary to sign a document by smearing the hand with ink and impressing it upon the paper, accompanied by the words, "Witness my hand." Afterward the seal was introduced as a substitute for the hand mark and was used with the words above quoted, the two forming the signature. This is the origin of the expression as used in modern documents.

"Colonel," she asked, "have you ever been up in a balloon?"

"No," he answered, "but I got to talking art to a Boston lady once, and she had me away up in the air inside of two minutes."—Exchange.

He Was Relieved.

The other day a person dropped down in an apoplectic fit immediately in front of a police station and was carried inside. A moment after a woman forced her way in through the crowd gathered around the door, exclaiming:

"My husband! My poor husband! Clear the way and let in the air!"

She then busied herself by taking off the man's cravat and performing other little offices until a surgeon arrived, when the patient gradually recovered his senses. On this the ser-

Entombed Three Days Miner Expires as Rescuers Reach Him.

Norway, Mich., Jan. 15.—Albert Circula, entombed alive three days ago by the caving in of the tunnel at Central Vulcan, met death only about five minutes before his rescuers penetrated the great mass of rock that has imprisoned him.

Physicians believe that the nervous strain caused by the expectancy of rescue, when he heard the miners nearing the end of their task, proved fatal.

TO BE PINCHOT'S ATTORNEY

James R. Garfield Will Represent Deposed Forester.

Washington, Jan. 14.—James Rudolph Garfield, secretary of the interior in the Roosevelt cabinet, will be Gifford Pinchot's attorney in the congressional investigation of the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy, according to gossip here.

It is said that the opponents of Ballinger plan to make it appear that the prosecution of Taft's secretary of the interior has the strongest possible Rooseveltian tinge. To this end Francis J. Heney, a strong Roosevelt favorite as a graft prosecutor, is to be engaged as the attorney for L. R. Glavis, who preferred the charges against Ballinger, while Pinchot, the former president's intimate friend, will appear as chief prosecutor, with Garfield, another member of the famous tennis cabinet, as his counsel.

ONLY ONE MAN SAVED

Thirty Persons Perish in Wreck on Oregon Coast.

Marshfield, Ore., Jan. 14.—Another tragedy of the sea has been written into the record of marine disasters on the North Pacific coast through the loss of thirty lives in the wrecking of the iron steamer Czarina on the north spit of the Coos Bay bar.

Harry Kentzell, first assistant engineer of the wrecked steamer, is the only living testimonial to heroic efforts made by the United States lifesaving crew and citizens of Marshfield to help the doomed ship's company.

Kentzell's escape is a wonderful story of man's endurance and physical strength. A tremendous sea swept the ship and Kentzell was washed from his place in the rigging. He was swept toward land, but time and again he was carried out to sea by shifting currents. He managed to get hold of a piece of timber and was slowly driven shoreward.

ON CONSERVATION

Message Transmitted to Congress by President Taft.

PLEA FOR SCIENTIFIC FARMING

Urges Better Treatment of Soil to Assure Larger Crops.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Complications brought about by the Pinchot-Ballinger affair are ignored by President Taft in the special conservation message which he submitted to congress.

The president urges that congress proceed immediately to dispose of the Taft-Ballinger conservation programme without awaiting the outcome of the congressional investigation of the Ballinger-Pinchot dispute.

In a plea for better treatment of the soil, so as to assure larger crops and lasting productivity, the president places scientific farming at the head of the list of conservation aids.

The president recommends legislation providing for the conservation of the public lands; the safeguarding of power sites along rivers in the public domain; the validating of the withdrawals from entry made by the secretary of the interior or under the disputed "supervisory power;" a detailed classification of public lands according to their use; the disposition of the agricultural and mineral resources of the same portions of the public lands separately; the rapid completion of the reclamation projects now under way and a $30,000,000 bond issue to finish and extend these projects; the extension of the activities of the forest service and the carrying out of an extensive programme of inland waterway improvement.

All of these matters, with the exception of the forest and inland waterways recommendations, the president says, have been embodied in a series of bills prepared by Secretary of the Interior Ballinger. The bills are now awaiting introduction in congress.

In considering the general question of public land, the president says:

Public Domain Depleted.

"In 1860 we had a public domain of 1,055,911,288 acres. We now have 731,854,081 acres, confined largely to the mountain ranges and the arid and semi-arid plains. We have, in addition, 368,035,475 acres of land in Alaska.

"The principal land statutes were enacted more than a quarter of a century ago. The homestead act, the preemption and timber culture act, the coal land and the mining acts were among these. The rapid disposition of the public lands under the early statutes, and the lax methods of distribution prevailing, due, I think, to the belief that these lands should rapidly pass into private ownership, gave rise to the impression that the public domain was legitimate property for the unscrupulous and that it was not contrary to good morals to circumvent the land laws. This prodigal manner of disposition resulted in the passage of large areas of valuable land and many of our national resources into the hands of persons who felt little or no responsibility for promoting the national welfare through their development.

"The truth is that title to millions of acres of public lands was fraudulently obtained, and that the right to recover a large part of such lands for the government long since ceased by reason of statutes of limitation."

A significant statement in the message is: "Since March 4, 1909, temporary withdrawals of power sites have been made on 102 streams, and these withdrawals, therefore cover 229 per cent more streams than were covered by the withdrawals made prior to that date."

DAMAGE WILL BE IMMENSE

Many Miles of Track Washed Out by Recent Floods.

Salt Lake, Jan. 13.—Advices from the flooded district of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake route filter in slowly. It is known that ninety-three miles of track are gone and that the road is, in fact, practically washed out in long stretches.

All trains, save four locals, have been abandoned. It is announced that there will be no through schedule made before September.

It is conservatively estimated that it will cost $14,000,000 to rebuild the line, which must follow a different route and one which detours to Meadow valley.

The damage is so stupendous the officials themselves cannot give comprehensive details.

TRAMPS PERISH IN WRECK

Five Die in Fire Following Accident to Train.

Wister, Okla., Jan. 14.—Five unidentified tramps were burned to death in a wreck on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad ten miles east.

While a freight train headed for El Reno was crossing an eighty-foot bridge the structure collapsed. Ten cars were thrown into the river. Two of the cars contained acid and three oil. The acid exploded, setting fire to all of the cars. The tramps were imprisoned in the debris and could not escape.

NEW CHARGE MADE

Ballinger Accused of Improper Use of Public Funds.

FILED WITH HOUSE COMMITTEE

Latest Allegations Submitted by Congressman Hitchcock.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Charges against Secretary of the Interior Ballinger and other officials, including allegations of improper use of public funds to pay private traveling expenses of a second cousin of the secretary, were made in a statement filed by Representative Hitchcock of Nebraska with the house committee on expenditures in the interior department.

The statement was presented by Mr. Hitchcock at a meeting of the committee called to permit him to substantiate his charges of extravagances in the interior department. The committee decided to issue subpoenas on Secretary Ballinger, Commissioner Dennet of the general land office and all others interested in the charges, to appear as witnesses before the committee next Wednesday.

The affidavit alleges improper use of the million-dollar appropriation "for the protection of the public domain against frauds" by the purchase of thousands of dollars' worth of expensive furniture, the employment of some eighty additional clerks, whose duties did not concern the public domain; salaries increased and in one case at least doubled (citing the cost of Chief of the Field Service Schwarz, whom he alleges received $700 more than his immediate superior); long telegraph bills, "which cover long extracts from the newspapers sent in by traveling representatives of the general land office; selection of special agents not at all qualified, etc."

Reduced Wright's Salary.

The statement asserts that when Mr. Ballinger became commissioner of the general land office, before entering the cabinet, he reduced the salary of Law Clerk Wright so that Judge Wright's salary "could be given to Jack Ballinger," his cousin, not under the title of law clerk, but under the title, created by Mr. Ballinger's order, of confidential clerk.

"I have been told Wright died of disappointment and humiliation soon thereafter."

Jack Ballinger remained a year in the service, the statement says, his manner of living, about the time his uncle resigned, in March, 1908, being alleged to illustrate "the reckless expenditures of the land office."

"It was announced," the statement goes on to say, "that young Jack Ballinger was leaving the land office to resume law practice in Seattle. In order that he might receive a final rakeoff he was designated as special temporary inspector of offices, an evident outrage on the treasury. This enabled him to draw traveling expenses from Washington to Seattle and a per diem also. Within two weeks after he reached Seattle he resigned to resume law practice, including, of course, practice before the land office out there and also in Washington."

Mr. Hitchcock suggested to the committee names of government employes who could furnish specific information, explaining that he was "persona non grata" with the interior department.

TO OPEN MONTANA LANDS

Will Be Subject to Entry Under Homestead Laws.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 15.—Nearly a million and a half acres of what is known as the "Rocky Boy Indian lands" will be thrown open to homesteaders in the extreme northeastern corner of Montana next March and may be entered without any of the formalities of drawing at one time and filing six months later, according to an announcement received in Butte as follows:

"By order of Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of the interior, about 1,400,000 acres of land in Valley county, Eastern Montana, known as the "Rocky Boy Indian lands," will be thrown open to white settlers March 1, 1910, and will be subject to both settlement and entry March 31 and thereafter."

The order of Secretary Ballinger provides for settlement and entry of the lands under the usual homestead laws. There will be no registration and no drawing. First to come will be able to make their selections and know to a reasonable certainty that they will be able to secure the land filed upon.

Further Arrests in Connection With Pittsburg Scandal.

Pittsburg, Jan. 15.—President E. H. Jennings and Vice President F. A. Griffin of the Columbia National bank; Max G. Leslie, county delinquent tax collector and former Republican city chairman; former Councilman Charles Stewart and F. F. Nicola, a capitalist and real estate operator, were arrested on warrants charging them with conspiring to cause the selection of the Columbia National bank as a city depository.

Pratical Dairying.

The pursuit of dairy farming depents for its success upon certain fundamental conditions. First the owner of the business must have a natural fondness for animals with good judgment in selection, breeding and care. Second, the cattle must be good, of their kind and of a variety suited to the work. They must be truely dairy cows. Third, the farm should be especially adapted to dairying. Fourth a good marked for dairy products.

We will in the following give a few of the essential points for improving the dairy herd and a few suggertions for breeding and care.

There are three main points for improving the dairy herd; First, the selection of the individual cow, that is a good producer. Second, by using a dairy bred sire of known dairy quality. Third, the way of improving the herd is through better feed and care.

The selection of a cow, that is a good producer, can be done only thru keeping a record of the milk and butter produced by each cow. The only apparatus needed for this work is a spring scale for weighing the milk, record sheet and a Babcock tester. The milk is weighed 3 times a month, morning and evening tested and the amount of butterfat compared. It will then be found at the end of the year that some cows are bringing in big money, while others, and perhaps which he considers among his best, are being kept at his loss Then by weeding out the poorer cows and better feed and care of the good ones, the cost of producing the butter fat can be materially reduced. Every farmer with a herd of five cows or more, should be owner of a Babcock tester, or better still be a member of a cow testing association.

The second essential part in improving the herd is using a dairy sire that will transmit this quality to his heifers. To get a sire that will make improvements in his heifer, over the common cow it is generally necessary to got outside the neighboshood in which you live. unfortunately, pure breed dairy herds are scarce. The cost of a pure bred sire is generally from $75 to $100, a price that the average farmer fells that he cannot afford to pay. By 8 or 10 farmers clubbing together, the amount for each one to pay would not be as much as the cost of a scrub animal, and one sire will do for 8 or 10 of the average herds as well as for one. In other words every dairy farmer should be a member of a cooperative breeding association. The third essential of improving the herd is good feeding and care. A good warm barn with plenty light; proper food and good bedding always pays well. Exposures to storms and cold are injurious to cows and will bring disastrous results sooner or later. Care should also be taken so as to not have the water too cold.

To get the best results the feed should be plentiful and composed of rough succulent feed and some foodstuff of a highly nutritious value given in well balanced rotation. To feed a cow a large amount of feed without some succulent fodder in the rotation may easily bring loss because the whole rotation will be too dry for their assimilation. Of course the cows have to be feed according to their production in order to be profitable. The best way is to place them in groups those giving the same amount of milk being put in the same group. In the study and comprehension of correct feeding lies the greatest opportunity for the exercise of real economy in the management of the dairy herd.

The building up and management of a dairy herd, requires study and intelligence. The farmer is perhaps the only business man today who sells goods of which he does not know the cost. By introduction of modern business methods on the farm, by exact records and scientific breeding and feeding, dairying is sure to give at the prevailing high prices of dairy of dairy products a larger proportionate return than most investments.

The Pictured Cowboy.

I recall one picture by a celebrated artist of the east who does western things. It depicts a "Cowboy at Rest." He is lying on his stomach in the sun, his chin in his hands. His horse stands nearby, with the reins thrown over the horn of the saddle. Now, a cowboy in the daytime, well filled with beans and canned tomatoes, would not lie thus, and, above all, he would not leave his horse standing thus. He would pull the reins down over the horse's head and let them hang, elsewise his cowhorse would depart. I recall yet another picture of a faithful cowpuncher who with his trusty rifle defends himself from behind his dead horse, which he uses as a fortress. The dead horse is about four feet and a half through sidewise—excellent for a fortress, but a trifle wide for a thin flanked cowhorse. It would be useless to point out any detail like this to any earnest artist of today. Worse than useless would it be to suggest that a cowpuncher is the laziest created thing, for in art he must do perpetual stunts of "action."—Collier's Weekly.

A Touch of Nature.

He was the worst boy in school; she was the teacher. She was angered by his stubbornness; he was defiant. She took him to the hall for punishment. Angrily she administered the penalty, and—then somehow a great wave of pity for the boy swept over her. She looked at the worn coat of the little fellow. She thought of the frail body deprived of nourishing food. She thought of the hard and loveless home and of the starved soul of the poor kid.

Tears sprang to the teacher's eyes as the boy waited for further punishment. Then he saw the tears. His own eyes grew moist and overflowed. Thinking of how the poor boy had no chance, in an impulse of love she put her arms around the boy, and they cried together.

That is religion.

She and the boy both found it.—Morrill (Kan.) News.

To Make a Glass Cutter.

A glass cutter can easily be made with an ordinary mapping pen and a small piece of carborundum or carbide of silicon. Cut off a part of the nib to form a small tube. Fit a crystal or part of one of carborundum into the tube, take it out again and dip one end in cement and replace it. Next wind a piece of fine wire tightly around the tube and part of the handle and fix it in a notch cut in the latter. Put it aside for a day to allow the cement to harden. A glass cutter made thus will do its work as well as the expensive diamond and a great deal better than the ordinary wheel cutter.

SOME SURE THINGS.

Do Not Bet on Your Ability to Perform These Feats.

Bets to be avoided by those who are cocksure they can do all things are those relating to athletic feats. It would seem that a good runner could easily give a start of fifty yards in a hundred to a man who was doing the fifty yards by hopping on one leg. But few runners, if any, can afford to give that amount of start to any man who is at all strong on his legs. For the first five yards or so they go at practically the same pace, so that to run ninety-five yards while his opponent is hopping forty-five he has to go more than twice as fast, and it is a weak man indeed who cannot hop fifty yards in ten seconds.

An ordinary wooden match is easily broken in the fingers, but, although there are many who will bet they can do it, none succeed in accomplishing the task if the match is laid across the nail of the middle finger of either hand and pressed upon by the first and third fingers of that hand, despite its seeming so easy at first sight.

No one can crush an egg placed lengthwise between his clasped hands—that is, if the egg be sound and has the ordinary shell of a hen's egg.

It is safe to bet a man that he cannot get out of a chair without bending his body forward or putting his feet under it if he is sitting on it, not at the edge of it.

Another equally certain wager is that a man cannot stand at the side of a room with both of his feet touching the wainscoting lengthwise.

It is safe to bet any man, save one who is blind, that he cannot stand for five minutes without moving if he is blindfolded.

WANTS CHANGE OF VENUE AGAIN

Alleged Murderer of Aagot Dahl claims Prejudice exists in Beltrami County.

Charles W. Scrutchin, Bemidjis colored attorney, who is council for Paul Fournier, has filed with Judge McClenahan at Brainerd an application for change of venue to some other county for trial in the case of the state of Minnesota vs. Paul Fournier who is accused of murdering Aagot Dahl near Quiring, in 1904.

Accompanying the application for the change of venue is an affidavit made by Mr. Scrutchin that prejudice againgt Paul Fournier exists in Beltrami county to the extent that he could not secure a fair trial in that county. With this statement there are some two hundred affidapits claiming prejudice.

Judge McClenhan has taken cognizance of the application and has set Thursday, Jan. 27 as the day for hearing the arguments.

Fournier was once convicted of the murder of N. O. Dahl sentenced to a term of life imprisonment at Stillwater, served part of his term, and was granted a new trial. He was again tried at Brainerd, where he was acquited of the murder.

The indictment charging Fournier with the murder of Aagot Dahl was returned at the same time as the true bill which accused Fournier of murdering N. O. Dahl. He was never tried on the last charge.

TURKISH STORE & STOCK BURNED

Completely Ruined Everything. Two Barely Escape Cremation.

On Tuesday morning at 2 o'clock fire was discovered in the Turkish store, owned by Mike Kalad, and located just north of the Auditorium on Main St., and, though the fire alarm turned in by a hackman was responded to quickly by the department, the inflammable nature of the contents and the fact that such a large quantity of the goods were hung on long wires for display, made the whole thing go up in smoke in a very few moments.

M. Kalad and a boy named Albert Omar, who works for him, were sleeping on the second floor of the building. Mr. Kalad says he was awakened by dense smoke and running to the bed where the boy lay, both escaped to the street with their night clothes on, carrying a portion of their other clothing in their arms, which was all they saved.

They ran to the Great Northern restaurant to turn in an alarm but found a hackman had already turned in the alarm.

Mr. Kalad, who has been in business in Crookston for several years, states that his loss is about $13,000 with $9,500 insurance. All his furniture upstairs, clothing, bedding and several big trunks of goods belonging to peddlers to whom he furnished goods and which were kept upstairs, were also destroyed.

Mr. Kalad says he left the store about 11 o'clock. When he awoke he says the flames were pouring from the rear of the building, cutting off all escape by the rear stairway, and that two minutes later escape by the outside stairway leading to Main street would also have been cut off.

He has not decided yet as to whether he will re engage in business here, but probably will.

The building belongs to W. E. Kelsey and was a frame structure. His loss is only partially covered by insurance.

The fire was a hard one to fight on account of the inflammable contents and the tinder-like building, and the firemen did a good job in protecting surounding property.

Mr. Kalad thinks the fire originated from the overheated stove in the store, but such progress had been made by the flames when the department arrived that Chief Johnstone and other firemen could form no idea of the origin.—Crookston Morning Times.

Liquor Scarce at Detroit.

An impending liquor liquor famine in Detroit is making the four saloon keepers, whom the Goverment Agent W. E. Johnron, allows to run there resort to horoic measures to supply their thirsty patrons. The railroads learned that they were equally liable with the saloon keepers for introduction of liquor into the Indian Reservation, consequehtfy they refused to carry liquor across the reservation lines. As the stock of drinkables in the four Detroit saloons was not large quick action was necessary. Arrangements were made to have the liquor put off the train at Vergas, the first town outside the reservation. From this town the liquor is transported by sleighs to points within the reservation. This makes the drivers of the sleighs liable but they seem willing to take long chances. Once across the line the liquor is again put on the train and carried to its destination. W. C. Calderwood, secretary of the state prohibition committee, said that he had not heard how the other towns in the reservation were getting their liquor, but that he felt sure if the railroad companies were warned they would not take liquor into any of the reservations. "We are getting reports of drunken indians in Detroit every day," says Mr. Calderwood, "and when Mr. Johnson returns it is possible that these four saloons will also be closed.

SOO SURVEY COMPLETED

Thief River--Duluth Extension Survey was Completed This Week.

Ralph Douglas, of this city, who has been employed on the Thief River Falls-Duluth extension survey, reached home yesterday, and says that the entire work of surveying this new road was completed the first of the week. The crew with which he worked has surveyed from Plummer to Clear Brook, a distance of something over forty miles. At this point they joined with the surveying party that had come from the other side.

He says that the entire ground across which they surveyed was very regular and the work will be done very rapidly. Only about four miles of the road near Greibrook has any great amount of cutting or grading. At this point, however, there will be one cut so deep as almost to warrant a tunnel. The contractors are at work upon this heavy cutting this winter, and it is expected that the entire cut will be completed by the time that the work can be begun on the open prairie again.

The grading from Plummer has been completed as far as Trail City, a distance of about twenty miles, and up on this part the rails will, in all probability, be laid just as soon as the frost gets out in the spring. It is also understood that the contractors are busy on the heavy cuts and grades near Bemidji, as well as further down the line. Most of the contractors who have bad places to cross are making an effort to have them filled up this winter. In one or two places there are large swamps and lakes to cross and these are being completely bridged over while the work can be do on the frost, thus making it not only cheaper, but insuring that these teacherous shoals will not cause unnecessary delays in the spring.

Mr. Douglas says that it is understood that all the contractors have agreed to have their work completed by June first so that all the rails can be laid and the track be in good shape for the fall business.

Fire at Thief River Falls.

Shortly after six o'clock on Tuesday evening, the German Luthern Church on the East Side was discovered to be on fire and the building was entirely consumed by the flames.

There was considerable delay in getting a stream of water on the flames or perhaps a portion of the building could have been saved. The first two hydrants that the firemen tried were found to be frozen up and when the third one was reached, the firemen were with out a hydrant wrench and this caused still futher

The building and church furniture were valued at about $1 500 and the society carried about $900 insurance. The organ and most of the seats were saved. Rev. and Mrs. Seltz occupied a part of the church with their living rooms and most of their furniture was saved altho it was damaged to a considerable extent. They had a hundred dollars insurance.

Just how the fire originated is unknown. Rev. Seltz was at Mahnomen and her wife was at hea father's Jacob Jonas, to spend the day. There was a fire in the coal stove, but the flames started in another part of the building. Rev. Seltz believes that the electric light wiring was defective and caused the fire.

OPPOSITION TO STEENERSON

Henry O. Bjorge announces His Candidacy for Congress.

Henry O. Bjorge, of Lake Park has announced himself as a candidate for congress from this district, now represented by Halvor Steenerson, and will seek the nomination on the republican ticket at the primaries in September. Mr. Bjorge's announcement appeared in the Hawley Herald last week. Announcing his candidacy he says:

I am in favor of a legislative program that will carry out to the fullest extent the spirit of the Roosevelt policies. I am in favor of curbing the power of the reactionary forces now intrenched behind the cloak of Cannonism, to which is already due the enactment of legislation favorable to "Special Interests" to the detriment of the masses. I am in favor of reforming the rules of the lower branch of the National Legislature so as to accomplish the abolition of the system that has made Cannonism possible.

If it should be my good fortune to be elected to thiS high position of public trust, I will devote all my energy and ability towards attaining results that will be for the best interests of the district of the state and the nation, and I pledge myself to use my best efforts to secure the election of a presiding officer of the House who will be in harmony with the spirit of progressive legislation. At a later date I shall state my position more fully upon these as well as othes questions that may become an issue.

Farm For Sale.

The C. C. Bergan grain and stock farm, 3 miles north of Plummer; consists of 160 acres; 80 acres under cultivation. 50 acres in pasture. balance in clover, timothy and meadow; good soft water well cost $300.

This is an ideal grain and stock farm; good buildings; barn rooms 60 head cattle and stables 8 horses; grainery, chicken coop and other small buildings all located in a very fine grove. Graded road all the way to farm. Will sell this farm on very good terms and below actual value I have rent ed a section and a half of land in North Dakota and have to move this spring. Write or call on C. C. Bergan or S. A. Lochen for price and terms. Plummer, Minn.

Azoturia In Horses.

This is a disease which comes on suddenly and is due to an acid in the blood. It sometimes effects the front parts as well as the parts, and the animal may come out of the barn feeling fine, ambitious, willing to go, and often goes faster than usual, but before it has gone very far it begins to lose its speed, hangs back, sweats profusely, breathes hard and begins to knuckle over behind, gets lame in one or both hind limbs and in a short time is unable to go any further and often falls helpless on the road in a paralyzed condition.

The proper thing to do is to place him on a stone bolt and haul him into the nearest barn, place him in a large, well bedded box stall or a barn floor where he can be turned over often until he is able to get up. Medicines should be given of a laxitive nature and that will allay pain and counteract the acid condition of the blood An injection of warm water should be given to unload the rectum of its faeces so that the animal can if possible urinate. If unable to do so the urine should be drawn. A stimulating liniment or a mustard plaster should be placed over the hips and the body should be kept comfortably warm. The animal should be given plenty of drinking water with the chill taken from it, a very little if any feed should be given before he gets up and he should be fed on bran mash and a very little hay after he is up until a full recovery is brought about.

It costs Minnesota farmers $2,403,000 each year to haul their wheat to the railroad, assuming that the average distance the grain is hauled is no more than five miles, it is probably much greater. With anything like good roads, the cost can be reduced from one half to two-thirds, or a saving of $1,201,500 each year on the cost of hauling wheat alone.

This fact is revealed in a government report which shows that the average cost of hauling one ton one mile on the railroads of the country is 8.6 mills or about four fifts of a cent. The federal Government says it cost twenty-five cents to haul one ton one mile in wagons over the country roads in such states as Minnesota, This state produced 94,080,000 bushels of wheat in 1909 or 1,922,400 tons. If this number of tons was hauled an average of five miles at a cost of $1.25 for each five miles, it cost $2,403,000 to haul the wheat to the elevators in the country towns.

One of the objects of the Conservation and Agricultural Development Congress to be held March 16-19 is not only to tell how farmers can make the roads better, but to show my model roads and with model road making machinery, how the roads can be put in conditions to save 50 per cent of this terrific cost. Since it is a cost to the farmers, it of course cuts down profits just that much.

Carnation Day Next Saturday,

If the early efforts of the carnation League of America are successful, Saturday of this week, Jan. 29, will see a more general wearing of the carnation than on any anniversary of the birth of President William McKinley except the one immediately following his assassination.

The Carnation league is the national body that instituted the custom of observing McKinley day by the display of his favorite flower. Reminding the public again of the approach of the day, letters and circulars have been sent from the league in quantities, sent from Bellefontaine, Ohio and signed by gereral Robert P. Kennedy.

Next Saturday is the sixty-ninth anniversary of President Mc Kinley's birth. "Patriotism," says one of the letters, "feeds and grows upon national traditions, historic events, and the memories of famous men. and, while the nation is greater than any man, yet there are those who stand on Pisgah's heights."

The darker it is all around us the stronger we should let our light shine.

The county optionist vote is causng the two state parties no little worry. The situation is well illustrated by the old "Kid" saying of "One's afraid and the other dasn't!"

The beef trust seems to be in for it bad, with both Uncle Sam and the consumer after it; And the farmer having disposed ot all the stock he wishes to sell this season, at a fairly good price, can sit back and enjoy the fun.

Paris is threatened with a flood, the river Seine having overflown its banks and covered a large part of France. Nature must have decided that as there seemed to be no prospects of the people doing it themselves, she had better give the town the cleansing which it so badly needs.

while we have always had a kindly feeling toward Governor Eberhart and thought that it would not be any more than giving him a fair show' to give him another term to prove the worth of his ideas: yet we think he must have been afflicted with undue enlargement of the cranium, when he assured President Taft of the support of Minnesota, as if he carried it in his vest pocket.

It is mighty mean to patronize a merchant who will trust you until you get so far in debt to him that you are ashamed to see him, and then go and spend your cash somewhere else where you could not get credit, but there are people who do it. The honorable way would be to spend your cash with the merchant who trusted you, even if you never expected to square up the old account.

When you hear a man running down his home paper or any other local industry, take a good look at him. Ten to one he will have a chin as long as a rail, an eye as restless as a horse thief; and he will hitch around in his chair as though he had a touch of St. Anthony's dance. Talk with him awhile and you will discover that he has made a failure of everything he ever tried (except being disagreeable), and nine times out of ten he is dependent on the public for favors or support; you will find him of a meddlesome, peevish, jealous, hateful or unreliable nature, a man who is always complaining, and although he has but little, if anything, of his own, one would imagine to hear him talk, that he had a quit claim deed to the earth and a first mortgage on heaven. He knows everybody's business and why shouldn't he? He has none of his own to take up his time. Such people, like mosquitoes, were not created in vain, perhaps, but one fact remains staple, they do not add materially to the pleasures of conducting legitimate business.

CANNON DOOMED
WHO'S NEXT

Democrats With Insurgents Have Controlling Majority.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26. That Speaker Cannon is doomed to defeat in any attempt to continue in his position of power and that the Insurgents and Democrats, as at present constituted, have a clear working majority in the House of Representatives was made evident during the past week of excitement at the Capital.

It is conceded by many of the Republican leaders that even though the Speaker persists in his determination to carry the fight to the finish, he will be unable to muster enough votes in the next House to again wrest victory from his foes. So large a number of representatives of his own party have expressed their intention to pledge themselves to their constituents at home to vote against his reelection that his success seems out of the question. A very large Republican majority in the sixty-second Congress would not alter the situation for the reason that the newly elected members would also be against him. Then, too, there are indications that the old organization which has four times made Cannon speaker is slowly dissolving into a new alignment of forces.

Particular indications of this situation have manifested themselves on the surface in announcements of candidacies for the Speakership. Representative Olmsted, of Pennsylvania, one of the staunchest supporters of Cannon, has seen the handwriting on the wall and run up his lightning-rod. Representative Diekema, of Michigan, has issued a statement declaring that Cannon and Cannonism are done for, that the delegation from his state will not support the speaker if he seeks retention, and that, therefore, he is a candidate. Other announcements of a like tenor are expected. Perhaps neither Olmsted nor Diekema will be elected, but they have squared themselves with their constituents.

In Washington it is power that attracts the allegiance of men, and none are so quick to detect the beginning of great change in this government of public opinion as those who hold office because of that opinion. These storm-petrels of America politics, and politicians, have decided that the country has made up its mind unfavorable to Cannonism and are acting accordingly. They are trimming their sails. Nowadays the demonstrations of approval of "Uncle Joe" in the House are few and far between and the terms used in referring to him are more formal if not more severe. It is considered that the political disease from which he is suffering is mortal. Considerable time will elapse before the next Speaker is chosen, but only a few months before the nomination and election of members of the sixty-second Congress.

Hence the effort at this early date to discover upon whom the mantle of Cannon will fall and to get on the band-wagon. Now that Senator Burton and General Grosvenor have left the House, Ohio has no man who looms up as a possibility. When the last contest was on, Sereno E. Payne and James S. Sherman, now Vice-President, made it impossible for New York to unite and enabled Illinois to carry off the prize. Payne, who is Republican floor leader and chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, is lacking in sufficient personal popularity with his colleagues and is thought to be out of it. Pennsylvania has Olmsted, able lawyer, and John Dalzell, member of the Committee on Rules and famous as a high protection standpatter.

All this is, of course, contingent upon the election of a Republican House. The Democrats are hopeful of wiping out the majority of fifty. For the time being they are carrying out a policy of letting the Republicans fight it out amongst themselves and thereby help their cause indirectly. The Republicans are confident that with sufficent pledges to the country that Cannon will not be reelected Speaker they will get together and be returned to power, even though it be with a small majority.

The pressure on Speaker Cannon to voluntarily announce that he will not again become a candidate, despite his recent aggressive statement, continues. This is superinduced by the fact that it has been discovered that the Democrats and Insurgents have made a cast-iron coalition and have a majority of three votes over the regular Republicans. In the House there are 219 Republicans and 169 Democrats. Three Democratic seats are vacant. Filled, the combination has a majority of six, caused by the fact that in the Insurgents camp are twenty eight dyed-in-the-wool opponents of Cannon and the present House rules. The line-up on a test vote would be 197 Democrats and Insurgents to 191 Republican regulars. This fact accounts for the willingness of the regular Republicans to make a concession, giving the Insurgents one member of the Ballinger investigation committee. It also accounts for the strenuous efforts made by the President to force them into a position where they will have to vote for the measures nearest his heart or get out of the party. He can put through none of those measures without them. The breach is still wide.

During the week the President talked with Representatives Hayes, California; Murdock, of Kansas, and Gardner, of Massachusetts, - - all of them Insurgents. He gave them to understand that he, too, had his back to the wall and that he meant to "do something" in the way of getting his measures adopted. He made it clear to them that his test of their Republicanism would be a vote for the following measures, which he regards as pledged by the party at the last convention and in the campaign: The limitation of the use of the injunction power by the federal courts; the enactment of amendments to the railway rate laws which regulate interstate commerce; the establishment of a system of postal savings banks; seperate statehood for Arizona and New Mexico; conservation of the national resources, and a federal incorporation act.

MOVE FOR GOOD ROADS.

"Good roads would add enough to the farmers profits on Minnesota potatoes to pay for the improvement of several hundred miles of country roads every year." This is the opinion of government experts in road building who will be in Saint Paul March 16th-19th attending the Minnesota Conservation and Agricultural Development Congress called by Governor Eberhart.

A part of the program is to be devoted to a discussion of good road making and the addresses will be illustrated with both lantern slides and moving pictures. Some of these were taken by Geo. W. Cooley, state engineer of Minnesota, on a recent trip in Europe. Others are furnished by the government and M. O. Eldridge, the expert in charge will deliver an address. No other subject is attracting such wide attention as road making. Farmers all over the United States are devoting time and money to building better roads as they realize the saving made by having roads which can be used at any time of the year, will enable them to pay freight to more remote markets and thus broaden the scope of their market. When competition is close, good or bad roads decide the matter as to whether certain products can be marketed or not. What the goverment experts say about Minnesota potatoes is very true, for potatoes generally bring the best prices at a time of year when the roads are bad.

BRAIN MAKING MILLIONS.

How teaching agriculture in the public schools of Minnesota will make profits for future generations, which seems impossible to the present tillers of the soil, will be one of the many things in connection with agricultural and industrial education, revealed by the Conservation and Agricultural Development Congress to be held in St. Paul March 16-19.

When a farmer's boys take charge of the farm, ten years profits may be lost in experimenting as to the best crop to raise on a given tract and feed a number of hogs, yet this may all have been worked out years ago and accurate information placed in such a form that it may be taught in the schools, the same as geography.

Experiments have been profitable in Minnesota. The state at one time spent $40,000 studing wheat, oats, corn, flax, barley and other field crops, and the experiments resulted in increased production in about one thousand fold, or returned forty million dollars. Even if the estimated returns are ten times too high, each dollar of public money spent learning something about the grains, returned a hundred dollars.

One variety of wheat, Minnesota No. 169 has spread to a large acreage, estimated at over a million and is adding two dollars an acre to the farmers profits. No. 25 flax is crowding out others because it yields 25 percent more seed. Minnesota No. 13 corn has gained a wide use from Lake Michigan westward thru three states and stretched the corn belt until it extends fifty miles further North.

How brains are making millions on Minnesota farms will be one of the subjects of the coming congress, among the speaker being Richard J. Crisby, of Washington, D. C. and professors Webster, Heeter and Harrington of Minnesota.

Study yourself until you learn what your life work is, then do it with all your might.

Governor Hughes of New York says he will not be a candidate for re-election as governor of the Empire state but mark you he did not say that he would not be a candidate for the office of President of the United States. It is quite probable that the governor will take a little rest and groom himself for the big race in 1912.

A full pocket often makes a sleepy conscience.

WAGE DEMAND TURNED DOWN.

Eastern Railroads Refuse Increased Pay to Employes.

New York, Jan. 21.—The thirty-two railroads centering in New York refused the demands made by their 200,000 trainmen and conductors for an increase in wages and a shorter day. They asked for a conference between the managers of the railroads and the union men, giving the railroad men the right to name the date of the conference. As yet no date has been announced. A compromise without the necessity of a strike, it is believed, will be the outcome of the future conferences.

MAY LOSE SIGHT OF AN EYE

Thomas Taggart Accidentally Shot While Hunting.

Natchez, Miss., Jan. 23.—Thomas Taggart, former national chairman of the Democratic party, wounded while hunting by his secretary, W. H. Norton, has left for his home at Indianapolis. He is accompanied by Dr. R. C. French of Natchez, by his secretary and Joseph E. Bell, an Indianapolis attorney, who was in the party.

THOMAS TAGGART.

Taggart was struck by a lead of shot from Norton's gun. The shot took effect in his face, shoulder and arm. Dr. French declares that the wound, while not serious unless complications set in, may cause the loss of the sight of the right eye. The shot will not be removed until Taggart reaches his home.

FIFTEEN MEET DEATH

Victims of Explosion Are Terribly Mangled.

Fishkill Landing, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Fifteen men, three of them Americans, were killed by a permature explosion of nitroglycerin in a tunnel which is to form part of the great aqueduct which will carry water from the Ashokan dam in the Catskills to New York city. Five were terribly mutilated, but were so near the mouth of the tunnel that they were rescued alive. The other fifteen were found beneath a mass of rock and debris, literally hammered by the force of the explosion into a bleeding mass of heads, limbs and torsos.

The cause of the explosion has not been ascertained, but it is believed that one of the workmen, carrying a torch, tripped and fell, igniting a fuse and setting off a series of charges of nitroglycerin.

TWO SCORE DEAD

Terrible Wreck on the Canadian Pacific Railroad.

CAUGHT LIKE RATS IN TRAP

Coaches Hurled From Bridge to Frozen Stream Below.

North Bay, Ont., Jan. 23.—Estimates of the number of persons killed when four cars of a Canadian Pacific passenger train plunged down an embankment into the ice covered Spanish river vary from forty to fifty. The official list of known dead issued by the railroad company numbers eight and the injured twenty-four.

The cars are still buried in the river with only their ventilators showing above the broken ice and the number of dead which they contain may not be known for several days, although the railway company is making efforts to raise the sunken cars. Eighteen of those killed were in the second class car and most of them were foreigners, whose names are difficult to ascertain. It is known that there were sixty passengers in the first class car and it is believed there are five bodies in the dining car. Of the injured four died and others are in a dying condition.

The train when it left Sudbury carried in the neighborhood of 100 souls. It was made up as follows: Engine, mail and baggage car, express, second class coach, colonist, first class coach, dining car and Pullman.

Spanish river is thirty-eight miles from Sudbury. The railroad at this point cuts into the side of a hill and crosses the river over an iron bridge.

Going at a Fast Rate of Speed.

The bridge was approached at a fast rate of speed and the engine, mail, baggage and express cars were on the structure. From reasons not yet ascertained the trucks of the second class coach jumped the track. The coach struck the bridge abutment and was split in two as clean as though with a huge cleaver.

The momentum of the train carried the half of the second class coach, the colonist car, first class car and dining car down the bank and into the river. The Pullman fell over on its side near the tracks.

Caught like rats in a trap every passenger on the half of the second class coach, colonist car and first class coach was drowned and only the most heroic efforts saved eight persons from the diner.

With such force were the cars hurled down the bank that they cut a wide swath in the twelve-inch thickness of ice which covered the river. Even if any persons succeeded in breaking through a window they were almost surely trapped under the ice and never had a chance for their lives. This is true of half of the second class car, the colonist car and the first class car, from which only two are known to have escaped.

GOVERNORS END CONFERENCE

Next Meeting to Be Held at One of the State Capitals.

Washington, Jan. 21.—After perfecting concrete plans for future conclaves the conference of governors adjourned to meet at one of the state capitals on a date between Thanksgiving and Christmas of the current year, the exact time and place to be determined by a committee which was appointed.

The final sessions of the conference were marked by a divergence of views among the governors as to the wisdom of the state executives as a body passing resolutions for or against any given proposition. Several governors maintained that the greatest good would be accomplished by a courageous and definite stand upon great public questions. Eventually all resolutions calling for a formal expression of opinion by the governors as a body were left in abeyance.

BRITISH ELECTION RETURNS

Unionists Continue to Gain Seats in Parliament.

London, Jan. 25.—The Unionists gained two more seats—one in the Southport division of Lancashire and another in the Harrow division of Middlesex. Otherwise the few results announced do not change the party strength. The newly elected members of parliament now stand:

Unionist, 221; Liberals, 202; Laborites, 34; Nationalists, 69.

With the cessation of the stream of Unionist gains, the Liberal leaders are exhibiting a more hopeful spirit. Winston Spencer Churchill at Poole asserted that the Liberals would return to power with a majority practically as great as Salisbury ever enjoyed.

City Aroused Over Brutal Murder.

Ishpeming, Mich., Jan. 25.—Richard Varcoe, an old and highly respected resident of this city, was foully murdered in the street by two intoxicated men. He was stabbed twice with a pocket knife. James Seopacasa and James Donato, Italians, were arrested charged with the crime and are said by the police to have confessed. The population of the city is aroused over the murder and the prisoners are being closely guarded.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

To Be Subject of a Congressional Investigation.

Washington, Jan. 25.—A congressional investigation of the high cost of living by a commission representing the two houses is to be proposed by Representative Martin of South Dakota in a resolution he will introduce.

Mr. Martin intends to enlist the support of the president and he is confident he will have sufficient support to pass his resolution.

It will provide for a commission composed of six representatives and six senators to be named as was the Ballinger-Pinchot commission, to be empowered to investigate the increased price of the necessaries of life in recent years, both foods and fuels. The commission is to be authorized to subpoena witnesses, force their attendance and compel the production of books and papers.

It is to report the facts and its conclusions to congress and is to have a fund of $25,000 to defray expenses.

Mr. Martin is going to push the matter before the committee on rules, urging early consideration.

"The country is entitled to know why the prices of the common necessaries of life, such as foods and fuels, have been increasing," said Mr. Martin, "and whether the increases have been caused in whole or in part by combinations in restraint of trade. It is the duty of congress to look into the matter and ascertain what remedies can be applied.

"I have pending a bill for the regulation of corporations engaged in interstate trade that handle fuel and food supplies. Such corporations in my opinion should be subject to the most rigid supervision by the federal government, and if they are responsible for the higher cost of food and fuel products, congress should at once apply an effective remedy."

PEARSON TO GIVE AWAY HIS MONEY

Philanthropist to Get Rid of His Wealth Before He Dies.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—After having given more than $4,000,000 to various struggling colleges in many parts of the country, Dr. D. K. Pearsons, on the eve of his ninetieth birthday anniversary, announced that he intends to give away every cent he possesses before he dies. Dr. Pearsons is reputed to be worth many millions.

"I am having more fun than any other millionaire alive," he said. "Let other rich men go in for automobiles and steam yachts. I have discovered, after endowing forty-seven colleges located in twenty-four states, that giving is the most exquisite of all mundane delights.

"On my ninetieth birthday, on April 14, next, I am going to have a squaring up with all the small colleges I have promised money to, and I serve notice that beginning then I am going on a new rampage of giving. I intend to die penniless. If there are any other millionaires who want to have a lot of fun, let them follow my example. I am going to live ten years longer, and during that time I expect to do nothing but give away money.

"I have given money to twelve colleges in the South. I don't think any of my other gifts have given me quite the same satisfaction that these have. It's fine to sit here and to think that the South knows it is being made a better South by a blamed old abolitionist like me. It sweetens 'em, I tell you. It makes them feel better. Berea college, in Kentucky, is my pet. I have watched it grow with the utmost interest. It is doing great good among those Kentucky mountain boys. This nation needs those Kentucky mountaineers. It was they who fought the battle of King's mountain and who helped Jackson whip the British at New Orleans.

"Another pet of mine is Guilford college, in North Carolina. There's where Speaker Cannon was educated. It's a Quaker institution and I like it."

J. J. HILL FINDS THE REMEDY

Advocates Plain Living as Panacea for Modern Ills.

Washington, Jan. 25.—"It is not the high cost of living, but the cost of high living, which is causing the complaint we now hear," said James J. Hill.

"If the people would only return to former modes of living and not be so luxurious in their tastes there would be no trouble. Every one now wants only the best and is not satisfied with plain foods. A man can today buy for 40 cents enough substantial food to nourish his body twenty-four hours.

"There has been no material advance in the cost of the necessaries. Tea has gone up four-fifths of 1 per cent, coffee 5 per cent, sugar 4 per cent and rice 3 per cent. It is the more choice cuts of meat, those that may be considered luxuries, that the notable increase in price has occurred. Let us all get back to plain living and the remedy will be found."

Paulists Celebrate Jubilee.

New York, Jan. 25.—The Paulist community began the celebration of its golden jubilee with solemn vespers in the presence of Cardinal Gibbons. In connection with the jubilee there is on foot a movement to raise $100,000 for a new home for the order in New York city. The Paulist community was founded in 1858.

FLOODS IN FRANCE

Situation Desperate in Many Sections of the Country.

IMMENSE DAMAGE AT PARIS

Property Loss in French Capital Aggregates Millions.

Paris, Jan. 25.—The weather is warm and it is still raining, causing a continuation of the alarming rise of the Seine, which is already at an unprecedented height, threatening the city with incalculable loss.

The Seine will likely flood the roadway of the famous Place de le Concorde within a few hours.

The entire city is in danger of a water famine. Five arroundissements are already without water, due to the breaking of their water mains and the contamination of the supply by sewage. The suburb of Ivry, with 20,000 inhabitants, is completely under water.

The basement of the Louvre, the world's greatest art palace, is flooded, putting the heating plant out of commission. Owing to the continued dampness pictures and plaster casts in the Louvre are being damaged and the loss promises to be irreparable.

Unless some way is found immediately of ventilating that part of the subway that has not yet been flooded the entire underground system will be put out of commission. The vilest odors permeate the subway, making travel in it almost impossible. Refuse from broken sewers has been swept into the subway.

The government is taking active steps to prevent an epidemic of typhoid, of which there is great danger.

While the situation in Paris is alarming it is no more serious than in the Eastern and Southern parts of France, where 100,000 are homeless and in destitute circumstances.

Loss in Paris Fully $6,000,000.

The loss in Paris alone is already placed at $6,000,000, with every inch rise of the Seine adding thousands to the loss.

In the country districts the situation amounts to a national disaster.

The river here presents an awe inspiring spectacle. A quarter of a million people in a drenching rain throng the stone parapets and quays, watching the yellow tide, which is crowded with driftwood, wine casks and other wreckage, rushing seaward. The water is now almost flush with the arches of the bridges.

Firemen, police and troops are working like mad at all the bridges, disentangling blockades, resulting from the floating debris, and it is hoped that all the bridges will be saved. Traffic on several of the frailer ones, however, has been stopped.

The tunnel between the Quai d'Orsay and the Quai d'Austerlitz stations is a rushing stream.

The basement of the Palais de Justice is full of water and the first floor of the Central police station is untenable.

A fourth of France, it is estimated, is under water. Snow and rain are adding to the floods, which are unprecedented in the history of the present generation. The dyke at Saone au Doubs broke, inundating ten villages. The streets of Chalons are under water and two persons have been drowned. Hundreds of persons are on the roofs of their nearly submerged homes, crying for help. Boats are being used by rescuing parties.

SAYS BANKS ARE IN COMBINE

Holding Company Controls Many Northwestern Institutions.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 25.—The state commissioner of banking has discovered a new kind of trust—a combination of banks in the small towns of the Northwest. His annual report just given out asks for legislation to prevent such a combination. The report shows that there is a Minneapolis holding company which holds the majority of the stock of forty banks in the small cities of Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota and the Dakotas and that other similar holding companies are being formed.

The commissioner believes that there is a serious danger for the general public in these banking trusts. Holding companies, he says, cannot pay close attention to the individual banks and the risk through defalcation of subordinate officials, not directly interested in the concerns, he thinks, is greater than heretofore.

ANOTHER FIRM IS CAUGHT

Roberts, Hall & Criss of New York Forced to Suspend.

New York, Jan. 21.—Roberts, Hail & Criss of New York and Cincinnati were forced to suspend as members of the New York Stock Exchange following the two failures brought about by the collapse of the Columbus and Hocking Coal and Iron pool.

Hugh F. Criss was the board member of the firm and had charge of the Hocking pool on the exchange. He estimates the liabilities of the firm at $8,000,000, but is quoted as saying that he hoped to pay "100 cents on the dollar unless the governors of the exchange permit welching on the part of other members with whom I had contracts."

SWEEPING OVER COUNTRY

Boycott on High Priced Food Extends to Many States.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—The boycott on high food prices started in Cleveland a week ago is growing rapidly. Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska and Michigan now are included in the ranks of the crusaders in the West, while in the East Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Delaware are lifting their voices in feebler protests.

Ohio, however, still is the stronghold of the movement. The Cleveland boycott has extended to Canton, where the Central Labor union has adopted a "no meat" resolution and petitions are being circulated with surprising results at Columbus, where a strong boycott has been organized, and Toledo, Akron and other cities of the state.

The crusade in Ohio has found encouragement in the publicly expressed belief of Governor Harmon that a food trust is gobbling excessive profits somewhere between the producer and the consumer. He has called on the legislature to hunt the trust out of the woods and exhibit it to the people.

WALSH IN PRISON CELL

Former Financier Begins Serving His Sentence.

Leavenworth, Kan., Jan. 20.—On a little iron cot in a cell of the federal prison here John R. Walsh, who has begun serving a five-year sentence for misapplying the funds of the Chicago National bank, spent his first night in the penitentiary.

If the change from a luxurious room in his Calumet avenue mansion in Chicago to a small barred space worked a hardship with the prisoner he did not show it by his actions. He has accepted his new situation with smiling good grace. He is outspoken in his approval of the kindly manner in which he has been treated since his arrival.

The new surroundings did not make Mr. Walsh—who is now known as "Convict 6861"—nervous. He sat calmly in his cell and read until the big gong sounded "lights out" at 9 o'clock. Then he disrobed and retired. When a guard passed the cell a few minutes later the ex-banker was sleeping peacefully.

JOHN R. WALSH.

When the convicted banker was shown his cell he asked several questions about the rules governing his incarceration.

"Just tell me what to do and I will do it," he said. "If I violate any rules I assure you it will be through ignorance only."

ROOSEVELT FOR SPEAKER

Ex-President Mentioned as Successor to Cannon.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Roosevelt for speaker of the house of representatives. This is the latest decision reached as to "what shall be done with our ex-president?" according to a report that has spread among members of congress.

It is even said that Mr. Roosevelt has agreed to run for congress in the First district of New York state, in which Oyster Bay, his home, is located. The understanding that he will be elected to the speakership if he runs is, it is declared, insisted on by Mr. Roosevelt.

Representative William W. Cocks of the First district, according to the report, is willing to step down and out in favor of Mr. Roosevelt.

GRAHAM GOES ON COMMITTEE

House Approves Selection of Democratic Caucus.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Accepting the action of the Democratic caucus the house elected Representative Graham of Illinois as a member of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee in place of Representative Lloyd of Missouri, who resigned following his selection by the Republican caucus and election by the house in lieu of Representative Rainey of Illinois.

Death Follows Poker Game.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Jan. 25.—H. B. Lyons, thirty years old, of Omaha, was found dead in a room at the Montrose hotel after playing poker all night with A. Rothschild, also of Omaha. Rothschild said he stepped from the room a minute and when he returned he found Lyons gasping on the floor with a bullet wound in his temple.

FOUR BODIES ARE FOUND

Result of a Day's Work at Spanish River Bridge.

Sudbury, Ont., Jan. 25.—The recovery of four bodies and the identification of two of the women was the net result of the day's work at Spanish river bridge. A satchel was found which belonged to O. S. Martin, a commercial traveler of Waterloo, Ont., and it is possible his name will be added to the list of dead.

The bodies recovered were those of Miss Mulroy, Cache Bay, Ont.; —— Hansen, a man of forty years, address unknown; Mrs. Kelley, wife of Joseph Kelley of Leavenworth, Wash., and Florence Kelley, ten years old, daughter of Mrs. Kelley.

The latest bodies recovered and identified were: Mrs. Newman, Iverhuron, Ont., and Mrs. Loma Therein, Little Current, Ont.

Father Schoillou, the Catholic priest, who was killed, had a letter of introduction in his pocket addressed to Father Currie, at Blind River, Ont. This led to the belief, wrongly, that Father Currie, who is safe at home, had been killed.

The changes and additions give a total of thirty-seven known dead, all but four of whom have been identified. Statements by railroad officials early in the day placed the list of known dead at thirty-one, but their figures were raised to thirty-seven. Apparently no consideration is taken of the immigrants who were traveling in the colonist car. This coach was cut in two, one end dropping into the river and the other end being destroyed by fire. The loss of life in the colonist car can only be estimated, as the officials refuse to make any statement in regard to it. Ten is considered a conservative estimate. The number of injured in the wreck totals twenty-four, of which three are in a serious condition.

Conductor Reynolds had taken up seventy-nine tickets on the trip, and seventy-two holders of these, according to these figures, were killed or injured.

VIGOROUS POLICY TO BE INAUGURATED

Administration to Go After the Trusts.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Callers at the White House who have sounded the president recently as to his attitude toward the prosecution of the so-called trusts report that regardless of whether the proposed voluntary federal corporation law is passed or not, the administration is preparing to put into effect a vigorous policy of dealing with the big combinations so as to bring them within the provisions of the anti-trust laws.

The president has let it be known that he is at this time merely awaiting the decision of the supreme court in the Standard Oil and tobacco trust cases before directing the attorney general to take up and inquire into the more notorious of the other trusts. The president is further reported as having said that both he and the party of which he is the titular head are pledged to a vigorous enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust act and that he intends to keep the pledge, but does not consider it necessary to climb upon the housetop every morning and shout about it.

The president is said to be particularly well pleased with the activity and earnestness of Attorney General Wickersham in the cases already in hand. He proposes to strengthen the trust bureau of the department of justice from time to time by the addition of the best talent available, and probably will ask congress at some time in the near future for an increased appropriation to carry forward this work.

Senators Lodge and Carter had conferences with President Taft on the postal savings bank bill now in committee. Later Senator Penrose, chairman of the senate committee on postoffices and post roads, called a meeting. It is understood that the bill will be reported out.

After his talk with the president, Senator Lodge said he believed the bill would pass the senate and that there would be little opposition in the house.

Combine to Fix Prices.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 25.—The Polk county grand jury is in possession of a letter tending to show that there is a combine in Des Moines to fix the price of butter. The letter was written to Charles B. Cleland, a groceryman, in which threats are made that unless he charged certain prices for butter his supply would be cut off. The letter has been handed to the grand jury.

Objects to Lee Statue.

Oskaloosa, Ia., Jan. 25.—Claiming to voice not only the sentiment of the post but also of the entire department of the Iowa G. A. R., a protest against the placing of the statue of Robert E. Lee in statuary hall of the national capitol has been sent to the Iowa members of congress by Phil Kearney post No. 40, G. A. R., of Oskaloosa.

Joel Heatwole Is Better.

Northfield, Minn., Jan. 25.—Hon. Joel P. Heatwole, who has been confined to his home by illness for the past two weeks, is reported better and progressing favorably on the road to recovery.

Joseph Johnson of the rown of Star the reservation representative on the board of county commissioners stopped off here Sunday on his return from Red Lake Falls where he had been to attend a meeting of the commissioners. Mr. Johnson was very wroth on account of the highhanded way in which the Three commissioners, who are elected by a minority of the people, are running the counties affairs, and allowing certain exhorpinat bills much against the wishes of a majority of the people who it seems have nothing no say in the matter.

Origin of Tory.

Sir Walter Scott's explanation of the origin of "tory" as "give me" is not quite the same as that of other inquirers. According to a high authority, the word is Irish for a "pursuer" and was at first given to moss troopers, who for their own villainous purposes pretended to be on the side of the crown and the constitution and the rights of property and in that disguise haunted the bogs of Ireland, robbing the inhabitants in the name of the king. About 1680 those who "contended for the extreme prerogatives of the crown" had this contemptuous term applied to them by their opponents, and thus we arrive at the meaning of today. Macaulay points out as a curious circumstance that "whig" and "tory" originally applied as a term of insult should so soon have been assumed with pride. An odder circumstance is that two great English parties should have taken their titles the one from the bogs of Ireland and the other from the lowlands of Scotland.—London Times.

Gilbert Islands Tipple.

Neither tea nor coffee is drunk in the Gilbert islands, but liquor named karafee, or toddy. It is the juice of the coconut tree, from which it is drawn daily at sunrise and sunset. To obtain it the natives climb up the tall trees and while extracting it keep up a constant yelling to let those below know that they are at work. The sap when fresh is a harmless and delicious beverage, but after it has been kept a day or two fermentation sets in and it becomes intoxicating. Karafee does not, however, fly to the head, but a man who drinks it to excess loses the control of his legs. However, when this befalls a native he has sense enough to remain indoors and shows his face to no one, for if his chief should ever hear of it he would be tried and sentenced to hard labor and a heavy fine. In former days a native found intoxicated was tied to a tree and received a hundred lashes, the blood fairly streaming down his back. Besides this, all his lands were confiscated to the king forever.

AN ENGLISH HOLIDAY

How East Side London Plays on Boxing Day.

ROUGH SPORT IS THE RULE.

All Cockneyland Flocks to Historic Hampstead Heath, Where Hilarity, Fast and Furious, Rules From Early Morning Till After Midnight.

Boxing day is a great institution in England. The day after Christmas is Boxing day, so called because in the old days it marked the occasion of the actual giving of Christmas boxes. Now it is a national holiday. Besides being the last in the year, it has to suffice Londoners, at all events, until Easter Monday. It's a great day in Cockneyland, and the east end crowds to Hampstead heath, the picturesque open space in the northwest of London.

All roads lead to the heath. Soon after daybreak the procession begins. Fully loaded traps and donkey barrows are the principal items in the vehicular traffic, but the majority are on foot, singing and shouting for the holiday.

"'Ere yer are, Sir 'Enery," shouts a woman, pushing a tin squirt filled with water into your face. "'Ere yer are, Sir 'Enery; all the fun of the fair. Two a penny. 'Ave a couple, will yer, m'lud?"

The London street merchants have the habit of giving prospective customers a title, presumably on the theory that a Londoner likes to have you believe that he is some well known man.

Should you be persuaded into buying "a couple" the chances are a moment later you will be face to face with 'Arriet. She wears a large hat trimmed with large feathers of brilliant hue, has a hair fringe down over her forehead and a bright colored velvet dress. Probably several will be in a line, each with an arm around the other's neck and a mouth organ in the other hand.

There is battle in their eyes, and before you are aware of it a stream of water will be running down your face. The best thing to do is to retreat, for if you should give battle you are sure to retire, defeated, with your collar like a wet rag and a most uncomfortable feeling of dampness down your back.

Once on the heath the cocoanut pitches will first claim your notice.

"'Ere yer are, kernel; seven shies a tanner. Every one yer knocks dahn yer 'ave. They're all milky. Loidies and kids 'arf way."

Then this scene will meet your eye: Outside a large tent stands a raised platform. On it are half a dozen men stripped to the waist with arms folded across their chests. One of them, evidently the proprietor, twists a large rattle, which gives forth a most deafening noise. At last it stops, and he begins:

"Loidies and gents, I wants ter hinterduce to yer notice some of the best boxers in the world. 'Im at the end is Felix Scott of Liverpool. 'E'll fight any man in the crahd, and if he don't put 'im aht in three rahnds 'e'll give 'im a quid. Nah, then, who'll 'ave 'em on with the champion?"

Some one accepts the inviting offer, and a rush is made to pay the admission fee and get into the tent.

A company of traveling actors is assembled on the platform outside the next tent, all made up in their war paint. The piece to be performed is "Othello." The price of admission is a penny. A reserved seat, an empty box, will cost you another penny. And the house soon fills.

Outside you will find every form of outdoor amusement in full swing—"Aunt Sallies," swings, roundabouts, skipping and donkeys. The latter are greatly patronized. Young men and maidens, old men and women, all have "a pannorth of donkey ride." A fat woman clings to one poor beast's neck shouting:

"Oo'er, I'm sure I'm falling. Don't make 'im go so fast. Ho, look at me 'at. Lemme get off. I'm sure yer 'itting 'im."

When the dust has cleared away she is seen lying in the road panting:

"I know'd yer done it on purpose!"

At last the journey home is begun, everybody happy and tired, yet not too tired to link arms, the men wearing the girls' feathered hats and pearl buttoned coats and the girls wearing caps and hats and wondrous masculine jackets. All are singing different songs, but every now and then they break forth in unison with popular songs of the moment. In the saloons they drink beer out of one pewter and swear undying love and friendship till the voice of the proprietor, it now being 12:30 in the morning and closing time, is heard calling, "Time, gents, please," and a final start is made.

This may answer the question why the average Cockney worker always wants a second day off to get over Boxing day.—New York Times.

Domestic Economy.

"Hey, mon," exclaimed the braw, bonnie north countryman, "thrift is a wunnerful thing!"

"Yes," replied his English traveling companion. "You're right there. Now, I gave my wife a ten pound note to manage on last time I was away, and—would you believe it?—instead of exceeding it she saved nearly a sovereign out of it to buy herself a hat!"

"That's nowt," replied the Scotsman. "My wife gives the kids ha'pennies apiece to go to bed supperless, when they're asleep she takes the ha'pennies off on 'em ageean, and then she makes 'em do wi'out ony breakfasts for losin' 'em! Hey, mon, that's thrift!"—London Scraps.

THE ATMOSPHERE.

Without It There Would Exist a Queer State of Affairs.

Without the atmosphere, besides the inconvenience to breathing, a great many peculiar things would be observed that would seem very extraordinary to us. The sun would rise straight up in the morning into a sky as black as ebony, traverse a black sky and sink down to rest at night into a black bed. No beautiful glories of the sunset and sunrise would appear, no blueness of the heavens be seen, no red sun gradually growing brighter, but one that would rise as a fiery orb and remain thus all day. No twilight and no daybreak could cheer us, for there would be nothing to diffuse the light.

Unless the sun shone directly on a thing we could not see it. Thus our houses would have to be made of some transparent substance or else be artificially lighted in the daytime. No soothing shades would appear in the landscape, but everything would stand out boldly and clearly, every object casting dense black shadows that would render invisible any one entering them. No voice or music could be heard, for there would be no medium to carry it. No birds or insects could flit about in the trees and above us, for there would be nothing to enable them to utilize their wing motion. No clouds would be seen in the intensely black sky, and no thunderstorms or high winds would be possible. No vegetation could exist, and no animal could live. In fact, this old earth would be as dead as Hector as far as activity was concerned.

Yet this is the exact condition of affairs on the moon, which has no atmosphere and consequently suffers every one of these disadvantages.

It is rather interesting to contemplate the successive events on the earth if the atmosphere should be quickly removed. The first thing that would probably happen is that every animal, insect, fish, bird and plant would suffer a violent explosion, for each contains air at a pressure of fifteen pounds to the square inch on the outside, which is balanced by an equal pressure on the inside and would rush outward on the first pressure being removed. This can be shown by placing the hand over an air pump and gradually exhausting the air. The part exposed will gradually swell. Another illustration is when a tornado sweeps round a house, taking the outside air away for an instant. If the house is closed the windows and doors will be blown outward with enormous force, and sometimes the sides themselves of the house are blown in all directions.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Real Reason.

"Why don't you go down Mill street?"

"Well, you see, on one side of it lives my tailor and on the other side my shoemaker, while a canal runs through the middle."—Meggendorfer Blatter.

HAUTEVILLE HOUSE.

Victor Hugo's Home While He Was In Exile at Guernsey.

Hauteville House, in St. Peter Port, Guernsey, Victor Hugo's home while in exile, remains exactly as he left it. It is held by his descendants. Victor Hugo's character is written on the walls and ceilings of every room in the house. Each is distinctive and filled with priceless pictures, tapestries and furniture.

The dining room is "papered" with Dutch delft ware, and in a recess is a saltcellar made by a pupil of Michelangelo valued at £600. The study is a bare and inconvenient room. It commands magnificent views of Sark, Herm, Jethou, Castle Cornet and the harbor and leads into a small room used by the novelist as a rest and sleeping chamber, lined with volumes bearing the marks of his own use.

Not the least interesting of the features are, the correspondent points out, the mottoes and aphorisms written up in unexpected places. "Life Is an Exile" is inscribed on the door of the dining room; on the bed prepared for Garibaldi (which was never occupied) one may read, "Nox, Mors, Lux;" in the oak gallery are three chairs inscribed "Pater," "Mater," "Filius," and underneath "Filius" is written "Amatus Amat."

In the red drawing room and other splendid apartments are tables that belonged to Charles II., a bedstead of Francis I. and a fire screen worked by Mme. Pompadour, a white and gold dessert service once the property of Louis Philippe.—Sunday School Chronicle.

NORWAY WATCH BOYS.

They Sit In Tall Sentry Boxes on the Lookout For Fish.

It is common enough to see a boy watching cattle to keep them from straying, and in days not so very long gone by it was no unusual thing for a boy to be set to keep the birds off the crops. But a watch boy whose duty it is to keep a lookout for a school of fish and who sits in a sentry box set upon stilts is not such an everyday sight.

This particular kind of watch boy is Norwegian, the scene of his labors being the shores of some fiord of his native land.

His little sentry box is made of wood and perched high upon posts. Here the lad sits, gazing out across the arm of the sea, using his keen eyes for the benefit of the farmers who are depending upon him to give the alarm when a school of fish shall appear. They work contentedly enough in their fields, secure in the belief that their watch boy will let them know when it is time to reap a harvest from the sea instead of from the land.

When the signal is given they leave their work, throw their big nets over

"Why Should Calamity Be Full of Words?"

The mere saying of words is easy, and some men devote their whole lives to it. They talk rather than act. The calamity howlers in any community are of this kind.

While the unsuccessful business man is talking the successful man is acting. When he speaks he uses words, but he tells facts. He seldom, however, depends upon his own voice.

He brings to his aid the trumpet tongued voice of the press.

He purchases space in the advertising columns of his local paper, and he uses it to good advantage.

This is your local paper.

There is space in these columns for use. Are you adding its strength to your voice? Properly used it will aid you.

Cost of Keeping the Farm Horse.

The cost of keeping the farm horse is of the greatest importance to the farmer, since the higher cost incurred thru over feeding materially affects the cost of horse labor and the farm profits. The items which make up the cost of maintaining the farm horse are feed, labor, miscellaneous expenses, interest on the investment depreciation, harness and shoeing and the cost of shelter. Thru an investigation on a large number of private farms extending over a number of years the average cost of maintaining the farm horse has been determined for the various sections of the state. The average annual cost of keep at Northfield in the southern part of the state, for 1904, 1905, 1906 and 1907 has been as follows:

Interest on investment $5.54; depreciation, $5.56; harness depreciation, $2.10; shoeing $1.42; feed $63.49; labor, $1.88; Miscellaneous expenses $.40, a total of $90.40 annually. At Marshall in southwestern Minnesota, during the same period, the annual cost has been $87.00, and at Halstad in Northwestern Minnesoto, $75.07. This cost This cost does not include the cost of shelter which would vary from $2.50 to $7.00 or $8.00 annually, depending upon the expensiveness of the barn.

The average cost per hour was 9.25 cents at Northfield, 8.2 at Marshall, and 7-3 cents at Halstad. Thus, if a team was employed nine hours the cost would be $1.665, or 18 hours at 9¼ cents an hour. The cost of horse labor per hour can be reduced only by decreasing the cost of maintenance, increasing the number of hours labored in the year or both. Each farm horse in order to be profitable should work not less than 1,000 hours per year. With correct methods of farm management it is easily possible to obtain 1200 to 1300 hours labor from each horse.

The cost of maintaining the horse is largely for feed. Farm horses are often overfed or wastefully fed. The average farm horse at Northfield worked 980 hours per year, was fed 3737 pounds of grain and 2194 pounds of roughage during April, May, June, July, August, September, October and November, a period of 244 days, or 15.3 pounds of grain and 21.3 pounds of roughage per day. During the winter months, the idle season, 1477 pounds of gaain and 1924 pounds of roughage were fed, or 12.2 pounds of grain and 15 pounds of roughage daily. As a general rule a horse should be supplied with a trifle over 2 pounds of provender daily for each hundred pounds of weight. About two thirds of this, the exact amount depending on the labor, should be grain in some form. It is very seldom that farm labor is severe enough to require over one half of the total weight of the ration fed to be grain. As the work is much less severe in winter, horses not working may be roughed thru largely on a ration of roughage. The farm horse weighing 1200 to 1300 lbs requires approximately 13 pounds of grain, such as oats or or oats and corn, and 15 pounds of hay daily when hard at work.. During the comparatively inactive season a horse should not receive to exceed 8 pounds of grain and 16 pounds of hay daily.

The adoption of rations for the farm work horse as outlined previously, will result in a decided saving in feed. (In the case above, 1060 pounds of grain and 1540 pounds of hay), and the stock will be in even better working condition than under the former conditions. —T. P. Cooqer.

Steenerson Makes Explanation to His Constituents.

In the announcement of his candidacy and in the following article evidently written by him, Hon. Henry E. Bjorge takes occasion to criticise my record in Congress especially for favoring what he chooses to call "Cannonism", my attitude toward a reform in the Rules of the House, and my vote on the Norris amendment to the Ballinger-Pinchot Resolution.

In that behalf I desire to say that last year I filed for the Republican nomination for Congress and was unanimously nominated by a direct vote of the people as the party's candidate. I publicly announced during the campaign that I was independent on the Speakership question, but favored a change in the Rules so as to take away from the Speaker the power to appoint the standing Committees of the House, and vest it in a Committee to be chosen by the House.

I did not, nor could I as a Republican nominee, announce that I would bolt the party's nominee for Speaker. When Congress convened I went into the Republican Caucus and voted against Mr. Cannon, and did all I could to defeat his nomination, but after he was fairly elected I voted for him.

I joined with 28 other Republicans the so called insurgents, and introduced Resolution No. 551. which provided for a Committee on Committees consisting of fifteen members to be chosen by the House, which was in turn to choose a Committee on Rules of five members, which was to appoint all standing Committees, but the Speaker was to appoint all select and conference committees.

When the present Congress convened in extra session I voted with the insurgents for this Resolution to change the rules but it was defeated. Thereupon the Democratic leader in the House, Mr. Clark, offered a Resolution naming a Committee on rules, which was so constituted as to take the power from the Republican majority and vest it in the Democrats. I voted against that Resolution on principle. After having been nominated and elected as a Republican, it seemed to me manifestly wrong to vote to turn the control of the House over to the minorty. In this position I had the the support not only of President Taft, but of ex-President Roosevelt and Senators Nelson and Clapp. It should be borne in mind that under the new rules as proposed by the insurgents in said Resolution No. 551, which constitute the only reform of the rules that they have agreed to, it was contemplated to take away from the Speaker only the appointment of standing committees The appointment of select Committees was expressly vested in the Speaker.

Now as to the Resolution to investigate the Interior Department and the Forestry service, the so-called Pinchot-Balliuger Resolution. The investigation was asked for by the President and the resolution was drawn in the usual form providing for appointment by the Vice-President of the Senate members and by the Speaker of the House members. It was backed by a favorable report of the Committee. It was in the form that had been used for the Monetary Commission, the Waterways Commission, the Immigration Commission in the last Congress and the one used by Congress for a hundred years. I had no notice of the proposed Norris amendment until it was offered. Representative Hitchcock on the part of the Democrats had previously offered a Resolution to investigate the same Department, which also provided that the Committee should be appointed by the Speaker. The membership of the proposed Commission had been talked over for weeks, and practically the same names had been agreed on by the Speaker on the part of the Republicans as were afterwards chosen by a majority vote of the

County Optionists to Meet.

The demand for county option is growing stronger every day. There is also a growing conviction that Minnesota is not dealing wisely with the liquor business.

We have not been able to secure the passage of a law which would give the people a chance to vote on the question, chiefly because of divisions among temperance forces, failure to understand the principle of county option, and the political trickery of the brewers.

It is desirable that the county-option sentiment of the state should be given a chance to show its strength. There should be opportunity for the widest public discussion of the question. A satisfactory county-option bill should be prepared for the legislature. Misunderstandings among temperance forces should be cleared up, and all temperance elements brought into closer relations. A campaign should be started to deprive the liquor people of the balance of power, which they are now using to degrade the state, and to restore to Minnesota a government of her people by her people and for her people.

The Headquarters Committee of the Minnesota Anti-Saloon League, therefore, hereby issues this call to all churches, societies, religious, temperance, political and civic organizations, interested in the passage of the county-option law to meet in a non-partisan convention to be held in the Twin Cities during the first part of March.

In order that all interested bodies may be equally represented we have decided upon the following basis of representation:—Each state organization to be entitled to ten delegates; each organization representing a municipality, five delegates; each local church one delegate besides pastor; local temperance society, one delegate besides the chairman; but each pastor or chairman may appoint a delegate in his place.

Besides this, one delegate at large to represent the county may be elected for each three delegates appointed or elected by some organization; these delegates at large may be nominated or suggested by any regular delegate, and will be recognized upon approval of the credential committee.

With a prayer to God, that our people may respond as the Cause deserves, and that He may guide us on to victory.

We are, very respectfully,

Fire at Bagley.

Fire of an unknown origin at an early hour Saturday destroyed two Bagley store buildings with the entire contents entailing a loss of $20,000.00.

The flames were discovered at about 2:30 and had gained considerable head way, and altho the fire department responded promptly to the alarm and did splendid work the two buildings were consumed with the goods they contained.

The opera house block contained a stock of dry goods estimated to be worth $9,000 and the other building a stock of general merchandise worth about $4,000. The firemen did good work to save the remainder of the block which was all frame buildings.

Fatal Fall From Bridge.

Edward Maloney, a resident of Red Lake Falls and a former resident of Crookston, died Monday morning in the St. Vincent Hospital, at the latter place, as the result of a fall from the N. P. bridge at Red Lake Falls. Maloney was working with a bridge crew and was pulling on an old bolt with a jack and chain while straddleing a girder of the bridge; the sudden breaking of the bolt caused him to lose his balance and fall to the bank fifty feet below. Maloney was a graduate of the Crookston High School but had lately lived with his uncle, John Manley at Red Lake Falls. The remains were shipped to Rushford, Minn for interument.

DISPOSES OF BUSINESS

O. Gullingsrud sells to Ole Langle. New Proprietor to Open Department Store.

A deal was closed the first of the week whereby O. Gullingsrud disposed of his business interests here consisting of two town lots, the buildings on same and the stock of general hardware, farm machinery and furniture, to Ole Langle the consideration being in the neighborhood of $5,000.00. Mr. Langle is aa present conducting a general store at Brunkeberg, east of Thief River Falls, and was, previous to his locating there, in the same business at Liner in Marshall county.

Mr. Langle intends to dispose of his other business interests and give his entire attention to the business here, where, after remodeling and putting an addition to the present building he will open a first class department store, carrying a complete stock of groceries, drygoods, gents and ladies furnishings, hardware and farm machinery.

Mr. O. Gullingsrud Sr. has not decided as yet on his future plans but the family will continue to reside here for the present at least and he will assist Mr. Langle until he is well started in his new location. Mr. Otto Gullingsrud will continue in his position as traveling salesman for a Minneapolis hardware firm which position he was figuring on leaving to attend to the business here before the present deal was made. Mr. Langle was not able to tell how soon he would be able to open the new store but will announce the same later.

Farmer's Short Course at McIntosh.

A short course for farmers was started Tuesday in the agricultural department of the McIntosh High School. This is the first course of its kind offered in the state outside of the course offered at the Agricultural College of the State University which is co-operating with the McIntosh School in the new movement. The commercial club of McIntosh is also assisting having offered $25 in prizes to be given during the course. Stock feeding will be among the important subjects and this will be under the supervision of Prof. C. L. McNelly, who has charge of the department of agriculture of the McIntosh High School. A fine program of speakers has been secured, President Weld of the Moorhead Normal, Joel Winkjer, state dairy inspecter, Professors Howard and Danielson of the Crookston School of Agriculture and many others.

Ready for Bids on Big Drainage Proposition.

The veiwers of the big ditching proposition that is proposed for the big swamp section northeast of Thief River Falls have completed their work and filed their report which is a voluminious one. The estimated cost of the new ditch, which is expected to drain and make suitable for dairy farming some 260,000 acres of what had hitherto been considered almost inacessable swamp land that would never be fit for any thing except the habitation of frogs and ducks as $529,962.41, and the value to be derived from same at $1,352,628. Judge Grineland of the fourteenth jupicial district has the overseeing of the project. The contract for the work is to be let at Warren, county seat of Marshall county, on March 1st., by county audior A. G. Lundgren of Marshall county and county auditor R. C. Hayner of Beltrami county.

The construction of this ditch is one of the greatest drainage propositions ever undertaken in Minnesota and the quick developement of what is to without doubt to become one of the leading mixed farming regions of the world depends to a large extent on the successful outcome of the project.

Good Roads Exhibit.

Seventeen varieties of roads will be built by State Engineer Geo. W. Cooley this spring and all of them installed in the Auditorium at St. Paul, where the Conservation Congress is to be held March 16 to 19th. Mr. Cooley is collecting all the types of dirt in the state, and the cellar of the state capitol is full of bags which are comming in from all over the state. The engineer conceived the idea of showing all at once the various kinds of road making material in the state and sent requests that the materials be shipped to him in bags. He has enough to build a race track but is to construct a road, each section of which will be made of some one type of this material. Then bins of road making material will be arranged along the model roadway showing the material in bulk. For a little bit of money and some work under an experienced road builder, the state engineer claims good roads are possible in all parts of the state, and he has found some variety in almost every county in Minnesota. The goverment will furnish the model machinery for this unique exhibit, and all the machines will be kept running in the auditorium.

Don't start throwing bouquets at the weather man just yet. Wait until the first of May, at least.

Better roads and better bred dairy cattle should be the slogan of Red Lake county for several years to come.

An aged man living near Winona has been adjudged incompetent because he carried a roll containing $6000. about with him. Winona must be lacking in competent hold-up men also.

They are now talking county division pretty strongly. We, ourselves, do not think that there can be any peace in a county with both John Eastman and John King in it. In fact, it may be found necessary to divide the state in order to maintain a peaceful aspect of things.

From having his work made the stock of the jokesmith, the farmer has taken his rightful place on his pedestal as a leader, seeing that he is the producer of the real necessaries of life. In the near future the farmer will be, and rightfully so, the gentleman of leisure, and will lead intellectually, leaving the city man to be the butt of the joke.

Andy Jones, the North Dakota banker convicted of embezzlement, will soon leave to join the so-called bankers' club at Fort Leavenworth, having been given a ten years sentence. The habit of misappropriating the money intrusted to them by the people will soon become unpopular among the bankers when a few more have left to join the club of frenzied financiers at Leavenworth, which club now numbers about a score.

With Minnesota as the state of states, when one section thinks it has an advantage over another it generally considers it has a holler coming. The northwestern corner has found several things to holler about, but the latest is the fact, discovered by the farmers state institute, that the farmer of this section is able to keep his animals at considerable less cost to himself than the rest of the state. According to their statistics the average annual cost of keeping the farm horse is, in the southeast section, $90.40, in the southwest $87.00, and, in this section $75.07.

They are going to have a good roads exhibit at the conservation convention in St. Paul next month. If they could only educate some of the people we have seen, to the fact that eventually they will be ahead and life will be made more pleasant for all concerned, when they become more sociable and more willing to concede a point here and there to plan for the greatest good of the greatest number, and that each year each man cannot have the ro[illegible] work done only in his own doory[illegible]d and accomplish anything, wh[illegible] ard would pay each township to [illegible]y it a year's road tax to send a[illegible] spend the worst ones down for a [illegible] few of education so that when [illegible]ew days public work is propos[illegible] the next not rise in all their m[illegible]d they will tance and, "Well, if it [illegible]ighty importway" or "Well, if [illegible] aint done that such and such a pl[illegible] it aint done in if we will accom[illegible]ace, I'll be d——d can stop it," o[illegible]plish anything if I Did you ever [illegible]something similar. [illegible]meet such a man?

We wish [illegible] the farm[illegible] to call the attention of fact th[illegible]ers in this locality to the larger [illegible]t they will have a new and thar[illegible] market for their crop of 1910 for [illegible] has been their fortune to have [illegible] any crop that has been thus far produced. By the time that this crop is ready for market our city will be directly connected with Duluth, as well as with the net work of cities and villages in the mining districts of St. Louis County. This will open up a direct market for all kinds of vegtables, meats, poultry, hay and feed, and put the farmers of this vicinity in direct touch with one of the greatest mining centers in the world. Few of us realize that within the borders of St. Louis county are located iron mines which produce one-third of the worlds production of iron at the present time, and are greatly increasing their output so it is estimated that by the end of this year they will be giving the world one-half of its iron product. Taking advantage of the situation in iron, moneyed interests are at present busy constructing smelters and factories so that a very large percentage of the raw material produced in this section will be turned into a staple article within the borders of our own state. Considering these facts, anyone looking into the future with a prophetic eye cannot help but see the Duluth of today and a mere village as compared to the Duluth twenty years hence. This being the case, all real estate having direct connecting with a city of such proportions will necessarily rise to its true value under the intense and diversified agricultural system. What we would like to see is that every farmer would get busy not only in milking more cows, and feeding more hogs, but raising more grain, more hay, more potatoes, more meat and poultry; in fact everything that this mining and manufacturing center must have and will have. It will be your privilege to furnish it. If you do not, some one else will.

House. Mr. Norris offered his amendment to elect the House members of the Commission and some twenty odd Republicans combined with the Democrats and carried it. I voted against it not because I desired to have an unfair commission but because I believed the combination with the Democrats would lead us into difficulties, and so far as the Republican members of the Commission were concerned I was satisfied the Speaker would only appoint men favored by a majority. In fact as above stated, it was well understood that practically the same men would be chosen as Republican members as when afterwards nominated in the Republican Caucus and elected in the House.

When I took my oath of office [illegible] I swore that I would discharge [illegible] the duties of the office to the best o[illegible] my ability and in casting this [illegible] vote I did what I thought was ri[illegible]ght, according to my own conscie[illegible]nce, and I could not do otherwise. [illegible] I did not have time to consult M[illegible]r. Bjorge or any of my constituent[illegible]s, for it was all disposed of in a fe[illegible]w minutes. The Commission in que[illegible]stion is in the nature of a joint [illegible] select Committee, and under the ru[illegible]les proposed by the insurgents, sel[illegible]ect Committees are expressly requ[illegible]ired to be appointed by the Speaker, so that my vote on the Norris ame[illegible]ndment was not only in accord wi[illegible]th the uniform usage in such cases, but with the proposed reform rules also. Mr. Bjorge claims that because the Speaker appoints the Committee on Rules, he can make and impose such rules as he pleases upon the House. He forgets to tell the people, however, that the Committee [illegible]on Rules never has had and never [illegible]claims to have the power to make [illegible] a single rule, and that all they are [illegible] authorized to do is to report a rule [illegible]or rules to the House; and a majo[illegible]rity of the House must first vot[illegible]e for the rule before it can have an[illegible]y force whatever. It is simply a device to enable a majority of a legislative body to do business, and to prevent a minority from thwarting and defeating the will of the people.

I contend that my record is perfectly consistent both with my party principles and my professions. I have stood for reforms but within the party. I have been an insurgent but I have refused to join the Democracy. Having sought and obtained the nomination and election as a Republican, I did not see how I could honestly do so.

I have duties to my constituents that I must strive to fulfill. I have long labored to increase the efficiency and extend the usefulness of the Rural Free Delivery service. We have Star Routes extending the mail service to new settlers on the public domain, that need expediting. There are many old soldiers and soldier's widows that need increased pensions to save them from charity, and which this great Government which they so nobly served ought not to compel them to do. There are many settlers on the ceded lands who ask for extensions and other relief. There are at least two cities that need public buildings, Moorhead and Bemidji. Does anyone think I could serve these special needs of my District better; by leaving the majority party which controls legislation, and joining the minority, which does not?

Beside these measures of a local nature are others of general character affecting the whole people including those to carry out the Roosevelt policies. Does anyone suppose that I could further these by such a course? Mr. Bjorge also has a legislative record, and it might be well to see whether that is consistent with his present bombastic fulminations. He served in the legislatures of 1907 and 1909. What kind of rules did he vote for in the House of Representatives? Here is one: "Rule 36. Standing Committees shall be appointed by the SPEAKER."

There were 60 Committees in that House with a total Committee membership of 755.

"Rule 61. The Speaker shall appoint the employees of the House with compensation as follows:

| | Per day. |
|---|---|
| 3 Janitors, | $5 00 |
| 9 Doorkeepers, | 5 00 |
| 4 Gallery keepers, | 5 00 |
| 3 Cloakroom keepers, | 5 00 |
| 3 File Clerks, | 5 00 |
| 7 Pages, | 3 00 |
| 5 Committee room sergeants, | 5 00 |
| 1 Gallery sergeant, | 5 00 |
| 1 Reading Clerk, | 10 00 |
| 1 Judiciary Committee Clerk, | 10 00 |
| 1 Judiciary Committee Assistant, | 5 00 |
| 1 Re-appointed Com. clerk, | 10 00 |
| 7 Committee Clerks, | 5 00 |
| 5 Additional Clerks, | 5 00 |
| 1 Speaker's Clerk, | 7 50 |
| 9 Stenographers, | 5 00 |
| 1 Stenograher to Chief Clerk, | 5 00 |
| 1 Press Gallery Sergeant, | 5 00 |
| 1 Speakers Sergeant, | 5 00 |
| Total, per day, | $318 50 |

These include [illegible]ven the Clerks of Committees wh[illegible]ch in Congress are always appoint[illegible]ed by the Committee Chairmen the[illegible]mselves.

Why, the [illegible] two Speakers of the Minnesota [illegible] Legislature which Mr. Bjorge he[illegible]lped to elect, had far greater auth[illegible]ority and patronage over their re[illegible]presentative bodies than Spea[illegible]ker Cannon ever had over the bo[illegible]dy in which he presides. Why did M[illegible]r. Bjorge thus vote to nullify the Constitution and destroy representative government in his own state and subject the people thereof to such absolute and uncontrolled despotism? He out-cannoned Cannon. How can he be expected to pursue a different course if elected to Congress.

I refused to follow the Republican leaders on the tariff bill because in my opinion it failed to comply with the national platform upon which I was elected. In my speech in the House on July 9, the very day the Bill went to conference and four weeks before it passed, I stated my objections and I voted accordingly. To now charge that I was insincere and did not mean it is so utterly unfair and unjust as to require no answer.

I have voted and worked for a reform in the rules so as to reduce the power of the Speaker and have gone to the very limit in my insurgency, short of leaving the party. To have done so would by no means have insured the desired reform for the Democrats are not united on that question. Give them power and they will do just as they did before, adopt the most drastic and despotic rules imaginable upon the excuse already foreshadowed in their threats on the floor of the House, that when they get into power they will pay back to the Republicans with interest what we have done to them, and your parliamentary reform will go glimmering. If you approve of desire these reforms you can expect to get them only through reform within the Republican party, and not by that kind of Progressivism, which means party desertion and a surrender to the opposition where genuine reform is utterly hopeless.

To the question propounded as to who, in the event of my election to the next Congress I would then support for Speaker, I reply I will support any good Republican who is favorable to the reform in the rules for which I, as well as the other insurgents stand pledged. There are several candidates already, one from New England, one from the Middle West and two or three from the West, any one of which would make a good Speaker. With such reformed rules, even Mr. Cannon would eat out of the hand and be as tame as a dove.

Are we to understand that Mr. Bjorge is a candidate for the nomination of a party whose nominee fo Speaker he pledges himself in advance to bolt and repudiate?

My position on the Speakership question was well known in the last campaign. I announced that I was opposed to Cannon, but not pledged to any other aspirant. I refused to say that I would bolt Cannon if he became the Republican nominee. My opponent in the last campaign, running independent with Democratic backing, was making exactly the same issue against me as Mr. Bjorge makes in this. Evidently this is not only a borrowed but a worn out issue also, that ought not to be injected into a Republican primary campaign.

Very respectfully,
Halvor Steenerson.

One of the traits of the wide awake progressive town is civic pride. It is a good trait, for while sometimes it leads one into making slightly exaggerated statements, yet in the main it is a good, healty feeling for the individual, and at all times conductive to the growth and prosperity of his city. It makes one vigorous in defense, and persistent in undertakings; it is an individual contended and therefore happy. Believe in your town and talk your belief. If you have any old fogies remember they are in the minority, and that it takes all kinds of people to make a world anyway. Encourage live people to move in by making it worth their while. Welcome outside capital in developing any natural resources the town has. Don't begrudge the dollars the enterprising man makes, but hustle around and collar a few yourself. Above all "pull together," and the town will ride the high wave of prosperity over the most discouraging breakers, and every inhabitant will get his or her share of the profit from the voyage.

Take the trouble to get well acquainted with your children, and to interest yourself in their pastime, etc. By this means they will learn to trust and confide in you, and are not easily led away by outside influence.

WEEKS' DOING AT WASHINGTON

Rumors are Rife That Roosevelt May Return and Re-Enter the Field.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 2nd, 1910. That a concerted movement is on foot beneath the surface to bring about the reelection of Theodore Roosevelt by the Republican party two and one-half years hence to the presidency of the United States as the successor of President Taft is indicated by certain facts which have been brought to light in Washington during the past few days.

Back of the movement are several out-and-out Roosevelt men in Congress, former government officials who served under him during his administration, and several Washington correspondents and magazine writers. They met recently at a private house discussing plans of campaign. Every effort has been made to keep the names of those present secret, but there is substantial evidence that the meeting was held and that the general purpose of the band of congenial spirits were agreed upon. Gifford Pinchot is understood to be interested in the movement.

Amid the criticism of the administration that has been rife lately there has been much talk among the politicians at the National Capital of the possibility of Roosevelt returning from Africa next June and taking advantage of that criticism to forward his own fortunes. Months before the criticism arose, rumors had been afloat of a misunderstanding between the former and present Presidents on the ground of inability on the part of Mr. Taft to always appreciate the advice of Mr. Roosevelt. Then what appeared to be specific efforts on the part of former Sec. to Garfield, Forester Pinchot and others cast discredit on the work of the present administration fanned the rumors of the Roosevelt return until Washington was quite alive with gossip about the matter. The former President was likened to Napoleon, who returned from Elba to overthrow the then existing government and again lead the armies of France, and the "Return from Elba Club" was organized in the minds of those who broached it. If any person, whether actively interested in politics in an official way or not, mentioned Roosevelt favorably, he was immediately suspected of being a member of the "club." The thought of Elba was not carried to the conclusion at Waterloo and St. Helena, but that did not matter.

This Elba talk was further assisted by expressed dissatisfaction with the attitude of President Taft in declaring the Payne tariff law to be the best of all those enacted in the history of the country, in commending Senator Aldrich and in sustaining Secretary Ballinger in the charges made against him. But there was no attempt to organize this dissatisfaction in any way until the meeting of the congenial spirits who hope for the triumphal return of the man who is now hunting in the wilds of Africa.

That former President Roosevelt is a party to any such organization or even knows anything about its existence is not believed here by those who are familiar with the situation. He declared before he sailed away that he had put politics aside and was intent upon seeking rest and recreation in hunting. He has been so far from the centers of civilization and has been so interested in his adventures and writing about them under the contracts he has with his publishers that he is not regarded as busying himself even indirectly with the political situation in the United States. Therefore, any efforts on the part of those whose wish for his return is father to the thought that he will seek to do so are regarded as spasmodic and ephemeral.

Meanwhile the opinion prevails here that the Elba movement has been at least temporarily forced into the background by the strong showing made by the Administration of the national resources made an impression on the most progressive elements in the party, and Senator Nelson is now working on a bill which will carry into law the recommendations made. While the printed statements that the President intended to make a general attack upon the trusts met with a speedy denial at the White House, the announced intention of the Chief Executive to proceed to the limit of his power against those corporations doing business outside the law met with approval from those who were pleased with the radical steps taken by the last Administration. Thruout the country the fight against the present high retail prices for food stuffs has become very warm, and the President has made a good impression among members of Congress by proceeding against the beef trust. Wade Ellis, the former attorney-general of Ohio who made a reputation in that state by fighting the Standard Oi Company and is now assistant attorney-general of the United States, has orders from the President to proceed vigorously against the Chicago packers, against whom much evidence has been secured during the past few weeks by the Department of Justice.

It is now seriously proposed by many Republican members of the House who are personally friendly to the Speaker but believe his usefulness to the party has ended that a caucus be called to put the party, in some diplomatic way, on record as opposed to his re-election. They desire to have the rules as will satisfy the country that not only Cannon but Cannonism will be subverted. The Insurgents have pricked up their ears at this suggestion and are most willing to join in the call for the caucus but they want to know what changes in the rules are contemplated.

They will be content only with fundamental changes that will take away from the Speaker the power to appoint the chairmen of the various committees and will diminish the power of the Rules Committee to shut off debate and railroad important legislation thru in a hurry. If the Speaker were unable to name the chairmen and he did not have the Rules Committee, appointed by him, to back up his legislative plans, he would be the servant of the House instead of its master. He would be more like the Speaker of the British House of Commons, who is the impartial presiding officer of its proceedings. It is not likely that such fundamental changes will be made at this time because the Insurgents are in the minority of the present House Republicans, but in the event of a caucus on the subject they will endeavor to put up a good fight and further enhance their cause in the hope that in the Sixty-second Congress their aims may be achieved.

Prohibited Coffee Houses.

So many coffee houses sprang into existence in England during the reign of Charles II. that he, entertaining a belief that many political intrigues had their beginning in those places, issued an edict ordering them to be closed. In this proclamation the following words occurred: "The retailing of coffee or tea might be an innocent trade, but it was said to nourish sedition, spread lies and scandalize great men. It might also be a common nuisance."

Fair Exchange, Yet a Robbery.

While Gustave Dore was at Ischl and wandering about the mountains he became much interested in a country wedding and sketched it on the spot. He put the sketch into a book in the pocket of his paletot and went back to the hotel to dinner. After dinner he looked for the sketch. It was gone. Angry at the theft, the artist called the landlord and made complaint, but no trace of the book was found. From Ischl Dore went to Vienna, and there he found a letter and a parcel awaiting him. The letter, which was anonymous, read thus:

"Sir, I stole your book at Ischl. The sketch was so charming that I could not resist the temptation of having it in my possession, and I knew very well you would never consent to sell it to me. But theft is neither my trade nor my habit, and I beg you to accept as a souvenir of my crime and my enthusiasm for your talent the walking stick which will reach you at the same time as this letter."

The cane was one with a massive gold head in which was set a gem of value.

The Clock's Annoying Habit.

Mrs. Benham had just seated herself to work at a bit of embroidery that required particular care and attention when there came a ring at the telephone. "I just know that's Mrs. Gummy," she said as she laid down her work and went to answer the call. "Whenever I am unusually busy and haven't any time to spare she rings me up and talks to me by the hour."

She was right. It was Mrs. Gummy, who was fully as talkative as ever. She began with a long story, and when fairly in the middle of it the clock on the wall of the room began to strike.

"Wait a moment," interposed Mrs. Benham. "I can't hear you until this noise stops."

"What made that noise?" asked Mrs. Gummy after it had ceased.

"It was only the clock,' answered the patient Mrs. Benham. "You know it always strikes once or twice when we get to talking."

The conversation did not last long after that.—Youth's Companion.

NELSON TIRED OF THE INQUIRY

Has No Desire to Question Mr. Glavis Further.

TAKE A PROMINENT PART

Democratic Members Question the Witness—Minnesota Senator Declares That the Committee Is Proceeding Blindly and Feebly Because There Was Nobody Present to Cross-Examine the Representative of the Other Side.

Washington, Feb. 1.—With Louis R. Glavis still on the witness stand the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee adjourned until next Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Glavis will be further questioned at that time.

Glavis was cross-examined by several members of the committee, the Democrats taking by far the more prominent part in the questioning and framing their interrogations in a way which elicited answers tending to accentuate certain parts of the testimony already given by the witness.

At the close of the hearing Senator Nelson called attention to the fact that the committee was proceeding "feebly" and blindly, as there was no one present to cross-examine the representative of "the other side." Personally, he said, he had no desire to question the witness further. It was thought best, however, that Glavis remain in the city until certain documents called for in the interior department have been examined.

In connection with these documents Senator Root moved that they should all be printed before being introduced. Attorney Brandeis, representing Glavis and others, said that many of the documents he had asked for might prove to be irrelevant.

Senator Root remarked that so far as he could see there was nothing irrelevant to this inquiry.

Ballinger Favored Bill.

Cross-examined by Senator Fletcher of Florida, Glavis said that Mr. Ballinger, while commissioner of the land office, had appeared before committees of congress to favor a bill which would validate all of the Alaska coal claims. He also said that an affidavit filed Sept. 4, 1908, by Clarence Cunningham had on it a backing which bore the firm name with which Judge Ballinger was connected. Glavis said that at the time Mr. Ballinger asked him not to proceed with his investigation of the coal claims until after election because of the slowness of campaign contributions no one was present to overhear the conversation.

The name of Donald A. McKenzie was brought into the inquiry when Glavis testified McKenzie had told him that the reason James R. Garfield was not retained in President Taft's cabinet as secretary of the interior was because of his antagonism to the Alaskan coal claimants.

Glavis said he made an affidavit containing this interview, but denied, when questioned by Senator Root, that he regarded it as a reflection upon President Taft or that he intended to use it as an attack upon President Taft. Glavis said he thought the president might be interested in it and he thought also that the affidavit would interest Mr. Garfield.

Gifford Pinchot was present at the session with a large leather bag filled with papers. It is expected he will follow Glavis on the witness stand next Friday or Saturday.

Senator Paynter of Kentucky resigned from the committee and did not attend the session. Illness was given as the cause of the action.

PASSES JOINT RESOLUTION

House Disposes of Measure Affecting Canal Bonds.

Washington, Feb. 1.—To make the principal of Panama canal bonds payable in gold and to exempt from taxation certificates of indebtedness authorized by the Payne-Aldrich tariff law the house passed a joint resolution reported from the committee on ways and means by Representative Payne. Mistakes in the enactment of the law, Mr. Payne explained, made this legislation necessary.

The agricultural appropriation bill was before the house during nearly all the session.

In the senate Senator Carter spoke at length in favor of the postal savings bank bill and answered several objections made by Senator Heyburn. Mr. Carter told his neighbor that he would have ample opportunity to offer amendments to the bill and to address the senate thereon before a vote was reached.

Talk of Lynching Negro.

Bloomfield, Ia., Feb. 1—Feeling is running high here, and there is talk of lynching George Wilson, who, it is alleged, attempted to assault Mrs. Charles Huffman. The alleged attempt occurred Saturday night.

Abolishes Traffic in Human Beings.

Peking, Feb. 1.—An imperial edict just issued approves the plans which the constitutional bureau has prepared for abolishing the tariff in human beings.

LIBERAL COALITION TO RULE

Will Have Big Majority In New House of Commons.

London, Jan. 30.—The general elections for members of the new parliament are at an end, with the exception of seven constituencies, the returns from which can easily be forecasted. The tripartite coalition of Liberals, Laborites and Irish Nationalists find themselves in the majority with an advantage of 122 seats.

In the new house of commons the Liberals will be unable to legislate without Laborite or Nationalist support. The Irish members will be in a position to throw the government out at any time they see fit unless the Unionists come to the rescue, as it is conceivable they might do under certain circumstances.

For the first time since the elections for parliament were begun the returns showed the Liberals as a party to be in the lead, independent of the Laborites and Irish Nationalists. They have an advantage of one over the Unionists.

The position of the parties at present is: Liberals, 271; Unionists, 270; Irish Nationalists, 80; Laborites, 40.

Iowa Children Take Poison and Die in Each Others' Arms.

Des Moines, Jan. 28.—Because their parents would not let them marry, owing to their youth, Vernon Barr, aged sixteen, and Lina Ammer, aged fourteen, killed themselves. They were from well to do families. Their bodies were found near Monroe, in the boy's buggy, in which they had ridden home from a dance. The two were clasped in each others' arms and were sitting upright on the seat. On the girl's lap rested a cup partially filled with strychnine and water. They had both drunk of the mixture and then waited for death.

Tells of Various Interviews With Ballinger.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The proceedings in the Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry, which up to this time have consisted largely of reading into the record of the inquiry the various letters, telegrams, etc., which heretofore have been made public in a message transmitted to the senate by President Taft, took on a livelier aspect when Louis R. Glavis, continuing his testimony against Secretary Ballinger, told of various interviews he had with the secretary of the interior at various times while he was in and out of the government service.

Mr. Glavis declared that in one of these interviews in October, 1908, Mr. Ballinger told him he was having a hard time trying to collect campaign contributions, and that two men involved in the Cunningham claims, who had been liberal contributors in the past, had declined to contribute because they were angry at not being granted patents for the Alaska coal lands. Representative James of Kentucky, one of the Democratic members of the committee, pounced upon this testimony and cross-examined the witness about it at some length.

LOUIS R. GLAVIS.

Glavis said that Mr. Ballinger asked him to hold up on the Alaskan cases until after election. He agreed to do this, because he had his hands full with another case.

LABOR LEADER IMPRISONED

Convicted of Obstructing Work in Australian Mines.

Sydney, N. S. W., Jan. 28.—President Bowling of the Northern Miners' federation has been convicted of obstructing work at the mines during the strike and sentenced to one year at hard labor in prison.

Three other strike leaders were given sentences each of eight months at hard labor, while a number of miners were condemned to briefer terms of imprisonment.

"Little Drummer Boy" Dead.

New York, Jan. [illegible]—Julius C. Langbein, known to Civil war veterans throughout the country as the "Little Drummer Boy of New York," is dead at his home here. Langbein, who was twelve years old when he enlisted as a drummer boy in Hawkins' Zouaves, was the youngest volunteer who went from New York state to the front.

Jacob Schiff, Banker, Gives Advice to Countrymen.

New York, Feb. 1.—"Distribute over the country; don't concentrate," is Jacob Schiff's advice to Jews, made public through the Young Men's Hebrew association of this city.

"It is true," continued the banker, "that this country yet has room for a profitable living for two or three million more Jews, but we don't want them to settle where congestion will militate against their making a livelihood. We want to facilitate their going away from New York. In the West and South there are boundless opportunities."

DESIRE INVESTIGATION

President and Republican Leaders Want Cost Inquiry.

Washington, Feb. 1.—President Taft and the leaders of the Republican party in the house are in favor of a thorough investigation of the present high cost of living and it was determined at a meeting of the ways and means committee that that body should assume the task of making a full inquiry into the whole matter.

Chairman Payne and Minority Leader Clark of Missouri were designated to draft a suitable resolution regulating the scope and the details of the investigation. It is intended that force shall be given to the inquiry by making it as nonpartisan as possible.

When the matter was brought up in committee consideration was given the various resolutions now before the rules committee providing for investigations of the cost of living, but it was finally determined to leave the drafting of the resolution in the hands of Messrs. Payne and Clark.

If the house authorizes the ways and means committee to proceed with the investigation various subcommittees may be named to go to different parts of the country to take testimony.

CRISIS IS PASSED

River Seine at Paris Is Now Receding Slowly.

IMMENSE LOSS DUE TO FLOOD

Estimated Damage Will Total Two Hundred Millions.

DESTRUCTION BY FLOOD.

Latest reports estimate damage in Paris proper already as $40,000,000, throughout France at more than $200,000,000.

Pestilence feared as waters recede and leave streets filled with filth.

Three hundred thousand people thrown out of work.

More than 200 towns and villages either obliterated or wrecked by flood.

Sixty miles of streets in Paris obstructed by high waters.

One hundred miles of streets either cracked or caved in.

One hundred miles of sewers damaged.

Paris, Jan. 30.—The river Seine is falling at the rate of three-quarters of an inch an hour. The river Marne has dropped eight inches and the river Yonne eighteen inches from the maximum of the flood. Hope is strong that the subsidence of all the vagrant streams will be rapid.

The high mark reached by the river Seine at Point Royal was 31 feet 1 inch. This is the highest known record. The flood of 1615 is said by some to have attained its crest at 30 feet 6 inches. The situation throughout the city continues grave and there is fear that the receding of the waters may cause the collapse of many buildings, the foundations of which have been greatly weakened by the inundation.

The crest of the flood was reached at midnight. The waters remained stationary for two hours, after which they fell slowly. During the night the storm clouds disappeared and the weather cleared. In the morning the sun shone brightly.

Situation Little Improved.

The delay in telegraphic communication throughout France and to Italy and Switzerland continues. Despite the fact that the waters subsided the situation within the city was not improved. On the contrary the surface water further invaded the streets, while the pressure from the choking torrents underground opened new crevices in some places and at other points forced up the pavements into great obstructing hummocks, tilting and sometimes tearing up trees and lamp posts.

This was especially noticeable in the Place de la Concorde, the Rue Royale and the Place de L'Opera. The greatest damage has been done in the Place de L'Opera and at the St. Lazare station. At the former four bad caveins have occurred, one in front of the new building of the Equitable Life Assurance society, where the water has poured into the basement. The situation, however, is not so critical in the Place de L'Opera as in the region in front of the St. Lazare, where the waters racing through the Rue de la Grange-Bateliere subway, joining the flood of overflowed sewers, has turned the Place du Havre into a lake and some sections of the Rue de L'Arcade, the Rue de L'Isyl and the Boulevard Haussmann into veritable rivers.

Crevices Swallow Pedestrians.

There have been a dozen instances where persons have disappeared in crevices suddenly opened, or been swept away in the sewer floods. Many pitiful stories are told of the rescue of half starved persons whom the flood had imprisoned in houses. Two families with nine children who had been drifting about on a raft all night were discovered in the Javel district at daylight and rescued. A number of persons have become insane through fear and suffering.

Two hundred additional canvas boats with crews arrived at points on the water front above and below the city. They will aid the residents of the suburbs. The government has requisitioned every boat obtainable and posted notices everywhere warning flood sufferers not to pay the boat men anything for their services. Many private individuals, including the Rothschilds, have placed their automobiles and carriages at the disposal of the authorities.

Extensive preparations are being made for the thorough cleansing and disinfection of the city as soon as the water has subsided. Much apprehension is felt regarding the effect upon the weakened foundations of streets and houses when the water pressure is withdrawn.

CAUGHT THE BISHOP.

One Surprise That Was the Forerunner of Another.

That was a good old comedy bishop who one fine day entered a large jeweler's establishment in Regent street. London, to make an extensive purchase of valuable presents. He selected them with great care as regards their artistic value, but quite regardless of cost. The proprietor and his assistants buzzed round his lordship. The selected valuables were packed in separate parcels at his suggestion, neatly tied and sealed, and he had just taken a seat in the private office of the proprietor and was feeling in his pocket for his check book when two men, who had been peering in at the glass door leading to the street, walked up the shop and stood behind the bishop. They were plainly dressed, sharp looking men and thus bluntly addressed the jeweler:

"What has this man been ordering?"

The bishop looked up, saw the men, turned pale, clutched the sides of the chair, dropped his glasses and looked as if he would bolt. Before he could stir, however, the handcuffs were on his wrists.

"Bishop, indeed!" said one of the men. "He was a colonel yesterday. Here, 'bishop,' come along to Vine street. 'Bishop,' indeed! Ha, ha! Well, that's a good 'un!" And, turning to the astonished jeweler, he continued: "Just copped him in time, sir; lucky for you. Oh, by the way, you might get one of your assistants to bring round these parcels he has selected. We must enter them at the police station. We have a cab at the door. We have been tracking the bishop all the morning."

Without a word the "bishop" followed the detectives into a cab, and all three got in as the assistant came out with the valuables.

"Here," said one of the detectives through the window, "place those in here—they will be safer—and you get on the top with the driver."

It was not far to Vine street; but, as usual, the traffic was congested in Oxford circus, and the cab had to halt occasionally. It was, however, soon at the police station. The assistant jumped off the driver's seat and opened the door.

The cab was empty!—Strand Magazine.

HOLY GROANING.

The Sin of Worldly Pleasure in the Seventeenth Century.

Buckle gives a graphic picture of the attitude of the kirk of Scotland to worldly pleasures during the seventeenth century. Cheerfulness, especially when it rose to laughter, was to be guarded against. Smiling might occasionally be allowed; still, being a carnal pastime, it was a sin to smile on Sunday. No husband should kiss his wife and no mother her child on the Sabbath day. Jesting was incompatible with a holy and serious life. The ministers were given much to weeping, groaning and lamentations. One, the Rev. Alexander Dunlop, was noted for his "holy groan." To engage in the frivolous art of writing poems was condemned. Men should not disport themselves with music; dancing was a "serious sin;" joyousness even at a christening was a scandal. One should speak and walk with gravity and solemnity; he should not enjoy his dinner; only the ungodly relished food The great object of life was to be in a state of affliction. Whatever pleased the senses was to suspected. Whatever was natural was wrong. The church men grew sour in countenance, harsh in voice. Joy and love disappeared or were forced to hide in obscure corners.

MAN MONEY.

The Old Teutonic Law on Killing or Injuring Others.

The system of atoning for death or bodily injuries inflicted on others by paying damages is as old as the earliest Teutonic laws, praised by Tacitus. The trespasser was always required to make peace with the aggrieved family of the victim by "Wer-Geld."

"Wer" is the ancient German for man. "Geld," now, as in the days of Wotan, means money.

Damages were assessed in accordance with the rank and wealth of the injured party, and the money was paid over in the presence of the whole community, its acceptance forestalling feuds. Indeed, the recognition of Wer-Geld ("money for the man" killed) by law precluded further bloodshed or other forms of revenge.

If the slayer was not rich enough to pay the required sum, he turned over to the injured parties his sons as slaves. If his sons were not sufficient guarantee for the payment of the debt, the slayer himself had to turn bondsman, both the letter and the spirit of the law requiring that the full amount of damage inflicted be recovered by the aggrieved parties.—New York World.

Fulfilling His Agreement.

Having become tired of living in rented houses, Mr. Gwimple had bought a home of his own. Not having enough money to pay for it outright. he had made a cash payment of $1,000 and given a trust deed on the property for the remainder. One night, not long after he had taken possession of his new home, Mrs. Gwimple roused him from a deep sleep.

"Gerald," she said, "somebody is trying to get into the house!"

Mr. Gwimple crawled out of bed and started downstairs.

"What are you going to do?" she asked him.

"I'm going to let him in," he answered, half awake.

"To let him in! Who?"

"The man that holds the trust deed on this property," he mumbled. "The document I signed binds me to admit him to the premises at any hour of the day."—Youth's Companion.

Too Much For His Mind.

"My first impulses," wailed the sad eyed individual, "are invariably good In fact, I think that I may venture without fear of undue exaggeration to say that they are very good. But I never act on them. I always act on second thoughts. This trait in my character has ruined my career, because my second thoughts are always bad. In fact, I think I may say without fear of misrepresentation that they're punk."

"Well," suggested he who was listening, "why don't you wait until third thoughts and act on them?"

Mournfully, despondently, the sad eyed individual shook his head.

"My dear sir," he groaned, "I never had three successive thoughts about anything in my life."—Exchange.

At His Own Risk.

Manager of Company—Young man, I have taken the trouble to investigate your case, and I find you are not entitled to anything. It could not be called an accident. You certainly knew the young lady's father was at home.

The Chief's Error.

Goron was chief of the Paris police when the following incident took place: Lombroso had written a book in 1888 on criminality among women, so runs the story, and when it was finished wrote to Goron to send him "forthwith" some portraits of Parisian woman criminals. Anxious to please the writer, the package was made up and started on its tour to Italy. When the book came out Lombroso sent a copy, handsomely bound, to Goron, who saw his gift acknowledged on the first page. "It was a scholarly book," said the chief, "and would have had a large sale but for an error on my part. The pictures came out of the wrong drawer of my desk. They were not criminals at all, but women who had applied for hucksters' licenses, and a new edition had to be printed to make good a police mistake."

The Pictured Cowboy.

I recall one picture by a celebrated artist of the east who does western things. It depicts a "Cowboy at Rest." He is lying on his stomach in the sun, his chin in his hands. His horse stands nearby, with the reins thrown over the horn of the saddle. Now, a cowboy in the daytime, well filled with beans and canned tomatoes, would not lie thus, and, above all, he would not leave his horse standing thus. He would pull the reins down over the horse's head and let them hang, elsewise his cow-horse would depart. I recall yet another picture of a faithful cowpuncher who with his trusty rifle defends himself from behind his dead horse, which he uses as a fortress. The dead horse is about four feet and a half through sidewise—excellent for a fortress, but a trifle wide for a thin flanked cowhorse. It would be useless to point out any detail like this to any earnest artist of today. Worse than useless would it be to suggest that a cowpuncher is the laziest created thing, for in art he must do perpetual stunts of "action."—Collier's Weekly.

The Hand Kiss.

The kiss of the hand is undoubtedly ancient and therefore is not derived from that of the lips, but probably the converse is true. The hand kiss is loosely asserted to be developed from servile obeisances in which the earth, the foot and the garments were kissed, the hand and cheek succeeding in order of time and approach to equality of rank. But it is doubtful if that was the actual order, and it is certain that at the time when hand kissing began there were less numerous gradations of rank than at a later stage.

Kissing of the hands between men is mentioned in the Old Testament; also by Homer, Pliny and Lucian. The kiss was applied reverentially to sacred objects, such as statues of the gods, as is shown by ancient works of art, and also among numerous etymologies by that of the Latin word "adoro," and it was also metaphorically applied by the inferior or worshiper kissing his own hand and throwing the salute to the superior or statue.

The Story of a Statue.

There was set up in the seventeenth century at Yarmouth, Isle of Wight, what is probably the most curious piece of art extant, erected to the memory of Sir Robert Holmes, a British naval officer of that period. The odd circumstance is that the statue was not originally designed for Holmes at all, but for a very different personage, no other, indeed, than Louis XIV. of France. This statue, finished as to the figure, but in the rough as to the head, was being taken to France on an Italian vessel when it was captured by a British man-of-war commanded by Holmes. Upon perceiving the unfinished condition of the statue Holmes, with grim humor, compelled the artist, who had accompanied his work, to chisel his (Holmes') head on the king's body. And so it stands today. Holmes was eventually made

Incidents In Which Coming Events Cast Their Shadows Before.

Coming events cast their shadows before them. The writer is led to believe this because several incidents in the lives of his parents corroborate the theory that presentiments of good and evil do come to persons unawares. I will mention two of them.

In the summer of 187— my father late at night was returning to his farm from the little town of Malton. He had stayed unusually late. When he reached the farm all was quiet. Removing the harness from his horse, he proceeded to the carriage house and hung it in its place.

He came out and closed the door. As he did so he heard the harness fall. It was very dark. He went back into the house and found the harness still hanging in its place. The same occurrence took place again. He went back again and found it in its place.

When the third time he heard the sound of falling harness he did not go back.

Several weeks later his barn burned, and it happened that the same harness was in the barn loft, a valuable set. He attempted to save it. The staircase burned behind him, and he was compelled to jump for his life from a window. His previous experience came to him vividly. He saved the harness, but at the risk of his life.

Another vivid incident I recall was my mother sitting by the fire with a sick baby. The nurse was present, too, and both were wide awake. Her father appeared to her and advised her as to the baby's treatment and other family matters. He vanished as quickly as he had come. The next day she heard of his death.—London Tit-Bits.

Community Breeding.

The question of community breeding is agitating breeders in some parts of the state especially, and ought to be discussed among the farmers generally. One gentleman greatly interested in this line of breeding writes the department of Agriculture at the University Farm in substance as follows:

"By Community Breeding we mean simply the getting together of farmers deciding upon some breed to raise, then buying and using bulls in partuership. This is neither an experiment nor some foolish idea, but it has been worked out in foreign countries as well as in parts of the United States".

He cites certain counties in Wisconsin where the farmers have made wonderful records as r result of this method of breeding, and gives instances where grades are selling at high figures, and says that pure breeds are in demand at fabulous prices, drawing the deduction that if this can be done in one locality it can be done every where that the breeders are willing to adopt that method.

The writer argues rightly when he says that increased production is the real goal to be striven for, on the ground that the man who can make better stock grow where an inferior quality grew before is a benefactor to mankind.

With great pratical knowlepge he says that "you may not have grade cows for sale for several years, because you will want the heifers to grow up to have their milk tested, etc., and cull out the poor stock, leaving only the best for future breeding, The bull calves, he says, should not be kept for breeding but should be sold for veal. Only the best pure bred bulls from record producing ancestors should be used. The scales and tester should then be used to determine the value of their daughters, since not every bull of any strain of cattle possesses the required merit, and the only measure of his merit is the record of his offspring.

Thus says the correspondent, a group of farmers, when working co-operatively with other groups, can use a sire until his usefullness to them is exhausted owing to his near relationship to the young females of the herd when he can be exchanged with another group having a similar sire, and his valuable qualities preserved so long as he is fit for service thus avoiding untried sires and reducing the individual expense.

Then, to sum up, the chief thing is to select a breed of stock, no matter whether cattle, hogs, sheep or horses stick to the breed selected and breed up with intelligent purpose.

PLUMMER MAY BE INCLUDED

Bartender at Ed. Johnson's Buffet Arrested For Alleged Illegal Sale.

That Plummer may be included in the closed territory by Special Agent Johnson on account of the law being unknowingly violated is what is now feared by the local saloon keepers altho from what the Pioneer knows of the case Mr. Johnson would hardly be justified in such action in view of the policy he has been following in respect to the other places under similiar cerenmstances. The sentiment of a majority of the citizens of Plummer at the present time is undenialby in favor well regulated saloons that will observe the law, and the two present saloons have the reputation of being such.

When the enforcement of the treaty with the indians in respect to the sale of intoxicating liquors to the indians was undertaken by the interior department the local saloon keekers announced their intention of endeavoring to live up to the rules laid down by the department and as far as the Pioneer knows they have endeavored to do so. It is a well known fact that there are a great many of the breeds whom it is difficult to tell from an average white man and it is owing to this fact that the present.

Two deputy special agents followed a breed to Plummer Monday evening and saw him purchase liquor of Albert Wanstad in Ed. Johnson's saloon and they returned Wednesday evening and placed Wanstad under arrest taking him to Thief River Falls for a peliminary hearing. It is claimed that the special agents were usiug the breed as a decoy with which to obtain evidence against the saloon keepers. This places the saloonkeeper in a position where he is unable to to transact business with any but personal aquiantances if he wishes to stay on the save side. It is scarcely propable that Mr. Johnson will on evidence gathered in this way attempt to close the local saloons against the wishes of the majority of the people, unless he has reasons to believe that the local saloon keepers sold liquor to the breed knowing him to be a indian and that they have not been trying to live up to the law in that respect.

Among the local people the Plummer saloons enjoy the reputation of being orderly law abiding places and if the interior department accords them the same treatment it has some of the other places it will allow them to run as long as the Village Council grants them license to do so and they show they are willing to use their best effort to keep the indian from obtaining his much craved booze. There may be other facts come out latter which we know nothing about, we are only speaking from our present knowledge.

Obituary.

Engeborg Anna Lundeen died at her home in the town of Garnes at 12:00 o'clock in the evening of Tuesday of last week from Cerebral hemorrhage. Deceased was born in Roros, Norway, Dec. 5th, 1846. In 1867, she married Steffen Lundeen, there five children four of which are now living; John, Martin, Josie Olson and Victoria. The fifth, Peter, died several years ago. The family resided in in the vicinity of Cannon Falls for thirty five years removing to Garnes in 1907, memorial services were conducted at the home by Rev. I. Kolstoe of the United Norwegian Church and were attended by many friends of the deceased who contributed a beautiful assortment of flowers. The remains were taken to the former home, Cannon Falls where they were intered. The services there were conducted by Rev. P. E. Bergstrom of South St. Paul.

Some Corn.

The First State Bank lately added to their collection of this years exhibits of Red Lake County grains and grasses some White Dent and White Cap Dent Corn that was grown on the farm of Ralph Green, on the Clearwater river in the town of Deer Park that satisfactorly answers the guestion as to whether corn can be successfully raised in Red Lake county and show a profit in proportion to that of the smaller grains.

This is some that Mr. Green started three years ago and each succeeding year as it has become the more acclimated it did better than the previous one. For the year of 1909 Mr. Green planted his corn on the 24th of May and harvested the same on the 24th of August and had a yield of seventy bushel to the acre all good size, sound well filled ears. Mr. Enderle purchased what corn Mr. Green wished to disposed of and will distribute the same as far as it will go among the Plummer farmers in small quanities so as to enable them to put in a small patch for seed for the following year as this corn will do considerable better than seed imported from some other section.

Plenty of Goverment Land.

Governor Eberhart calls attention to the fact that there is much Goverment land left in Minnesota subject to homestead entry. In his proclamation calling the Conservation and Agricultural Development Congress to meet in St. Paul, March the 16th to 19th, the governor says this land will be settled if the citisens of Minnesota will help in the state wide movement for development. Just where this land is, is not generally known, but the immigration Commission gives these figures in acres for the various counties:-Koochiching, 367,700 Lake, 82,000; Cook 75,000: St. Louis, 125,000; Aitkin 1,900. Cass, 262,000. Itasca, 24,009; Kittson, 8,244; Red Lake, 3,827; Roseau, 247,000, others scattering, but making a total of 1,540,000 acres of which 1,262,955 acres have been surveyed.

Enjoying Prosperity.

Carl Magnell and Charles Johnson both of the town of Mayfield, where five short years ago not a settlers cabin was to be seen, are making preparations to erect two large barns so as to properly house their growing herds of stock. The two barns which will rival any seen in the southern part of the state will be 42 by 72 with leantos and a full loft and will be but another addition to the many landmarks of a similiar kind that now loom up on that fruitful prairie.

The many fine buildings, the sleek looking herds of dairy cattle, the ditches and graded roads that keep on making their appearance are but a few of the many signs of the prosperity that the farmers of this section having well earned are enjoying. With the advent of more intensive farming and co-operation in breeding Red Lake County will take her place second to none among the counties in the state.

Tree Farming.

Raise trees instead of potatoes, is a new idea being urged by those talking about preserving the forests and growing new ones. On the face of it, the idea does not seem practical. To think of a farmer growing trees and hoping to make money thereby, don't sound good but in Germany and France the farmers pay the closest attention to their tree crops, with as much of an eye to profit as corn or wheat. They allow only the best wood to grow, cutting the weaker trees and secure an annual growth of 4 500 to 6,500 pounds per acre each year. One of the features of the coming conservation congress in St. Paul will be a demonstration of the profits which farmers can actually make growing trees, and they are an easier crop to grow than grains, grow where grains and grasses would not grow One session is to be devoted to forestry discussion and no less an authority than Gifford Pinchot, former chief forester of the United States, will tell of his experiences. The date of the forestry discussion is March 18th though the congress opens on March 16th.

May Close Favored Saloons.

Washington, Feb. 5.—A complete closing of saloons in Detroit and other towns in the Indian country in northern Minnesota is among the possibiles. Recently a letter was received here from David Hage of detroit calling attention to the discrimination resulting from the order of the Indian office is closing all but four of the saloons in that town.

In answer to the letter Commissioner Valentine of the Indian bureau says that permiting the four saloons in Detroit to remain open is merely an experiment an intended to indicate the purpose of the Indian bureau not to be too drastic in its enforcement of the liquor law in that locality.

"Should it be shown that the experiment is not a success, directions will be given Special Agent Johnson to close all the saloons forthwith," the commissioner said in concluding his letter.

Minnesota Land As An Investment.

The state immigration commissioner has compiled some figures that should interest those who farm with their heads as well as with their heads as well as with their hands. He shows from the statistics of the department of agriculture that the average return from an acre of crops in Minnesota is $14 78, while the average value of Minnesota land is $39 97. The land of Iowa is worth $70 03 and the average of the crop is $11 98. The crop average of Illinois was $16 51, but the value of Illinois land averaged $152 58

Whas should we expect of the farmer who looks at his business from a business standpoint? Suppose he has $5,000 to put into a farming venture. Would he buy thirty-three acres in Illinois that would yield him $545 a year, seventy acres in Iowa that would yield him $839 a year or 132 acres in Minnesota that would yield him $1,964? As a business proposition, ugriculture in Minnesota should appeal to the investor.

Of Course, statistics show that the crop returns in some states farther west equal more than the average value of the land. It should be borne in mind, however, that the average value of the land out there is greatly reduced by the large areas that are unsettled and have little value. The same is true in Minnesota to a lesser extent. But Minnesota also is more advantageously located in regard to markets: The man who settles in the North Star State has practically all the advantages offered in the older settled states combined with the opportunties to be found on the frontier.—EX temporarily shut off the manufacture of cut nails, and the wire nail was in such demand that the manufacturers were swamped. From that time dates the supremacy of the wire nail.—Chicago Post.

For thirty years I have been a temperance man, and I am too old to change.—Abraham Lincoln.

The First Fireless Cooker.

Soon after the battle of White Plains, N. Y., while the American forces were drifting toward North Castle, the lone occupant of a house, one of the Pierce families, on the Bedford road at Pleasantville, N. Y., looking out of the window, descried a posse of Hessian soldiery coming up the pike. Having just placed a number of loaves of bread in the old Dutch oven, she bethought herself that it would be well to secrete them until the soldier band passed. She at once removed the loaves, which had already become heated, and ran up in the attic and placed them between two feather beds. The soldiers arrived in due time and soon appropriated everything removable. After their departure the housewife remembered the bread exodus, ran up the stairs, and, lo, the bread was done to the "queen's taste!"—Magazine of American History.

Figure It Out.

A beggar boy asked an old gentleman in the street for sixpence.

"What will you do with it if I give you one?" asked the old gentleman.

"Turn it into ninepence quick," replied the boy.

"How?"

"Give me the sixpence and I'll soon show you."

The boy got the money, darted off to a baker's shop and bought a threepenny loaf, with which he returned to the old gentleman and handed him back 3 pennies.

"How's this? You said you would make the sixpence into ninepence."

"So I have. The baker's got threepence, you've got threepence, and I've got a threepenny loaf. That's ninepence!"—Pearson's Weekly.

It seems very careless of the government to put all those bankers together at Levenworth. The next thing we are likely to hear is that by some financial coup they have gained title to the place.

According to Thursday's Crookston Times the Regents need look no further for a president for the university since Dr. Hill gave them the "cold shoulder", as they claim to have the proper stuff in their superintendent of schools. We have no doubt but that the search for a suitable man will stop immediately.

The phrase "the high cost of living" is being used to cover a multitude of sins. A burglar, caught at St. Louis the other day, used it in explanation when brought before the judge to account for his shortcomings. The only way to keep up to the pace is to get an aero plane.

Good roads is going to be one of the chief topics of interest at the conservation congress in St. Paul next month. They will also very likely discuss it to some extent at Bemidji next week, but if you want to see good roads become a fact in your locality the only sure way is to put your shoulder to the wheel with the other fellow and push with that end in view. The expense of the same, you will receive back with interest in the saving of time and horseflesh, to say nothing of the comforts derived.

The present governor is having a stony path to follow with all the different aspirants to the gubernatorial chair afraid of his making a success of the thing and continually trying to hand him lemons to which they try to give the appearance of plums, or "slams" made up to resemble bouquets. He is, however, getting fairly skillful in picking his path and may be able to attain a sufficiently popular position, so that the people will be willing to give him sufficient time in which to prove the worth of his ideas by electing him for another term.

WEEK'S DOINGS AT WASHINGTON

Two New States To Be Admitted. Taft Gets Understanding From Insurgents.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9th 1910. After having their hopes repeatedly dashed to the ground during the past few years, the people of the territories of New Mexico and Arizona are about to become citizens of sovereign states of the Union.

It is expected that a lively fight will develop in the Senate Committee on Territories before the bill, which has already been adopted by the House by an almost unanimous majority, will be reported favorably to the Senate. Senator Beveridge, the chairman of this committee, was for a long time opposed to allowing the two territories to come into the Union separately. It was he who directed the opposition to the great winning fight made a few years ago by Senator Foraker of Ohio. It is likely that the conditions of entering the Union will be made more difficult than in the House bill.

No matter how much opposition develops in the hearings, however, there is no doubt of the final passage of the bill thru the Senate before the end of the session, for the reason that both parties in their last national platform made emphatic declarations in favor of it. Those corporations which have benefited more under a territorial form of government than would be the case under a state, because of the much lower rate of taxation under the former, are not putting up the same fight thru a numerous paid lobby, and the possibility of a struggle on the floor of the Senate is remote.

Nor are the territories themselves sending big delegations to Washington to further their cause. Formerly the wealthy men of each territory who, for patriotic or selfish reasons, were interested in having a state form of government were called upon to contribute to a general fund, out of which the heavy expenses of the representatives were paid. The governor and state officers appeared among them, aiding in the work of button holing the members of the House and Senate. Incidentally, as these delegations were made up of the leading politicians of the territory, various schemes for political control were arranged with such care that all the offices were apportioned in advance. When the bill upon which these hopes depended did not pass, the disappointed crowd disconsolately made its way home.

With each disappointment thus encountered it became more difficult to raise the fund necessary to maintain the delegation. Hence the small lobby in Washington at this session does not mean that the wealthy men in the prospective states are so sanguine of success that they believe it is not necessary to spend money. It means that they have been fooled so many times that not even the declarations in the party platforms are sufficient to assure them that they will not again meet with rebuff. Later on when the measure has actually been reported to the Senate the delegation may grow in size, but at the present time a very few represent each territory. Even these are apprehensive, especially as they always meet with respectful silence on the part of Senator Beveridge, but unnecessarily so, for the legislative fates have decreed that the bill providing for separate statehood shall at last pass.

The reason why both parties are quite willing that the states should come in separately at this time is that New Mexico is thought to be bound to be Republican and Arizona Democratic. The four new Senators will, therefore, not give an advantage to either party in the Senate. George Curry, the present Governor of New Mexico, is looked upon as certain of selection as one of the Senators.

* * *

Much progress was made during the week in the relationship between President Taft and the Insurgents. As was expected, the latter declared their intention to stand by the President in his desire to put through the principal measures recommended by him in his special messages. They made it known to him through Representatives Gardner, of Massachusetts, and Hayes, of California, that they had always been in favor of his progressive policies and would support him in advancing them. But they also made it known that they had not for a moment abandoned their fight on Speaker Cannon and the present House rules. They agreed to so conduct their campaign against the Speaker as to prevent it from interfering with the President's legislative program. As the Democrats have expressed a willingness to support some of the measures the President recommends, such as the postal saving bank bill, his way to success in getting most of them adopted by the House seems practically assured. Whether he will find them the same when he signs them as when they were introduced is another question which the Senate leaders will answer. That the President's position was improved, so far as his success with Congress is concerned, by the attitude of the Insurgents, is not doubted here. Another source of improvement during the week was the expressed determination of the Republicans of the New York delegation to stand by him and his policies during the session.

* * *

It is calculated by the Republican leaders in Congress that attention will be drawn from the Ballinger inquiry, and the strategic position of the party aided generally by the probe into the causes of the high cost of food stuffs, which is about to be thoroughly made by the Ways and Means Committee of the House.

The increasing cost of living has been felt in every section of the country and various attempts have been made to explain it on political and economic grounds. The fact that it was ascribed to the Dingley tariff had much to do with the revision of the schedules last summer. By many the tariff is still held responsible and during the hearing to be held the Democrats will do everything possible to prove this. On the other hand the Republicans content that if prices have increased because of the tariff, wages are also higher. However, they do not admit that the tariff has produced such an effect in prices and will put a host of witneses on the stand to prove otherwise.

Because of the extent of the inquiry it is not likely that it will be terminated until late in the session and the evidence brought out at the hearing will be utilized by both sides in the Congressional campaign. A subcommittee of the House Committee on the District of Columbia, of which Representative J. Hampton Moore, of Pennsylvania, is chairman, has been looking into the cost of food in the District of Columbia. Before it the statement was made by Secretary Wilson that the country is full of little trusts which hold up the consumer without any particular advantage to the farmers and other direct producers.

The Ways and Means Committee is anxious that all phases of the food inquiry shall be investigated, so that some conclusion acceptable to all the people of the country may be arrived at. Experts will be put to work and witnesses from all classes of producers and consumers will be placed on the stand.

* * *

The Democrats are jubilant over the news from the sixth Missouri district that the majority given to the successor to the late Representative De Armond was elected by a majority about fifteen votes in excess of that given De Armond at the time he made the race in the campaign when Roosevelt was elected President in 1904 The Republicans are convinced that much work is necessary in Missouri and the Middle West if the party is to be successful in the coming congressional election.

LEE BOYS LOST LIVES IN BLIZZARD

Former Norman County Boys Frozen to Death in Canada.

News was received in Ada the first of the week telling of the sad fate that befell the two sons of Arnt Lee, formerly of Borup, who left in December with his family and personal goods for Western Canada where they settled on government land. On the afternoon of December 31st the two boys, Odwin and Anton, aged 14 and 16 years, started out with a horse and a barrel on a "stone bolt" to get some water at a place about three quarters of a mile from the house. They were overtaken by the terrible blizzard that swept the Canadian plains that day and in its unrelenting fury claimed the lives of these two boys who were just entering manhoods estate. The storm came upon them without a moments warning and the boys were unable to find their way home again. Mr. Lee started out to find them and it was with difficulty that he was able to return to the house. As soon as the storm had abated a searching party started out to find the boys but it was not until two weeks later that their bodies were found about 14 miles from their home. When found the boys frozen hands were clutching the bridle reins of the horse which was still alive. The Lees were residents of this county for a number of years and the family has many friends here who will extend their sympathy to them in their bereavement.—Norman Co. Index.

What to Take.

Take things easy—within reason.

Take care of your health. It is the most valuabe thing you have.

Take a hint when it is intended for you. Don't wait to be knocked down.

Take a flattery as an insult, and an honest compliment as something to be grateful for.

Take pains to be faithful and conscientious in business. It will bring you success.

Take offence only at things worth being offended at. It is a sure evidence of a small mind to notice trifles.

Takes hold of any work that comes to your hand rather than be idle. Luck always waits upon the busy man.

Take time to be polite and kind always. Rudeness never pays, the poor may think so but he is wrong.

Take trouble like a man. Don't go whining about when it comes, but shut your mouth and stand up under it resolutely.

Take a trip now and then, and try to see something outside of the town you live in. Travel is one of the greatest of educators.

Take pains to do your work well. The conscientious worker is the one who gets to the front—and the one that never needs be idle.

Take your wife and children with you when you go out to be amused. That is not a proper amusement for you that you cannot take your wife to—and you know it.

State Will Expend $150,000.

George Ralph, chief engineer of the state drainage board was in the city last Monday on his way to Strathcona where he will inspect some of the state surveys that are being made up there this winter. The state will expend about $150,000 in draining the country in the neighborhood of Strathcona and Greenbush.

The expression "watered stock," which describes so well the expansion of the stock of a company beyond the value of the property, originated, it is said, in connection with Daniel Drew, who was once the wealthiest and most unique manipulator in Wall street. Drew had been a drover in his younger days, and it was said of him that before selling his cattle in the market he would first give them large quantities of salt to make them thirsty and then provide them with all the water they could drink. In this way their weight was greatly increased, and the purchaser was buying "watered stock."

AVERTS DISASTER

Wireless Message Saves Captain and Crew of Forty-six.

SENT SIGNAL OF DISTRESS

Assistance Reaches Vessel Just Before She Sinks.

New York, Feb. 5.—Thanks again to the wireless and the international distress signal, "S. O. S." Captain Moore and his crew of forty-six men are safe on board the Mallory liner Alamo, bound for Key West, while their vessel, the steamer Kentucky, is at the bottom of the sea off Cape Hatteras.

It is another case of disaster averted by wireless and told to the world by the same medium. The Kentucky, a wooden vessel of 996 gross tonnage and 203 feet long, was bound from New York to the Pacific to carry passengers between Tacoma and Alaskan ports for the Alaska-Pacific Steamship company.

First news of the Kentucky's distress was received at the United Wireless company's station at Cape Hatteras. There the operator heard the "S. O. S.," quickly followed by this message: "We are sinking. Our latitude is 32.1, longitude 76.30."

Almost simultaneously the operator heard the steamship Alamo respond to the Kentucky's call for help, informing Captain Moore that the Alamo was making all speed to the sinking vessel's assistance. Thereafter no message was received from the Kentucky, indicating that water had interfered with the power, putting her wireless apparatus out of commission. The navy department at Washington in the meantime flashed wireless messages along the Atlantic coast, dispatching the battleship Louisiana and two revenue cutters to the scene, but word came from the Alamo that she had arrived first and had taken off all hands in safety. This is the message as received in New York by the United Wireless company from its Cape Hatteras station:

"Latitude 32.36, longitude 76.28. Steamship Alamo has just taken Captain Moore and crew of forty-six men from sinking steamship Kentucky. Water had already reached the fire room and steamer will sink before midnight. The Alamo is now proceeding to Key West."

The Kentucky was insured for $70,000.

ELEVEN PERSONS MET DEATH

Terrific Explosion Occurs in a Pennsylvania Mine.

Indiana, Pa., Feb.. 7.—Seven bodies of the eleven persons killed have been recovered from the Jefferson and Clearfield Coal and Iron company mine No. 2 at Ernest, Pa., where a terrific explosion occurred. Ten of the dead are Hungarians and one an American.

Rescuers have succeeded in bringing to the surface six miners who are so badly burned that physicians in the improvised hospital say that they will probably die.

The explosion occurred in a heading where twelve workmen were located, and one of these, Andrew Krazcer, escaped by crawling a quarter of a mile on his stomach to evade the noxious gases. When he saw the lights of the rescuers he moaned and tried to crawl. He was slightly burned, but suffered chiefly from the effects of after damp. The positions of the bodies showed the men had made desperate efforts to crawl away from the heading.

AFTER A STORMY SESSION

House Committee Votes to Favorably Report Ship Subsidy Bill.

Washington, Feb. 4.—After a short but torrid open hearing, replete with personal disputes and acrimonious utterances, followed by an executive session of an hour, also filled with dissension, the house committee on merchant marine and fisheries, by a vote of 10 to 7, voted to report favorably to the house the administration bill on ship subsidy.

TURKEY PREPARING FOR WAR

Buying Guns and Horses in Various European Countries.

Constantinople, Feb. 4.—The minister of war has dispatched ten officers to various European countries to buy horses and guns in anticipation of a war with Greece.

Four torpedo boat destroyers have also been ordered from Germany.

The Third army corps, stationed at Salonika, has been ordered to cross the frontier the moment the forthcoming Greek parliament accepts deputies from Crete into its membership. Such an act, Turkey considers, would be a repudiation of Turkish suzerainty over Crete and a sufficient cause for the immediate declaration of war.

REPORT MADE BY PINCHOT

Former Forester Discusses Conservation Bills.

SOME SHOULD BE ALTERED

Necessity for the Passage at the Present Session of Congress of Good Laws for the Protection of Natural Resources of the Country Is the Keynote of the Report Made to the National Conservation Association.

Washington, Feb. 8.—The necessity for the passage at the present session of congress of good laws for the protection of the natural resources of the United States is the keynote of a report just made to the National Conservation association by Gifford Pinchot, the recently chosen president of the association. Mr. Pinchot takes up in what he calls "a spirit of constructive criticism" the nine bills relating to the conservation of natural resources introduced in congress on Jan. 18 on behalf of the secretary of the interior.

Mr. Pinchot calls upon the members of the association to put forth strong efforts to have enacted into law the bill on the withdrawal of public lands, which has been reported from the public lands committee by Senator Nelson, after it had been amended as a result in part at least of conferences between the committee and officers of the conservation association.

Of the other eight bills he believes that some merely require amendment, while others must be recast altogether. The coal bill and the phosphate, oil, asphaltum and natural gas bills, he reports, are fundamentally sound in principle, but need amendment.

They wisely separate, he says, the surface of the land from the underlying minerals and provide for the disposal of the minerals by lease and not by sale.

But the coal bill, he objects, "contains no sufficient anti-monopoly clause. The clause which purposes to regulate rates to be charged the public is so framed that it may be evaded with ease."

May Reduce Standard of Mining.

Another clause of the bill, he adds, "may reduce the standard of mining to the wasteful level of the 'prevailing commerce practice.'"

In regard to the bill for the survey of railroad land grants he expresses the opinion that it will enable the railroads properly to perfect title to their lands, "but it overlooks the long pending understanding between certain of the roads and the forest service for the return of railroad lands within the national forests to the United States in return for the right to cut in one body an amount of timber equal to that on the lands returned." This understanding, he says, requires only legislation to make it effective.

Speaking on the water power bill, Mr. Pinchot declared that "it repeals in silence the existing water power law and curtails the already ample power now exercised, with the approval of a former attorney general, by the department of agriculture."

The provision of the bill for the compensation to the government by the companies, he holds is good.

The worst feature of the bill for the sale of timber and timber lands, he declares, is that it replaces the objectionable feature of the timber and stone act, which was the inducement to speculation in government timber, with provisions which promote speculation and retard the development of agricultural and mineral lands far beyond the act it repeals.

TWO KILLED AND THREE HURT

Accident Occurs in a Sand Pit in South Dakota.

Brookings, S. D., Feb. 8.—While digging sand in a pit about ten miles northwest of Brookings, Theodore Johnson and Nels Nelson were killed and Emil Benson, Ludwig Johnson and Emil Steen were seriously injured by a cavein. The men had dug too far under the bank and failed to put in proper supports.

Terminals to Be Enlarged.

Superior, Wis., Feb. 8.—The Great Northern railroad has issued orders for resumption of work on the enlargement of the ore yard terminals in this city, which was started just before the financial troubles of 1907. Material was assembled for the work, but little or no actual construction has been done. The property was all acquired, however, and the entire outlay under the plans at present contemplated will entail an expenditure of about $200,000.

General Wood Under the Knife.

Baltimore, Feb. 8.—Notwithstanding the denial of the hospital authorities that an operation had been performed upon General Wood, it was later learned on unimpeachable authority that an operation was performed. That it was not a very serious one, however, was indicated by the fact that the patient was able to sit up. Nothing could be learned as to the nature of the operation.

NIAGARA FALLS WATER POWER

Subject of Controversy Between United States and Canada.

AFRAID OF THE CAPITALISTS

Canadians Fear That American Financiers Will Capture the Long Sault Rapids in the St. Lawrence River for Power Purposes—Government of Ontario to Make a Vigorous Protest to Ottawa.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 8.—Controversies over the division of the water power at Niagara Falls and the alleged attempt of American capitalists to capture Long Sault rapids in the St. Lawrence river for power purposes have brought about a situation here which threatens an indefinite delay to the ratification of the national waterways treaty. The government of Ontario has made, or is preparing to make, a vigorous protest to Ottawa against the approval of the treaty in its present form. The chief protest is made against the situation said to be developing at Long Sault rapids in the St. Lawrence, where a power company has been endeavoring for some time to secure a right to build a power dam.

This protest is explained in part by the fact that certain political elements of the province of Ontario are anxious to have a provincial government take control of the power. Newspapers at Toronto and Ottawa came out with sensational stories about an attempt of American capital to secure this great power and pointing out the dangers to Canada which lurked in the national waterways treaty.

Will Take Up Question.

The Canadian section of the international waterways commission will meet at Toronto and will take up the Long Sault question.

The sudden outburst against the treaty is believed to be particularly to force public attention upon the Long Sault question at the time when it comes before the commission. The Niagara situation is said to be equally serious. Ontario interests claim that, under the agreement reached between the Canadian and American commissioners, the division at Niagara Falls will be on the basis of the flow of water instead of the basis upon which the international line was originally determined.

When Canada and the United States made the original division at Niagara Falls a line was passed on the north side of Goat island, giving that land to the United States. This left nearly 80 per cent of the flow of the water to go over the Canadian falls. It is now claimed that the Canadian and American sections of the international waterways commission have made the division on a basis of the flow of water, which would move the boundary well over into the Canadian falls and give American power companies the right to partially drain those falls.

ALL RECORDS ARE BROKEN

Cold Weather Prevails Throughout the East.

Scranton, Pa., Feb. 8.—All low temperature records in this city and county were broken. At Lanesboro 28 below was recorded.

New York, Feb. 8.—The coldest day of the year in New York came and went between sunrise and sunset. At daybreak the thermometer registered 2 above zero, but it rose steadily all day, and at 10 o'clock at night 20 above was recorded. The wind sank from forty miles an hour to twelve. There was great suffering among the poor.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 8.—Villages in the interior of Dutchess county report a temperature of from 18 to 22 below zero. In spite of the cold weather the students of Vassar college held their annual ice carnival on the college lake, but the music by the Twenty-first Regiment band was often interrupted because of frozen valves in the instruments.

More Men Involved.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 8.—There have been few developments in the Lakota bank situation, except for a rumor that the investigation will show that more men than the accused cashier, S. A. Floren, were implicated in the defalcation. It was reported here that the bank has been systematically robbed for probably ten years and that Floren was simply the man who held the bag.

Rush to Canada Keeps Up.

North Portal, Sask., Feb. 8.—In January, 1910, 775 settlers from the United States passed through North Portal to various points in Saskatchewan and Alberta. This shows a marked increase over the number of arrivals for the corresponding month in 1909, which was 608.

Best Solution of Difficulty.

London, Feb. 8.—A dispatch from Constantinople to a London news agency states that the powers will propose that Turkey sell Crete to Greece as the best solution of the difficulty.

THIEF-RIVER-FALLS--MINNESOTA

Ed. Miller and Mike Madden returned Thursday from Western Canada. They did not seem to be so enthusiastic about the country as they were before they left, having evidently found that Minnesota was a pretty good place after all.

Carl O. Elg made a trip down to Plummer Tuesday with a load of grain for the market. There are quite a number of the farmers hauling their grain to that point, as they claim they get one grade higher and less dockage which will divert considerable of the Thief River Falls trade to Plummer hereafter. —Eleven Towns.

Sam Lovass, Ole Lien and Olaf Tande were in Monday to attend the directors meeting of the Clearwater Telephone Company. The new officers took the oath of office and a two years contract was entered into with H. H. Finrow to have him retain the management of the central office. The system is being put into shape and each business house in town is to have a separate wire, which necessitates the putting in of a new switch board A phone has also been installed in the Soo Depot which fact will be appreciated by all the patrons.

THE PLEBEIANS.

Their Secession From Rome and Their Rise to Power.

Plebeians were the commons of Rome, who were originally forbidden all political rights. They were for the most part poor and were not allowed to intermarry with the patricians. They served in the army without pay and were sold into slavery for debt and could even be cut into pieces for distribution among their creditors.

Finding their condition intolerable, the plebeians in 497 B. C. seceded to Mons Sacer, near Rome, where they resolved to build a new city. But this step so alarmed the privileged classes that they granted to the commons the right of annually choosing from their own numbers two magistrates, called tribunes, with power to protect them against the aggressions of the patricians.

After the lapse of about 200 years the disabilities of the plebeians were almost entirely removed, and between the years 356-300 B. C. they secured the dictatorship, the censorship and the praetorship as well as the right to be pontiff and augur. Thus the Roman republic, after two centuries of existence, finally secured a democratic form of government. — New York American.

TAFT ITS SPONSOR

Federal Corporation Bill Introduced in Congress.

MEASURE NOT TO BE PRESSED

Executive More Interested in Other Legislation.

Washington, Feb. 8.—The federal incorporation bill which was introduced in congress Monday is not to be pressed for passage at this session. If the bill should be passed President Taft has stated his willingness to stand as its sponsor and to take the responsibility for having recommended it.

Further than this, the president told several callers that he would not make the incorporation bill an administration measure. He declared he felt he had no right to do so and that it did not rank with the proposed amendments to the interstate commerce law, the postal savings banks and the measures designed for the conservation of natural resources. These latter were promised in the party platform upon which the president was elected.

President Taft believes that there are many things in the incorporation bill which will commend themselves to the legislators as they study the measure. He will not attempt to influence senators or representatives in its favor, however. The bill now goes to the judiciary committee of congress.

Wall Street Rudely Awakened.

Wall street interests, inclined at first to look upon the idea of a federal charter with the utmost favor, were rather rudely awakened when it was learned that the president would insist there should be included the provision that nothing in the act should be construed as exempting corporations from the operation of the anti-trust act. A great many corporations, it is said, were looking forward to a federal charter as an indication that past sins were forgiven, provided there were no more transgressions in the future.

One of the many objections to the bill has arisen from the denial of the right of state jurisdiction over the corporations, out the officials believe that after the law has had a working chance it may be possible to modify its provisions so as to make them less objectionable from the states' right point of view.

The proposed law does not contemplate supervision of railroad corporations, as they exercise the right of eminent domain.

THIRTY-THREE BODIES FOUND

Many Lives Snuffed Out by Explosion in Kentucky Mine.

Drakesboro, Ky., Feb. 3.—Heroic as have been the efforts of scores of rescuers it is believed that it will be many hours before the Browder mine, near this city, will yield up the bodies of the last of the long list of men whose lives were snuffed out in an explosion.

Of the 100 men in the mine when the disaster took place it is now practically certain that more than a third perished. Except for the twenty-five who, many of them mangled and some fatally hurt, were brought to the surface within a few minutes after the concussion, the relief workers have not found a sign of life.

Through the night each lift of the cage brought bodies to the top of the ground, until thirty-three had been recovered. In the panic of grief about the mine shaft it was impossible to ascertain the number of men who escaped. It is said, however, that no man could have lived an hour in the mine atmosphere after the explosion.

OPPOSED TO ANY CHANGE

President Would Retain Publicity Feature of Tax Law.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The public feature of the corporation tax law is to become operative, but is to be interpreted liberally by the executive, according to a decision reached by President Taft. The president, in the course of a conference with H. S Meads, secretary of the Merchants' association of New York, told Meads that he would not sanction any change in the corporations' view of the publicity feature of the act, which, he said, would place at the hands of competitors vital business information.

The president said that it will be unnecessary to amend the law to avoid this, as the extent of publicity will come within the discretion of the department ministering the law.

SEVEN MEN BLOWN TO ATOMS

Motorman Ignores Warning of Excavation Foreman.

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 7.—Heedless of the warning of a foreman in charge of excavating operations along the line of the private motor road from Kelvin to the Ray copper mines, the motorman of a gasoline car containing six passengers ran his car close to a sputtering fuse of a heavy charge of dynamite and the car and its seven occupants were blown to atoms.

Railroad Managers Turn Down Demands of Employes.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—Demands for increased wages by the firemen on fifty-one Western railroads have been refused by the railroad general managers' committee. The railroads, as a counter proposition, have offered to submit the dispute to arbitration under the Erdman act.

The question of peace or a strike of 32,000 firemen and engineers will hinge on the outcome of a referendum vote to be taken by the membership of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.

The men demanded an increase of from 20 to 25 per cent. Coupled with this was one of representation, the firemen insisting on negotiating a whole scale for engineers who are members of the firemen's brotherhood, in addition to one for the firemen. This demand met a flat refusal.

MEANING OF CENSUS TERMS

The Bureau's Instructions Concerning a "Dwelling House" and a "Family."

Washington, D C., February 17, 1910—The official definitions of the terms "dwelling house" and "family" with reference to the population schedule to be carried by the enumerators in the Thirteenth United States Census, beginning April 15th next, are explained in the Census Bureau's lengthy printed instructions to the canvassers. It is pointed out that the answers should relate only to conditions existing on April 15th, the "Census Day."

The words "dwelling house" and "family" are, for census purposes, given a much wider application than they have in ordinary speech.

A "dwelling" is defined as a place in which, at the time of the census, one or ore persons regularly sleep It need not be a house in the common meaning of the word, but may be, for example, a room in a factory, store, or office building, a loft over a stable, a canal boat, a tent, or a wigwam. The term also includes a hotel, boarding or lodging house, a tenement or apartment house, an institution or school building, if persons regulary sleep there, as well as the ordinary dwelling house.

A "family," as a census term, may mean a group of individuals who occupy jointly a dwelling place or a part of a dwelling place, or an individual living alone in any place of abode. All the occupants and employees of a hotel, if they regularly sleep there, make up a single family, because they occupy one dwelling place, and persons living alone in cabins, huts, or tents; persons occupying a room or rooms in public buildings, stores, warehouses, factories, or stables; any persons sleeping on river boats, canal boats, barges, etc., if they have no other usual place of abode, are regarded as families.

The enumerators are required to enter on the schedule the name of every person whose usual place of abode on April 15, 1910, was with the family or in the dwelling place for which the enumeration is being made. The head of the family is to be entered first; then the wife; next the children, whether sons or daughters, in the order of their ages; and lastly, all other persons living with the family, whether relatives, boarders, lodgers or servants. The head head of the family.—Census Bureau.

Bank Robber Convicted.

Last Saturday Dr. Bockman, Capt. Wistie and Policeman James Farr, returned from Hallock, to which place they had been called as witnesses against the Karlstad bank robbers who were then under trial. Only one of the four suspects—Williams— was convicted. Three days before the robbery four men had been seen in this city, three of whom answered to the descriptions given of the arrested men. Two days after the robbery was committed these same men were seen by section men between St. Hilaire and Wylie, who testified that the three men answered the description of the men on trial. One W. H. Taylor, who runs a saloon in Minneapolis with lodgings over head, gave damaging evidence against Williams whose pal he formerly was, but is now acting as detective for the Banker's Association. A torn $10 bill handed him by Williams, with the words "we didn't get much at Karlstad," played a prominent part in the conviction of Williams.

of the family, whether husband or father, widow or unmarried person of either sex, is to be designated by the word "head," and the other members of a family as wife, father, mother, son, daughter, grandson, daughter-in-law, uncle, aunt, niece, boarder, lodger, servant, etc., according to the particular relationship which the person bears to the

UNJUST REPRESENTATION

How Nothern Minnesota is Representated in The State Legislature.

One of the chief topics discussed at the Northern Minnesota Conservation and Developement Meeting which was held at Bemidji Thursday and Friday was reapportionment so that the northern part of the state would get their just representation in the state legislature. An examination of the total vote cast in the general election of 1908 together with the representation accorded the northern part of the state in comparison with the southern part shows an interesting disparity of proportion.

The total vote cast in 1908 was 355, 293, dividing this by 63 the number of state senators, and by 119 the number of representatives we have one senator to every 5,638 votes and one representative to every 2,985 votes. The only district proportioned correctly is the 58th., which polled 5,817 votes and has one senator and two representatives. Now for some comparisons.

In the southern part of the state we have the first district made up of the little county of Houston with with 2725 votes: the 7th, Dodge, with 2259: the 18th, Waseca with 21913; the 16th, Rock-Pipestone, 3631; the 20th' Nicollet, 2526; the 21st., Sibley, 3205; the 23rd Meeker, 3436; etc. Each of these having two Representatives and one Senator. In the northern part or the State we have the 52nd, district in which are the counties of Carlton, Aitkins, Itasca, Cass and Koochick- 12,112 votes and only one senator and two representatives; the 61st district, Norman, Mahnomen, Red Lake, Clearwater and Beltrami counties with 10,311 votes and only one senator and two representatives and the 52rd district Hubbard, Wadena and votes with 8085 votes and only one senator and two representatives.

Speakers For Congress.

W. H. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry Department of Agriculture Dr. W. J. McGee, head of the buaeau of soils of the department, Dick J. Crosby, Specialist in Agricultural Education and M. O. Eldridge, assistant chief of the bureau of road management, have all accepted the invitation of the conservation commission to make addresses in St. Paul during the congress March 16, 17, 18 and 19.

As chief chemist of the United States, Mr. Wiley has become perhaps the foremost authority in the country on pure foods. Mr. Wiley writes: "I feel greatly honored at receiving the the invitation from you and have submitted it to the secretary of Agriculture, who approves of my acceptance of it."

Richard J. Crosby, who personally insists on being called "Dick" Crosby is the specialist on agricultural education and is to speak on March 18. His subject will be " Public School Agriculture, how taught and how connected with the business of farming." The lecture will be illustrated with lantern slides. These will show boys' and girls' clubs doing agricultural work, school gardens in the country, educational excursions high school agriculture taught by means of the text book, laboratory and field trips for the study of animals and crops. Many of the scenes were taken at the Minnesota school at St. Anthony Park and some at Crookston.

Dr. W. J. McGee will talk on the subject of "Soil Fertility" in the afternoon of March 17. Mr. Eldridge will give an illustrated lecture on road making having not only a large collection of lantern slides, but over five hundred feet of moving picture films.

Got Ten days.

James Torgeson who resides southeast of town, was taken into custody last Saturday by sheriff Nelson on a complaint made by Knut Knutson charging him with threatening him with volience and threatening to commit arson. As the defendant was under the influence of liquor at the the time the complaint was changed to one charging him with being drunk and disorderly on which charge he was given a hearing Monday evening before Justice Pahlen, who decided that he had better become the guest of sheriff Nelson at Red Lake Falls for the next ten days giving him time to think over his short-comings that he might see the error of his ways and maybe resolve to be a peaceful and law abiding citizen in the future.

The defendant is an old offender against the peace in the community and was given a warning by Justice Pahlen to the effect that if he appeared before him again as a disturbing element he would not get off so easily. Attorney Boughton was over from Red Lake Falls to appear for the defendent and county attorney Michelet came down from Thief River Falls to prosecute.

$1628.95 for Twenty-five Head of Cattle.

The above price may seem to be a fairy tale but the fact remains that K. O. Balstad and sons, stock farmers in Sletten last week sold to J. J. Alrick 25 head of fat beef cattle at above price. The average age of these cattle was less than four years. This price is all the more remarkable when it is known that the average price paid for a carload of from 30 to 35 head of cattle from 2 to 2½ years is generally abput $500.

They began feeding these cattle Oct. 8th., and finished them up Feb. 11th.. This demonstrates that we can fatten our cattle right here and make money on them, that it is not necessary to ship them to the southern part of the state to fatten them. The above sum is the largest check ever given for a carload of cattle in this section of the country. Alrick said that it was the best bunch of cattle ever shipped from this vicinity These cattle were fed on cornstalks until in January. No hay was fed them until that time. There is apparently no business that will pay greater profits than farming when you farm intensely. As a dairy and beef raising country this can not be beat. Let us all boost for it. —McIntosh times.

Intends to be Candidate for Re-election.

There has been considrable discussion during the past two or three months as to the probable course of C. O. Sageng, state senator from this county, relative to his candidacy this fall. Quite a number have taken it for granted that he would be a candidate for congress, as he made a strong showing in his congressional candidacy two years ago.

Senator Sageng was in the city on Tuesday and while here made the first statement that he has given out relative to his position. He states that it is his present intention to be a candidate for re-election to the state senate this year, He says that while conditions may arise which may result in a change of his present plans and inducing him to enter as a candidate for congress, his presenet intention is to file for the state senate, with a view to again representing Otter Tail County in that body.

Good and Bad Breeding.

An interesting feature of the recent meeting of the Stockbreeders Association at University Farm was the lecture by Prof. Grout, on the subject of selecting dairy stock. Several animals were in the ring, among which were some Guerneseys, whose records of butter were stated by the professor. The Best and poorest diary cows on the farm were in evidence. The best cow with a record of 405 pounds of butter last year, was shown together with her daughter, whose record was only one hundred and ten pounds during the same period. The mothers average for five years past has been 325 lb yearly but owing to her bad habit of milking herself it is not definitely known what her record might be, tho Prof Grout thinks it would easily reach to five hundred pounds if she were crowded. The heifer is kept as an object lesson to show the value of breeding. One would naturally think that such a mother would give great value to the offspring, and produce a good record maker. The sire of the daughter, while having good points failed to get a calf of value aud was disposed of as soon as his failure was discovered. In this case the scales and tester were applied to the heifer's milk, with unsatisfactory results, proving that only thru the daughters can the value of the sires be determined. So it is maintained that when a sire shows good results he should be kept in the community as long as it is possible to avoid inbreeding. Then he can be sent to some other community and his value be preserved until his services are no longer valuable.

George Washington

A nation never tires of honoring the birth of its greatest men. The 22nd of Feb. brings to us the one hundred and seventy-eight anniversary of the birth of George Washington and celebrations in his honor will be held in every section of this broad land.

Washington was great as the world measures greatness and there is a constant calling to mind his earthly deeds to true greatness. It is true he did not have to struggle with poverty, as so many of our Americans, who have obtained greatness have done, for his parents were wealthy for the times in which he lived. But his wealth did not, as is so generally the case, fasten upon him idle and dissolute habits. From the beginning of his career until its close his life was a busy and active one, free from vices of every kind. Indeed, Washington's morality has ever been held up as an example for the youth and even the mousing historian has failed in his attacks upon it. His devotion to his country in times of war and peace are conspicuous features. His public services as President were devoid of selfishness and ambitious motives, free from party prejudices and prompted by motives that he believed to be for the best interests of the nation. In purity of character and freedom fram vices of every kind, Washington stands as a model for American youth. His reply to his indignant father, whose impetuous nature was aroused by the apparent wantonness of the cutting of his favorite cherry-tree: "Father I cannot tell a lie; I cut the tree," was a striking symbolical illustration of the development in boyhood of the character of his manhood. It was not his public life and services alone that have given him the commanding position he holds in the affections of the American people. His personal character, his unimpeachable integrity, the purity of his motives and the tenor of of his whole private life have had much to do with it.

Let Contract.

The Red Lake Counry Commissioners were in a pickle for a short time Sunday whed they ment to let the contract for the new Court House, being enjoined from the letting of the same by court commissioner Johnson on account of alleged endeor title to same. Mr. Duffy came to the rescue however by furnishing another sight and the contract was let just the same.

A Quaint Epitaph.

Here is an epitaph which may be read in an English churchyard attached to Leamington church:

"Here lies the body of Lady O'Looney, great-niece of Burke, commonly called the sublime. She was Bland, Passionate and Deeply Religious: also she painted in water colors and sent several pictures to the exhibition. She was the intimate friend of Lady Jones. And of such is the kingdom of Heaven."

He Beat It.

"Where did you steal that mat from?" demanded the policeman as he seized the tramp.

"I didn't steal it," said the tramp. "A lady up the street gave it me and told me to beat it."—Judge's Library.

Leisure Hours.

Dr. Johnson had scant sympathy with inconsistent and arrogant industry. "No man, sir, is obliged to do as much as he can. A man should have part of his life to himself."

The weather man evidently decided that it was his treat this week.

A battle cry of Hock der Kaiser seems to be increasing in volume, in the Northwestern part of the state, at least.

Take the sunshine sent into your life as something to be grateful for; don't darken it with shadows of your own making.

The world's greatest men grew upward from the lower classes, while the world's meanest men grew downward from the upper class.

The French explorers have returned from their attempt to locate the South Pole. We presume it will require an enterprising American to locate the coldest spot on earth.

Taft seems to have used his speech, which he delivered in New York, last week, as a stepping stone by which to get back to a position ol popularity, at least so far as the newspapers are concerned.

It takes a rich man to draw a check, a pretty girl to draw attention, a horse to draw a cart, a porous plaster to draw the skin, a toper to draw a cork, a free lunch to draw a crowd, and a well displayed advertisement in this paper to draw trade.

Why is a newspaper like a pretty woman? To be perfect it must be the embodiment of many types. Its form is made up. It is always chased, though inclined to be giddy. It enjoys a good press; the more rapid the better. It has a weakness for gossip. Talks a good deal. Can stand some praise, and it's awfully proud of a new dress.

"Advertising is not good," said the man in old clothes. "It never helped me none." The millionaire merchant smiled." That is because you tried it, John, as the Indian tried the feather bed. An Indian took a feather, placed it on a plank and slept on it all night. In the morning he growled: "Paleface say feathers heap soft. Paleface heap fool, ugh!"

According to the news reports, a restaurant keeper in Indiana found a cold storage egg with an address on, and on corresponding with the person whose address was given, found that the egg was only three years old. There will undoubtedly be trouble for some one when the head of the plant hears of a practically fresh egg being allowed to escape.

A Mr. Crane of Chicago, who, altho he had gathered unto himself a considerable portion of the filthy lucre of the country, evidently did not think himself sufficiently in the limelight, as a means of attracting attention his way, made an attack on higher education. As a result he is receiving the regard of a majority of the college professors thruout the country.

A vote taken by the Chicago Daily Tribune, of the editors west of the Alleghenies, certainly ought to make Cannon feel pretty small. Out of 3771 voting, Cannon and his policies received an endorsement from only 577. He did not even carry his own state, it going against him to the tune of 188 for, to 1182 against him. The vote also called for an endorsement of the Aldrich-Cannon Tariff bill. The vote stood 839 ayes and 3463 nays. Certainly if the would-be leaders of the present congress believe that the newspapers have any power at all they could want nothing better in the line of endorsement than to fall in line against Aldrich and Cannon.

"Believe nothing you hear and only half of what you see," says the old adage. It is well to bear this in mind while listening to the latest bit of scandal. Never condemn your neighbor unheard, however many the accusations which may be preferred against him. Every story has two ways of being told, and justice requires that you should hear the defense as well as the accusation, and remember that the malignity of enemies may place you in a similar predicament.

Boom your town. If you don't who will? Make all the newcomers and prospective residents think it is going to be the metropolis of this part of the country, and it soon will be. Get in live and energetic men and the town cannot help but prosper, go forward, grow. You never saw a town amount to anything where business men and citizens were always engaged in telling how dead it was—lifeless and all the powers that be could not start it moving, building up and endowing it with new life. This is enough to kill any town, while the statements are not true. Make the best of everything. Take the progressive side of every reasonable question. Advertise your town and business in every possible way, and your brightest hopes in regard to it will be fully realized.

The newest phase in the educational line of the dairy world is that of turning over the dairy farm to an expert man. Twenty-five years ago the cream was turned into butter by the diligent house-wife. The returns were small and the work became a drudgery. Later creameries were established, expert men were employed at fair salaries, and the returns not only guaranteed the payment of these men and the running of the creameries but doubled and some times trebled the farmers' returns from the same number of cows. Today the greatest experts of the dairy business hold that the farmer could be eliminated from the dairy business just as easily, and to even greater advantage than could his better half. The problem is to let the farmer raise the cows, the hay and feed and turn them all over to an expert dairy man, and it is claimed that he will receive more for the products in proportion to the money invested than he does today for the cream he takes to the creamery.—Thief River Press.

WEEK'S DOINGS IN WASHINGTON D. C.

Taft to Hold His Own In Ohio Campaign. Failure Spells Roosevelt.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16th, 1910. Now that the legislation to be enacted at the present session of Congress has been quite definitely outlined, the attention of Washington is centering upon two events which are fraught with the largest political possibilities- - the campaign in Ohio and the return to the United States of Theodore Roosevelt. Both were brought to the fore during the week by the selection of Assistant Attorney General Wade Ellis as manager of the Republican campaign in Ohio and the announcement of plans for a rousing reception to the former President when he arrives in New York.

On the final determination of these two events will depend the future of the country in a political way during the next few years. If the Republican party can get together in Ohio, nominate a strong man for governor and carry the state next November, the present Administration will be greatly strengthened. If, in addition, the Republicans elect a majority of the next House of Representatives, it is anticipated that President Taft will be practically assured of renomination and reelection. If, on the other hand, the Republicans do not get together in sufficient force to carry Ohio and Governor Harmon is reelected, the result will be considered a defeat for President Taft in his home state and Democrats will have hopes of promoting Harmon to the presidency If the Democrats also carry the House, they will be in a better position than at any time during the past twelve years, and the Republican party may be forced to find another national leader in order to again carry the country.

If Roosevelt is given a great ovation, such as has not been given since the return of General Grant, when he reaches Manhattan Island and his popularity is shown to have increased rather than diminished since he left Washington the fourth of last March, he will be the greatest private citizen in the land and every effort will be made to get him to reenter the field of active politics. His speeches will be closely scanned to learn his attitude toward the administration and the next campaign for the presidency. If he thoroughly endorses all that has been said and done during his absence by his successor, it will be an even fight between all the forces of the Republican and Democracy. If he takes an exactly contrary course and events turn against the Adminstration, he is regarded here as being just as certain of receiving the next nomination as the world is of the rising and setting ofthe sun.

With these facts in mind the Administration is bending every energy to conduct a successful campaign in Ohio. During the past two month's the politicians of the Buckeye state have been importuning the President to take a stand infavor of some candidate for the governorship and push the fighting as rapidly as possible. Up to this time he has steadily declined to do so, but the past few days have seen several conferences on the Ohio situation, resulting in the selection of Ellis. Walter Brown, the former chairman of the state central committe, has been forced out by the President and the man who was only recently selected to prosecute the beef trust has been given full charge. It is understood that he will retain his position as special attorney with the government to fight the trust.

Following up the determination to get into the game as early as possible because of the already long lead secured by Governor Harmon, the campaign was inaugurated on Lincoln's birthday at the love feast of the League of Republican Clubs of the state held at Dayton, and it is expected that the candidate for governor to be backed by the President will soon be announced. Maybe the other candidates, including James R. Garfield, former Secretary of the Interior will withdraw. Maybe they will not. George B. Cox, the famous Cincinnati boss, is said to resent interference from Washington and may join the fight against the Administration candidate. It will be remembered that Mr Taft, while Secretary of War, made an open attack upon the boss and succeeded in relegating him to the political boneyard. But he did not stay there long and is in the ascendancy again. If he and those working with him thoughout the state put up a fight in the state convention which will nominate the state ticket it is thought here that it will be the liveliest in years.

Another element of uncertainty is the Senatorial situation. Ellis is said to have reassured Dick that he is with him in his contest for re-election to the United States Senate. If this contest of Dick, who faces great opposition because of his former alliance with Senator Foraker, is projected into the governorship contest to any great extent, it will not make for harmony.

On the other hand, Governor Harmon has been constantly busy in the attempt to make his administration stand for reform and business methods. At a dinner he recently attended in Washington he stated that his campaign would be conducted on his record for business administration. The Republicans in the state legislature, acting under orders from the White House, have put forward a reform program, including a public utilities commission, and will attempt thereby to take away from the Governor the credit for reform during his administration.

Meanwhile preparations are being made to distribute plenty of literature and speakers in the state during the campaign. There is not the slightest doubt here that Ohio will be the battle-ground and that national issues will predominate in the discussion. The question will be whether the national administration shall be sustained, and for this reason state issues may be kept more or less in the background. As much ground to be gained before the return of the former President as possible.

Mr. Roosevelt is expected to arrive in New York between the 15th and 21st of June, after having crossed the continent of Europe from Egypt and been entertained by the Emperor of Germany and other rulers. The Republican Club of the City of New York is naming a committee to arrange the details of the welcome to be extended. John A. Stewart, representative of the club, was in Washington during the week and saw the President, who signified a desire to be present at the celebration. A committee will be selected to cross the ocean and meet the former Chief Executive in London and accompany him on his return voyage to this country. A numerous committee will go down the Hudson river to meet the incoming ship. From the time he is sighted until he retires that night it is likely the noise and joy will be such as to make the home-coming of Dr. Cook look like a moment of silent prayer in comparison.

What will be the effect of all this on the country and particularly on Colonel Roosevelt himself? The politicians here believe he will have nothing of an aggressive character to say until he has had several weeks or months to again get in touch with the entire situation. They declare that it would be unlike him to do otherwise. They say they do not know that he will ever do so, but they make no secret of the fact that they believe he will at the moment which will appear most advantageous.

* * * * *

Much interest is taken in the President's proposal that a national incorporation law be enacted which will prevent one incorporation from holding the stock of another. The enactment of such a law would strike a severe blow at the trust and hence great interest is manifested in New York. Discussion on this measure when it is reported by the committee to the House and Senate is expected to be very lively. While the President wishes it put thru at this session, it is not considered one of his pet measures, the passage of which he explicitly demands.

Story of a Young Cavalier and How He Joined the Club.

By FRANK H. SWEET.

[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

The Do What We Can circle of the King's Daughters was discussing its work for the ensuing month.

"I don't know of any urgent needs in our own neighborhood," said pretty May Whitely, pursing her lips and trying in vain to look wise and serious. "We've fitted out the Joneses and McDorgans and have sent a ton of coal to Widow Cracken."

Kate Markham, who was sitting by the window, now looked up from her sewing.

"I don't think we need bother about our next work," she said quietly. "If I'm not mistaken it's coming down the street now."

Several of the girls left their sewing and hurried to the window.

Coming down the opposite side of the street was a small boy of ten or twelve, his hands deep in his pockets and his feet keeping time to some merry tune which he was energetically whistling.

"He doesn't act as though he was overburdened with care," one of them remarked. "But, see; I do believe he is coming here!"

The boy had stopped and gazed across the street inquiringly. Then with another handspring he came racing toward them.

"Who is he anyhow?" asked May Whitely as she resumed her seat.

"One of Ben Carter's children," Kate answered. "Ben is the lame man who used to peddle clams around the village. He lives somewhere near the salt pond. Our hired man was down that way yesterday after a load of seaweed, and he stopped at Ben's to ask about the tides. He says they need help. Ben was in bed with rheumatism and hadn't done a day's work this winter, and there were two small boys and a sickly woman. I heard our man tell papa they had absolutely nothing to eat except a few small potatoes. He told them about our circle. I suppose that is what brings the boy here today."

But quick footsteps on the stairs put an end to further conversation. A moment, and there was a light knock upon the door.

"Come in," said Miss Leeson.

The door opened, and a bright faced, merry eyed boy stood before them. His clothes were patched, and glimpses of frost bitten feet could be seen through the ragged openings in his boots, but his shoulders were well thrown back, and his eyes did not shrink or waver as they looked into those of Miss Leeson, the president.

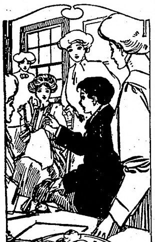
"Be you the—the club what helps folks?" he asked.

"Yes. What can we do for you?"

"I've come to jine," he said modestly.

"Join what?" Miss Leeson let her sewing fall into her lap.

"Why, your club, of course," eagerly. "Pete Guning was down our way



DREW FORTH A NICKEL, WHICH HE HELD OUT MODESTLY.

yes'day an' told us all about it. He said them that jined hunted out poor folks an' the whole club pitched in an' fixed 'em up. Now, we've got a poor fambly down our way, desprit poor," emphatically, "an' we need somebody to help us look arter 'em. I couldn't seem to hit on nobody till I heard of your club. That settled it. What's the 'nitiation?" He fumbled in his pockets and drew forth a nickel, which he held out modestly.

Miss Leeson shook her head.

"I'm sorry, my boy, but we can't take you in," she said smilingly. "Our circle is only for girls, and, besides, it is limited to ten members, and we are full already."

"I'm awfully sorry," he said dismally. "I'd counted for sure on it. An'—an' I'd sorter promised a pair o' shoes to that little Eyetalian." He gazed thoughtfully on the floor for a few moments; then his face suddenly brightened.

"I s'pose you have consider'ble runnin' round to do?"

"Yes," wondering what was coming.

"Well, s'pose I jine as run around member? You see," complacently, "I senger extraordinary in our circle!"

There was a quick upraising of hands.

"Contrary minds the same sign. It is a vote. Now, I further move that we appoint Mr."— glancing inquiringly at the boy.

"Lish," looking at her a little doubtfully.

"Mr. Lish."

"Carter," added Kate Markham.

—"Mr. Lish Carter," said May calmly, "to the office just created. All in favor signify by usual sign. Contrary minds. It is a vote."

The boy gazed at her with a puzzled expression on his face; but, detecting an undercurrent of merriment in the room, he took courage and bowed his thanks.

"Be I a reg'lar member," he asked beamingly as he rose to his feet, "an' can I fetch in my poor folks?"

"That point is now in order," said May politely.

But the boy did not need encouragement. He was too full of his subject to think much of himself or his surroundings. There was not the least trace of embarrassment in the face which he raised so confidently to Miss Leeson, nor was there any hesitation in the eager voice which poured forth the story of the poor folks.

"Are they actually starving?" asked one of the girls as he paused for a moment's breath.

"No'm!" promptly. "Pap sent 'em a painful of small taters, an' Ben an' me give 'em most of our walnuts an' chestnuts. An' then I dig 'em a few clams now an' ag'in when the weather's good an' hunts wood for 'em. But they'm desprit off, most desprit! The father an' mother's sick, an' there's six small kids, an' none of 'em ain't much good for anything. You see," patronizingly, "they's Eyetalians an' only come here last fall. They don't know our talk nor how to scuffle round for vittles yet. They jest huddle clost up to their fireplace an' famish," knitting his brows for a suitable word. "An' would you b'lieve it," excitedly, "there ain't a blessed shoe in the whole fambly! Them children paddle round in the snow an' water barefoot, an' when it's awful cold they wrap their feet up in old rags. The biggest boy helps me some, an' it's him I want to git shoes for. That's why I jined the club."

"Do they live near you?" asked Clara.

"'Bout half a mile. But their house ain't got any floor like ourn. They live right on the bare ground."

Clara held up her hands.

"The idea!" she exclaimed. "Eight persons living in a house without any floor, and in such weather! Hasn't anybody helped them besides your folks?"

"No; folks live scatterin' down that way, an' I guess they ain't heard much about 'em. But we've got along pretty well so fur. You see," proudly, "my pap's a stavin' good provider. Last fall he chopped wood enough to last all winter, an' he worked round 'mong the farmers an' took his pay in small taters—hog taters, they call 'em," in smiling explanation. "We had mos' four barrels full. An' I sold clams myself an' bought some salt an' a barrel o' turnips. I guess we'd 'a' had plenty to stand us clean through the winter if it hadn't been for so many mouths. Eight Eyetalians can eat a pile of stuff when they'm hungry."

"Yes," assented Miss Leeson when he paused, as though waiting for confirmation of his statement.

"I heard pap ask Pete Guning yes'day," the boy resumed, with another smiling glance around the room, "if he know'd anybody in the village who'd be willin' to help a poor fambly. That's what made Pete tell about your club. Pap know'd the taters was most gone, an', I guess, he thought Ben an' me couldn't hustle round lively enough to keep two famblies goin'. You see, pap's down with rheumatics."

"Yes; so I heard. But was it quite right for you to give away all of your potatoes? You should have applied for help sooner. If you are not careful you will need help yourselves."

"Oh, we'm all right!" answered the boy carelessly. "There's only four of us, an' Ben an' me's both well. We ought to be able to look arter one fambly." He noticed that her glance rested on his boots, and he flushed a little. But his eyes looked calmly into hers.

"Them boots ain't very bad," he said deprecatingly. "If the Eyetalians had boots like them an' taters an' salt every day I guess they'd feel pretty well set up. You see, Ben's younger'n me an' ain't got toughened yet, so pap bought him boots last fall. Next winter, if nothin' happens, he's goin' to git me some. These are plenty good till then." He laughed a little and added philosophically: "What's the use of havin' new boots such weather's this, anyway? You'd spile 'em in no time."

"Isn't your jacket rather thin for this weather?" hazarded Clara. "You ought to dress warm if you're going to provide for the family."

"It's plenty good," hastily. "But how 'bout them shoes for the Eyetalians? S'pose we'll be able to git 'em?"

"Oh, yes," answered Miss Leeson; don't care shucks for mud an' slush an' rainy weather, an' all of 'em would be mighty hard on your nice dresses an' pretty shoes. I could run arrants an' fetch an' carry things, an' I'd be stavin' on trappin' poor folks. Now, what d'you say?" And he looked at her so trustingly that she forgot the ragged clothes and poverty and only saw the brave, earnest soul looking through the clear eyes. Her gaze wandered to the girls questioningly. May Whitely came to the rescue.

"Fellow members," she cried, springing to her feet, "I move we create the office of cavalier and run around mes-"the children shall have shoes. Haven't we some on hand?" turning to one of the girls.

"There's that lot Mrs. Briggs sent in. They are almost as good as new. And there are some jackets and some underclothing."

"Very well. And if any of you have shoes or things at home which you think will be useful and which you do not need, suppose you send them in tomorrow morning. The committee will make a selection. We will have to buy some provisions and perhaps a few other things. Now," turning to the boy, "suppose you tell us how old the children are, so we can have some idea about providing for them."

"You don't mean all of 'em?" wonderingly.

"Yes, all."

His face grew radiant.

"Won't they be jest tickled!" he cried enthusiastically. "Shoes to go all round an'—an' other things! Why, they won't know what they'm walkin' on, they'll be so set up. The lame one 'll want a jacket if it can be squeezed out. He ain't nothin' in the world now but a caliker waist an' short britches."

Half an hour later the girls laid aside their sewing and began to make preparations to leave. The boy gazed from one to another with the glowing consciousness of good fellowship.

"How will we send the things down?" asked Miss Leeson.

"I can get pap's carryall," said Kate.

"That will be just the thing. Suppose you and May Whitely act as a committee to deliver them and see what more is needed. Can you be here tomorrow?" to the boy.

"IS THIS WHERE THE ITALIANS LIVE?"

"Yes'm," promptly. "'Tain't much over a mile."

The next day was pleasant, and when the girls arrived they found the new member sitting contentedly on the steps. He insisted on carrying all the bundles and stowing them away in the wagon, and then he climbed up on the front seat beside Kate and took the reins, which she smilingly offered him.

After leaving the village the road wound across the fields and down along the sandy shore of the mill pond and finally dwindled into little more than a footpath. At last the boy stopped in front of a small cabin.

"Is this where the Italians live?" asked May.

"Yes'm. There's some of the children out in the snow. You see, they'm all barefoot."

Springing from the wagon, he turned to assist the girls; then he took an armful of bundles and started toward the cabin.

"Don't take the large package," said Kate. "That is going somewhere else. You may bring in all the rest."

It required but little investigation to prove that the family was in dire need. Kate took out her notebook and made copious entries. When they returned to the wagon she saw May look very grave.

"We will go to your home now," she said to the boy as she took the whip and touched the horse lightly. "We want to be introduced to your mother and Ben."

The look of doubt which had come into the boy's face was succeeded by one of pleasure.

"They'll be awful glad to see you," he said delightedly. "I told 'em all about our club last night."

"And there is something else I want to speak to you about," went on Kate quietly. "If you belong to our circle you must be willing to take presents as well as to give them. We don't want any one sided members. This bundle in the wagon is for you—not as a gift, if you don't want it that way," she added quickly as she noticed the look on his face. "Our circle has plenty of work—carving wood, making boxes and other things. And in the spring I shall need help in my flower garden. You can pay for the bundle in work if you want to."

The boy did not answer. She noticed that his lips were shut very tightly.

But when they reached his home he took the bundle in his arm and accompanied them into the house.

Later he returned with them to the wagon and held the horse while they climbed in.

"I'm ever so much obliged for them boots an' jacket," he said gravely. Then, with one of his quick, irresistible smiles, he added heartily: "But not half so much as I be for the warm shawl you brought ma. That was awful nice. I am glad you fetched the things, an' I'll fix it all right yet."

M. FALLIERES.

Ill Health Forces French President to Quit Office.

BECAUSE OF ILL HEALTH

President of France to Retire on May 15.

Paris, Feb. 15.—President Fallieres is in extremely poor health and will resign his office on May 15. French statesmen predict that M. Fallieres' predecessor, M. Loubet, will succeed him. There are three candidates to succeed President Fallieres. Besides M. Loubet there are M. du Bost, president of the senate, and M. Ribot, formerly prime minister.

President Fallieres is so ill that he can scarcely attend to his duties. His resignation was written several weeks ago, but for fear of precipitating a political crisis he decided to wait until May.

CALLS IT A FRAME UP

Glavis Denies Taking Letters From Land Office Files.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The Ballinger-Pinchot congressional inquiry began to bristle with interest when John J. Vertrees, counsel for Secretary Ballinger, undertook the cross-examination of Louis R. Glavis, principal witness for the "prosecution."

The climax was reached when Mr. Vertrees announced that a box belonging to Mr. Glavis and left in the grand jury room at Seattle had been broken open a few days ago and that a number of letters missing from the files of the land office in Seattle, copies of which have recently been published in a weekly paper, were found therein.

Glavis angrily declared that if any letters had been found in his belongings "a frame up" had been prepared against him. His denunciation of federal officials who would stoop to such a trick to win the favor of their superiors called out a demonstration of applause from the spectators, which caused Chairman Nelson to announce that a repetition of the outburst would result in the room being cleared.

Jealousy Cause of Tragedy.

Danville, Ill., Feb. 15.—Entering through a window Guy Roberts shot and killed Nellie Mayfield and then committed suicide in the dining room in the Southern hotel here. Jealousy is supposed to have been the cause.

LESLIE M. SHAW.

Ex-Secretary Opposes Central Bank Scheme.

OPPOSED TO CENTRAL BANK

Former Secretary Shaw Says Standard Oil Would Control It.

Philadelphia, Feb. 13.—"I do not think there can be any doubt in the mind of any one who studies the question in the light of admitted conditions that if a central bank is established in this country it will be owned, or at least controlled, by the Standard Oil company," said former Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw at a meeting of the Pennsylvania Bankers' association in this city. His topic was "The Central Bank."

"There are two diseases prevalent in this country, either of which is liable to prove fatal," he continued. "One is Wall street mania and the other Wall street fobia. I do not think that I have been badly inoculated with either, but I am frank to say that it seems to me quite un-American to place with any group of men the power to contract or expand our currency at will and to grant or withhold credit to any bank, to any merchant and to any corporation at pleasure."

OPEN TO SETTLEMENT

Four Million Acres of Land to Be Taken From Reserves.

Washington, Feb. 10.—More than four million acres of land will be stripped from the forest reserves of the United States in the near future and restored to the public domain for homestead settlement through the government's policy in carrying out Gifford Pinchot's idea as to the classification of forest lands.

This is the initial result of President Taft's approval of a plan jointly submitted to him a few days ago by Secretaries Wilson and Ballinger for the reclassification of these lands.

The lands involved are those not suitable for forest purposes and represent more than 2 per cent of the total forest area. As three-fourths of the forest domain still is unclassified, it is difficult to estimate what will be the total elimination when the whole area has been mapped out.

It cannot be stated at this time what withdrawals will be made, as the subject is under consideration.

GIVEN TWO YEARS IN PRISON

Sugar Trust Employe Convicted of Customs Frauds.

New York, Feb. 11.—Oliver Spitzer, former dock superintendent of the American Sugar Refining company in Williamsburg, who was convicted of conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the short weighing of sugar imports, was sentenced by Federal Judge Martin to two years in the penitentiary at Atlanta.

After sentence was pronounced Spitzer made the following statement:

"The sugar trust made a scapegoat of me. It deserted me absolutely, it pounded and ruined me after I served it faithfully for twenty-nine years. In the alleged fraud prosecution the government cried for a victim and the sugar trust answered by sacrificing me and four $18 a week checkers. None of us were guilty of any breach of the law, but somebody had to go to prison to save those 'higher up.'"

DR. COOK IS AT SANTIAGO

Explorer Absolutely Declines to Be Interviewed.

Santiago, Chile, Feb. 15.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook has arrived here from Valdivia. He was accompanied by his wife.

The explorer seemed to be in perfect health, but disgusted at being met by the representatives of the newspapers. He said that he wanted to be left in peace and declined absolutely to be interviewed.

USE FIELD GUNS ON MATAGALPA

Government Troops Shell City Held by Insurgents.

AMERICAN CONSUL PROTESTS

But His Representations Are Unheeded and Nicaraguan Town Is Bombarded—Extent of Damage Not Known—Situation at Managua Is Tense and an Uprising May Occur There.

Managua, Nicaragua, Feb. 15.—Heavy field guns, posted on the hills by the Madriz forces, have begun a bombardment of Matagalpa, which on Feb. 10 was taken by the revolutionists under General Chamorro. Prior to the opening of the bombardment the government notified the American consular agent at that city, William H. de Savigny, so that the noncombatants could withdraw. Mr. de Savigny protested against the bombardment, which nevertheless was carried out.

The Madriz troops were under command of General Lara, with General Chavarria and General Porto Carrero supporting him. These troops are said to have numbered about 3,000 men.

Subsequently the attack upon the city was abandoned, but it is likely to be resumed at any moment. It occupied several hours, but the extent of the damage done has not been ascertained.

Situation In Managua Tense.

The situation in Managua is tense and no one can say what is likely to happen in the next few days, particularly in event of the government forces failing to defeat the revolutionists. To add to the serious aspect of affairs at the capital it is known that there are hundreds here ready to take part with General Estrada and the other revolutionary leaders the moment their success is assured.

Captain Constantine Saenz, who was in command of the firing squad at the execution of the two Americans, Groce and Cannon, was shot to death in the streets by a Nicaraguan soldier. The excitement following this tragedy was intense and it became necessary to call out all the police and to order in reinforcements of fifty policemen from Leon, who are sure to remain loyal to the authorities.

A large number of additional political arrests have been made. Among the new prisoners is Alfonso Solorzano, who was the Mexican vice consul here, but who was removed from that post.

GETS MEDAL FROM ITALIANS

Commander Peary Also Gets Criticised by Captain Osborn.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the North pole, had the unique experience of being decorated by a foreign scientific society and vituperated by a fellow explorer and countryman. Furthermore, it was announced that congress may supply funds with which the American who has been furthest north will lead an expedition into the Antarctic seas to lay claim to territory discovered nearly 100 years ago by another intrepid American and over which no flag has yet been flown.

The Italian Geographical society is the organization which has conferred the decoration on Commander Peary. In a cablegram received by Mr. Peary from Marquis Cappelli, president of the society, the latter says:

"Council Italian Geographical society awarded you King Humbert gold medal on account your long, successful attempts to reach the North pole; silver medal Captain Bartlett. Please wire if accept invitation lecture Rome May after London."

Commander Peary promptly replied that he was highly honored and that he accepted the medal. He withheld his acceptance of the invitation to speak in Rome, however, for he is in a measure now subject to the orders of the navy department.

The house committee on naval affairs has received a letter from Captain B. S. Osbon, president of the Arctic Club of America, which is bitter in the extreme. Captain Osbon, who championed the cause of Dr. Cook in the recent Peary-Cook controversy, did not mince words in denouncing Mr. Peary and attributing to him infraction of practically all the rules of decency and good taste.

DEMANDS AN INVESTIGATION

Chanler Wants Inquiry Into Legislative Corruption.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15.—The first step toward widening the scope of the investigation of alleged legislative corruption now under way in the senate was taken by a Democrat, Lewis S. Chanler, former lieutenant governor and now assemblyman from Dutchess county. Mr. Chanler introduced a resolution calling for a full and complete investigation and asked for its immediate consideration.

Mr. Merritt, majority floor leader, promptly objected, and under the rules consideration of the measure was postponed until next Monday night.
